Bankers Behind American Civil War

By Richard Porter

FOR YEARS THE AMERICAN COLONIES ENJOYED GREAT PROSPERITY they created their own money interest and debt free and taxation was small. The “English” Bankers were determined to bring the colonies under their sway. The colonists became exasperated with the repeated attempts to impose taxes on them and in 1775 war broke out and on the 4th July 1776 they proclaimed their own independence.

In his book ‘A Matter Of Life Or Debt’ Eric de Mere relates how on a visit to England, Benjamin Franklin was appalled at the poverty he saw everywhere. He was asked how he accounted for the great prosperity of the American colonies and he replied: “It is because we issue our own paper money. We call it Colonial Scrip and we issue enough to move all goods freely from the producers to the consumers and, as we create our own money, we control the purchasing power of money and have no interest to pay.” When this information reached the “English” Bankers they at once caused a Bill to be passed in Parliament forbidding the use of this Scrip Money.

Franklin stated that this “was the cause of the Revolution” and added, “The colonies would gladly have borne the little insignificant tax on tea and other articles, had it not been for the poverty amongst them caused by the “English” Bankers’ influence in Parliament.” The famous Parliamentarian Edmund Burke also confirmed this view.

In the years following American Independence the “English” (Jewish) Bankers infiltrated their agents into the American government such as Benjamin Judah Philip. He became adviser to Jefferson Davis, the President of the Southern Confederacy and has been called “the brains of the revolt.” He was also the Secretary of State under Davis. The Bankers brought about the American Civil War as it was their intention to split the country into two parts which they would control. According to Mr John Reeves, in his authorised biography based on research in the Rothschild archives, there was a famous meeting of the Rothschild family in London in 1857. They were assembled from all the countries of Europe for the marriage of Lionel Rothschild's daughter Leonora, to her cousin, Alphonse, son of James Rothschild of Paris. Disraeli is reported to have said "Under this roof are the heads of the family of Rothschild - a name famous in every capital of Europe and every division of the globe. If you like, we shall divide the United States into two parts, one for you, James and one for you Lionel. Napoleon will do exactly and all that I shall advise him." Thus a plan was hatched to pit the North against the South according to the old dictum "divide and rule." The North was to become a British colony annexed to Canada while the South was to go to Napoleon III of France but really into the lap of the Rothschilds who controlled both Britain and France. The Bankers hoped that the great debt they would see to out of the war would give them leverage to dominate both the South and the North. Lincoln, however, bypassed the Bankers and got Congress to create 150 million dollars to fight the war with the so called 'greenbacks.'

The plan was to get Britain and France to recognise the Confederacy. British, French and Spanish troops were landed at Vera Cruz in 1862 and in 1863 the French occupied the capital of Mexico. At this crucial point the Czar of Russia, Alexander II, intervened, he knew of the Rothschild plan through his ambassadors in Paris and London and he was well aware that Lincoln could never withstand such a combination.

The Czar dispatched a fleet to San Francisco under Admiral Lesowsky and a squadron to New York under Admiral Popoff. Both Admirals had orders from the Czar "Be ready to fight any power and to take their orders only from Abraham Lincoln." This vigorous action saved America from foreign intrigue and ultimately preserved the Union.

James Rothschild was left without Mexico and the Southern States and Lionel Rothschild could not capture the North through military measures. The Rothschilds never forgave Russia and the Czar and this country became first on their list of "Communist Revolutions." The Czar, after several attempts on his life was murdered in 1881. Lincoln was murdered in 1865 by an actor John Wilkes Booth "in whose trunk was found coded messages, the key to which was in Judah F. Benjamin's possessions." Benjamin escaped to England where he died. These two prominent leaders are just two of the untold millions murdered by the Bankers in pursuit of their goal of World Government for themselves and slavery for the rest of mankind.

In 1865, The Times revealed the whole truth. A rare occurrence indeed for this lying news sheet: "If this mischievous financial policy (the U.S. Government issuing interest and debt free money) which had its origin in the North American Republic during the war (1861-65) should become indurated down to a fixture, then the Government will furnish its money without cost. It will pay off its debts and be without a debt. It will become prosperous without precedent in the history of civilised governments of the world. The brains and the wealth of all countries will go to North America. That government must be destroyed.

