MAY 20, 1990, KELSO WASHINGTON: SCIENTISTS ARE NOW WARNING that the volcanoes of the North Western United States which had been silent for so long before the eruption of Mt. St. Helens in 1990., are now rumbling. Mount Baker, Mount Rainier in Washington State as is Mount St. Helens, and Mount Shasta in California are showing some signs of activity such as minor steam eruptions and bulging. Mt. Rainier is perhaps the most dangerous of the volcanoes in the Cascades because of its potential for destruction of a huge area of Puget Sound Lowlands.

It is noted that 21,000 deaths occurred in a Columbian village when a volcano blew there a few years ago. Population centres are flourishing today in the paths of flooding and mudflow of these American volcanoes. Perhaps Mt. St. Helens was only a warning?? Scientists are now warning that the next eruption of any of these volcanoes could have six times the force of the 1990 eruption. Tom Pierson, a United States Geological Survey Geologist at the Cascades volcano Observatory in Vancouver, Washington give this warning. He thinks that Mt. ST. Helens is the most likely to erupt soon but is watching these others as well for the Cascades run from Northern California to Southern British Columbia

As we have said before, watch for the Environmentalist stories, in everything as they push for the wrecking of the U.S. Economy and way of Life. From profiles of Deception: comes this clearing of the air. Remember the scare of Alar sprayed apples? The program '60 minutes' carried the story Feb. 26., then the Donahue show got into the act. It turns out that both TV programs seized on a sensational report put out by a Liberal Environmental group called 'The Natural Resources Defence Council', this story was based on faulty data that gave a wildly exaggerated account of the risks posed by Daminozide, this so called ALAR. Dr. Ames the famed University of California biochemist and others devised a widely used test to measure the cancer causing potential of various substances.

They rate Daminozide and its derivative UDMH as below chlorine treated tap water as a Carcinogenic risk. Tap water is rated 1.0 while Peanut Butter is rated at 30 and Beer at 2, 800.

From Institute Magazine: Atheists target statue of The Christ. The Florida Civil Liberties Union has agreed to represent the American Atheist Chapter in a lawsuit seeking the removal of a Statute of The Christ on Federal Parkland. Now; this 'Christ of the Deep' is three miles off shore under 20 feet of water, a memorial to people who have died at Sea. It is in the Key Largo National Marine Sanctuary, a park frequented mostly by snorkelers and Scuba Divers. Tom Gardner executive director of the Florida Department of Natural Resources suggested in a letter to the Civil Rights lawyers that those whom the statue might dismay need never see it, don't go to that spot. We would think this was good advice.

Global Education, Brainwashing our children, by M. Gregg Cunningham a staff writer for the Denver regional office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture has this to say: An important phenomenon is sweeping America's schools, its significance cannot be overstated. The concept is known by many names, but the most commonly referred to one is 'Global Education'.

The rate at which it is being 'infused' into the Curricula is rapidly accelerating. Globalism is not a course, rather it is a new way of teaching, is designated to present all course material from an International point of view. One point of view stressed is that world poverty is caused by inadequate United States foreign aid. Other aspects of this study is that children are told to project their own deaths, read funeral notices, write their own wills, design their own gravestones, reject the concept of Biblical creation, and the rights of unborn children.

When heat is applied to this curriculum, it distils into a hard left policy agenda. Their avowed objective is radical political change. And they intend to achieve it by turning America's children into activists. The results is to direct the students' attention away from patriotism and Americas traditional values, toward pacifism, surrender of sovereignty, acceptance of a permanent welfare state, and end to private enterprise, economic opportunity, and scepticism toward religious faith. One Essay in the CTIR Nuclear Conflict Text proposes to fully impress the President with the magnitude of his intended actions. He cannot be permitted to resort to nuclear defence until he has killed one of his own aides with a butcher knife. It also suggests that students do not need to understand the global political situation or the details of an arms race, just give up blaming and find a Russian and get to know her or him.

Confessions of Robert Novak: I was wrong about Communism. It is not God after all who is dead, but Marx and Lenin. He goes on to say: We must not give in however to the expectations that the Cold War is over, that evil is vanquished, that Communism is entombed. The struggle continues yet around the world. But in the 1990's let us gather under the Right Banner of Freedom, this time with Faith that Liberty under God will indeed triumph.

