History of Why Smart Meters Were Installed

By Kayles (Website)

In the UK under our laws you cannot be compelled to have a Smart Meter and cannot be cut off. Yes he is correct. Once you have paid your final bill and for your meters then that's it. No more bills. Recently Kayles from free energy nationwide was on a zoom with Neil Oliver link HERE.

National Grid is different from national grid.

These suppliers of gas and energy are actually not suppliers they are the middleman and do not actually produce a product.

When they come to check your meter they are looking at the meter number not the readings. Apologies this is long but

History of Why Meters Were Installed

After the Napoleonic wars of 1815, the Rothschilds bankrupted the United Kingdom by selling all their stocks and shares. They knew that because of their status within the financial world as the main player, everyone would copy and do the same (which they did!). When the value was at rock bottom they came back in and bought everything.

To this day, they (Blackrock and Vanguard) still own every industry in the world including oil and pharmaceutical companies, all mainstream media organisations, education (large universities, schools) and more - all of these seemingly disparate systems are connected and funded by the same hand. This is very important to understand. The Rothschilds are just one faction of the Black Nobility bloodline who rule above them (a more complex topic for another conversation).

After this orchestrated bankruptcy, people were ordered to hand in their gold and silver in exchange for promissory notes (the cash system we have today) and the gold standard was officially removed in 1931 (UK) and 1933 (US) meaning money is backed by nothing and so was the birth of a new control system. Since people were essentially forced to hand over their wealth and were now being used as collateral for the central bank loans, a deal was struck that every man and woman would have a share of the natural resources (i.e. energy, water etc) which basically meant free access to energy! This was part of the deal. The main resource at the time was coal and this was given freely to everyone.

Soon the use of coal advanced in to the production of electricity & gas - which again, was free for the people based on this original exchange deal. It wasn't long before the Rothschild empire + the elitist bankers wanted to expand business and gain monopoly over these new energy sources.

At the time there were strikes from the coal miners who weren't being paid fairly & demanded better working conditions. Governments were instructed to orchestrate power cuts so the public would be frustrated thinking it was due to the coal miner strikes.

Using propaganda and PR trickery, the idea was sold that in order to solve these problems in the mines and stop power cuts, energy distribution would need to be monitored in order to keep track of how much power was being used in each household. This vague, almost nonsensical reason was promoted heavily using psychologically manipulative slogans/techniques and media campaigns to convince people to allow the installation of a meter in their home for 'just a very small cost' per month.

Using quotes such as 'to make it fair for everyone!' and 'to keep you and your neighbours safe!' this new, fraudulent system was accepted by the masses without any questioning or understanding that this went against the initial deal and was essentially a giant scam by the bankers to expand business.

The public were desperate to have running electricity again. What reason did they have to disbelieve what they were being told? They just wanted to heat and light their home without issues!

It is important to understand that the monthly charge was NOT and still to this day is not for the usage of electricity like we are told, but rather for the rental of the meter.

Energy Companies Do Not own your meters.

Yes you heard me right.

Let's get out of the habit also of calling energy companies suppliers when they aren't any such thing. Their Brokers! Selling you debt. Which is fraud.

About Energy Companies

Let me explain about energy companies and what they can and CANNOT do.

The electric and gas supply to the house or company cannot be cut off ever. Well, not in the UK.

The world of the movies is different. Once installed that supply of Gas or Elec or Water will be maintained because the National grid is not the energy billing company.

It's a separate company called the National Grid who have a contract with the government and they will not breach that contract and the judge has no authority to override that contract.

So not even a court order can have that Gas/Elec/Water feed cut off. This is why they want to get in your house and fit a prepay meter.

Now this is Civil and in the world of Civil the Judge CANNOT give that order, and he won't.

WHY? The contempt of court reporting restriction does restrain the Judge and if he breaches this it's a Judicial review at the Royal Courts of Justice and he gets fired. So in brief there is no chance in hell that the feed supply will ever be cut off.

History of Why Smart Meters Were Installed

I can't say that this is the same in every country. But they have to dig a hole in the street to get that done. I'm not saying that it can't be done but the National grid will tell the Judge to go away.

They can do anything in the Movies. The Bureaucratic red tape for digging a hole in the street alone can take months.

The Billing Company is just that. It's a metering and Billing service also licensed by the criminal cabal dba Government, Which also means in economic terms the Gas/Elec is 92% Tax the same as fuel.

A Billing company does not provide any Gas/Elec. It's just an extension of government by the license Billing company.

The Gas/Elec meter is Not owned by the Billing company either and all they have is the serial number of the meter on record.

So without that serial number on record which gets moved from Billing company to billing company when you change billing company, they have no reason to Bill you or enter your home.

I am now using the words Billing company because they do not provide the Gas/Elec. Can you see how the language they use is also fraud??

The very contract is Fraud and there can never be that full disclosure of the Fact that they are just a Billing company under licence from the government OFGEM office.

The Government do not have the legal authority to sign that OFGEM Billing company licence because the people have never signed that Legal Consent. None of the Acts and Statutes are legally enforceable without the consent of the governed.

So it's end-to-end fraud and the unsigned paper they never sign is the proof of that fact. Companies Act 2006 section 44. Please go read it.

Everything has to be signed by an authorised person. Well the Billing Company itself is not the authorised person, is it? This is why nothing is ever signed.

Fraud Act 2006 section 4(2) Fraud by abuse of position when it is an act of omission. It's not signed. AND they can't legally sign it so they don't. It's all about the Paper evidence and they send that to you. See HERE.

It is in your hand. Material evidence of fraud sent by the fraudsters, This brings us once again back to the Claim and the MAXIM...

"He who makes a claim carries the Obligation to provide the Material substance of the Claim. Otherwise, the claim is fraudulent and it is also a known Chargeable, Criminal offence. "

The signed authorization does not exist.

You don't need to go to court.
