Dear Reader,

The Trump Card

There has over recent months been much speculation as to whether Trump will win the next election to be the knight in shining armour come to remove the evil from within the USA body politic. It would be great if it were to happen!

However, Intel received, paints a much more sinister picture. Its the good cop, bad cop scenario. Following Trump's victory over Hilary Clinton, it did appear that he was "draining the swamp", but nothing really earth shattering occurred.

While he was in Office, one disaffected elite made a recording, not to be released until after his death, warning how Trump would be used to bring the NWO plan's to fruition. First he would be used as a honey trap to attract USA patriots, so they could be identified and subsequently eliminated, for which purpose c-o-v-i-d conveniently came along. No surprise, Trump was at the fore demanding maximum uptake of the jobs and forced vaccination.

Peoples' memories are short, a few years have gone by and already the patriots and disaffected are routing for Trump again!

Not only that, it has come to light that his son-in-law Jared Kushner during Trump's term of office was in fact de facto president residing in building number 666, 5th Avenue New York. For all we know Kushner may still be still be in the same post using demented Biden as proxy, who has done a marvellous job in raising the popularity of Trump.

One also has to take into account that the WEF's plan is to do away with national governments and rule through local authorities of each nation state. Here in the UK one can already see LA's being geared up to do this by endeavouring to implement 15 Min. Cities!

With this in mind, something may be caused to happen that will necessitate the cancelling of elections, proclaiming marshal law which will be administered locally with an army already to hand disguised as immigrants billeted in 5* hotels. to enforce it! But praise Yahweh we know their evil plans won't succeed!!

Or Yahweh Versus Chutzpah By Pastor Eli James

Yahweh Versus Satan

THESE FACTS ARE IMPORTANT TO KNOW BECAUSE THOSE WHO TEACH THAT “Yahweh is not the God of Israel” are unaware of much of this skullduggery. Or, they are a part of this skullduggery. They seem to be unaware that Judaism is but Talmudic deception masquerading as Mosaism (or Yahwism).

They falsely believe and/or teach that the Old Testament is a “Jewish book.” Given that this theological program of dissimulation must be firmly established before we proceed -- because many people will be shocked and even angered by these revelations – let’s get a few Jewish admissions on the record, so that the reader will not summarily dismiss the facts of how Judaism is the primary source of deception in this world.

The late Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Chief Rabbi of the United States, said: “the Return from Babylon, and the Adoption of the Babylonian Talmud Marks the End of Hebrewism, and the Beginning of Judaism.”

From a work entitled History and Destiny of the Jews by Dr. Josef Kastein, Kastein says, “Jewish life was regulated by the teachings of the Pharisees: the whole history of Judaism was reconstructed from the Pharisaic point of view—Pharisaism shaped the character of Judaism and the life and the thought of the Jew for all the future—It makes ‘separatism’ its chief characteristic.” - p. 69.

Rabbi Louis Finkelstein of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, sums it up this way in his The Pharisees, the Sociological Background of Their Faith: “Pharisaism became Talmudism, Talmudism became Medieval Rabbinism, and Medieval Rabbinism became Modern Rabbinism—throughout these changes in name—the spirit of the ancient Pharisees survives, unaltered—” - p. 21.

Bernard J. Bamberger, Jewish author of “The Story of Judaism.” The Judaism of the Rabbis is also called ‘Talmudic’ because the Talmud is the creation of this period and the chief source of our information about it. We shall deal with this epoch in considerable fullness, and this for several reasons.

First, Talmudic Judaism possesses in itself great interest and merit, which have too often been obscured by ignorance and misrepresentation. Second, traditional Judaism, especially on the side of observance, remains to this day very much as the Rabbis of the Talmud left it. Third, the Talmud has been the chief authority in Jewish life.

True, the Bible was theoretically the ultimate authority, but the Bible was understood as the Talmud interpreted it. On the other hand, later codes were accepted only insofar as their decisions were in accord with the Talmud. - pp. 107, 108. [Emphasis provided.]

Jacob Neusner (above), a Jew, published an essay in the March, 1985 issue of Midstream entitled “Why the Talmud of Babylon Won.” In describing the Mishnah, which was pre-Talmudic tradition, he states:

“So a book was holy because in style, in authorship, or in (alleged) origin, it continued Scripture, finding a place therefore (at least in the author’s mind) within the canon, or because it provided an exposition on Scripture’s meaning.”

“But the Mishnah made no such claim. It entirely ignored the style of biblical Hebrew, speaking in quite a different kind of Hebrew altogether. It is silent on its authorship through 62 of the 63 tractates (the claims of Abot, a generation later than the rest, pose a special problem).

In any event, nowhere does the Mishnah contain the claim that God had inspired the authors of the document...Above all, the Mishnah contains scarcely a handful of exegeses of Scripture. Those, where they occur, ordinarily play a trivial and tangential role.”

“—But the Mishnah was (and is) law for Israel [sic]. It entered the government and the courts of the Jewish people, both in the motherland and also overseas, as the authoritative constitution of the courts of Judaism.

The advent of the Mishnah therefore marked a turning in the life of the nation-religion—But as soon as one dealt with the Jewish government in charge of everyday life – went to court over the damages done to a crop by a neighbour’s ox, for instance – one came up against a law in addition to the law of Scripture, a document the principles of which governed and settled all matters. So the Mishnah rapidly came to confront the life of Israel.

(Sic, Jews. There was never any such thing as a “Mishnah” for the Israelites of the Bible. – Eli)

The people who knew the Mishnah, the rabbis or sages, came to dominate that life. And their claim, in accord with the Mishnah, to exercise authority and the right to impose heavenly sanction came to perplex. Here the crisis is fully exposed.”

“The Mishnah therefore made necessary the formation of the Talmuds, its exegetical companions.”

This statement by Neusner confirms the prediction by Paul that a certain entity would “in all deceivableness” assume the position of God by pretending to have authority over God and the Scriptures. (II Thess. 2 above.)

Rabbi Ben Zion Bokser (above), Judaism and the Christian Predicament, New York, Alfred A Knopf, 1967, p. 59: “This is not an uncommon impression and one finds it sometimes among Jews as well as Christians – that Judaism is the religion of the Hebrew Bible. It is, of course, a fallacious impression—Judaism is not the religion of the Bible.”

And finally, according to “The Universal Jewish Encyclopedia, Vol VIII” (1942), p. 474: The Jewish religion as it is today traces its descent, without a break, through all the centuries, from the Pharisees.

Their leading ideas and methods found expression in a literature of enormous extent, of which a very great deal is still in existence. The Talmud is the largest and most important single member of that literature.”

From a couple of Christian commentators, summarizing all of the above:

David Chilton, in an article entitled "The Beast and the False Prophet (Revelation 13), "It is important to remember that Judaism is not Old Testament religion, but rather a rejection of the biblical faith altogether in favour of the Pharisaical, Talmudic heresy.

Like many modern cults, it claims to be based on the Bible; but its actual authority comes from the traditions of men. Jesus was quite clear: Judaism denies Christ because it denies Moses...(see Matt. 5:17-20; 15:1-9; Mark 7:1-13; Luke 16:29-31; John 5:45-47; 8:42-47). -June 1985 issue of the Foundation Commentator, p. 4.

Ernest L. Martin, in the October, 1984 issue of "The Foundation Commentator", tells us about the Pharisees in relation to the Mosaic Law: "...Pharisaical beliefs were annulling many of the commandments of Moses--

So many new and contradictory teachings had entered the mainstream of Judaic belief that even top Jewish scholars today are honest enough to admit that the Judaism of the Second Temple period had drifted far from observing the written commandments of the Old Testament.

Their traditions had made void much of the Word of God. This fact is echoed clearly in the statements of Christ and the apostles." - p. 3.

And from the Gospel of Luke: Beware the leaven of the Pharisees, which is hypocrisy. (Luke 12:1)

Disclaimer

I make the statements in the above Introduction in order to warn people that any biblical commentator who is not aware of Judaism's imposture as Israel can only be the victim of Jewish deceit. Hence, his or her comments must be understood as proceeding from great ignorance concerning the true identity of the Jewish people and their "expertise" about the Bible.

We will now begin to critique an article which has influenced a few people, even in Identity circles, concerning the true Name of God, Yahweh, and His son, Yahshua.

Having thoroughly perused the article on the "I-Saw-the-Light" website, it became immediately obvious that the author is Not of the Israel Identity persuasion, although he pays it lip service. Furthermore, he takes rabbinical claims about the Bible seriously.

Click to Download

This means that he is likely to be either a Jew or a Judeo-Christian who believes that the Old Testament is a Jewish book. I would not have held this against him, as there are many Christian theologians who do not understand that Judaism is Talmudism and, as such, as shown above, cannot be considered to represent the true teachings of the Old Testament.

However, I have discovered that the author is, in fact, a crypto-Jew, and the evidence will be provided below.

Unless a given critic or commentator is aware of the true nature of Judaism and its pretence of being the religion of the Bible, their commentary and analysis are useless. It's like an auto mechanic lecturing on nuclear physics, or vice versa. Unless you are an expert at both, only false and nonsensical statements can result. As I like to say, there are three things you need to understand:

1. Jesus was not a Jew.
2. The Bible is Not a Jewish book.
3. The Jews are not Israelites. Unless one understands these three basic premises, only confusion and error can result.

So, with this basic understanding in mind, let us proceed to diagnose this strange idea that Yahweh is Not the true Name of the creator – and the even more bizarre claim that Yahweh is actually Satan in disguise!!!

“I Saw the Light”

Which light? The light of Lucifer or the light of Yahweh? When I first heard about these claims, I asked, “Where did you get these ideas from?” This is the website that I was directed to HERE

We will now analyse the argument contained therein. The web page above is given so that the reader can access its complete form. Given that this critique is over 60 pages long, I will comment only on the most salient points, so as to keep this document as brief as possible.

My comments will be contained in [brackets] and italics. For my longer discussions of the text, and to avoid confusion, longer sections will be preceded by the word ‘COMMENT’ in all caps.

The quotations provided by myself as evidence against this anti-Yahweh thesis will be italicised but in a smaller type face, so that they stand out. Also, longer quotations adduced by myself within my comments will be enclosed in {braces}.

Interjection

The initial starting point of this critique was to begin here. However, while in the process of wading through the “I-saw-the-light” website, I was alerted by a colleague to these two very important facts.

