The Merovingian Signature of The Hurricanes

By Barbara Aho

WEATHER PERSONS OFTEN REFER TO HURRICANES AS ACTS OF “MOTHER NATURE,” a personification which may not be far from the truth. For “Mother Nature” is an esoteric allusion to the Great Mother Goddess, and many of the recent hurricanes have distinctive characteristics that hint at an occult connection. At one time an antiestablishment underground, the global network of occult societies have now become the occult establishment, having managed to infiltrate and subvert the machinery of government to bring about a new world order. This fact of postmodern culture, which is well-documented on this website, suggests two probabilities related to the increasing frequency and severity of hurricanes in the United States: (1) that occultists in high places are creating and manipulating the weather using new, albeit secret, technologies and (2) that the names of the hurricanes have been pre-selected to convey occult messages.

There is compelling evidence that point #1 is not mere speculation, but fact. Trevor Ravenscroft wrote in The Spear of Destiny that Hitler said of the “New Man”: “Even the weather—would be subject to him.” (pp. 250-1) In his 1970 book, Between Two Ages, former U.S. National Security Adviser Zbigniew Brezezinski (CFR/TC/B) mentioned “weather control” as a “new weapon” and a “key element of strategy.”

“Technology will make available, to the leaders of major nations, techniques for conducting secret warfare, of which only a bare minimum of the security forces need be appraised... Techniques of weather modification could be employed to produce prolonged periods of drought or storm.”

In 1997, former Secretary of Defence William Cohen stated that electromagnetic weapons were being used to manipulate the environment:

“Others are engaging even in an eco-type of terrorism whereby they can alter the climate, set off earthquakes, volcanoes remotely through the use of electromagnetic waves... So there are plenty of ingenious minds out there that are at work finding ways in which they can wreak terror upon other nations... It’s real, and that’s the reason why we have to intensify our efforts.”

Thomas E. Bearden, a nuclear engineer, Director of the Association of Distinguished American Scientists and Fellow Emeritus of the Alpha Foundation Institute for Advanced Study (AIAS), has elaborated on William Cohen’s statement:

“These weapons are strategic weapons and they have been on site in Russia since 1963... the Secretary of Defence of the United States confirmed that there are indeed novel kinds of EM [electromagnetic] weapons, right now and have been for some time, which have been and are being used to (1) initiate earthquakes, (2) engineer the weather and climate, and (3) initiate the eruption of volcanoes. We wrote about those exact uses of the weaponry decades ago. Several nations now have such weapons. Three of them (two on one side and the other on a hostile side) are even firing practice shots into Western Australia, as a convenient test range.” (1098)

Gordon J. F. MacDonald was an associate director of the Institute of Geophysics and Planetary Physics at the UCLA, a member of Press. Lyndon Johnson’s Science Advisory Committee and is also a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. In his 1968 book, Unless Peace Comes: A Scientific Forecast Of New Weapons, MacDonald wrote a chapter titled “How to Wreck the Environment” in which he stated that the seeding of hurricanes was in the experimental stages.

MacDonald predicted that it would only be a matter of time before man would be able to steer hurricanes:

“Modification of storms, too, could have major strategic implications. As I have mentioned, preliminary experiments have been carried out on the seeding of hurricanes. The dynamics of hurricanes and the mechanism by which energy is transferred from the ocean into the atmosphere supporting the hurricane are poorly understood. Yet various schemes for both dissipation and steering can be imagined. Although hurricanes originate in tropical regions, they can travel into temperate latitudes, as the residents of New England know only too well. A controlled hurricane could be used as a weapon to terrorize opponents over substantial parts of the populated world.

“It is generally supposed that a hurricane draws most of its energy from the sea over which it passes. The necessary process of heat transfer depends on wave action which permits the air to come in contact with a volume of water. This interaction between the air and water also stirs the upper layers of the atmosphere and permits the hurricane to draw on a substantially larger reservoir of heat than just the warm surface water. There may be ways, using mono molecular films of materials like those developed for covering reservoirs to reduce evaporation, for decreasing the local interaction between sea and air and thus preventing the ocean from providing energy to the hurricane in an accelerated fashion. Such a procedure, coupled with selective seeding, might provide hurricane guidance mechanisms. At present [1968] we are a long way from having the basic data and understanding necessary to carry out such experiments; nevertheless, the long-term possibility of developing and applying such techniques under the cover of nature’s irregularities presents a disquieting prospect.” (197)

That was in 1968. Thirty-six years later, an NBC Affiliate Weatherman stated, “Control over global weather is complete.” In an article titled, “Serious question: Are Hurricanes: Scalar?” Scott Stevens documented this statement with several photos of cloud formations that are so abnormal from a classical meteorological perspective that they could only have been produced by chemtrails and scalar weapons. Stevens wrote:

“I am a meteorologist at an affiliate in the Northwest who now uses scalar weapons signatures within the clouds to better my forecasting record. After closely watching high-resolution visible satellite imagery there is no question in my mind that these storms weren’t (sic) altered and guided to their final destinations. No doubt what so ever. I have come to a further conclusion; that the entire Earth’s weather had been digitised. There is not a flood, thunderstorm, cyclone, or drought that isn’t allowed to happen. Control over global weather is complete. This way it is much easier to control portions, hurricanes/storms, within this system.” (Urban Survival)

(For more documentation on the engineering of weather to counteract the judgments of the Great Tribulation, please see Heeding Bible Prophecy: Environment.)

Between 1962 and 1983, the United States Navy, the U.S. Weather Bureau and the National Science Foundation carried out an ambitious experimental research program that was yielding some success in moderating hurricanes. Project Storm fury, however, was stifled and eventually terminated for specious reasons. Commenting on an overview of The Stormfury Era by the Hurricane Research Division (HRD) of the Atlantic Oceanographic and Meteorological Laboratory, Dick Eastman, MS, MA noted the privatisation of the weather-related government agencies as a factor in the termination of this project:

“[Project Stormfury] was discontinued just as new planes for doing the interventions were made available. It seems that we had a deliberate effort to stifle success at the very time that the national weather bureau and other weather-related government agencies were being privatised (the National Weather Service, like the Federal Reserve Bank, the Atomic Energy Commission and the National Science Foundation are privately owned and controlled organizations -- each operating in their respective fields in totally unregulated and largely unsupervised environments, with the public thinking that each is part of the government...

“Storm Fury demonstrated -- regardless of the sophistry -- that hurricane winds can be reduced from 130 mph to 75 or 80 mph -- a difference that means the a difference of billions in damages and of doubtless many lives.

“But we are not only seeing the deliberate decision to let disaster happen when it could be prevented -- we are seeing something much worse -- the deliberate use of this technology developed by minds that sought to help mankind as a means of destroying our homes and killing our people for the sake of ‘disaster-industry’ profit and ‘national-emergency’ power.” (1096)

In 1970 the U.S. Weather Bureau was renamed the National Weather Service and the privatisation of the weather-related government agencies was quietly begun during this decade. That process, which was expedited in the 1990s under Pres. Bill Clinton, now seems to be on a fast track.

“In accordance with the Administration’s FY 1996 Proposed Budget and the Administration’s Reinventing Government initiatives issued in early 1995, the National Weather Service (NWS) initiated a transition program to transfer NWS Agricultural Weather Services and non-federal non-wildfire weather support to private meteorological firms willing to assume these responsibilities...

“The transition of agricultural weather services to the private sector is dynamic. Both the NWS and the private meteorological sector will need to continue to work together to provide maximum service to the nation’s growers. Privatisation efforts are not new to the NWS. Over the years, the NWS has transferred services such as direct commercial radio and television broadcasts, newspaper weather page preparation, and weather by phone successfully to the private sector.” (National Weather Service)

Finally, in 2005, a bill was quietly introduced in both houses of Congress to officially institutionalise within the United States Government major “weather modification” under the Secretary of the Department of Commerce. Senate Bill S. 517, entitled “Weather Modification Research and Technology Transfer Authorization Act of 2005” and scheduled to take effect on October 1, 2005, stated:

“It is the purpose of this Act to develop and implement a comprehensive and coordinated national weather modification policy and a national cooperative Federal and State program of weather modification research and development...

“The Board may enter into cooperative agreements with the head of any department or agency of the United States, an appropriate official of any State or political subdivision of a State, or an appropriate official of any private or public agency or organization for conducting weather modification activities or cloud-seeding operations.

“There is authorized to be appropriated to the Board for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this Act $10,000,000 for each of fiscal years 2005 through 2014.”

WHAT’S IN A NAME?

“According to Masonic tradition, in A.D. 46 Ormus is said to have conferred on his newly constituted ‘order of initiates’ a specific identifying symbol—a red or a rose cross... in [the] ‘Priuré documents’... One is intended to see in Ormus the origins of the so-called Rose-Croix, or Rosicrucians. And in 1188 the Priuré de

Sion is said to have adopted a second subtitle in addition to Ormus. It is said to have called itself L'Ordre de la Rose-Croix Veritas..." (Holy Blood, Holy Grail, pp. 122-3)

...a rose, by any other name...

Ormus was a first century magician in Alexandria, Egypt who founded the monastic order which eventually became the Prieuré de Sion, the ultra-secret society in Paris which oversees all other occult societies worldwide. See: [The Merovingian Dynasty] As the Egyptian magicians attempted to simulate God's control over nature through the miracles of Moses and Aaron, so do occultists, enlightened and empowered by their master, Lucifer, seek to control the forces of nature. And, as if to boast of their achievements, they give them names that convey hidden messages to fellow occultists everywhere.