The Monkey Wrench is the symbol of one group of the new Age earth worshipping groups called the Gaia Liberation movement. These people have even welcomed Aids as they want to cut the world's population by 90%. In their environmentalists zeal they want to stop all logging, to collectivise the U.S. and return us to a primitive standard of living even going without shoes. To live at a subsistence level as the animals do.

Now; really few of us could survive in the wilderness of Yellowstone Park for any length of time. Nature is not inherently friendly to man. 20 years ago on the first Earth Day environmentalists claimed that we faced global cooling, and a new ice age unless the Government spend billions of dollars as they thought they should spend. Today they claim the globe is heating up and will melt the polar ice caps. President Bush in his new budget projected $375 million for 'Greenhouse Research', yet ten years, long after the satellite study shows no evidence of global warming. If we did have global warming many Scientists say it would lengthen the growing season, and make earth more liveable and forestall a future ice age.

One environ- mentalist says that the U.S. must tax our citizens to share this burden in the interest of the entire World Community. From Patrick J. Buchanan, Newsletter: Earth Day was celebrated by no mean a coincidence, on April 22., which was also Lenin's Birthday. In Holy Scripture God told us to fill the earth and subdue it, and rule, over the fishes of the sea, the fowls of the air, and all living creatures that move upon the earth. We were created in HIS Image and with Incarnation, the Creator of the Universe became as a child. Thus any philosophy that equates man with animals and plants or subordinates him to nature is a heresy of astounding proportions.

G. K. Chesterton, who converted to Christianity when he discovered the mistake of Nature worship said: It is not natural to see man as a natural produce, as an animal. It is not even sane. But then Common Sense perishes except where there is Christianity to preserve it.

By Llewellyn H. Rockwell Jr. On a Saturday morning I did what every parent should do once in a while. I sat down with my nine year old daughter, Alexandra, to watch one of her cartoons. The villain, a Mr. De Forest wanted to cut down trees on his property and build a Lakeside Hotel. He was portrayed as a thug, whereas the characters who deprived this man of his property rights, and preventing the establishment of a business that would have improved the life of every human in the area were shown as thugs.

Representative Gus Savage (D. Ill.) his amendment to put the needs of America above the wants of Israeli was defeated in the House of Representatives, 418 to 2, on April 3, 1990.

The True case of Mandela: 9 men were arrested on a sprawling farm in Rivonia, a suburb of Johannesburg, and they were charged with plotting the violent overthrow of the Government. Later during the trial, Nelson Mandela confessed before the court that the charges were true. Of these men arrested, five were so called whites, and they were Jewish leaders of the Communist Party. Their names are Dennis Goldberg, Lionel Bernstein, James Kantor, Arthur Goldreich, and Harold Wolpe. The Attorney defending the group was Braam Fischer, himself a secret leader of the Communist Party. Their trial opened October 9, 1963 with Mandela being accused of forming a terrorist organization called 'The Spear of the Nation'. He named his plan operation, come back Africa. The others charged in the case escaped by going underground. One of those was Joe Slovo who went on to become the Chairman of the Communist Party of South Africa today. He was a lawyer in Johannesburg but after his escape to Zambia remained the director of the Communist Party from exile. This group had war material, and a weapons factory and a 'safe house' where fugitives could hide, as well as a command headquarters. And Mandela was the only one who went to prison.

Today Joe Slovo is back in South Africa as a member of the delegation meeting with the White Government of South Africa. International finance is planning an important role in this process. Seymour Reich the multi-millionaire head of B'ni B'rith International has pressured F.W. De Klerk into the position he now holds. And Jews in both the U.S. and South Africa are standing 100% behind De Klerk. The plan for South Africa if the country bows to Black rule is Redistribution of wealth of the white people of South Africa. After all that which we are seeing in the Soviet world still makes no difference when it comes to South Africa.

For the Internationalists want to reduce the people of South Africa to the same status of destitution. Now; you understand who Mandela is representing, surely he has been well paid over the years as he served the prison term for all. There will be much interest in South Africa as this situation reaches a climax, for many of the Black people who have gotten ahead in South Africa do not want to see Mandela and his crowd come to power. This is one more instance of a situation reaching to its fulfilment.