1: The creator of the website and author of the article is, in fact, a Jew. There is no indication of the author’s Jewishness within the article. Here is the link to a part of that website, dated 2021-02-16, which appears to have been since removed from that website. The author states:

Curses for Disobedience: Biblical Reasons For The Judgment Of The Jewish, African & Native American Peoples.

First: Please realize that I am part Jewish Race and Part Native American. I love Israel. I love the Jewish, African and Native American peoples. My very best friends which I consider as part of my real (spiritual) family are black people, Mexicans, Asians, etc.

In no way shape or form is this article being written in the heart of hate or prejudice. But rather, the purpose of this article is to share what The Holy Spirit has revealed to me. This is the suppressed Truth.

Whether you accept or deny, I ask that you pray before and after reading this article. Let us not be led by personal feelings, emotions, tradition or political correctness. But let's truly examine the real history of what really happened and why, as God sees it.

Ernest L. Martin

So, here we see that the author admits to being at least half-Jewish. He therefore cannot be an Israelite. He also expresses “love” for non-Whites; but he omits any mention of his feelings for Whites.

I can only take this as typical Jewish false piety. It must be understood that the Holy Spirit is the "Spirit of Truth." (John 14:17.) This means that if the author is lying, he obviously does not have the Holy Spirit. At the bottom of the page is this signature:

Old Testament "Word for Word" Exodus Part 25 Translation by Stephen Howard Anderson

Chapter 31

1. And spoke Yahweh to Mosheh, saying,

2. "See, I have called by name Betsaleel <sup>1212</sup> the son of Uriy <sup>221</sup> the son of Chur <sup>2354</sup>, of the tribe of Yahudah.

3. And I have filled him with the Spirit of Elohiym, in wisdom <sup>2451</sup>, understanding <sup>8394</sup>, knowledge <sup>1847</sup>, and in all manner of workmanship <sup>4399</sup>;

4. to devise <sup>2803</sup> skilled works <sup>4284</sup>, to work in gold, and silver, and in bronze,

5. and in cutting of stones, to set them, and in carving of timber, to work in all manner of workmanship.

6. and I, behold, I have given with him Ohohiyab <sup>171</sup>, son of Achiysamach <sup>294</sup> of the tribe of Dan: and in the hearts of all that are wise-hearted I have put wisdom, so that they may make all that I have commanded you;

7. The Tent of Meeting, and the Ark of the Testimony, and the kaporeth that is upon it, and all the articles of the Tent;

8. and the table and its articles, and the pure menorah with all its articles, and the altar of incense;

9. and the altar of burnt offering with all its articles, and the laver and its base;

10. and the garments of service <sup>8278</sup>, and the holy garments for Aharon the priest, and the garments of his sons, to minister as priests;

11. and the oil of anointing, and the incense for the Holy Place: according to all I have commanded you they shall do."

12. And spoke Yahweh to Mosheh, saying,

13. "Speak you also to the children of Yisrael, saying, 'Verily My Shabbaths <sup>7676</sup> you shall keep; for it is a sign between Me and you throughout your posterity; so that you may know that I am Yahweh that sanctifies you.

15. Six days may work be done; but in the seventh is the Shabbath of rest, Holy to Yahweh: whosoever does any work in the Shabbath day, he shall surely be put to death.

Our brain was designed by Yahweh, and might very well qualify as a flesh computer. We still do not understand its functions, and there areas of it that are inactive, as far as we know. What their function is, we also do not know.

16. Wherefore the children of Yisrael shall keep the Shabbath, to observe 6213 the Shabbath throughout their posterity , for a perpetual covenant.

Yahweh "programmed" knowledge into His master-craftsmen to build His Tabernacle, and all the magnificent things that would go into it. He designed us, and can do many things with us that we, in our ignorance, are unaware of. Nothing is beyond the power of Yahweh.

17. It is a sign between Me and the children of Yisrael forever: for in six days 3117 Yahweh made the sky and the land, and on the day seven He rested 7673, and was refreshed 5314,"

Harold Stough Notes Bryn Celli Du Burial Chamber Wales

THE BRYN CELLI DU BURIAL CHAMBER is another example of the rich history of British Isles and deep connection to the people of the book, being the Stone Kingdom or Zion in the sides of the North, stretching from Spain to the north Polar regions of Russia with their many stone circles and other stone monuments.

Benjamin. One of whose sons was Rus from which Russia derives its name. Numerous light houses where built along the frozen coastlines of the north. Very appropriate that one the Hebrew meanings of the name Benjamin meant light.

Description of The Site

All along this vast coastline, are magnificent light houses built in impossible positions to keep shipping safe, also as navigational aids. Most of these would have been built by the posterity of

One of Anglesey's most famous prehistoric landmarks, Bryn Celli Ddu (the 'Mound in the Dark Grove' in English) is actually two sites in one. The island is connected by a bridge across the

Meni Straits giving access to Holyhead and ferry port to Dublin,

In the early Neolithic (New Stone Age) period, a henge (bank and ditch) enclosing a circle of stones was built here, to be replaced later by a chambered tomb beneath a mound measuring up to 85ft/26m in diameter. Inside, a long, narrow passage leads to an octagonal chamber 8ft/2.4m across, where artefacts such as human bones, arrowheads and carved stones have been found.

But Bryn Celli Ddu’s most unusual feature can only be seen once a year. As the sun rises on the summer solstice (the longest day of the year) shafts of light shine directly down the tomb’s passageway to illuminate the chamber within.

Marking the movement of the sun is another clue that this monument’s builders were Hebrews. The heathen used the Moon as their calendar marker, that’s why Christ referred to them as the children of darkness as against the Hebrews being the children of the light.

The End

Great Tartaria (Part 2) Its History and Recent Destruction of the Most Advanced Civilisation Ever By James W Lee

Creation Mythology or Tartarian
Advanced Manifestation?

WHEN ROTATING INSIDE COILS, magnetic fields create electrical charges in a mercury vortex. Hindu energetic complexes exhibit this function at the top of their structures. “In a coil of multiple turns of wire, the magnetic field of the turns adds in the centre of the coil, creating a strong field”, says Wikipedia. “Coils” can still be seen at the top of the power supply centres in India. Religions refer to these energy factories as” temples.”

Parmanand complex in Indonesia had originally 240 Power Stations in a concentric mandala layout. Power plants have metal hoops where the “toroidal coil” works. Perhaps the “mass dumper” of the Taipei Tower accumulates this function.

Modern towers are already built with the domes themselves and they are positioned below the pole that stands up to contact with the ether. This metal sphere represents the favourite geometric object of the fictional character “Tesla”, reports Wikipedia.

The star fortress in Haiti, Taj Mahal, Hagia Sofia, Pantheon or Tower of Jewels were production plants and distribution of atmospheric energy, as well as thousands of “cathedrals”, “temples” and palaces around the world.

In fact, you will see the 47 story Tower of Jewels in many world exhibitions, including the 1915 San Francisco Pan Pacific Exhibition. All over the world the technology of energy extraction through the atmosphere still works perfectly in castles, buildings, palaces, greenhouses, lighthouses, kiosks, fountains, “mosques”, fortresses, towers, bridges and “cathedrals” that kept the old technological apparatus intact. Not to forget piers in seaside towns which produced electricity to power the tram rails

This apparatus includes elaborate roof grids and small window-like openings, metal ornaments in the corners of buildings, pointed antennae with ornaments or balls with mercury, metals embedded in masonry and geopolymer concrete, jars containing mercury, cornices, spires, roofs with copper ornaments and structural foundations in iron, among others.

This apparatus is also present in the current skyscrapers. The Tartary civilization was likely destroyed in the 19th - 20th century through floods, energy weapons (DEW) and scheduled mass exterminations and the Earth was suddenly deserted by billions of people.

All the architecture and technology of this superior civilization was stolen and passed into the hands of the NWO who created the current ignorant civilization. Could it be that these alleged events of the 1800’s were the final book burning, history removing, knowledge of the Tartarian people?

Horse and Buggy Lies So the Story Goes...

Before the invention of the automobile (1885) and the airplane (1903) Before the invention of trains and automobiles, animal power was the main form of travel. Horses, donkeys, and oxen pulled wagons, coaches, and buggies.

The carriage era lasted only a little more than 300 years, from the late seventeenth century until the early twentieth century.

We are told/sold that horse and buggy were the primary vehicles to haul the stones and bricks from quarries to build the incredible edifices seen in this book? And construction of towers as tall as 47 stories were erected without any found engineering design plans, and had statues, lighting and elegant detail by common workers who, in many cases in the west, had just arrived in those cities?

Communications Telegraph & Telephone Systems

Think of all the telegraph poles and then, telephone poles that had to be strung throughout cities and countries! Yet, you will repeatedly see in the cities of Tartary, that many communication poles were wireless and installed everywhere as early as the 1850’s. Only in 1851 did railways start to use telegraphy.

Prior to that, telegraph wires strung along the tracks were seen as a nuisance, occasionally sagging and causing accidents and even fatalities. First commercial telegraph line completed. The Magnetic Telegraph Company’s lines ran from New York to Washington in 1846. The final phase of the telegraph’s integration occurred between 1857 and 1866. In this period the members consolidated into a national monopoly. By 1864 only Western Union and the American Telegraph Company remained of the “Six Nations.”

The United States Telegraph Company entered the field by consolidating smaller, independent firms in the early 1860's, and operated in the territory of both the American Telegraph Company and Western Union. By 1866 Western Union absorbed its last two competitors and reached its position of market dominance.

The period from 1866 through the turn of the century was the apex of Western Union's power. Yearly messages sent over its lines increased from 5.8 million in 1867 to 63.2 million in 1900. Over the same period, transmission rates fell from an average of $1.09 to 30 cents per message. Western Union's greatest threat came from a new technology, the telephone.

Alexander Graham Bell patented the telephone in 1876, initially referring to it as a “talking telegraph.”

The telephone was used in the 1880's only for local calling, but with the development in the 1890's of “long lines,” the telephone offered increased competition to the telegraph.

In 1900, local calls accounted for 97% of the telephone's business, and it was not until the twentieth century that the telephone fully displaced the telegraph. As you will also see the US mail service only began in the early 1850's. The first airmail was transported in 1870 by letters in free balloons!

The first stagecoaches to deliver mail on a 2,800-mile southern route between Tipton, Missouri and San Francisco, California, specified as a 24-day run but often taking months. So how did all hundreds of World Exhibitions and Fairs communicate to set up and bring millions of people to their events from all around the world?