On the left side-bar of this report is the list of hurricane names for the 2004 - 2010 Atlantic hurricane seasons. This listing, as well as the names of hurricanes in other areas of the world, is available at the National Hurricane Centre, a department of the National Weather Service. On perusing these lists, we could not help but notice that the names of many hurricanes seemed to have specifically Merovingian connotations. To demonstrate our hypothesis, we will elucidate several names in the 2004 hurricane list.

Bonnie & Charley

On August 12, Tropical Storm Bonnie struck the Florida Panhandle and caused heavy rainfall along the East Coast of the United States. On August 13, which just happened to be Friday the 13th, Hurricane Charley made landfall on the West Coast of Florida as a Category 4, and proceeded to demolish Punta Gorda with 180 miles per hour winds.

Bonnie and Charley? Why not Bonnie and Clyde, a logical choice of names from a pop culture perspective? In the 18th century, the Merovingian claimant to the British throne was "Bonnie Prince Charlie," i.e. Charles Edward Stuart, whose grandfather, James II of England, a Roman Catholic, had been deposed by the Dutch Protestant, William III of Orange. When James II was exiled, Scottish and French "Jacobites" attempted to return the Stuart dynasty to the English and Scottish thrones via his grandson, Bonnie Prince Charlie. The Jacobites based their claim on the "divine right of kings."

Despite Bonnie Prince Charlie's failed attempt to regain the British Crown, the Jacobite Cause has been carried forward by the Merovingian dynasty, which claims that a living descendant of Bonnie Prince Charlie still retains the legitimate right to the thrones of England and Scotland, as well as Israel, and ultimately, to rule the world, since the Merovingians also claim to be of the divine pedigree of Jesus Christ, King David and King Solomon.

Who might that living descendant be? The current Grand Master of the Prieuré de Sion, which directs all secret societies worldwide, is Thomas Plantard de Saint-Claire. In this capacity, Thomas is the #1 candidate for the Antichrist, that "man of sin" and master of witchcraft "whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders." (II Thess. 2:9). Predictably, Hurricane "Tomas" is found twice on the lists of hurricane names, in 2004 and 2010.

Hurricane Charley was the second costliest hurricane ever to strike the U.S. with about $7 billion in damage and, according to some reports, hundreds of deaths. Accurate statistics, many eyewitnesses have said, were not reported in the national news media. According to Whose Florida?, an alternative news source, hundreds of migrant workers, poor and elderly died there, but these deaths were not reported in the national media. A former resident of Miami, Jo Contino, told us, "The same thing happened in Hurricane Andrew [1992]. I heard about the refrigerated trucks and the true body count being somewhere close to 2000. I believe the official count was something like 26.“ Why the cover-up? Ethnic cleansing? Elimination of “useless eaters“?

““There will never be an accurate body count,’ says Michael Edward about the numbers of deaths from hurricane Charley being reported by the media. He explains, ‘There are far too many migrant workers here who will never be accounted for, nor will anyone even try to account for them. The same goes for the many elderly who have no family to look for them, and the homeless who lived in cars, campers, and on the streets.’ He reports that in the Peace River - Arcadia area of Desoto County many migrant farm workers (mostly illegal immigrants) have been found dead under the rubble of their shacks.

Edward is a resident of Punta Gorda, where Hurricane Charley blasted into Florida this Friday the thirteenth. Unlike the people of the more affluent Tampa Bay area, Edward’s Peace River community was never advised to evacuate. Unless you count the bulletin taped to the front door of the Desoto County disaster office, warning that there would be rain, flooding, and high winds on Friday and Saturday, the people in his community had no warning that a killer storm was heading their way. When Governor Bush was asked why a mandatory evacuation order had been issued, but not for the area that was worst hit, he placed the blame on God, . There’s no science that can exactly say where a hurricane will go. This is God’s way of telling us that he’s almighty and we’re mortal,’ he said.“

Another important detail to notice is that the path Charlie took up through the bay from the southwest points up to the town called “Arcadia“ where the desolated Peace River Community was situated. “Et in Arcadia Ego“ is the title of Nicholas Poussin’s painting of a Greek paradise ruled by the god Pan in pre-Flood Atlantis. The painting has an esoteric meaning and the title is probably an anagram containing a code known only to the Merovingian bloodline. The historical importance of Arcadia in Greece is explained in Holy Blood, Holy Grail, viz., that the Merovingians, who trace their ancestry from Mary Magdalene and the tribe of Benjamin, migrated from Israel to Arcadia en route to France.

“...the ’Prieuré documents’ - have endeavoured to trace the Merovingians to ancient Greece, and specifically to the region known as Arcadia...[and] with Arcadia’s royal house...

“According to the ’Prieuré documents,’ the Merovingians were descended, via Arcadia, from the Tribe of Benjamin. In other words, the Merovingians, as well as their subsequent descendants--the bloodlines of Plantard and Lorraine, for example—were ultimately of Semitic or Israelite origin...

“If there was actually an exodus of Benjamites from Palestine, one might hope to find some vestigial record of it. In Greek myth, one does: in the legend of the son of King Belus, one Danaus, who arrives in Greece with his daughters, by ship. His daughters are said to have introduced the cult of the mother goddess, which became the established cult of the Arcadians. According to Robert Graves the Danaus myth records the arrival in the Peloponnesus of the ’colonists from Palestine.’ Graves states that King Belus is in fact Baal, or Bel—or perhaps Belial from the Old Testament.“ (31:274-275)

Looking at the Florida map (above), across from Punta Gorda is “Jupiter“ Island, America’s wealthiest community where many of the rich and famous spend the winter months (but not hurricane season). Hobe Sound on Jupiter Island is a National Wildlife Preserve and one of the unofficial nude beaches in the Florida. Hit harder by Hurricane Jeanne were the wealthy Treasure Coast communities of Vero Beach, Hutchinson Island and Singer Island; Jupiter Island suffered less damage. The hurricanes seem to be creating a painting using the earth as a canvas! Between the two “ground zero“ points the Merovingians will have “Highlands“ for their “bonnie“ Prince!

Hurricane Frances

Returning to our hurricane list, on September 5 Hurricane Frances, early on a Category 4 hurricane, weakened to a Category 2 status before it struck Florida, pouring much rain on the central regions of Florida and Eastern Coast. Few people would connect “Frances” with France, the headquarters of the Prieuré de Sion, the secret society in Paris which oversees all other secret societies.

Hurricane Hermine

Although not a major hurricane, we suspect that “Hermine,” which arrived around the time of Frances, was named after “Hermione,” the witch in the Harry Potter books who is called “Hermine” in Europe. “Hermine” derives from “Hermes” the Egyptian god who taught the post-Flood world Hermetic magick.

The French version of this name is “Irmine,” who was the daughter of Dagobert II, the last Merovingian king to rule Europe. Found in a biography of the late Pierre Plantard de Saint-Claire is evidence that his grandson, Thomas, has a twin sister, as his name indicates. The following is an English translation of a chronology of Pierre Plantard's life; the brackets show the French wording for purposes of clarity.

1981	Election of Pierre [Plantard Grand] Master of the Priory of Sion.
February 1	An article is published in [l’Est républicain] introducing Thomas and Irmine [PLANTARD] like "the two young descendants of Clovis..." ( Biographe: Pierre Plantard )

Thomas sister, Irmine, is almost certainly named after St. Irmine (c. 726), the Abbess d’Oeren who was the daughter of Dagobert II, the last Merovingian king, and half-sister of Sigisbert IV (676-758), who fled to Rennes le Chateau. We are told that, on 17 January, Sigebert IV, known as the ‘Plant-Ard’, escaped assassination and took refuge in his mother’s home at Rennes-le-Chateau in Razès. This event was recorded by ‘St. Irmine’ in a parchment that was placed in a vessel containing the head of Dagobert, which was later discovered by Abbé Bérenger Saunière, the central character of Holy Blood, Holy Grail. See: “The Merovingian Dynasty: The Sacred Marriage.”

Hurricane Ivan

On September 16, Hurricane Ivan entered Alabama as a Category 4 hurricane after ravaging Jamaica at Category 5 intensity, the highest point on the Saffir-Simpson Hurricane Scale. Hurricane Ivan caused deaths in Alabama and the Florida Panhandle as well as tornadoes and flooding as it tore through other states on its northward path. Even over the northeastern states, Hurricane Ivan remained a massive storm. Based on its horrific performance, we suspect that

Hurricane Ivan was prophetically named in honour of “Ivan the Terrible,” the 16th century Czar under whose reign of terror Russia became a fully autocratic state. The National Weather Service even referred to this deadly hurricane as “Ivan the Terrible.”

Of interest, former Presidential candidate, John Kerry, is a descendant of all of the royal houses of Europe, which includes the lineage of “Ivan the Terrible.”

“Burke’s Peerage has now completed much of the research on Senator John Kerry. This research proves that he is definitely more royal by blood than any former American President, including General Washington (related to 12 of the 25 British Dukes and the late Queen Mother) and both Presidents Bush (related to Queen Elizabeth II, 20 of the 25 Dukes and numerous European Princes). Senator Kerry is related to all the royal houses of Europe.

“Senator Kerry’s royal descent even includes the Albanian royal house. These relationships are direct through the Senator’s mother, Rosemary Forbes. Her father was descended from William Forbes, Laird of Newe. The Baronets of Newe are extant. It is via this family that the Democratic candidate is descended from Henry II, King of England and father of Richard the Lionheart who was leader of the third Crusade in 1189...

