WHEREVER THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE IS SPOKEN THE NAME OF PATIENCE STRONG IS KNOWN to the millions who have found consolation and a philosophical uplift in her verses. For the past 50 years these verses have been published without a break in the national press and various periodicals. Apart from a weekly item in the SUNDAY MIRROR and WOMAN'S OWN Miss Strong has increased her readership throughout the world with a contribution to the quarterly magazine THIS ENGLAND, a feature which gives her an opportunity of writing on subjects outside the scope of the weeklies.

Miss Strong has written many prose books on various subjects, but GOD'S IN HIS HEAVEN, her spirited reply to John Robinson's HONEST TO GOD, is reckoned to be among the best of those critics who came down on the side of orthodoxy. Patience Strong's religion, however, is not mere adherence to dogma. Though based on an uncompromising fundamentalism, Patience Strong has an unfailing belief in the origin and destiny of the Anglo-Saxon-Celtic people and her opposition to the multi-racialism being enforced on her people by the establishment.

In a State governed by the Anglo-Saxon-Celts she would have been created a DAME OF THE ORDER OF THE BRITISH EMPIRE.

The year of her Jubilee of her services to her people, 1985, has been quietly forgotten.