The destruction caused by Hindenburg marked the surprising and sudden end of the balloon era. Two years later, the Second World War began, aimed at destroying the threatening and magnificent German industrial park, redefining all geopolitical borders and killing and moving as many civilians as possible.

Britain did not admit the idea that Germany supplanted the British-controlled economy in the colony they had founded under the name of the United States (Virginia Corporation). For this, bankers funded the rise of the Hitler myth, a character represented by several “actors”. Among them, Kermit Roosevelt., the second child of Theodore Roosevelt (Cecil Rhodes).

It is said that his-story is written by the Victors and you will find yourself repeating over and over, as you peruse this book saying to yourself, “wow, I was never taught any of this!”. It is what we are not taught, is likely the truth of what really happened. That the Tartarian history has been nearly completed scrubbed from modern his-story proves out this point, as well as Flat Earth, we've never been to the moon and no planes hit the Twin tower on 9/11.

One can only conclude that all of his-story is a lie and that we are self-granted permission to create a "Tabula Rosa" in our minds, or to erase what we thought we knew and look at the information and documentation provided in this book for a new understand of HER-story.

Of a One World benevolent society living in elegance, beauty and harmony connected deeply Spiritually, mentally and physically with Nature in Love and Peace. May we one day soon find again and re-Member and re-Turn back to these amazing people called the Tartarians.

What If? By Marcia Ramalho

1. You know that the man did not go to the Moon. That the Titanic did not "sink" under the command of Jesuit (Jew) captain "Edward Smith". That the owners of the ship pretended it sank just to receive high insurance. That the purpose was never to disappear with some tycoons who opposed the creation of the FED because they owned the FED and therefore did not need to die.

2. You know that the Federal Reserve is a private Central Bank created in 1913 for currency issuance, inflation control and interest rates and thus responsible for the all world economic depressions and the real U.S. debt of 75 trillion.

3. You know that attacks on RMS Lusitania, Pearl Harbour and the incident in the Gulf of Tonkin were planned to justify the entry of the U.S. into Vietnam and World Wars. That "Hitler" was a creation of Wall Street bankers to kill the largest number of Russians and Germans and boost the "holocaust" myth. That the creation of a false flag called "Dreyfus Affair" gave rise to prejudice and a new word - "anti-Semitism" - which would be very useful for wearing wolves into the skin of lambs.

The RMS "Lusitania"

4. You know that the sumptuous ship RMS "Lusitania" - built by Tartarians - was the fastest Atlantic crossing vessel and was taken by the Parasites and their agents, the Grey Men. That the ship had his engines fully powered by electricity from the "Aether" and so had to "sink" two times by the Parasites to be converted and reappear years later with less a chimney and under new names. That the "Lusitania" was indeed the "Titanic", the RMS "Majestic" and the RMS "Queen Elizabeth".

5. You know that an elite Nazi scientist was taken in the post-war to work in the U.S. through "Operation Paperclip". That the Nazi Allen Dulles was the CIA director and created the terrorist network responsible for attacks on European capitals since 1980, known as NATO "Gladio Operation". That Winston Churchill caused tens of millions of deaths and no fire knocked down the Two Towers in NY.

6. You know that there were no weapons of mass destruction in Iraq. That interventions in Kosovo and Afghanistan were to make stratospheric profits with heroin and coke. That children in Sandy Hook did not die. That ISIS is the mercenary army set up by American-French-British-Israeli intelligence agencies to fight for the creation of the “Greater Israel”. That Gaddafi and Assad did not kill their own people.

That more than 80 countries suffered brutal intervention from the Deep State. That “climate change” means weather engineering programs to cause 99 artificial hurricanes, earthquakes and floods.

7. You know that traces of smoke in the sky of “chemtrails” contain aluminum nano-particles going straight to your lungs.

That “sustainability” and “transparency” mean pesticides and hidden destruction. That the profusion of antennas modify magnetic resonance to cause diseases. That the media distribute poor quality propaganda in the shape of news.

That thousands of counterfeit operations are created to justify more wars, looting, genocide, displacement, restriction of civil liberties, deliberate harm to health, sale of organs, trafficking of children and huge profits.

8. What if the magnificent civilization of Tartaria was destroyed with the help and planning of inhuman shadowy forces? What if History taught in schools is a gigantic soap opera fraud, with phantom dynasties, events displaced in time and thousands of years that did not exist? What if the “Middle Ages” were actually a Tartarian Golden Age that ended just 100 years ago? If the Colossus of Rhodes is the Statue of Liberty?

9. What if the defeat of Great Tartaria was recorded in the official history under the names of “The Fall of Troy”, “The Fall of the Roman Empire”, “Fall of Constantinople”, “Dissolution of the Ottoman Empire”, “Wars for American Independence”, “Collapse of the Qing dynasty” (early 1900’s), “Downfall of the Russian Empire” (1917), “Defeat of Austro-Hungarian Empire” (1918) and “World War I” (1919)?

10. What if a “Great Flood” happened 150 years ago and the world was culturally and technologically much more advanced than today? If unknown Parasites generated the cataclisma and took advantage of chaos to seize power?

What if between 1865 and 1876 our ancient civilization wrecked under waves of more than 300 meters and now the buildings have their first floor buried under meters of sand and mud, whose vestige to this day can be easily spotted in cities all over the world?

11. What if Etruscan, Inca, Mayan, Chinese emperors and Egypt “pharaohs” had coexisted in the “Middle Ages” with all other great civilizations to form a single harmonious culture, with the same language and DNA, though they have gone down in history with dozens of invented names by Jesuit - Benedictines - Cistercians “historians”? What if Hyperborea in the Arctic Circle were the land of our great divine ancestors?

Andronicus Komnenos

12. What if Jesus Christ were the Byzantine emperor Andronicus Komnenos (ED of course we know this is not true), born in Crimea in 1152, son of Russian princess Irina, married to French Agnes - mother of his numerous children - and died in 1185, aged 33? If Buddha, St. George, Apollo, Pythagoras, Genghis Khan, Rurik, and Alexander the Great were replicas of his image, without existence in real life?

13. What if the Church has created a wrong solar system theory and blessed all the wars and heinous crimes to kill the Human Spirit? If a group of Parasites are the inventors of a false Christianity and other religions? If these religions worship Satan pretending that they are worshipping God? If “Solomon’s Temple” is the Hagia Sofia in Istanbul? If the city initially called Yoros (Jerusalem), Troy and Constantinople, is the true Rome?

14. What if there were no ancient Greek and Roman Empire? If the worldwide “rock-carved” megaliths are mere Tartarian created concrete, which becomes more resistant over the centuries? If the real pyramids of Egypt were dismantled by a French mercenary army? If “Solomon’s Temple” is the Hagia Sofia in Istanbul? If the Wall of China was not built 7000 years ago and Mao Zedong was a German liberal politician?

15. What if the history of Great Britain was stolen from Tartarian history so that the insignificant island would acquire the brilliance it never possessed? If the “perfidious Albion” was a land of thieves and pirates? If King George VI was the “dead” Duke of Clarence and was crowned two times with different names? If the Tsar Nicholas II of Russia was his brother who fled to London after being “assassinated” by the Bolsheviks? If they were both children of Roosevelt, two times president of U.S. under different names?

16. What if the Bible was written in the 19th century? If the “40 years of Moses in the wilderness” were the years in which the treasurers subordinate to the Scythian-Tartarian rulers were confined as punishment for the usury and robbery crimes committed against the Great Tartarian Empire?

17. What if some German-Dutch merchants and Imperial financial agents had rebelled against Great Tartaria and decided to create countries, mafias and monarchies where they could reign and enslave the rest of the world, calling themselves “the chosen ones”, “enlightened ones” and “elected ones”?

18. What if “History” is an intricate novel written and performed by very strange people? What if these people are in contemporary photographs using old clothes and other disguises to fabricate nonexistent historical characters and ghostly families? What if all this has the purpose to fill the void of our very fully destroyed recent past and history? What if they can live more than we can?

19. What if the “Dark Ages” were the apogee of advanced Tartarian culture whose traits were systematically erased by the German Calvinist dynasty Romanov-Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, from the “House of Wettin”? If Prince Albert was the tycoon Cecil Rhodes-Teddy Roosevelt and “Queen” Victoria was Henry John Temple, 3rd Viscount Palmerston?

20. What if the true and only French Revolution happened after 1870 and Napoleon III was a simple untalented painter named Alexandre Cabanel who fled to England with his brushes after delivering France for the newly formed German Empire?

21. What if Alexei Nikolaevich, the Tsesarevich of Russia of the “House of Romanov”- murdered in 1918 by the Bolsheviks according to official narrative - has ruled Russia from 1917 to 1980 under the names of Alexander Kerensky, Alexey Kosygin and Joseph Stalin.

22. What if Einstein, Poincaré, Faraday, Marconi, Hertz and Maxwell - among many others - were characters played by some Grey Men who destroyed the existing High Technology of Tartaria to give us expensive crumbs in return?

23. What if all worldwide skyscrapers are secretly collecting and using the free

Electromagnetic energy and we are paying for nothing? What if Nikola Tesla had not invented anything at all and “Mark Twain” had played his role?

24. What if obelisks, churches, mosques and cathedral were extremely old Tartarian power plants for the extraction of clean, free, healthy and wireless electromagnetic energy and the generation of all types of waves, mainly infra-sound? What if they were destroyed or endowed with crosses by the Parasites to conceal the original purpose?

25. What if Tartarian palaces were illuminated more than 700 years before a Grey Man called “Thomas Edison” began to deprive mankind of free energy and erect monopolies to the benefit of few? What if the American “JP Morgan” was also the maternal grandfather of President John F. Kennedy, the Brazilian “Baron of Rio Branco”, a member of the Rockefeller clan and the French “author” of Les Misérables?

26. What if the highly advanced global civilization of Tartaria has been completely disassembled and later destroyed by the Parasites between 1900-1940 with direct energy weapons (DEW)?

27. What if the images were later retouched to include false lighting poles and wires? If they “populated” the ruins with the dead people striding carefree among the wreckage? If they have inserted “telegraph and cable” placards in the photos even though San Francisco was totally wireless? If they added fake cranes on top of buildings to pretend, they were under construction, and fake skeletons of buildings in a city that could be over 1000 years old?