“Senator Kerry’s father’s family was originally Jewish by religion... We know that the Senator’s grandfather gave up the Jewish religion in favour of Roman Catholicism about a hundred years ago. The name was originally Kohn and the family came from what was then Czechoslovakia... “Sen. Kerry is also descended on his mother’s side from Henry I, King of France, and his wife, Anne of Kiev. He is a direct descendant of a daughter of King Harold, the last Anglo-Saxon King of England. As a collateral descendant of Constantine Monomachus IX, Emperor of Byzantium, Sen. Kerry is related to all the monarchs of the royal house of France, including a double relationship with Francis I, Louis XIV, Louis XV, sadly with Louis XVI (guillotined) and also Louis XIX, Charles X and the present day Louis XX of France.

“The above blood line gives Sen. Kerry kinship with the royal houses of Sweden, Norway, Denmark and the princely House of Rus founded in 862 A.D. Amongst his kinsmen can be counted Ivan IV, “The Terrible“, Tsar of all the Russias...” (Burke’s Peerage)

The Merovingians were descended from the Nephilim, the fallen angels of Genesis 6. A branch of this demonic dynasty, the first Angevin [angel-vine] dynasty, was known from the 12th century on as the Plantagenet dynasty through the House of Anjou which produced King Henry II, father of Richard the Lionheart and subsequent kings who were John Kerry’s ancestors:

“Geoffrey Plante Genest, count of Anjou and Maine was the father of king Henry II of England and, amongst others, Hamelyn (Plantagenet), Warren earl of Surrey (London). The first evidence for the Pl(a/e)nte name in England is found in 1219, just after the times of Henry II’s son, the lecherous king John. [Richard’s younger brother]...” (950)

“The Plantagenets were themselves a junior branch of the House of Anjou, whose senior branch was the House of Vere [whose] ancestry was jointly Pictish and Merovingian descending from the ancient Grail House of Scythia.” (248:8)

The heir apparent of this demonic dynasty is Thomas Plantard de Saint-Claire, the Grand Master of the Prieuré de Sion.

“According to the ‘Prieuré documents’ the lords of Anjou-Plantagenet family were thus allied to the Merovingian bloodline. And the name of Plantagenet may even have been intended to echo ‘Plant-ard’ or Plantard.” (Holy Blood, Holy Grail, p. 302)

“In Breton, ard means art or craft and plantan can mean to implant, such that a possible sense to Plantard is an ‘implant(er) of skill or divine magic’...” (Plant Family History)

"The Merovingian kings were noted sorcerers in the manner of the Samaritan Magi..." (Bloodline of the Holy Grail, p. 171)

The Merovingians were the royalty of medieval Europe who claimed Jewish descent from King David, King Solomon and, posing as Christians, from Jesus Christ through Mary Magdalene! As noted by Burke's Peerage, John Kerry is also Jewish, notwithstanding his poor memory (that his father was Jewish). The Merovingian Jews of Europe converted, often en masse, to Roman Catholicism in order to infiltrate the clergy and destroy the Church. Were Kerry's ancestors among these Marranos?

"Senator Kerry's father's family was originally Jewish by religion... We know that the Senator's grandfather gave up the Jewish religion in favour of Roman Catholicism about a hundred years ago. The name was originally Kohn and the family came from what was then Czechoslovakia." (Burke's Peerage)

"The Illuminati's personnel directors carefully groomed young John Kerry from the start. First, they changed his family name to Kerry, from Kohn. Kohn, of course, shows Kerry's true heritage as a Jew. His superiors gave him a fictitious Irish name, great for political effect because Massachusetts has a strongly Irish population." (Texe Marrs, Power of Prophecy)

Kerry's real surname, Kohn, was changed by his grandfather when he emigrated from Czechoslovakia to the U.S. This would make John Kerry a descendant of the priestly tribe of Levi who are now known by the surnames of Cohen, Kohen or Kohn. Interestingly, research is now being conducted to determine Jewish descent and even to identify and locate the lost tribes of Israel. The Centre For Cohanim, Jerusalem, recently discovered a Cohen Modal Hapotype (CMH) purported to be the standard genetic signature of the Cohen family which claims to be of the Tribe of Levi:

"Cohanim (plural of Cohen) are the priestly family of the Jewish people, members of the Tribe of Levi. The books of Exodus and Leviticus describe the responsibilities of the Cohanim, which include the Temple service and blessing of the people. The Torah (the first five books of the Bible) describes the anointing of Aaron, the brother of Moses, as the first High Priest (Cohen Gadol)..."

"The results of the analysis of the Y chromosome markers of the Cohanim and non-Cohanim were indeed significant. A particular marker, (YAP-) was detected in 98.5 percent of the Cohanim, and in a significantly lower percentage of non-Cohanim.

"The research has shown a clear genetic relationship amongst Cohanim and their direct lineage from a common ancestor. The research findings support the Torah statements that the line of Aaron will last throughout history..." (Aish HaTorah)

Former Secretary of Defence William Cohen who, in 1997, knew about the use of electromagnetic weapons to control the weather, would also be of the Cohanim, the tribe of Levi. Why are the Jews conducting genetic research to determine living descendants of the tribe of Levi? No doubt the priestly lineage of Kohn and Kohen/Cohen will come into view when the Noahide Laws are imposed upon the Gentile world.

"And thou shalt come unto the priests the Levites, and unto the judge that shall be in those days, and enquire; and they shall shew thee the sentence of judgment: And thou shalt do according to the sentence, which they of that place which the LORD shall choose shall shew thee; and thou shalt observe to do according to all that they inform thee: According to the sentence of the law which they shall teach thee, and according to the judgment which they shall tell thee, thou shalt do: thou shalt not decline from the sentence which they shall shew thee, to the right hand, nor to the left." (Deut. 17:9-11)

Hurricane Jeanne

Following Ivan was Hurricane Jeanne, a Category 3 hurricane which devastated the Treasure Coast of Florida on September 26, 2004. One week prior to landfall in Florida, over 2,000 people died in Haiti as a result of flooding and mudslides caused by Hurricane Jeanne. Most revealing is the fact that “Jean” or “Jeanne” is the French name adopted by all Grand Masters of the Prieuré de Sion, as explained in Holy Blood, Holy Grail:

“After 1188 [the Prieuré de] Sion is said to have chosen a grand master of its own, the first of them being Jean de Gisors. According to the 'Prieuré documents' every grand master, on assuming his position, had adopted the name Jean (John)--or, since there were four women, Jeanne (Joan). Sion's grand masters are therefore alleged to have comprised a continuous succession of Jeans and Jeannes, from 1188 to the present. This succession was clearly intended to imply an esoteric and Hermetic papacy based on John, in contrast (and perhaps opposition) to the exoteric one based on Peter.”

“One major question, of course, was which John. John the Baptist? John the Evangelist--the 'Beloved Disciple' in the Fourth Gospel? Or John the Divine, author of the Book of Revelation? It clearly seemed to be one of these three because Jean de Gisors in 1188 had purportedly taken the title of Jean II. Who, then, was Jean I?”(31:159)

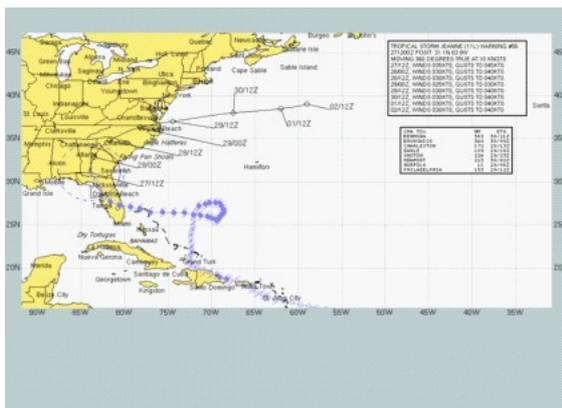

In this context, it seems significant that, in the Orthodox Church, September 26 is the feast day of St. John the Divine. As well, the holy Saints John (the Baptist and Apostle) are the patron saints of Freemasonry, and the messiahs of their precursors, the Knight Templar and the Prieuré de Sion. This feigned devotion to St. John concealed their gnostic Johannite tradition, as revealed in Albert Pike's Morals & Dogma.

“This idea presided at the foundation of the great religious orders, so often at war with the secular authorities, ecclesiastical or civil. Its realization was also the dream of the dissident sects of Gnostics or Illuminati who pretended to connect their faith with the primitive tradition of the Christianity of Saint John. It at length became a menace for the Church and Society, when a rich and dissolute Order, initiated in the mysterious doctrines of the Kabalah, seemed disposed to turn against legitimate authority the conservative principle of Hierarchy, and threatened the entire world with an immense revolution. The Templars, whose history is so imperfectly known, were those terrible conspirators.” {read more...}

By the way, as Hurricane Jeanne stalled in the Atlantic Ocean on its way to Florida, did anyone notice that it formed a well-defined letter “P”??? . . .

“P” for “Prieuré de Sion”. . . or possibly “Plantard”??? Hurricane Jeanne's Merovingian “signature” demonstrates the precision with which occultists are able to steer hurricanes using scalar technology!!!

Hurricane Karl & Otto

After Hurricane “Jeanne”, we find “Karl” and “Otto”, perhaps representing Otto and Karl von Hapsburg, another famous family of the Merovingian nobility. Karl reached a Cat 4 level but remained in the Atlantic Ocean and never made landfall; this must mean that a Hapsburg dynasty is not a main branch in the Merovingian lineage of the Antichrist.