The Satanic Bankers' efforts were frustrated until the passing of their Federal Reserve Bill of 1913. Shortly after they launched America into WWI and from this date on, America, under their control, has degenerated into a veritable cesspit of race mixing, degeneracy, crime and violence. While the rightful heirs have been made into tax and debt slaves and are being disinherited and destroyed. Now the Bankers and their tribe lord it over America. It has been reported that during WWII the Roosevelt government gave the plates for printing dollar notes to the Soviet Red Government. Jewish “refugees” pouring into America after the war had their suitcases crammed with dollar notes.

WAS PRINCE ALBERT MURDERED?

In this connection, we should consider the part played by Prince Albert, Consort of Queen Victoria, in the American Civil War, and his very sudden and unexpected death from “typhoid fever” on December 14th 1861 - just a few months after the start of the war.

According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica it was due to Albert’s intervention that “Disputes with Prussia in 1856 and the United States in 1861 ended peacefully.” This was because Albert suggested rewording Foreign Office dispatches so that they could not be construed as ultimatums. It is well known that Victoria was devoted to Albert and followed his advice in all things, especially foreign affairs and politics. His death, in the prime of life, aged 42, shattered the Queen and left a vacuum in her life from which she never recovered and other “Advisers” took his place.

It would appear that Albert tried to intervene in the dispute which was brewing across the Atlantic, between the Southern States and the North, which finally erupted into the terrible carnage of a four year long bloody civil war on April 12th 1861.

According to one authoritative source “his final act on earth was to draw up a memorandum regarding the Trent Affair.” The Trent was a British ship which was stopped and boarded on the high seas by Captain Charles Wilkes of the U.S.S. San Jacinto and two Confederates, Mason and Slidell, taken prisoner and conveyed to Boston where they were imprisoned. Mason and Slidell had been on their way to England to try and enlist the help of England and France to the Southern cause. This incident nearly brought England into the war on the side of the Confederacy and probably would have, had it not been for the intervention of Albert. His careful diplomacy resulted in Abraham Lincoln making an official apology to the British Government and so the whole incident was defused.

It is pretty clear that Albert's "meddling" must have really annoyed certain very powerful personages behind the scenes who had contrived the war in the first place and were interested in promoting and expanding it. Certain people would have preferred him out of the way.

So the question must be asked as to whether Albert's death was really from natural causes at all. He could have been deliberately infected with typhoid or poisoned. What can be said with absolute certainty is that many prominent people who have opposed the machinations of the Hidden Hand have been assassinated, removed from office, or simply died suddenly, like Albert.

In this regard it should not be forgotten what the Protocols of Zion say about the fate of those "who hinder our affairs."

"We execute Masons in such wise that none save the brotherhood can even have a suspicion of it, not even the victims themselves of our death sentence. They all had to die when required as from a normal kind of illness,"

In the case of Albert, his sudden death, so soon after the Trent incident, is just too much of a coincidence. I believe Albert was murdered. What better method to disguise the crime than infect him with typhoid which was a common disease at the time.

We should also remember that the people we are dealing with have developed poisoning to a fine art. Martin Luther, who was very likely murdered himself, for calling upon all Jews to be expelled from Germany, stated in his very last sermon in 1546:

“They know how to deal with medicaments in the manner of the Italians, the Borgias and the Medicis who gave people poison which brought about their death in one hour or a month.”

Recently, John Smith, the leader of the Labour Party suddenly dropped dead after attending a banquet. He was only middle-aged but suffered from a heart condition which finally killed him, so we have all been told. The media treated him like a national hero “The greatest P.M. that never was” etc. Now a certain Tony Blair has come up from nowhere, to replace him. Blair has a pleasant manner, and a certain angelic smile, but a vacuum where his brain should be. It seems almost certain that Blair has been chosen by the Hidden Hand to become P.M. Was John Smith murdered to make way for Blair? Hugh Gaitskell was certainly murdered to put Wilson at the helm so it is certainly possible.

Prince Albert was never popular with the British people but it could be that he prevented a terrible war and saved scores of thousands of British and Union lives by his intervention. His place in history needs reappraising.

HISTORY FALSIFIED

For years the British have been fed a diet of lies, distortions and falsehoods by their Barker controlled news media. To illustrate this we will take just a few examples from recent history. The Japanese attack on the American Pacific Fleet at Pearl Harbour in Hawaii on December 7, 1941 is still described as a “surprise” attack. A Hollywood film ‘Toro Tora’ (in which Jewish actors play all the leading parts) explained it all as due to incompetence and bungling. i.e. the radar signals of incoming planes was ignored, the warning from Washington of a possible attack got delayed by red tape etc. etc. The actual truth is revealed in The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor a book written by Rear Admiral Robert Theobald who was in charge of the destroyer flotilla at Pearl with Forewords by Admiral Kimmel and Halsey and various other sources.