28. What if San Francisco was a Tartarian Imperial city with more than 10 royal palaces, artificial islands and a strategic port facing Eurasia and connecting the Americas? If their elaborated buildings had much more than 500 years old and the sophisticated technology would contradict the story of the “foundation of the city in 1776” and all the Official History fairytale and so it had to be mercilessly burned and erased?

29. What if the Parasites who took over world power were made up of hybrid-androgynous men and women, with adopted children created in laboratory and genetically modified? What if they systematically falsify their own deaths to play new characters?

30. What if communism, capitalism, socialism, and liberalism were socio-economic theories created to conceal the same form of oppression on the six continents? If highly positioned Grey eminences acted as “Mussolini”, “Hitler”, “Lenin”, and “Trotsky” in performances that never left the photographic paper, movies, encyclopaedias or the terrain of illusionism to happen in real life?

AN AUTUMN'S TALE

Sir___, An interesting analogy to the hidden attack on our health by the author of The Invisible Rainbow.

Imagine a world in which everyone was convinced to point a musical gun at their head, which shot a continuous stream of tiny bullets, so small that they caused no pain. But every bullet destroyed brain cells on its way through the skull.

Imagine millions of gun towers strafing the surface of the earth 24/7 with similar bullets, entertaining the people while destroying all life. And all the plants and animals were sickening and dying, and the humans were sick and having strokes and heart attacks, but because the bullets were so tiny, few people realized why. Plant biologists blamed the decline on acid rain. Ornithologists blamed influenza. Entomologists blamed climate change and pesticides. The medical profession blamed diet and lack of exercise, and an ever-expanding list of bacteria and viruses.

And here and there, a very few people were screaming, Stop! Throw Away Your Guns! Take down the Gun Towers! Disable the Satellites That Are Strafing the Earth! But because everyone was busy listening to the music, they paid no attention. And the people screaming, who were also sick and having strokes and heart attacks, went to their doctors who, instead of sounding a worldwide alarm, told their patients “You must be gun sensitive” and gave them tranquillisers and antidepressants so they would go away and stop screaming.

And so these people concluded there must be something wrong with them. They formed support groups for people with gun sensitivity, and asked the rest of the world to please take pity on them and stop shooting them. And when there was no place left in the world that was not being strafed, they pleaded with their governments to please establish refuges where they could live out their lives free from bullets. But no one took them seriously.

That Is the World We Live in Today

“Electromagnetic hypersensitivity” (EHS) is a term that allows doctors to pretend that electricity is harmless, and that radiation does not injure their patients. It allows people who have discovered they can feel electricity and radiation to pretend that there is something wrong with them and that everyone else does not feel it.

It allows environmentalists to pretend that the vanishing of birds and wildlife and the collapse of the Earth’s life support systems are due to something else. And it allows people who use cell phones to pretend they do not feel the radiation and that their insomnia, headaches, joint pains, digestive problems, panic attacks, memory loss, trinities, nosebleeds, high blood pressure, heart failure, neurological problems, and diabetes are caused by something else.

It is late autumn here in Santa Fe.

And it is late autumn in the life of the Earth. We must prevent winter from coming, for there will be no spring if it does. It is up to all of us. Arthur Firstenberg. From K. H. West Midlands, UK.

No Wonder I’m Knackered!!!! Our Generation

Sir___, Food for thought — Life:

A Lot in this to Think About Read on.

We, the Semi Elderly

We grew up in the 40’s-50’s-60’s.

We studied in the 50’s-60’s-70’s.

We dated in the 50’s-60’s-70’s.

We got married and discovered the world in the 60’s-70’s-80’s.

We ventured into the 70’s-80’s.

We stabilized in the 90’s.

We got wiser in the 2000’s.

And went firmly through the 2010’s.

Turns out we've lived through Nine different decades..

Two different centuries...

Two different millennia...

We have gone from the telephone with an operator for long-distance calls to video calls to anywhere in the world, we have gone from slides to YouTube, from vinyl records to online music, from handwritten letters to email and WhatsApp..

From live matches on the radio, to black and white TV, and then to HDTV...

We went to Blockbuster and now we watch Netflix--We got to know the first computers, punch cards, diskettes and now we have gigabytes and megabytes in hand on our cell phones or iPads..

We wore shorts throughout our childhood and then long pants, oxfords, Bermuda shorts, etc. We dodged infantile paralysis, meningitis, H1N1 flu and now COVID-19..

We rode skates, tricycles, invented cars, bicycles, mopeds, gasoline or diesel cars and now we ride hybrids or 100% electric...

Yes, we've been through a lot but what a great life we've had! They could describe us as "exennials" people who were born in that world of the fifties, who had an analog childhood and a digital adulthood. We're kind of Ya-seen-it-all.

Our generation has literally lived through and witnessed more than any other in every dimension of life. It is our generation that has literally adapted to "Change".

A big round of applause to all the members of a very special generation, which are Unique. Here's a precious and very true message:

Time Does Not Stop! Life is a task that we do ourselves every day. When you look.. It's already six in the afternoon; when you look... it's already Friday; when you look.. the month is over; when you look... the year is over; when you look... 50, 60, 70 and 80 years have passed!

When you look... we no longer know where our friends are. When you look... we lost the love of our life, and now it's too late to go back.

Do not stop doing something you like due to lack of time. Do not stop having someone by your side, because your children will soon not be yours, and you will have to do something with that remaining time. The only thing that you are going to miss will be the space that can only be enjoyed with the usual friends. This time that, unfortunately never returns... The day is today!

We Are No Longer at an Age to Postpone Anything

Hopefully, you have time to read and then share this message... Or else leave it for *Later* and you will see that you will never share it!

Always together, Always united, Always brothers/sisters, Always friends

Pass it on to your best friends. Don't leave it for later. Yours truly, Marilyn Day. UK.

Interview - Gudrun Himmler This Interview Was Conducted in Munich

Sir__, This interview was conducted in Munich in 1992 with Gudrun Himmler (Burwitz). She was born on August 8, 1929 and died on May 24, 2018 at the symbolic age of 88. She was 63 years old when she conducted this interview.

What was your father's attitude towards religion and Christianity? History tells us that he was an occultist and worked to destroy the Church and persecute Christians.

Gudrun: Wow, you must have read enough of the winner's version of our story. It's a bit difficult to explain to someone who isn't German, but I'll try.

My father had a vision of a people returning to their Maker who gave us everything we know. Our people, the Europeans, created all great civilizations, entered every continent and brought much good to the whole world. We are miles ahead of all other peoples, including the progressive Orientals.

My father asked the why, where and how questions. He commissioned studies of our history to trace the footsteps of our ancestors, where they came from and why they were so intelligent and advanced while other races remained the same.

Germany had some of the most progressive anthropologists, geneticists, historians and collaborators to help find answers to why we exist and how it all came about. My father was religious and he raised us that way. A being is responsible for life that is very easy to recognize because it is nature and the beauty of the earth. Nature is aware of this.

The problem or question is: who is he? Every race has found a way to worship their creator. The Europeans found a god that has worked well for us for two thousand years. My father's concern was that just in the last 200 years, the Jews have interfered in our religion, even to the point of working on translating portions of the Bible to suit their needs.

They then managed to convince those responsible that the Bible was really about the Jews and not about the Europeans; we are only secondary, along with all other "gentiles". It didn't make sense to my father because the Jews don't have the characteristics of a creative, hard-working people. I have met people in your country who think that the Jews cannot be the people of the Bible, or that the Bible is only for the Jews who deny and hate Christ. We Europeans have adopted his name; therefore every European nation is a Christian nation. My father did not hate the Church or persecute the Church. He did not approve of the Jewish influence on the church. In Germany there were some sects that worshiped the Jews as the only people close to God.

The idea of the SS was to bring our people back to their roots and move them away from the modern Jewish Church, which was seen as a destructive Trojan horse to weaken people and turn them away from their God. The German Christians were a good start and my father attended many services run by pastors who understood that the Jewish influence on the Christian religion was not good and led to false teachings. Yours truly, Mikael Swede. Sweden.

Dandelion Its Miraculous Attributes as Both a Medicine, Food and Beverage Provider Including Ability to Fight Cancer.

Sir___, Dandelion root extract (DRE) can inhibit the proliferation of cancer cells, restrict metastasis and cause cancer cell death; it also significantly boost the immune system, according to both in vitro and in vivo studies; DRE has very limited side-effects.

Dandelion leaves and Dandelion root are both important compounds in Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM). They are known to help in digestive problems, inflammation, liver function, and kidney disease. They have also used to regulate metabolism and purify the blood. Dandelion tea is an anti-diuretic and can lower blood glucose levels. The root is known to contain high levels of polysaccharides which have strong effects against cancer. The plant itself contains high levels of carotenoids like beta-carotene, polyphenols like quercetin, and antioxidants and can boost the immune system and reduce inflammation.

Research shows it can both prevent and treat colitis via the ingredient taraxasterol. It has also been shown to restrict fat levels in the body and help in weight management (8). There are over 55 studies on PubMed on the health benefits of this weed.

Can Dandelion Root Extract (DRE) Fight Cancer?

A growing number of research studies have shown that Dandelion (Taraxacum mongolicum) has significant anticancer and immune properties.

Dandelion Root Extract (DRE) inhibits triple-negative breast cancer (TNBC) cell proliferation by interfering with glycerophospholipids and unsaturated fatty acids metabolism, according to in vitro and in vivo research published in in 2022. TNBC exhibits widely reprogrammed lipid metabolism and the researchers studied whether DRE could use this.

In the experiments the dandelion extract decreased CHKA expression, leading to the inhibition of the PI3K/AKT pathway and its downstream targets, SREBP and FADS2. In particular, picrosinoside F and luteolin in dandelion extract had the most highly binding inhibitory effects on CHKA and could regulate glycerophospholipids metabolisms in TNBC

Dandelion Root Extract induces apoptosis and autophagy in human pancreatic cancer cells with no significant effect on non-cancerous cells according to research published in the scientific journal, Pancreas. The DRE killed the pancreatic cells in a dose-dependent and time-dependent manner. It also attacked the cancer cells mitochondrial membrane but had no effect on healthy cells, An aqueous solution of DRE killed both Bx-PC3 and PANC-1 cancer cell lines leaving healthy cells unharmed.

In 2016, a study both in vitro and in vivo using rats showed that oral administration of DRE retarded the growth of colorectal cancer by 90 percent.

In 2023, research on breast cancer cells showed a combination of Dandelion extract and Retinoic Acid could significantly increase p 53 expression and cause cytotoxicity (p 53 is often deficient in cancer tumours).