“There are at least a dozen families in Britain and Europe today--with numerous collateral branches who are of Merovingian lineage. These include the houses of Hapsburg-Lorraine (present titular dukes of Lorraine and kings of Jerusalem), Plantard, Luxembourg, Montpezat, Montesquiou, and various others. According to the 'Priore documents,' the Sinclair family in Britain is also allied to the bloodline as are various branches of the Stuarts." (Holy Blood, Holy Grail, pp. 409-410)

"The Habsburg dynasty, which ruled the Holy Roman Empire since the 13th century, is the direct lineage of the Merovingian bloodline... Although the Habsburg empire is gone, the spirit of the Habsburg dynasty is not extinct. In fact, when the first parliament of the European Economic Community convened in 1979, one of the important delegates and guiding forces was Dr. Otto von Habsburg, the eldest son of the last emperor, Charles I... Otto is currently a delegate to the Common Market's European Parliament, headquartered in Strasbourg, France... Karl von Habsburg is the heir apparent to the Habsburg heritage." (J.R. Church, Guardians of the Grail, 127: 91,96-7)

Hurricane Lisa

Following Hurricane "Karl" was "Lisa," a tropical storm which also fizzled in the Atlantic Ocean. Most assuredly "Lisa" was chosen as the namesake of the Mona Lisa, Leonardo DaVinci's masterpiece that concealed his famous code which, according to the popular book, The DaVinci Code, will bring about the downfall of Christianity. (Interesting that "Lenny" and "Vince" were on the 1999 list of hurricane names and Vince is repeated in 2005.) The DaVinci Code by Dan Brown, a best seller which has sold over 17 million copies worldwide, is the latest Merovingian propaganda promoting the myth that Jesus Christ fathered children whose "divine" descendants are living today in France and Scotland.

Hurricane Richard

Mentioned by Burke's Peerage in John Kerry's ancestry was Richard the Lionheart, the Merovingian King of England who led the Third Crusade. The son of King Henry II (Plantagenet) of England and Eleanor of Aquitaine, Richard Plantagenet was raised in the South of France, the area called the Languedoc where the Merovingians first settled in Europe after their removal from Arcadia. The Prieuré de Sion is also located in France. Although Richard Plantagenet was the King of England, he was always partial to France.

"Richard Plantagenet came into the world September 8th in the year 1157 AD Although born in Oxfordshire England, Richard was a child of Aquitaine a part of Southern France...

"In 1189, upon the death of Henry II, Richard was crowned king of England in Westminster Abbey London. One of his first actions was to begin to raise funds for his crusade known to history as the Third Crusade." (Templar History)

Hurricanes Tomas & Virginie

"Tomas" did not materialize in 2004, but could be a killer hurricane in 2010 since that is the name of Thomas Plantard de Saint-Claire, Grand Master of the Prieuré de Sion. After Tomas comes "Virginie," a veiled reference to "the Virgin" and, in particular, the "Virgini Pariturae"—the Virgin "about to give birth." The Virgin refers to the Black Virgin, the medieval representation of Virgo, the Great Mother Goddess. This androgynous divinity is none other than Lucifer, who will incarnate the Antichrist and be worshipped as "God" in the New Age. (II Thes. 2:4) The "Virgin about to give birth" means that the False Christ will make his debut shortly. His Satanic majesty is in hiding, until the "falling away" is complete and then will "that man of sin be revealed" (II Thes. 2:3). We believe the "falling away" will be from the truth of Jesus Christ, as presented in Scripture, into the Merovingian heresy (as presented in the Gnostic gospels) which is a direct attack on the Person of Jesus Christ. Thomas Plantard de Saint-Clair is strongly implicated as “that man of sin” in The DaVinci Code:

“Only two direct lines of Merovingians remain. Their family names are Plantard and Saint-Claire. Both families live in hiding, probably protected by the Priory.” (p. 260)

The Masonic book, The Templar Revelation, calls the Virgini Pariturae “the Virgo who must give birth“. Statues of the Virgini Pariturae are found on the west facade and in the underground crypt of Chartres Cathedral in France, the most famous of the European cathedrals because of its occult imagery. In Roslyn: Guardian of the Secrets of the Holy Grail, Tim Wallace-Murphy and Marilyn Hopkins, the meaning of the Virgini Pariturae at Chartres is explained:

“The Druids, like most initiatory tribal cultures, worshipped the principle of the Eternal Feminine as the source of all fertility. Julius Caesar describes, in de Bello Gallico, the veneration accorded to a fire-blackened, female figurine which was worshipped at a Druidic sacred grotto at Carnutum, now the modern city of Chartres .—a fertility symbol he called Virgini Pariturae, the virgin about to give birth. . . It was at Chartres that the Church adopted the veneration of the fire-blackened, Druidic figurine Virgini Pariturae in the guise of the Black Madonna. A medieval replica of the Druidic figure is found in the crypt, which the official guide states categorically was used as an initiation chamber. ” (pp. 49, 163)

For more detailed information on the importance of Virgo, and the Virginie Pariturae, see our report, THE FALSE GOSPEL IN THE STARS, specifically the section on the Black Virgin.

Other Merovingian names on the Atlantic Hurricane list, which is repeated every six years, include “Florence” (centre of the Italian Renaissance--revival of occult traditions in Europe), “Leslie” (Scottish Merovingian Clan), “Michael” (the counterfeit Archangel who will slay the Roman Dragon), Rafael (Renaissance artist), and “Gabriel.” Michael, Rafael and Gabriel are 3 of the 4 archangels invoked by occultists in the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram. Such rituals are used by occultists to conjure chaotic spirits of the Air as evil winds. (This ritual and its relevance to the hurricanes is covered in Part 2 of this report: The Transformation of America) Continuing with the Merovingian names of the hurricanes, we find “Henri” (St. Claire of Roslin), “Lorenzo” (Lorenzo the Magnificent, Medici leader of Florence during the Renaissance whose son became Pope Leo X, who excommunicated Martin Luther), and “Arthur”, the Once and Future King (of Round Table fame).

Grand Masters of the Prieuré de Sion showing up on the Atlantic hurricane list include: “Edouard” (de Bar, J. Valentin) “Andrea,” “Isaac” (Newton), “Rene” (d’Anjou), “Victor” “Hugo,” “Nicholas” (Flamel), “Philippe” (de Cherisey), “Charles” (de Lorraine, Nodier, Radclyffe) and several Grand Masters named “Jean” (de Gisors, de Saint-Clair, Cocteau) and “Jeanne” (de Bar).

(Dagobert’s Revenge posted a list of notable Merovingians which included “Ivan the Terrible,” but that list disappeared pursuant to this report, as so many of their articles vanish following our exposés.)

In the year 2006, there is Hurricane “William”...probably for William the Conqueror, possibly for Prince William of Wales and maybe even William “Bill” Cooper, the author of Behold a Pale Horse who is a close relative of the Antichrist. Do not miss our report, The Merovingian Dynasty and, specifically, the Identity of the False Christ for evidence that Thomas Plantard de Saint-Claire, the Grand Master of the Prieuré de Sion, is closely related to William Cooper. The following Watch Unto Prayer reports contain specifics about the various Merovingians after whom the hurricanes are named:

Pursuant to this research on the hurricanes, a huge piece of information surfaced concerning prominent figures associated with the Prieuré de Sion. In 1864, the Red Cross was founded by a famous Freemason, “Jean” “Henri” Dunant (613), whose name also happens to be the address of the Prieuré de Sion in Paris: “110 Rue Henri Dunant, 92700 COLOMBES.” The “red cross” is, in fact, the Rosy Cross or Rose Croix, the Rosicrucian emblem of the Prieuré de Sion. Little wonder the funds collected by the Red Cross for disasters such as hurricanes fail to reach the victims. But there is even more.

In 1860, Baron James de Rothschild founded the Alliance Israelite Universelle, the central Cabal of world Jewry, the purpose of which, according to its president, Adolph Crimeaux, was “to penetrate in all the religions as it has penetrated into all countries.” It was Crimeaux who invited Henri Dunant, a friend of Baron Rothschild, to a board meeting of the Alliance Israelite Universelle to speak about what would eventually become the Red Cross. According to news found in a Turkish Hasidic journal, dated 1865, Rothschild himself managed the early French version of the Red Cross:

“In local cafés, there are talks about Jean Henri Dunant who founded the Red Cross Organization after being shocked by the terrible scenes of the battleground in Solferino a year ago. Members of Vienna press, - most of them being Jewish – argue that he was one of the persons who is very close to the French Emperor.

“Two years ago, Dunant was invited, by Adolphe Cremieux, a French–Jewish statesman, to a conference at the Alliance Israelite board on the idea of an international Red Cross Organization. The speech by Dunant received lots of applause and the old Baron James de Rothschild committed to undertake the management of the Treasurer’s Office of the French Committee to Assist Wounded War Veterans.