Roosevelt had won the presidential election on the oft repeated promise “I won’t send any of the boys overseas to fight in another European war.” Even while he made this promise he was planning to get America involved in a war with Germany to save Communism which Hitler would have destroyed and restore Jewish financial control in Germany. The Japanese were purposely provoked and impossible conditions imposed on them. Their sense of honour was insulted.

The American Fleet was spread out like so many sitting ducks but the aircraft carriers which would be needed later were kept at a safe distance. The Americans had cracked the Japanese secret code and knew exactly when the attack was coming but the information was not relayed to the American commanders at Pearl. The 2,000 plus Americans who died at Pearl Harbour were murdered by their own government.

Roosevelt’s Secretary of Defence, Henry Stimpson, entered in his diary an 25th Nov. 1941, two weeks before Japan’s attack on Pearl Harbour, that at a meeting of President Roosevelt and his cabinet that morning at the White House. President Roosevelt told those present “That he wished to be at war with Japan but that had not want it to appear that the U.S. fired the first shot.”

Roosevelt and the Bankers who controlled him knew that Germany would never declare war on America so they had to have an excuse that would wash with the American people for declaring war on Germany and this was it. Japan and Germany had a treaty so that war with one automatically meant war with the other. All America’s enormous resources were almost totally concentrated on first defeating Hitler so that General Douglas Macarthur was starved of men and materials in the Pacific. In his speech to the American people Roosevelt told them that the Japanese attack would “live in infamy.” His murder, lies and deception is what will live in infamy.

The real tragedy of Pearl began with the kidnapping and subsequent murder of Charles Lindbergh’s baby son on March 1st 1932. Lindbergh who had flown across the Atlantic in the flimsy “Spirit of St Louis” was an immensely popular figure. His father, Congressman Charles Lindbergh, had led the battle in Congress against the passage of the Federal Reserve

Act by which “the Rothschilds imposed their Jewish monetary system as the chains of slavery shackled onto the citizens of America.”

As 1932 dawned, Franklin Delano Roosevelt and this “crew” had succeeded in capturing the Democratic Party and the road to the White House seemed unencumbered. Herbert Hoover, the likely Republican candidate, had been saddled with the blame for the Great Depression and was a certain loser. Hoover and the Republican Party leaders offered the nomination to Lindbergh. His father-in-law, Dwight Morrow, a Republican Party leader in New Jersey, also suggested that he seek the nomination. The Roosevelt camp knew that if Lindbergh accepted the leadership of the Republican Party the presidential election would be a walk over for Lindbergh and Roosevelt wouldn’t stand a chance in hell.

According to Eustace Mullins in ‘The Lindbergh Murders, Hauptman was Innocent. The Prosecution And Defence Combined to frame him.’

The entire Jewish and Zionist program for the world was imperilled by the possible candidacy of Charles Lindbergh for President.” After the murder of their son however, Charles had decided to finish with politics and the Lindberghs lived for a time in England. When he returned to the States he began to make speeches about keeping America out of WWII until he received a certain telephone call and never again made any more speeches. Details of this are taken from the above article which was published in the Christian Vanguard of April 1978:

“Mr. Lindbergh,” said the caller, “you must cancel all of your public appearances immediately.”

“Why should I do that?” asked Lindbergh. “Who is this?”

“You will do it,” said the caller, “because if you do not, we will kill your wife and children. There will be evidence that you did it in a fit of insanity, and you will spend the rest of your life in an institution.”

“You’re insane,” exclaimed Lindbergh.

“No I’m not,” said the caller, “but you will be, once we have you in an institution for three days. Don’t hang up, because we want to tell you this ... we killed your baby and we can kill the rest of your family whenever we wish. There will be eye witnesses to testify that you did it.”

For several moments, Lindbergh was unable to speak. At last he said, “Then Dwight morrow was right.”

“Oh, he knew, did he?” said the caller. “Good ridance. Now, listen to this. Anyone who dares to oppose us is diagnosed as a paranoid schizophrenic with extremely hostile impulses. If you make one more public speech, you will spend the rest of your life in a mental institution as a madman who slaughtered his family. You saw what we did to Hauptman.”