Chris Woollams (above), former Oxford University Biochemist and a founder of Cancer Active added, “We have previously covered research from the same team showing that Dandelion Root Extract could kill certain leukemia cells.

Both studies show Dandelion has the potential to treat cancers where chemotherapy is limited. At the University of Windsor, Canada, the team led by biochemist Dr. Siyaram Panday has completed a phase 1 clinical trial on Dandelion and cancer in conjunction with Dr. Arnason at the University of Ottawa.

Their work , using a concentrated root extract, has shown promise with 20 different types of cancer, in each case selectively targeting the cancer cell mitochondria but not harming the mitochondria of healthy cells. 2011 research was on melanoma for example).

It seems the potential is there; the main problem is the funding isn't. At Cancer Active we have had several people use DRE with excellent effects against their leukemia. We also like to use it alongside the strongly researched Honokiol. These natural compounds seem to complement each other.

Dandelion Root Extract has strong anti-inflammatory powers and is used with arthritis; it is used as a laxative, fights gut problems and is a blood thinner. It can also be used to lower blood pressure.

People can collect the roots, dry them and then turn them to powder - it could be the cheapest cancer fighting compound yet!" Yours truly, Stephen Fry, Carlisle, UK.

Sensitivity is not a weakness, it's a gift. Yes, you will hurt more when disregarded, you will cry for longer when heartbroken, you will feel other people's pain as if it was your own and you will suffer the madness of this world in an exhausting way, but your joy of victory will be greater, your sense of achievement will be incredible, your satisfaction when justice is served will be spectacular and your connection with the beauty, the magic and the mystery of the divine will make everything you've been through seem like a very small price to pay.

You say weakness? I say your sensitivity is your strength. By Laura Aboli. Posted By Dan Johns, USA.

Being Sensitive

Sir ___, Being sensitive does, at times, feel like a disadvantage. It means you are more vulnerable to external events, but it also means you are more in tune with your internal strength.

Your ability to feel things deeply, is what allows you to empathize with others, to sense things ahead of time, to identify people's good or bad vibes, to detect lies, to feel for things and ultimately, to care.

We tend to talk a lot about love, but 'caring' is actually what feeds our outrage and drives us into action, it's what brings out the necessary courage to do whatever it takes to right a wrong and what fuels the hunger for justice. Only sensitive people care enough to do something about things.

A Tale From Russia

Sir ___, This from the memoirs of an officer of the Life Guards Cossack Regiment EI Balabin during the visit of Emperor Nicholas II festive dinner in Dunkirk in 1901:

"The billionaire Rothschild offered Emperor Nicholas to repay the Russian debt to France in exchange for equal rights for Jews in Russia.

The Emperor refused, saying that the Russian people are very gullible and with equal rights would immediately fall into bondage to the Jews. Moving away from Rothschild, the Emperor said: "I have now signed my own death warrant." Yours truly K. H. West Midlands, UK

The Plot to Disarm American Citizens

Below the highlighted text for easier reading

The government encouraged the manufacture and importation of military firearms for the criminals to use. This is intended to foster a feeling of insecurity, which would lead the American people to voluntarily disarm themselves by passing laws against firearms. Using drugs and hypnosis on mental patients in a process called Orion, the CIA inculcated the desire in these people to open fire on school yards and thus inflame the antigun lobby. This plan is well under way, and so far is working perfectly. The middle class is begging the government to do away with the 2nd amendment.

How to Handle Pressure From Utility Companies to Have a Smart Meter

Sir ___, This was my response to emails from my energy Supplier 'Utility Warehouse' (UW) trying to persuade me to change to having a smart meter fitted. This is on the basis that my current meter is now out of date and needs to be replaced. I used an edited version of an open letter sent by Eileen O'Connor, Director EM Radiation Research trust shown in next column.

I received a phone call from a Emma Thornton of UW in response to my letter. I was able to get her to admit that UW were not able to answer 'YES' to any of the questions.

At the end of this letter is her confirmation email response. As you will see they do not have any liability insurance to cover any harmful radiation effects of a smart meter. The solution to this problem is for them to change the meter for a similar non-smart meter.

- 1. Please answer 'YES' or 'NO' only: Does Utility Warehouse hold any commercial Public Liability Insurance policies that include liability coverage for claims directly or indirectly arising out of, resulting from, or contributed to by electromagnetic fields, electromagnetic radiation, electromagnetism, wireless RF radiation, microwave radiation, and/or non-ionising radiation?

2. If the answer is 'YES', please provide all commercial Public Liability Insurance policy/ policies and include policy numbers, that confirm the energy supplier hold commercial Public Liability Insurance policy/policies that liability coverage for claims directly or indirectly arising out of, resulting from or contributed to by electromagnetic fields, electromagnetic radiation, electromagnetism, wireless RF radiation, microwave radiation, and non-ionising radiation.

3. Please provide all "Pollution Liability" or "Policy Enhancement" in relation to commercial Public Liability Insurance policies held by Utility Warehouse.

4. Please answer 'YES' or 'NO' only: Does Utility Warehouse hold any certificates, documents of any kind which provide proof of Indemnity from the commercial Public Liability insurance provider and underwriters, confirming that any injuries, damages or adverse health effects directly or indirectly arising out of, resulting from or contributed to by electromagnetic fields, electro-magnetic radiation, electro-magnetism, wireless RF radiation, microwave radiation, and / or non-ionising radiation, including but not limited to smart meter emitting devices and equipment is covered by the energy supplier's commercial Public Liability Insurance policy.

5. If the answer is 'YES': please provide the commercial Public Liability Insurance policy/ policies and include policy numbers, that confirm Utility Warehouse holds certificates, documents which provide proof of Indemnity from the energy supplier's commercial Public Liability insurance provider and underwriters, confirming that any injuries, damages or adverse health effects directly or indirectly arising out of, resulting from or contributed to by electromagnetic fields, electromagnetic radiation, electromagnetism, wireless RF radiation, microwave radiation, and/or non-ionising radiation, including but not limited to smart meter emitting devices and equipment is covered by the energy supplier's commercial Public Liability insurance policy.

Please number your responses 1-5. I require that each item to have its own individual response.

Failure to supply proof of Indemnity for wireless RF/EMF radiation, proves that Indemnity for wireless RF/EMF radiation through Utility Warehouse's commercial Public Liability Insurance does not exist.

It is not my intention to harass, intimidate, offend, conspire, blackmail, coerce or cause anxiety, alarm, or distress. This Notice of Liability and the enclosed information are presented with honourable and peaceful intentions and are expressly for your benefit to provide you with due process, due diligence and an opportunity to remedy this most serious matter.

This lawful notice of liability may be used as evidence in court if needed and intends to enlighten you and protect you from attracting civil and criminal liability in relation to your action(s).

Take Notice that Utility Warehouse has been fairly and equitably fore-noticed and forewarned.
Yours faithfully and without ill will, vexation or frivolity, J. Lewis.

Utility Warehouse's email response:

Emma Thornton (Utility Warehouse)
14 Nov 2023, 12:27 GMT

Dear Mr Lewis, Thank you for taking my call today. As requested I will respond to your questions in turn:

1 - NO we do not hold the type of insurance policies you are referring to.

2 - NO - we do not hold these types of policies so cannot provide policy numbers.

3 - No we do not hold these types of policies so cannot provide such information -

4 NO we do not hold the type of insurance policies you are referring to.

5 - NO we do not hold these types of policies so cannot provide policy numbers.

Kind regards
Emma

The Invisible Rainbow
Cancer and The Starvation of Life (Part 6)
By Arthur Firstenburg

Brain Cancer

EVEN WORSE HAS BEEN THE DELIBERATE REFUSAL BY VETERANS ADMINISTRATION HOSPITALS AND MILITARY BASE MEDICAL FACILITIES TO REPORT CASES TO THE STATE CANCER REGISTRIES.

A report by Bryant Furlough that appeared in The Lancet Oncology in 2007 noted “a precipitous decline in VA reporting of new cases to California cancer registries beginning in late 2004—from 3,000 cases in 2003 to almost none by the end of 2005.”

After inquiring in other states, Furlough discovered that California was not an exception. The Florida cancer registry had never received any VA case reports, and VA facilities in other states were dealing with years of backlogged, unreported cancer cases. “We’ve been working with the VA for more than 5 years, but it’s just got worse,” Holly Howe told him. She represents the North American Association of Central Cancer Registries.

As many as 70,000 cases of cancer from the VA were not being reported each year. And in 2007, the VA made non-reporting official policy when it issued a directive on cancer nullifying all existing agreements between state registries and VA facilities. Furlough reported that the Department of Defence was also not cooperating with the cancer registries.

No cancers diagnosed at military base facilities had been reported to any state registries for several years. As a result of all these failures, Dennis Deapon of the Los Angeles Cancer Surveillance Program warned that studies based on the deficient data may be worthless.

“Research from the mid-2000’s will forever require an asterisk, or perhaps a sticker on the cover, to remind researchers and the public that they are not correct,” he said:

Doctors at the Southern Alberta Cancer Research Institute at the University of Calgary (above) were shocked when records showed a 30 percent increase in malignant brain tumours in Calgary in the single year between 2012 and 2013,30 despite official government statistics proclaiming no rise in malignant brain tumour rates at all in either the province of Alberta or the nation of Canada.

This discrepancy has lit a fire under Faith Davis, professor of epidemiology at the University of Alberta’s School of Public Health. As unreliable as official statistics are for malignant tumours, they are even worse for non-malignant tumours: Canada’s surveillance system does not record them at all.

To remedy this incredible situation, the Brain Tumour Foundation of Canada announced in July 2015 that it is raising money to help Davis create a national brain tumour registry that will finally give clinicians and researchers access to accurate information.

The studies that are assuring us that all is well with cell phones have been funded by the telecommunications industry.

But, and in spite of severe under reporting of brain tumours, independent scientists are confirming the impression of brain surgeons and oncologists that their caseloads are increasing, as well as the evident fact that many more people that we all know and hear about are dying of such tumours than ever before. The most prominent of these independent scientists is Lennart

Hardell. Hardell is a professor of oncology and cancer epidemiology at University Hospital in Örebro, Sweden. Although most of his earlier research was on chemicals like dioxins, PCBs, flame retardants, and herbicides, since 1999 he has focused on exposure to cell and cordless telephones.