“And, now Napoleon and Rothschild’s friend Dunant, all of a sudden, became the prominent defenders of a Jewish State in the Palestine. The consultants of Emperor Francis Joseph – and the Austrian Secret Police Service Organization – think that this was more than a coincidence and fear that Napoleon III will succeed, with the help of people like Lesseps and Rothschild, in something that Napoleon has not been able to.” (Sevicon Post, 19 Nisan 1865)

In 1875, Henri Dunant also founded the Palestine Colonization Society in London (see Zionist Conspiracy), but it was Dunant's Red Cross that would operate globally as a humanitarian cover for the diabolical schemes of the House of Rothschild:

Skull and Bones Fostered Russian Communism

“Criminal connections to the Financial Fraternity that paid for the creation of Communism, the United Nations and Nazism are explored in this G. Richard Arnold article...

The destruction of Russia and the creation of the Communist Soviet Union was a special project of the American Illuminati. This was an important first step on their road to killing nations and paving the way for their New World Order...

“The headquarters for the operation to make Russia Communist was located at 120 Broadway in downtown New York. It was the address of E.H. Harriman. George Kennan was the hired hack of H.E. Harriman and the Wall Street Hitlers. [See: The Bush Family Oligarchy: Funding the Hitler Project]...

“8) The Red Cross Mission to Russia was a reconnaissance cover for the conspiracy to overthrow the Czar and his family by the American Illuminati (Skull& Bones). The 'Mission' was the preparation for the murder of the Czar and his family and the tens of millions of patriotic Russians who followed them to the grave.

“9) George Kennan was well aware that 'this mission' was an act of war by his fanatical friends at 120 Broadway, NY. In his book ... Russia Leaves the War ... Kennan quotes Cornelius Kelleher (Asst. to Wm Boyce Thompson) ... 'Poor Mr. Billings believed he was in charge of a scientific mission for the relief of Russia ... He was reality nothing but a mask - the Red Cross complexion of the mission was nothing but a mask.' Kennan was right ... the Red Cross was a con.

“2nd in command Red Cross Mission. Raymond Robins 'I am the servant of William Boyce Thompson ... let us assume I'm here to capture Russia for Wall street ...' The Decision to Intervene: Soviet-American Relations, pp190,235. Let us repeat 'I'm here to capture Russia for Wall Street.' This key point is the Rosetta Stone of understanding. It is summed up as Anthony J. Hilder puts it 'Communism is not the creation of the masses to overthrow the Banking establishment ... It is a creation of the banking establishment to overthrow and enslave the masses. Communism is not run from Moscow, Beijing or Havana. It is run from London, New York and Washington D. C. '

“10) The funding of the conspiracy came through the American National Headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington D.C. under Miss Mabel Boardman. Her father was the only one outside of NY to give over $10,000 to prepare for the overthrow. The NY chairman, for fund raising, H. P. Davison. was rewarded by having his son, H. P. Davison Jr. inducted into the Skull & Bones in 1920.

“Please Note ... In 1917 the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was located at the 120 Broadway which was the headquarters for the funding of the Communist and Nazi movements. It is where Pierre Jay (Skull & Bones) became the First Chairman of the NY Federal Reserve, in NY city.

“According to Bruce Lockhart's book British Agent, Colonel William Boyce Thompson of the Red Cross Mission ... 'had denounced in blunt language the folly of the Allies in not opening up negotiations with the Bolsheviks.' G. P. Putnam's sons 1933 pp 198-99. Thompson who was the first full-time director of the Federal Reserve in NY had given $250,000 to the Red Cross for the preparation of the Red Revolution. Remember it was Raymond Robins who claimed he was 'Thompson's servant' and 'I'm here to capture Russia for Wall Street.'”

Part 2 THE TRANSFORMATION OF AMERICA

There is far more to the hurricanes than meets the eye, for the agenda of the Prieuré de Sion is global revolution and world domination, not weather research. To this end, killer hurricanes are being engineered to destabilize civilization, economically and socially, a scheme that will eventually involve depopulating large portions of the United States and relocating the remaining populace.

The reader will notice in the Wildlands Project for North America below that the Atlantic Corridor includes the entire state of Florida as well as the Atlantic coast which has also been affected by the recent hurricanes.

The NOAA map (next page top) shows that the path of Hurricane Frances followed the Atlantic Corridor mapped out for the Wildlands Project. The Wildlands Project map (next page bottom) also shows the Pacific Corridor, in Washington State, the location of Mount St. Helens which, according to scientists monitoring the volcano, will soon erupt. Because occultists believe volcanoes are portals to the lost continents of Lemuria and Atlantis, they are using electromagnetic weapons to awaken them. (See: Heeding Bible Prophecy: Environment: Volcanoes)

What is the Wildlands Project?

“In 1991, a group of activists and scientists founded the Wildlands Project. The goal was to link up wildlands from Mexico to the Yukon, from Florida to Newfoundland, from Baja California to the Brooks Range and the Bering Sea. Connections to the North Woods, the Great Plains and great northern boreal forest would also be re-created.

“People called the vision ‘delusional,’ a hallucination of romantics. Ten years later, however, the basic concepts are mainstream. The idea of rewilding continents, by restoring the keystone species and healing other wounds to our lands and waters, has been widely adopted by the conservation community because it is the only realistic prescription for preserving entire faunas and floras. Internationally, partners such as The Wilderness Society (of Australia) are adapting the vision to other continents...

“By 2008, if we have the resources, we can complete the alternative land-use plan for all of North America. This blueprint, including the steps for on-the-ground land restoration, would be the first of its kind for an entire continent. Do such plans energize activists and agencies? Our experience in the Southwest leaves no doubt: These compelling plans inspire activists, planners and professionals alike.”

The Wildlands Project is about the government taking control of more than one-half to three-quarters of America’s landmass and its natural resources, under the pretext of “preserving nature.” The Governor of Florida, Jeb Bush, and his administration have already commenced the rewilding of the state of Florida by confiscating privately-owned property for the “Everglades restoration,” which is part of the Wildlands Project. The Wildlands Project was the basis for the U.N.’s Convention on Biological Diversity, which was ratified at the 1992 Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Through a series of national initiatives in cooperation with UNESCO’s Man and the Biosphere Program, 411 U.N. Biosphere Reserves have been established in 90 nations.

“Each of these Biosphere Reserves, and new reserves yet to be designated, are to be connected by corridors of wilderness, surrounded by ‘buffer zones,’ which are surrounded by ‘zones of cooperation.’ People are to be moved into ‘sustainable communities.’”

To implement the Wildlands Project, private property in the designated “wildlands” must be confiscated and whole populations relocated to the aforementioned “sustainable communities” (read: crowded cities) where they live within walking or biking distance of their jobs. These communities will be surrounded by “open space,” where the agricultural and industrial production required to support them takes place under government supervision. The remainder of the land area will be protected sanctuaries for the animals, euphemistically called “bio diversity.”

“In November 1991, the ‘Wildlands Project’ was co-created by environmental journalist Reed F. Noss and Dave Foreman ... of Earth First! As described by Charles C. Mann and Mark L. Plummer in Science magazine, the Wildlands scheme ‘calls for a network of wilderness reserves, human buffer zones, and wildlife corridors stretching across...as much as half the continent. The Wildlands approach calls for 23.4 percent of the land to be returned to wilderness, and another 26.2 percent to be severely restricted in terms of human use. Most roads would be closed; some would be ripped out of the landscape. [It would mean] nothing less than a transformation of America from a place where 47 percent of the land is wilderness to an archipelago of human-inhabited islands surrounded by natural areas... the Wildlands concept is essentially a brainchild of the United Nations Environmental Programme...” - 69:32

How will large populations be relocated to sustainable communities? The Federal Emergency and Management Agency (FEMA)—the federal coordinating body deployed in times of domestic disaster—has been merged with the Department of Homeland Security. Not only does FEMA assist in the recovery of disaster areas, this federal agency has the authority to suspend laws, move entire populations, arrest and detain citizens without a warrant and hold them without trial. As well, FEMA may seize property, food supplies, transportation systems, and even has the authority to suspend the U.S. Constitution and the Bill of Rights. Due to the onslaught of hurricanes, FEMA has been establishing its presence in the states along the Atlantic coast which have been declared disaster areas. At some point in time, the Atlantic Corridor will have been so devastated by hurricanes that FEMA will be in a position to enact the emergency powers which suspend the Constitution.

Perhaps dealing with U.S. citizens who refuse to cooperate with the Wildlands Project will be the Chinese military which has recently been deployed to Haiti to work with the United Nations. This gives the Red Chinese a base in the Western Hemisphere not far from the United States. It seems that China already has good relations with Cuba and Venezuela:

“China’s Public Security Ministry is set to dispatch a 130-man ‘special police’ unit to Haiti this month in the first deployment of Chinese forces to the Western Hemisphere, Bush administration officials say.

“The first advance unit of the police troops, who are specially trained for riot and crowd control, will over the next two weeks join the U.N. Stabilization Mission in Haiti, the multinational force known as Minustah dispatched to the war-torn Caribbean island.

“The main body of the force will arrive a short time later and will deploy to the port of Gonaives, say officials who insist on anonymity...

“China has covertly dispatched military trainers and intelligence personnel to Venezuela, whose leftist president, Hugo Chavez, recently defeated a recall referendum. Beijing recently obtained observer status in the Organization of American States and will sponsor a China-Caribbean Economic and Trade Cooperation Forum later this year.

“China has shipped military goods to Cuba and is working with Cuba’s communist government on intelligence and military issues, the officials say.

“A classified study by the U.S. Southern Command in the 1990's stated that China is working to establish bases, primarily economic, at strategic choke points near the United States, said to officials familiar with the study.