“I can’t listen to this,” said Lindbergh. “Can we talk later?”

“You only have to say yes or no.” said the caller. “Say no and our plan goes into effect tonight. If you tell anyone what was said, you will be diagnosed as having extreme paranoia and will be given immediate treatments.”

“All right,” said Lindbergh, “I agree. I don’t believe anything you’ve said, but I can’t risk my family. I can’t take the chance.”

“You don’t have a chance,” said the caller. “And remember, if you think you can change your mind, we will always have someone near you who can carry out our plan.”

Now in case any of the readers of this article should think the threat to have Lindbergh declared insane is far fetched, we have only to consider what happened to Lord Northcliffe, owner of The Times newspaper in the early twenties. Northcliffe made himself an enemy of the Jewish Conspiracy when he caused to be printed in that newspaper an article “The Jewish Peril. A Disturbing Pamphlet, Call for Enquiry.” The pamphlet was ‘The Protocols of Zion’ and Northcliffe wanted “An impartial investigation.” He also visited Palestine with a journalist and wrote “we, without sufficient thought, guaranteed Palestine as a home for the Jews despite the fact that 700,000 Arab Moslems live there and own it.” “A brilliant French nerve specialist” subsequently certified that Lord Northcliffe was insane and a few months later he mysteriously “died.” For the complete story see ‘The Controversy Of Zion’ by onetime journalist on The Times, Douglas Reed.

If Lindbergh had become President there would have been no Pearl Harbour and very likely no WWII. For as Chamberlain confessed “America and world Jewry obliged England to enter the war.” The Forrestal Diaries.

Churchill (above) desperately wanted the Germans to bomb London and other English cities to stir up waning British war fever. (See ‘Churchill’s War’ David Irving). The very day he became Prime Minister, he disregarded the unwritten agreement we had with the Germans not to bomb civilian targets which Chamberlain had honoured. He ordered the RAF to bomb the open German city of Freiberg and several German children playing in a park were killed. Hitler warned that if the raids didn’t stop he would retaliate. The so called phoney war was soon converted into a real hot war with massive bombing of civilian targets by both sides and hundreds of thousands of casualties.

At Dunkirk, the British Expeditionary Force, plus French and other forces, numbering some quarter of a million were trapped on the beaches and could have been annihilated by the Germans. The German generals wanted to bring in the Panzers but Hitler personally intervened. He told them the British embarkation was to be allowed to go ahead. He spoke with admiration and respect for the British Empire and its stabilizing affect round the world. He said all he wanted from Britain was peace on terms that were honourable to Britain and Germany.

Germany never ceased to try and end hostilities with the British. Rudolf Hess flew over in the hope of ending the war and saving lives. He was captured like a criminal and imprisoned in the Tower and later at Spandau for over forty years. Finally, after the Russians agreed to release him, the British decided to kill him and make it look like suicide. If he had been released and given a news conference, he might have revealed the real truth about his peace mission and many heads would have rolled.

The SAS were sent in and they throttled him in his cell and attempted to make it look like he had strangled himself with flex but Hess was so arthritic this would have been impossible. If any of these gallant murderers of helpless old men of the SAS should read this booklet then they will know that they are no more than a hit squad in the service of the enemies of their own people and country. An enemy who will just as readily kill them and their families when the time comes as they may be used to kill others. For a classic study of wartime lies and propoganda read 'Unconditional Hatred' by Capt. Russel Grenfell, R.N.

His web site is <http://www.1335.com>. Jerusalem was delivered from Turkish Edomites who had desolated the land for over 400 years. The year on the Hegira which was their calendar was 1335. It was Sunday 9th December 1917, which on the Hebrew Calendar was Kislev 24 5678. This was the anniversary of the second temple foundation in Jerusalem Palestine, Haggai 2:18, "Consider now from this day and upward from the four and twentieth day of the ninth month, even the day that the foundation of the LORD'S temple was laid, consider it." The reading in the British Book of Common prayer for that day was Isaiah 31:5, "As birds flying, so will the LORD of hosts defend Jerusalem; defending also he will deliver it; and passing over he will preserve it."

Events fulfilled in 1948 are described in Ezekiel 11:15, "Son of man, thy brethren, [even] thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israel wholly, [are] they unto whom the inhabitants of Jerusalem have said, Get you far from the LORD: unto us is this land given in possession."