He tells us, based on case control studies involving over 1,250 people with malignant brain tumours, that using both cell phones and cordless phones significantly increases one’s risk for brain cancer.

The more years you use such a phone, the more cumulative hours you use one, and the younger you are at first exposure, the greater the odds that you will develop a tumour. Two thousand hours of cell phone use, according to Hardell, triples one’s risk.

Two thousand hours on a cordless phone more than doubles one’s risk. First use of a cell phone before the age of twenty increases one’s overall risk of brain cancer three-fold, the risk of an astrocytoma—the most common type of malignant brain tumour—five-fold, and the risk of an astrocytoma on the same side of the head as the phone eight-fold.

First use of a cordless phone before the age of twenty doubles the risk of any brain tumour, quadruples the risk of an astrocytoma (above), and increases the risk of an astrocytoma on the same side of the head eight-fold.

The literature on cell towers and radio towers is less compromised. Almost all of the existing studies, until recently, have been funded by independent sources and not by the telecommunications industry, and they have yielded consistent results: living near a transmission tower is carcinogenic. William Morton, at Oregon Health Sciences University, found that living near VHF-TV broadcast antennas was a significant risk for leukemia and breast cancer in the Portland-Vancouver metropolitan area from 1967 to 1982.

In 1986, the Department of Health of the State of Hawaii found that residents of Honolulu who lived in census tracts that had one or more broadcast towers had a 43 percent increased risk for all types of cancer.

In 1996, Bruce Hocking, an occupational physician in Melbourne, ( above) analysed the childhood cancer incidence for nine Australian municipalities in relation to a group of three high-power television towers. Children who lived closer than four kilometers to the towers were almost two and a half times more likely to die of leukemia as children in more distant cities.

In 1997, Helen Dolk and her colleagues found high rates of adult leukemia, bladder cancer, and skin melanoma near the Sutton Coldfield tower at the northern edge of Birmingham. When Dolk expanded her study to include twenty high power transmission towers throughout Great Britain, she found that, in general, the closer you lived to a tower, the more likely you were to have leukemia.

In 2000, Neil Cherry analysed the childhood cancer rate in San Francisco as a function of distance from Sutro Tower. Sutro Tower is almost 1,000 feet tall, stands on top of a tall hill, and can be seen from all over San Francisco. At the time of Cherry's study it was broadcasting nearly one million watts of VHFTV and FM radio signals, plus over 18 million watts of UHF-TV.

The rates of brain cancer, lymphoma, leukemia, and all cancers combined, throughout San Francisco, were related to the distance a child lived from that tower. Children who lived on hills and ridge tops had much more cancer than children who lived in valleys and were shielded from the tower. Children who lived less than one kilometre from the tower had 9 times the rate of leukemia, 15 times the rate of lymphoma, 31 times the rate of brain cancer, and 18 times the total cancer rate, as children in the rest of the city.

In 2004, Ronni and Danny Wolf responded to residents in a small neighbourhood around a single cell tower in south Netanya, Israel (above). During the five years before the tower was erected, two of the 622 residents had developed cancer; during the single year after the tower went up, eight more developed cancer.

This turned a neighbourhood with one of the lowest cancer rates in the city into a zone where the risk was more than quadruple the average for Netanya.

In the same year, Horst Eger, a physician in Naila, Germany examined 1,000 patient records in his home town. He found that people who lived within 400 meters (1,300 feet) of a cell tower had triple the risk of developing cancer, and developed their cancer, on average, when they were eight years younger, compared to people who lived further away.

In 2011, Adilza Dode headed up a team of university scientists and government officials of a metropolis in southeastern Brazil that confirmed the results of all the previous studies. The risk of cancer for the residents of Belo Horizonte decreased uniformly and steadily with distance from a cell tower.

And on February 24, 2011, the Supreme Court of Italy upheld the 2005 conviction of Cardinal Tucci for polluting Rome with radio waves. A ten-day suspended jail sentence was his only punishment. No one has ever been compensated for their injuries. The Prosecutor’s Office has not filed charges of negligent homicide. Vatican Radio’s antennas have not been shut down.

Why Eating Pomegranate Could Save Millions of Lives

By Sayer Ji

MILLIONS DIE EVERY YEAR FROM CANCER. Millions more from heart disease. Simultaneously, prescription drug use has never been higher. Why are we making no progress in this poly-pharmaceutical “war against disease”? We may need to return to Mother Nature to find the answer! Indeed, a solid body of research now indicates that consuming pomegranate may be the ideal way to protect yourself against the top two killers in the postmodern age.

I confess I have a bit of an obsession with pomegranate. Not only does it look and taste highly appealing, but ever since performing an extensive pubmed.gov literature search and review on what is literally the fruiting ovary of the pomegranate bush, I was simply in awe at the sheer volume of supportive literature (3,000+ studies) on its diverse applications for health promotion and disease prevention.

While I’ve written and lectured previously on foods with life-saving properties, such as garlic, lime juice, and of course the amazing spice turmeric to which I have dedicated an entire resource page on GreenMedInfo. I think what intrigues me most about pomegranate is how seldom it is recognized for its powerful, and I would say, life-saving health properties; this, despite the fact that the research literature shows it has 300+ potential health applications.

This situation is not accidental. The truth about pomegranate (and all “natural cures” for that matter) is controversial and highly politicised, with The FTC and FDA going as far as filing complaints against pomegranate juice manufacturers for referencing its well-established health value.

The Living Poetry of Pomegranate’s Human Longevity Promoting Properties

Personally, I’m most fascinated by pomegranate’s striking resemblance to the human ovary and how it contains mammalian-type steroid hormones like estrone and testosterone normally found in the ovaries — an example of the “doctrine of signatures,” which

I recently covered in my article: “Why Walnut Resembles the Brain It Nourishes.”

And yet, most of my focus thus far has been on spreading the good news about pomegranate’s unique ability to reverse plaque build up in the arteries; a therapeutic property which could countermand the No. 1 cause of death in the developed world, namely, arteriosclerosis related cardiovascular events such as heart attacks.

Regenerate: Unlocking Your Body’s Radical Resilience through the New Biology

Blood red pomegranate’s heart-saving properties are all the more amazing when you consider that we live in a world where millions are taking cholesterol-lowering statin drugs even though the cholesterol hypothesis of heart disease remains just that: a theory, and one increasingly refuted by the evidence itself. Ironically, statins have also been demonstrated to weaken the heart muscle, along with causing some 300+ documented adverse health effects.

And yet, many of these very same people popping potentially deadly pharmaceuticals without thought, are still afraid to consume pomegranate juice because of its “high sugar content.”

Another thing about pomegranate is that it is also uniquely supported by a folkloric body of cross-culturally overlapping virtues, such as promoting fertility, prosperity, and longevity. Clearly, the logos (science) and mythos (ancient orally transmitted wisdom) agree that this a very special food. I consider it right up there with my personal favourite turmeric; a plant root which, I believe, contains both intelligence and compassion.

If you want to see how I came to this apical point of appreciation for pomegranate, you can follow the biomedical footsteps I took to get here by checking out all the studies I have gathered on my pomegranate database here.

In this article, however, I will be focusing on an under appreciated benefit of pomegranate, namely, its powerful anti-cancer properties. My hope is that through these efforts more people will come to appreciate that only food can truly perform root cause resolution of disease, both by nourishing, stimulating natural detoxification methods, and perhaps more importantly, providing vectors of healing information. You can learn more about my perspective on the topic by reading: Why Food is Actually Information.

Pomegranate: Nature’s Perfect Anti-Cancer Food?

Regular readers of GreenMedInfo and fans of the Regenerate Project and my book Regenerate, know that we focus heavily on identifying the true causes and cures for cancer, as well as the still widely underestimated problem of the medical industry’s routine misclassification, over diagnosis and over treatment of cancer; a problem, in fact.

Which was recognized by the National Cancer Institute’s own expert panel in 2013 to apply to two of the most commonly diagnosed forms of cancer in men (HGPIN “prostate cancer”) and women (DCIS “breast cancer”), and which has lead to incalculable and needless suffering in millions of men and women in the U.S. over the past 30 years.

The convenient side effect of the mass screening associated over diagnosis and over treatment of suspicious “growths” is that cancer has become a multi-billion dollar industry, despite the fact that cancer treatments have made very little progress over the past half century.

A huge piece of the puzzle as to why conventional treatment has been a monumental failure is revealed by so-called cancer stem cell hypothesis. Basically a small subpopulation of cancer cells called cancer stem cells are believed responsible for producing most primary and secondary tumours, as well as their resistance to conventional chemotherapy and radiation. In fact, these two “therapies” actually enrich cancer stem cells in the surviving post-treatment tissue, making their use not only obsolete but fundamentally unethical due to the iatrogenic harms they cause on top of the original disease.

Prostrate Cancer

Preliminary research has already shown that pomegranate can inhibit and/or destroy a range of cancers, including prostate cancer, breast cancer, colon cancer, and pancreatic cancer. But because the cancer stem cell hypothesis is relatively new, there are few studies that have been performed to assess the ability of natural compounds to kill cancer stem cells.

That said, an important study published in 2010 in Oncology Reports titled, “Pomegranate extract inhibits the proliferation and viability of MMTV-Wnt-1 mouse mammary cancer stem cells in vitro,” revealed for the first time that several compounds within pomegranate have the ability to target and destroy the cancer stem cells within mammary cancer. Remember, this is a highly significant finding because this is something that conventional cancer treatments cannot do.

The groundbreaking study opened with a brief summary of the cancer stem cell hypothesis, well worth reading:

“The stem cell hypothesis of cancer is based on the existence of a subset of cells in tumours with a high proliferative capacity and multi-potency, the stem cell-like ability to produce all cell types found in tumours. Tumor heterogeneity arises not by the serial clonal expansion of individual cancer cells that have acquired new, advantageous mutations, but from cancer stem cells. The cancer stem cell hypothesis explains the ultimate failure of chemotherapy; tumours destroyed by chemotherapy may be repopulated by cancer stem cells, which are highly drug resistant through a variety of mechanisms. As such, successful chemotherapy and cancer prevention must target not only the differentiated tumour cells that make up the bulk of the tumour, but also cancer stem cells, and treatment may have to be long-term, since cancer stem cells are long-lived.”

The study next moved to why foods like pomegranate may be the future of cancer treatment:

A promising source of novel chemo-preventive and chemotherapeutic agents are fruits and vegetables, which are associated with a reduced risk of breast cancer (4,14). Phyto-chemicals derived from fruits and vegetables have a proven ability to inhibit cancer cell growth in vitro and prevent the formation of tumours in vivo (4,6) and are well tolerated and safe, allowing for long-term dietary administration.