“Al Santoli, vice president of the American Foreign Policy Council, says the deployment of Chinese forces to Haiti sets a bad precedent. ‘This now gives them a legitimate mandate for having a martial presence in our hemisphere and sets a very dangerous precedent,’ Mr. Santoli said. ‘This is something China could do more of as it develops economic relations with smaller countries in Latin America and the Caribbean.’”

The death toll in Haiti from Hurricane Jeanne exceeded 2,000 people. Add to this the extensive civil strife in early 2004, marked by the flight of President Aristide, which further impoverished this pitiable Caribbean island, and you have the perfect pretext for a U.N. peace-keeping mission. Henry Kissinger told the Bilderbergers that such crises could also be orchestrated in the United States as a pretext to impose martial law.

“Today Americans would be outraged if U.N. troops entered Los Angeles to restore order; tomorrow they will be grateful! This is especially true if they were told there was an outside threat from beyond, whether real or promulgated, that threatened our very existence. It is then that all peoples of the world will plead with world leaders to deliver them from this evil. The one thing every man fears is the unknown. When presented with this scenario, individual rights will be willingly relinquished for the guarantee of their well being granted to them by their world government.” -- Henry Kissinger in an address to the Bilderberg organization meeting at Evian, France, May 21, 1992. Transcribed from a tape recording made by one of the Swiss delegates.

STRATEGIC-LEVEL SORCERY

“[The Wildlands’ Project would mean] nothing less than a transformation of America from a place where 47 percent of the land is wilderness to an archipelago of human-inhabited islands surrounded by natural areas...” - William Grigg, "Sunset on the West?"

Chuck Pierce is the Vice President of Global Harvest Ministries in Colorado Springs, CO, President of Glory of Zion Ministries and a member of Peter Wagner’s Apostolic Council of Prophetic Elders. Below is a portion of Chuck Pierce’s “word over Florida” at TRANSFORMATION AMERICA – *Awaken the Nation, Thursday, PM (February 19, 2004):

“I am mounting up the waters of breakthrough for this nation. I have brought you here to this state because part of the mounting up of the waters is coming this hour from this particular state. I have gathered you together here because from this state you will cause the waters to rise again. Many will try to put their finger in this water just as the boy who tried to hold back the water stuck his finger in the dike, but I would say this water that is mounting over this nation cannot be stopped.

“There is a mounting enemy that is rising up at this time. Therefore I have drawn you together for a day such as this. In this place and at this time I will release an anointing that will cause the enemy that is mounting to become confused. The voice of the enemy will taunt, and taunt, and taunt again. The voice of the enemy will become very strong beginning in September through October. But even now that which you release in the heavens will begin to neutralize that which will come forth at harvest time.

“Harvest time is upon you, and because harvest time is mounting I must have a people with a harvest mind. I have brought you here to bring forth the first fruit of that harvest anointing, and to cause your mind to shift into a mind of increase. Many have come and said, ‘But the enemy has surrounded me and besieged me. I even feel like I am in a strait jacket.’ During these days I will untie that strait jacket and your hands will go free.

“Hear the sound as the waters mount up, for the waters are mounting and the wall that is being built against My righteousness is cracking. And within 22 months there will be floods across this land.”

Chuck Pierce postures as one who receives prophetic words from the Holy Spirit, but he could very well have been in communication with occultists in high places who planned to unleash these terrible hurricanes in 2004 and 2005! Based on Chuck Pierce’s top level information, we can expect hurricanes and other natural disasters through the year 2005 when the U.S. will be so devastated that the states designated to be “wildlands“ are turned over to FEMA. That would take us to Christmas of 2005 at which time the “Transformation of America“ will begin in earnest.

The timing of this transformation would also occur exactly seven years before the end of the Great Mayan Cycle in December of 2012, at which time the Earth will supposedly shift wiping out all forms of life. New Agers have been assured by the Spiritual Hierarchy from the star system Sirius that these highly evolved beings will intervene to assist in the evolution of mankind so as to avert this global catastrophe. The period December 2005 to December 2012, however, sounds more like the 7-year Tribulation Period after which the sorcerers on the earth will “devolve” rather than evolve!

“But the fearful, and unbelieving, and the abominable, and murderers, and whoremongers, and sorcerers, and idolaters, and all liars, shall have their part in the lake which burneth with fire and brimstone: which is the second death.” (Rev. 21:8)

There are some indications that the state of Florida may be the first state to undergo “Transformation.” Ken Malone is the Apostolic Coordinator for Florida in Peter Wagner’s U.S. Strategic Prayer Network and Director of Transformation Florida “monthly gatherings of churches, five-fold ministry leaders and intercessors. . . proven to be instrumental in moving the Church of Florida into her redemptive purpose as the ‘Forerunner’ to the nation.“ In his Sept. 8, 2004 USSPN newsletter, Malone used Chuck Pierce’s term “breakthrough” in reference to the upcoming transformation of Florida:

“THE TRANSFORMATION OF FLORIDA began as a prophetic word from the Lord. That His Presence will hover over entire regions, cities, churches, businesses, factories schools, homes, and government offices to release an unprecedented revival with book of Acts proportions. In many cities throughout Florida, God has released the beginning stages of this revival and harvest. Florida is on the verge of breakthrough.”

“Transformation” and “Breakthrough” are occult terms. They are never used in Scripture. For instance, Whitley Streiber’s best selling book, Communion, is an account of his abduction by aliens, i.e. astral travel and possession by evil spirits. The sequels to Communion are titled: Breakthrough: The Next Step (1996) and Transformation: The Breakthrough (1997).

“Breakthrough” and “Transformation” are the terms used to describe the final stages on the path to occult illumination. Breakthrough means that contact with spirit entities has been achieved, leading to personal “transformation”, in other words. possession by evil spirits:

“New Age Dominican priest Matthew Fox calls [Deitrich] Eckhart his favourite mystic and claims to actually communicate with this dead monk. Fox wrote a book called ‘Meditations with Meister Eckhart: A Centering Book’ for all those daring to make the mystical, spiritual journey ... Fox quotes Eckhart as saying there is a four-fold path to God, the last being something ‘deep’ called ‘breakthrough’, where one begins to hear voices.” (24:156)

“High Magic is intended to bring about the spiritual transformation of the person who practices it. This form of magic is designed to channel the magician’s consciousness towards the sacred light within, which is often personified by the high gods of different cosmologies. The aim of high magic has been described as communication with one’s Holy Guardian Angel, or higher self. It is also known as Theurgy.” (912)

Transformation is also a term applied by New Agers to the global upheaval and change that will precede the New World Order. According to Lord Maitreya, global transformation will involve restoration of the environment and redistribution of the world’s resources:

“To help humanity in its task of global transformation, Maitreya the World Teacher has formulated certain priorities. They cover the essential needs of every man, woman and child: an adequate supply of food; housing for all; health care and education as universal rights. Other top priorities include the restoration of the environment and the establishment of peace. The key to achieving these goals is a more equitable sharing of the world’s food and resources. According to Maitreya: ‘Without sharing there can be no justice; without justice there can be no peace; without peace, there can be no future.’” (425)

In the King James Bible, Acts 11:18 states: “Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life.” However, in The Message, a paraphrase of Scripture with a Masonic slant, this verse is translated, “God has broken through to the other nations, opened them up to Life!” This rendering of Acts 11:18 misinterprets God’s Word so that the verse could be applied to the global transformation that will be taking place under the auspices of a world government. Parenthetically, since Lord Maitreya has yet to make his appearance, and knowing how the occult uses runes, codes and cryptograms to deceive the masses while they inform the initiated, we figure “Maitreya“ is an acronym rather than an individual. Perhaps “MAITREYA“ stands for something on the order of: “AYE, Rule of the Templars I AM,” revealing that the Knights Templar will be enforcing the mandates of the Antichrist for global transformation.

In his September newsletter, the Director of Transformation Florida, Ken Malone, wrote about the “transformation” of Polk County where he lives:

“Within a month of each other, hurricanes Charley and Frances have left Florida in with what newscasters are calling the one-two punch. This one-two punch has left us with homes, businesses, churches, and schools with much devastation. The Citrus Industry was especially hit very hard and will be a loss to many families and those in the citrus business. These hurricanes made an X across our state (which criss-crossed in Polk County).”

Malone noted that the point where Hurricanes Charley and Frances intersected was in Polk County, FL. Three weeks after Frances, on Sept. 26, Hurricane Jeanne also passed through Polk County. The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said this is the first time that three hurricanes have hit the same county in one season since it began keeping records in 1890. On the map to the right, note that the paths of the hurricanes formed either a 5 or 6-Pointed Star!

Polk County happens to be the location of the Carpenter’s Home Church in Lakeland, FL, the church where Rodney Howard Browne launched the Laughing Revival in 1993. (USSPN Apostle Ken Malone’s Transformation Florida is hotlinked from Carpenter’s Home Church.) After introducing the Laughing Revival, Rodney Howard Browne, who called himself the “Holy Ghost Bartender,” returned three times to the Carpenter’s Home Church where he stayed for months at a time. Browne was generating so much money and fame that people were traveling there from all over the country. From Lakeland this Satanic revival spread to Brownsville, all of Florida and the South. The Brownsville Assembly of God is located in Pensacola, Florida, which also took the full brunt of Ivan, the Category 3 hurricane that blasted ashore on September 16.

“Although the eye of Hurricane Ivan went ashore west of Pensacola, the city caught the full force of the storm, because it was struck by the storm’s front right quadrant. This part of a hurricane always packs the strongest punch: It combines the storm’s strongest winds with the force of the hurricane’s forward motion.” (National Geographic)

Has it occurred to Christians who participate in the Strategic Prayer Network that the recent hurricanes were NOT the anticipated “showers of blessing” which accompany revival but rather a “curse” has been unleashed on Polk County through the agency of witchcraft performed at the Carpenter's Home Church, Brownsville Assembly and Ken Malone's Transformation Florida. It is only fair to hold the U.S. Strategic Prayer Network responsible for “shifting the upper atmosphere” and “opening the Heavens in Florida” to Satanic powers, for this is what the USSPN “intercessors” (read: sorcerers) began to do the week before Hurricane Ivan devastated Pensacola and two weeks before Hurricane Jeanne struck Florida. The following request was made by Ken Malone in his September 8 newsletter:

“As a prayer leader in Florida I want to call the church in this state to worship the Lord over Florida this weekend. Many of you that are worship leaders, prayer coordinators, pastors, and etc. can help us in the state this Friday, Saturday, or Sunday., whatever is best for you. If you could pull together a large or small group to worship the Lord this weekend I know it will help shift the heavens over this state. I heard a meteorologist say that the atmosphere shifted in the mid 1990's to one that is conducive to hurricanes. This weekend we can shift our upper atmosphere to one that is conducive to the Lord.”

Did these intercessors “shift our upper atmosphere to one that is conducive to the Lord”? One week later, Category 4 Hurricane Ivan devastated Alabama and the Florida Panhandle and tore through the U.S. wreaking havoc and destruction in its path. Ken Malone also announced a non-stop “72 Hours of Worship - Opening the Heavens in Florida” to be held in Winter Haven from September 22-25.

What actually transpired in the heavenlies during the course of this “Opening the Heavens” worship gathering? Well, Hurricane Jeanne had left Haiti on Sept. 17, after which it was downgraded to a Tropical Storm and started travelling north in the Atlantic Ocean, away from the Florida coast. However, on Friday, Sept. 22—the day Transformation Florida’s “Opening the Heavens Worship Gathering” began—Jeanne began to intensify to a Cat 2 hurricane and proceeded to do a volte-face, drawing the famous “P” over the ocean (for Priory of Zion), after which Hurricane Jeanne headed straight for Florida!! As the “Opening the Heavens Worship Gathering” progressed, Jeanne increased to a Category 3 and made landfall in Florida on Sunday, Sept. 25—the very day the worship gathering ended!!! The following day, Jeanne tore through previously storm-torn Polk county where this “opening the heavens and shifting the upper atmosphere” conference was held. (See AccuWeather for a chronological map of Hurricane Jeanne)

The website of Transformation Florida features a photo of the “Opening the Heavens Worship Gathering” in which Malone and an associate appear to be performing as wizards “opening the heavens” with a sword. In witchcraft, a sword functions as a magic wand. Considering that Hurricane Jeanne struck Florida on the day this conference closed, on September 25, the image is most disturbing.

Opening The Heavens In Florida

In the Transformation Florida photo above, note Ken Malone with a raised index finger and his associate holding an upraised sword. In his book, The Illuminati Formula Used to Create an Undetectable Total Mind Controlled Slave, Fritz Springmeier has informed us that “A raised forefinger or two raised forefingers while a speaker is talking means that the message is a Masonic message coming from a Masonic speaker.” (49:380) This hand signal alone would not identify Malone as an occultist, however, the raised sword is a telltale sign that a Satanic ritual is in progress. Traditionally wielded by sorcerers as an instrument of high magic endued with supernatural power, the sword is more specifically a magical weapon for conjuring evil spirits to inflict harm.

In his book, Truth about Ritual Magic, Donald Tyson explains the function of the sword in high magic or theurgy:

“The four suits of the Tarot are Wands, Cups, Swords, and Pentacles...

“Swords... Correspond ...to the warrior class or nobility of medieval society...

“Less useful, but still necessary for high magic or theurgy which involves chaotic spirits, is the sword. This is similar in its functioning to the wand, but whereas the wand has a neutral nature, the sword is overtly offensive, projecting power to dominate and hurt... It is considered acceptable to procure a short sword, or long knife, and after thoroughly purifying it, consecrate it by anointing and prayer to its magical purpose. I use an old British army bayonet myself, which is shaped as a sword, hilt and all, and find it effective—

perhaps especially so due to its military associations.” (Llewellyn Encyclopaedia)

Hogwart’s School of Witchcraft & Wizardry

Chaotic spirits are, expressly identified as “evil winds” which “emanate” from the heavenlies to penetrate the Earth’s atmosphere:

“Chaotic spirits, known as k’asal ik’ob ‘evil winds/emanations’ penetrate the various levels and divisions of the universe. Some of these enter the Human, Earth or Sky dimensions from beyond, others are raised, summoned, emanated or generated by the ill will of the incarnate living. Without fixed form, abode, purpose or character, these chaotic spirits accumulate, wreak havoc, weaken, sicken and destroy the incarnate living. Left unchecked these forces will ultimately destroy the fabric of the universe itself. Chaotic spirits are typically identified and cast out of time and space with all due haste by all but the most self-deluded practitioners of evil.” (Maya Glyphs)

In other words, these self-deluded sorcerers believe they are “casting out” chaotic spirits, but they are in fact summoning more of these devils, for Jesus said:

“When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest; and finding none, he saith, I will return unto my house whence I came out. And when he cometh, he findeth it swept and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh to him seven other spirits more wicked than himself; and they enter in, and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first.” (Luke 11:24-26)

It would appear that the Christians involved in the Strategic Prayer Network are participating in shamanistic rituals. They have been told by their leaders that they are “shifting the upper atmosphere to one that is conducive to the Lord“ when in reality they are unleashing chaotic spirits to create violent storms. Psychic control over weather patterns is an ancient skill claimed by shamans in many pagan cultures.

“Shamans identify or manipulate the effects which events in other worlds may have upon the human community and vice versa. This placement entails curing, divination, spirit possession and other ritual activities designed to identify disturbances and restore harmony among the distinct parts and inhabitants of the universe (Eliade 1964).” (Maya Glyphs)

From what we have been able to ascertain, the reason the sword possesses magical powers is because, when it is upraised, it becomes an inverted cross and also a phallic symbol. (Recall that the sword was used by Ken Malone's associate in an upraised position.) "An Overview of Satanic Symbols" places the inverted cross/sword at the top of the list of geometric figures having Satanic symbolism.

|| "Notice how this looks like a sword. The 'inverted cross' has been associated with
 || Satanism for as long as it has been known as 'Satanism'. One of the principles
 || behind it is that inverting a symbol of a religion allows one to use it as a weapon
 ===== against the religion itself. Inasmuch as some Satanists see the cross as represent|| ative of a religious tradition they despise and would oppose, so does the inversion
 || of the symbol of Christianity become a very important part of their path.

"...The Satanist typically prefer[s] the more phallic symbol of the sword as a call to overthrow the oppressor rather than as a traditional icon of submission and execution."

Here we have it, that an inverted cross in the form of an upraised sword has a dual symbolism representing Satan's hatred of Jesus Christ and a magical weapon to be used against His Church. In occult rituals, the sword also symbolizes severity and judgment. Of course the supernatural power of this magical weapon is amplified when it is used in an assembly of Christians who are ignorant of its meaning. All things considered, it would appear that the shamans leading the "Opening the Heavens Worship Gathering" were doing "strategic level spiritual warfare" against Christianity instead of against evil spirits! (Along these lines, we were intrigued that a Cutting Edge School Shootings Map displayed an inverted cross overlaying the United States.)

It is also probable that the Transformation Florida shamans were performing a Christianised version of one of the chief rituals of Western Magic for the purpose of conjuring chaotic spirits. Occultists practice both "invoking" and "banishing" rituals, the former to conjure evil spirits and the latter to banish negative forces, such as Christians or even the residents of areas that have been designated sacred sites, e.g. corridors of the Wildlands Project. In the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram, portions of which are excerpted below, note the use of the upraised index finger or sword or dagger as a "magical weapon" to banish negative forces:

"To trace the Earth Banishing Pentagram, according to certain occultists, use a small, straight-bladed steel dagger, or index finger of the right hand... Move the arm and hand straight upwards to a point directly above the head as far as the arm will reach... [T]he complete connection of the beginning and ending of the lineal drawing of the Pentagram, both in the imagination, and as drawn by the Magical Weapon is ABSOLUTELY CRITICAL. This is true of all lineal figures traced in the Astral Light."

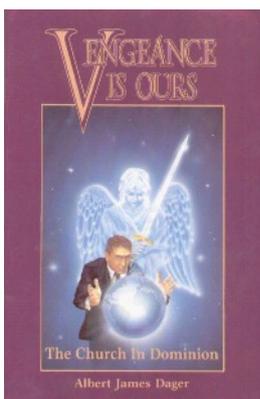

This ritual involves the invocation of archangels. Note that the Archangels summoned are also found in the list of Atlantic hurricane names— Michael (2006), Rafael (2006) and Gabrielle (2007).

"Take a steel dagger in the right hand (or use the index finger). Face EAST..."

"Hands as before, with the dagger between fingers, point up, vibrate AMEN..."

"Imagine that your voice carries forward to the LIMITS of the UNIVERSE."

"Extend the arms in the form of a cross, say: BEFORE ME (then vibrate) RAPHAEL.."

“Imagine a scintillating brilliant white Archangel in front of you and facing you. In his/her right hand is a magical Sword held with the point upright...