Natural Sources of Phyto Chemicals

However, since the cancer stem cell hypothesis has only recently been proposed, there are few studies on the effect of phyto-chemicals on cancer stem cells (16,17). We hypothesized that phyto-chemicals inhibit the growth and viability of mammary cancer stem cells.

To test this hypothesis, in the present study we used a mammary cancer stem cell line, designated WA4, derived from tumours arising spontaneously in MMTV-Wnt-1 transgenic mice, as an in vitro model of cancer stem cells. Studies have suggested that mammary tumours arising in this model contain a proportion of tumour cells with cancer stem cell-like characteristics, and the  $\beta$ -catenin pathway, which is activated by over expression of Wnt-1, is important in governing self-renewal of cells, a hallmark of ‘stemness’. The majority of the cells in the WA4 cell line displays many cancer stem-cell like characteristics, as described in Materials and methods.

We chose PE as our test agent. PE is a standardized extract of pomegranate that is commercially available as a dietary supplement and is certified ‘generally regarded as safe’ by the Food and Drug Administration. The extract is standardized by HPLC to contain no less than 70% total polyphenolic compounds, and the final polyphenolic composition is similar to that of the pomegranate fruit.

Pomegranate juice and seed oil have previously been shown to inhibit the proliferation and metastasis of various differentiated human breast cancer cell lines in vitro. Pomegranate extracts have also been shown to inhibit the proliferation of other cancer cell types in vitro, including lung, prostate, colon and oral cancer.

However, the current study is, to the best of our knowledge, the first to examine the effect of PE on cancer stem cells.”

The Study Results Were Reported as Follows

“In summary, the present study demonstrates that PE is a potent inhibitor of mammary cancer stem cells in vitro. This is the first study to examine the potential of a dietary extract to target cancer stem cells.”

While this was only a cell study, the results are encouraging, as noted by the authors:

“The relatively low concentrations needed to inhibit mammary cancer stem cells in vitro and the demonstrated bio-availability of PE suggest that PE may be an effective inhibitor of mammary tumour growth in vivo, a possibility that is currently being tested in our laboratory.”

The most common criticism against preliminary research like this is that since it has not yet been proven safe and effective in human clinical trials it would be irresponsible, if not illegal, to use it to prevent, mitigate or treat any disease. This criticism, however, belies naivety as to how the biomedical research and publishing industries really work.

The funding pay that needs to be scaled in order to perform the phase I, II, II, etc. human clinical trials required by the FDA to obtain drug approval is between 1-11 billion dollars high. Do we wait, for instance, for these studies to be performed, knowing full well that sufficient private and/or public capital will never materialize because natural substances do not produce market exclusivity nor a return on investment?

In the meantime, tens of thousands die, annually, from the adverse effects of the highly toxic and ineffective conventional treatments.

As informed consumers and/or patients, who are fully aware that foods like pomegranate are not drugs. i.e., they are not comprised of synthetically produced molecules, we know that foods like these have thousands of years of safe usage behind them. And so, we have every right to use our “food as medicine.”

When you consider that heart disease and cancer are the #1 and #2 causes of death in the developed world, and that a simple fruit extract may profoundly reduce the risk of being seriously harmed, or dying from either, it would seem unethical not to use it, or not to advocate for its use vis-à-vis the potentially horrific side effects of the drugs being used for primary prevention and treatment of these conditions.

This is why I believe pomegranate is the world’s most important healing fruit. Add to this the fact that it actually tastes good, and you have the perfect confluence of reasons to start incorporating it into your daily regimen.

12 Crucial Steps to Protect Your Identity, Assets & Sovereignty Posted By Daniel Johns

HERE’S WHAT YOU NEED TO DO NOW to protect yourself, which these days is becoming more and more important:

1). Start using email services that protect your privacy – Use email services like Protonmail or Vivaldi that emphasize privacy. Google’s Gmail service is not “free.” In return, you provide them data that will be used to build a marketing profile of you and will be fed into their AI systems. I had previously recommended Tutanota but there are circulating rumours that its employees read user emails so I’d wait and see before endorsing it.

2). Stop using Google or Bing to do web searches and use one of the following Search alternatives: Brave Search, Metager, Ghostery, Qwant, Mojeek, DuckDuckGo, or StartPage. Comparing and contrasting these would take an article in and of itself and you should take the time to research the differences. DuckDuckGo is probably the most mainstream out of the above list, but lately, they have developed closer ties to Microsoft and are using more search results from Bing which has greater amounts of censorship. I’m not saying to stop using it but just to be aware and maintain caution.

3). Stop browsing the web using Google Chrome or Microsoft Edge – Neither Google nor Microsoft cares about your privacy. Instead, take the time to install and use a more secure alternative like Opera, Waterfox, Brave, Epic, or the grand-daddy of browser privacy, Tor Browser.

Note Brave is built upon the open-source version of the Chrome browser called Chromium. Some caution is warranted as it is still possible for Google to place “backdoors” that may inadvertently be incorporated into Brave.

4). Prefer Rumble, Odysee, or Bitchute for watching videos, and install Adblocker when watching on YouTube. They are alternative video-sharing sites to Youtube. However, they have yet to match Youtube’s breadth and quality of content. At the least, you should use Brave browser plus install the Adblocker extension to block those annoying ads. Note Google is taking steps to crack down on Adblocker so this may or may not work in the future.

5). Ditch any cloud storage solution without zero-knowledge encryption – Sorry Google Drive, Microsoft cloud storage, Amazon Drive, and Apple iCloud, but you don't make the privacy cut. These services still allow Big Tech to look at and audit your content. Instead, opt for a service that has zero-knowledge encryption in which the company cannot look at your content. There are numerous providers listed in this article, but some examples are Sync, Icedrive, and Tresorit.

6). Ditch non-secure photo-sharing services and opt for one with privacy built-in – Using Google Photos, Instagram, Facebook, Flickr, and the cadre of mainstream photo-sharing services exposes you to Big Tech holding your photos hostage. Instead, use a photo-sharing service that emphasizes privacy, like Smugmug or Cryptee.

7). Opt to use secure video-conferencing that safeguards privacy – Many of us who have gotten used to using Zoom for video-conferencing were disappointed by the recent announcement that Zoom will now start feeding your data to AI. Instead, use privacy-oriented videoconferencing like Jitsi and Whereby.

8). Stop using your Google and Facebook IDs for signing into other websites – The more we rely upon centralized web identification for signing onto websites, the more dependent we become. You do not want to get locked out of essential websites if Google decides to cancel your account. Instead, create individual accounts for all websites.

9). Stop using Amazon and order directly from providers or buy locally – Many of us have become reliant upon shopping on Amazon for our goods, and this makes us dependent on a central provider. Instead, order directly from the websites of providers, say Walmart.com, Target.com, or BarnesandNoble.com, or better yet, aim to support brick-and-mortar businesses.

10). Aim to use cash whenever you can – Credit card companies track our spending usage and use that data to feed into their AI systems or sell your info to third-party marketing companies. Cash is king in that it cannot be tracked. Aim to use it whenever you can to support brick-and-mortar businesses.

11). Store local copies of all your data on multiple external hard drives – You should keep all copies of your data and photos on local external hard drives. It's easy to purchase terabyte-sized storage from Seagate and back up all your data. It is essential you keep multiple copies for redundancy.

12). Think decentralization and redundancy for all your usages – The Navy Seal dictum “One is none, two is one” applies here. If you only have one of something (say email, photo storage, video-conferencing solution, local external storage, etc.), then you are unprotected in terms of failure. You need multiple copies of everything. I like to have at least three copies of any important data.

You may find the above daunting. You might be thinking, “Where do I start?” I'd advise to start small. Just pick something on the list above and just look into it.

You can install the tool or read about how the tool helps protect your privacy better than the “mainstream” equivalent. Then, slowly switch your usage over to the new tool.

By implementing the above solutions, you can drastically reduce your reliance upon Big Tech and protect yourself from their efforts at coercion as they roll out their social credit system. By taking this time now and learning how these systems work, you can increase your level of freedom and protect your identity, assets, and security.

Babylon

Author Unknown

The Hanging Gardens of Babylon

THE TRUE ORIGIN OF WESTERN CIVILIZATION IS TO BE FOUND NOT IN GREECE, but in Babylon, in the sixth century BC, with the development of the Kabbalah. The exact origins of the Kabbalah have long been subject to controversy. According to the Kabbalists themselves, its teachings date back to the prophets like Solomon, or Moses, and even Adam, and supposedly represent a hidden interpretation of the Bible.

However, the key to understanding the origin of the Kabbalah, and reassessing not only the claims of mainstream historians, but those suggestions put forth by controversial authors like Graham Hancock, or those of the Holy Blood Holy Grail, or Dan Brown's notorious Da Vinci Code, about the true teachings of the Bible, is to recognize that the basic ideas of the Kabbalah are definitely foreign, were heretical in nature, and introduced only later. Specifically, these ideas are identical to those attributed in ancient times to the Chaldean Magi of Babylon.

Babylon, which at one time may have held as many a 250,000 inhabitants, famed among the Jews and the later Greeks for its sensual living, was the greatest city in the ancient world.

According to Greek historian Herodotus, in the fourth century BC, "Babylon lies in a wide plain, a vast city in the form of a square with sides nearly fourteen miles long and a circuit of some fifty-six miles, and in addition to its enormous size it surpasses in splendour any city of the known world." The city's legendary Hanging Gardens, were deemed in Hellenistic times one of the Seven Wonders of the World.

The Chaldean Magi

The Gate of Ishtar

Babylon was the origin of a myth that would come to pervade, not only the mystical systems of antiquity, but which would transform Western religion and philosophy, that of the dying-god.

Every spring, at their most important festival, the Akitu, or New Year's festival, corresponding to our Easter, the Babylonians celebrated the death and resurrection of their chief god Marduk, also known as Bel.

There was a dramatic representation of the conflict between the Thunder-god Bel and the dragon Tiamat, as recounted in the epic of creation the Enuma elish, during which the god is vanquished and slain, but is raised from death by magical ceremonies, and eventually overcomes the dragon.

Babylon was also the birthplace of the mother of all sciences, astronomy, recognized as the special skill of the renowned Chaldeans, a term that had originally referred to the inhabitants of Chaldea, but eventually understood to refer to the Babylonian astrologers. Although often attributed to the distant past, and falsely presumed to represent the survival of the Ancient Wisdom, scholars have now established that, due to a lack of a reliable system of chronology, the astrology of the Chaldeans, though based on older traditions, was not developed until the seventh and sixth centuries BC.

These centuries were also the period in which a substantial Jewish population was found in Babylon. As a result of the Assyrian conquests of Jerusalem and the sacking of its great Temple, at the beginning of the sixth century BC, the great portion of the Jewish people were relocated to Babylon by King Nebuchadnezzar, where they would remain for nearly half a century, a period in Jewish history known as the Exile.

It is at this time that a faction of the Jews develop a system of magic and sorcery later known as the Kabbalah.

These Jewish heretics rejected the God of the Bible, because he forbade the practice of magic, and instead revered his enemy, who introduced man to the "forbidden knowledge". This devil they identified with the dying-god of the Babylonians, who was identified with the planet Venus, whose original Latin name was Lucifer.

Because they came from Babylon, the various scholars of the ancient world confused these early Kabbalists with the Chaldean Magi. In fact, in the Book of Daniel, Chapter 2:48, Daniel is made chief of the "wise men" of Babylon, that is, of the Chaldean Magi, and yet remains faithful to the laws of his own religion.

This is what has caused so much confusion among modern scholars. Originally, the Magi were the official priests of the religion of the Persians, who conquered Babylon in 539 BC. The Persians were followers of Zoroaster, the founder of the religion of Zoroastrianism.

However, as scholars have repeatedly demonstrated, the teachings that were attributed to the Magi by ancient scholars held nothing in common with orthodox Zoroastrianism. Rather, as recognized by Franz Cumont, who was perhaps the greatest scholar of the last century, those Magi, which these historians referred to, and which he referred to instead as Magussaeans who followed a heretical interpretation of the religion. Rather, as I demonstrate in my book, these Magi followed a set of beliefs that were essentially identical to the early Kabbalah.

Therefore, it is by following the development and influence of these so-called Magi, that we can determine the influence of the early Kabbalah on those beliefs in the ancient world that eventually shaped the Western occult tradition, and ultimately Western society as a whole.

Masoretic vs Septuagint: Guns, Lies and Forgeries

twelve centuries older than the texts upon which the Masoretic version is based. Yet, modern Christian translations of the Old Testament rely on the Masoretic Text, not the Septuagint.

Where Is the Problem?

Most of the quotations from the Old Testament in the New Testament used the Septuagint as their primary source. The integrity and truthfulness of the Septuagint is completely dependent on the Septuagint being a truthful translation. Discredit the Septuagint and there is no New Testament.

There was no controversy about the integrity of the Septuagint from 250 B.C. until 135 A. D.

What had happened to provoke dissatisfaction with the Septuagint among the Jews?

ONCE UPON A TIME there was a tribe living in the Middle East that had a collection of sacred texts written in Hebrew, Chaldean and Aramaic. It is the nature of sacred tests to be venerated and transmitted from generation to generation unaltered.

As time passed members of this tribe emigrated to areas where Hebrew and Aramaic and Chaldean were not spoken. A large community settled and prospered in the city of Alexandria in Egypt. Greek replaced their tribal language. They needed an accurate translation of their venerated documents into Greek.

Around 250 B.C. seventy rabbis translated the sacred texts into Greek. This translation was not a bootleg edition. The project was approved by the High Priest and the Sanhedrin in Jerusalem. The Septuagint, the translation of the seventy, was an official document.

A Hebrew Bible exists today. It is used by Jews everywhere. It is called the Masoretic text. It was compiled around 700 A.D. It is almost one thousand years newer than the Septuagint. The rabbis who compiled the Masoretic text were not accountable to the High Priest in Jerusalem. There no longer was a High Priest. The rabbis who compiled the Masoretic text were not accountable to the Sanhedrin in Jerusalem. There no longer was a Sanhedrin.

Annas and Caiaphas and the Sanhedrin had rejected the messianic claims of Jesus. The New Testament documents had been written and were circulating by A.D. 70. The Jews knew that the credibility of the Christian Gospels depended on the credibility of the Septuagint. Something had to be done.

Around 95 A.D. Rabbi Akiva, who later proclaimed Bar Kochba as the messiah, hired a man named Aquila to translate a Hebrew to Greek version of the Old Testament that would undermine the messianic claims of Jesus found

The Septuagint predates the first appearance of the Masoretic text by almost ten centuries. The Septuagint is based upon Hebrew texts at least in the Septuagint. Some scholars believe that the Masoretic text was based in part on this tendentious translation by Aquila.

How Is the Masoretic Text Different from the Septuagint?

- Psalm 22:16 the word “pierced” has been replaced by “lion”.
- Psalm 145: 13 omitted entirely.
- Isaiah 53:11 the word “light” is omitted.
- On 134 occasions the Tetragrammaton, the name of God, has been replaced by “Adonai”.
- Psalm 151 was omitted entirely. (It is now omitted by almost all Christian Bibles !)
- Exodus 1: The number 75 replaced by 70
- Genesis 10:24 some generations removed.
- Deuteronomy 32:8 “Angels Of Elohim” replaced with “children of Israel.”
- Jeremiah 10 verses 6 and 7 have been added in the Masoretic.
- Psalm 96:10 “Say among the nations, YHWH reigns from the wood” omitted.
- Isaiah 19:18 “city of righteousness” changed to the “city of the sun” or in some versions “the city of destruction.”
- The Masoretic scribes purposely and wilfully rearranged the original chapter order in the prophetic Book of Daniel, so that the chapters make no sense chronologically.

- Isaiah 61:1 “recovery of sight to the blind.” Omitted.
- In Psalm 40:6 “a body you have prepared for me” was replaced by “you opened my ears.”
- Deuteronomy 32:43 ‘Let all the messengers of Elohim worship him.’” Omitted.
- Genesis 4:8: “Let us go into the field” is omitted.
- Deuteronomy 32:43. Moses’ song is shortened.
- Isaiah 53 contains 10 spelling differences, 4 stylistic changes and 3 missing letters for light in verse 11, for a total of 17 differences.
- Isaiah 7:14. “Virgin” replaced by “young woman.”

(When Aquila made his Greek translation of the Old Testament at the behest of Rabbi Akiva, he changed the Septuagint’s “virgin” into “young woman”. The Masoretic compilers may have followed his lead.)

The Masoretic text differs from the Septuagint in hundreds of places.

How Do We Know Which Text Is Accurate?

The Dead Sea Scrolls were discovered just after World War II. According to carbon dating, textual analysis, and handwriting analysis the documents were written at various times between the middle of the 2nd century BC and the 1st century AD. There are fragments from all of the books of the Hebrew Bible fragments except the Book of Esther and the Book of Nehemiah.

In addition an independent Aramaic translation of the Hebrew Bible exists, the Peshitta. Control of the Dead Sea Scrolls was a military objective of Israelis. It was achieved by their victory in the Six Days War.

The publication of the scrolls slowed to a trickle. After 1971, the international team even refused to allow the publication of photographs of the material. They excluded scholars who wanted to make independent evaluations. The embargo was not broken until 1991.

An addition to the Dead Sea Scrolls, scholars can use the Peshitta to decide between the Masoretic text and the Septuagint.

Jewish Bible to destroy the credibility of the New Testament.

I have given examples above of some of the places the Dead Sea Scrolls, the Peshitta, and the Septuagint agree.

The Hebrew versions of the Old Testament have been used to proclaim scores of "messiahs". The Septuagint was only used once.

The Masoretic Text is part of a tradition that began with Rabbi Akiva. Rabbis rewrote the

More On The Tragic Loss of Three Revisionist Historians: By David Moseley (Britain's Hidden History)

MANY OF YOU HAVE EXPRESSED WORRY AND CONCERN over the situation with Alan, Baram, and Ross's work after the tragic events of the last fourteen months. So I would like to share a few thoughts on behalf of the BHH admin and other close contributors here to try and nurture a little light in these dark times:

Alan Wilson drew his initial inspiration and drive for real British/Welsh history from an elderly retired teacher who had been recalled to the classroom during WW2, he recounted to Alan the history of the Britons as it was once taught for generations before it became obfuscated and denied in favour of the narrative that we are still expected to accept today.

- A very tenuous link more circumstance than witting intent.

Much like the situation in the 2010's when an Alemani lady in Southern Germany, a mother and housewife, not an academic, became inspired and infatuated with Wilson & Blackett's research into the true identity of the King Arthur of legend. Monika Escobar started her King Arthur group on this social media platform a while after Alan and Baram had given up trying to reach a broader audience via the "new-fangled inter-web thing" that they had little faith in or mastery of, and within about a year she had in turn gathered a group of equally inspired people from around the world, one of whom was Ross Broadstock.

Ross had only just come across the work of W&B while researching a subject for one of his sons school projects.

Ross, crucially located in the homeland of much of the history, decided to start a group focusing on site visits and bringing together interested parties that would also serve to support W&B directly and help to tidy up and republish their work. This involved the dispersal of a goodly body of unpublished work.

So, you see; a few tenuous links have inspired and gathered many different people from different generations, many new to the subject, introducing them to those few who had been assisting W&B for decades, and ensuring that the torch lit by Alan's chance encounter with a voice from the past is handed on to a generation some of whom will soon graduate or are already budding young researchers and authors, who, in turn, will inspire the next generation who are likely not yet even aware that what they are being taught in school is not the true history of their ancestors.

W&B were involved in ever-broadening fields of historical research, most of which never got beyond roughly typed note form, but much of that was entrusted to Ross.

That is secure, and will be multiplied and dispersed. Don't forget the published work that is on shelves and bookcases around the world. View and share the BHH, RD Hall, Karen Sawyer and KA group YT channels vids and shows, visit the sites, spread the word, recommend and share the books including those of related authors. But do not despair.

Thanks to Monika for the excellent image, apologies to the photographer of the original that I do not know your name for proper accreditation.

CD 127 minutes (listen to Audio Clip on site)
$16.00

Here you will find the ignored story of the massive deportations of the German peoples from Eastern Germany, Poland, the Baltic States, and the Sudetenland and its attendant horrors.

The entire library of many more audio programs is available as a bundle. All told, this is nearly 14 hours of great historical commentary! Plus, you realize a savings of $20 dollars. For full details and to purchase go to the website:—