“Then, say: BEHIND ME (then vibrate) GABRIEL... Imagine a scintillating brilliant white Archangel behind you and facing you, holding in their right hand an exquisite silver Chalice...

“Different imaging of the Archangels at the four Quadrants of the Universe have been described by various contemporary occultists according to at least one occultist of note, the images should wield the Sword..., the Sword being the weapon of Air...”

There can be little doubt that Peter Wagner and his U.S. Strategic Prayer Network have introduced Luciferian occultism—its terminology, concepts and practices—to the Christian community. The following is a short list of Wagner’s “strategic-level spiritual warfare” practices which have as their source, not the Holy Scriptures, but witchcraft and sorcery: vision casting, prayerwalking, prayer journeys, prayer expeditions, spiritual mapping, strategic level intercession, synchronized prayers in symbolic territorial locations, identifying, binding and exorcising territorial spirits, tearing down strongholds, identificational repentance, redeeming the land and city transformation. These and other so-called “strategic-level spiritual warfare” tactics are derived from pagan rituals and ceremonies, such as the above, for invoking evil spirits and waging warfare against Christianity.

As noted, occult rituals are believed to have a heightened effect when the uninitiated participate in them with no knowledge of what they are really doing. The fact that so many Christians are practicing witchcraft with no qualms whatsoever makes an open mockery of the Christian faith and brings reproach on the name of Jesus Christ. We can be sure that more than one Wiccan organization is laughing these Christians to scorn:

“‘Spiritual Warfare’ teaches evangelical Christians a variety of Theurgic techniques not only very similar to, but in fact clearly stolen from, Golden Dawn and Ceremonial Magic traditions, such as the LBRP [Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram!!]. If the Christians performing these acts had any idea of their origins they would most certainly be horrified beyond belief, since they are simultaneously taught to view Magic as Evil, a thing most surely determined to cast one’s very soul into Hell... It seems to me, more than just a little, that these Christians should be encouraged to dabble in Thelema, as they already are quite comfortable dabbling in Magick.” (Beast Bay, A Wiccan Magick Website)

Theurgy is Magick performed with the aid of evil spirits, which is precisely what the USSPN prayer walkers and vision casters are doing. Their so-called prayer strategies and methodologies were developed in the 1930s at Fuller Theological Seminary, which is ecumenical in the extreme and the foremost disseminator of heretical doctrines, such as “global evangelisation” and “power evangelism,” also known as “signs and lying wonders.” The self-styled prayer strategists leading this movement have jettisoned sound doctrine for religious unity, even partnering with those who deny the inerrancy of the Bible. They are New Agers in Christian garb, wolves in sheep’s clothing, and the “Global Harvest” they will reap is the captivity of multitudes of souls in a false religious system—MYSTERY BABYLON THE GREAT—the Great Whore of Revelation 17 which will be destroyed by the Beast system after she has been exploited for its Satanic purposes.

AN ANGEL RIDES THE WHIRLWIND

Concurrent with Hurricane Charley, on the very day—Friday, August 13—the XVIII Olympic Games opened in Athens, Greece. August 13 is the date of the Festival of Diana, the chief festival of ancient Rome, who was in Greece, the goddess Artemis. The Olympic Opening Ceremony was an occult ritual extraordinaire, each performance portraying the sequences of a fertility rite. The Olympic ceremonies usually have a pagan flavor but last year Athens, Greece, where the Olympics were born and the city where they revived, staged a pornographic sex magic ceremony that was permeated with the Merovingian mythos.

The theme of the closing ceremonies of the XXVIII Olympiad was a global harvest. Strangely, the main theme of the Peter Wagner's "Global Harvest Ministries" is also a "global harvest." At the February 2004 Transformation America Conference, Wagner's V.P. Chuck Pierce prophesied over Florida, "Harvest time is upon you" and on September 8, 2004, Ken Malone, Wagner's Apostolic Coordinator for Florida, announced, "In many cities throughout Florida, God has released the beginning stages of this revival and harvest." You have to wonder, are these "harvests" the same thing???

The closing ceremonies of the Olympic games, which took place under a full moon, incorporated a spiral wheat field, looking every bit like a crop circle, and symbolizing the fertility of Mother Earth.

"Performers twirl and sway in front of a spiral wheat field situated inside the stadium. The wheat field is symbolic in Greek tradition of the fertility of the earth. The ceremony includes the formation of a wheat field - in Greek festivities wheat symbolises new life. Harvesters gather wheat into bundles from a field made of 45,000 individual stalks."

"A spiral is an ancient goddess emblem symbolizing the universal pattern of growth in Nature." (Cathy Burns, Masonic & Occult Symbols, p. 382)

Eye of Horus? Hurricane Frances

"In the upper levels of witchcraft, Lucifer is represented by a [swirl of] white light." (Cathy Burns, Masonic & Occult Symbols, p. 268)

A blood sacrifice is necessary for occult magic to progress. Sacrificing a human being is believed to consume the victim's life-force in order to power more magic. As noted previously, the loss of life from Hurricane Charley may have been higher than was reported in the media. Exactly one month after Charley, the death count in Haiti from Hurricane Jeanne was even higher.

From the Lesser Banishing Ritual of the Pentagram and other occult rituals, we may infer that occultists believe the hurricanes to be gods, i.e. evil spirits, emanating from other realms of the universe. As well, that the name of a hurricane, if it is indeed man-made, may actually identify the angelic deity that is being invoked, be it Michael, Rafael or Gabriel, Bonnie (Prince) Charley, Frances, Ivan or Jeanne. There do seem to be correlations between the hurricanes and the occult entities they represent, for example, Bonnie was only a tropical storm but Charley was a Cat 4 signifying the failed attempt of Bonnie Prince Charlie to gain the throne and his return with a vengeance! Ditto for Ivan. Recall that Jeanne left his/her signature—"P" for the Prieuré de Sion or Plantard—in the Atlantic Ocean (Atlantis?).

Charley struck Florida on Friday, August 13, the pagan feast of Diana, the goddess worshipped by the Merovingians. In 1987, August 16-17 was the occasion of an important New Age event, the Harmonic Convergence, which announced "the forthcoming end of time as we know it and a preparation to move from third-dimensional reality of space into fourth-dimensional reality of time." Prior to this event, on February 12, a supernova manifested, the birth of a star named after the feathered serpent god of Mexico, Quetzalcoatl, who prophesied this "end of time as we know it" in 2012 at which time "Man transforms nature."

"The period in history known as Harmonic Convergence was defined by Jose Arguelles as: 'the point at which the counter-spin of history finally comes to a momentary halt, and the still imperceptible spin of post-history commences.' It was the fulfilment of the prophecy of Quetzalcoatl, known as the Thirteen Heavens and Nine Hells. The prophecy stated that following the ninth hell, humanity would know and experience an unprecedented New Age of Peace. The Hell cycle ended on August 16, 1987; the Harmonic Convergence began on August 17. Thus began the projected twenty-five year culmination of the 5,125 year Great Cycle of History, as well as the 26,000-year cycle of evolution, both slated to end in 2012."

Supernova are identified as "forms of directed intelligence" by the Foundation for the Law of Time which is engaged in calendar reform to facilitate correction of the DNA in homo sapiens to evolve into "Earth Wizards" in the year 2012 and overcome the oppressor planets Jupiter (Vatican false spirituality) and Saturn (G-7 Syndicate for Materialist Evolution). The Quetzalcoatl supernova returned in 1997 signalling the conclusion of the Quetzalcoatl Project, "a mythic ten-year project on a parallel universe called Velatropa...[an]other galactic brain"! In 2007, Quetzalcoatl will become brightest star on the Day-Out-of-Time (July 25), the last day of the year in the Celtic 13-Moon calendar which is in the process of replacing the Gregorian Calendar.

"Closely related to the mystery of the black holes are supernova. Black holes are formed from remnants of a supernova... If the seven black holes are solar witnesses, and supernova are forms of directed intelligence, consider then the 'Quetzalcoatl' supernova 1987A, observed just before the Harmonic Convergence: it has returned ten years later in 1997 to signal the conclusion of the Quetzalcoatl Project? With all of its fantastic rings, this supernova will grow brighter until it reaches its final preternatural luminosity in 2007, before condensing to a black hole, the size of seven suns? The Day-Out-of-Time occurring in the year 2007, is Red Magnetic Skywalker, the galactic signature of Ce Acatl Quetzalcoatl. In the 20 Tablets of the Law of Time, this date is referred to as the 'Quetzalcoatl visitation.' In anticipation of an intelligence from which parallel universe?"

See: Heeding Bible Prophecy: Calendar Reform

So who was Quetzalcoatl? In remote antiquity, Nimrod, the mighty hunter who commissioned the Tower of Babel (Gen.10-11) was venerated in various cultures under different names: Osiris, Tammuz, Wotan/Votan, Viracocha, Quetzalcoatl, Varuna, etc. All were priest-kings who taught mankind the ancient mysteries as well as academic disciplines. By dint of the supernatural powers and intellectual prowess of these allegedly divine beings, the civilization of mankind is said to have greatly advanced. All are expected to return to earth to revive the ancient pre-flood mysteries and culture.

The myth of Isis and Osiris is elucidated in Spiritual Politics: Changing the World From the Inside Out: "Like the goddess Isis, who found and restored all of the lost pieces of her husband, Osiris, many are restoring the unity of all life, bringing together the separate parts of humanity — different races, religions and cultures." (42:62) Esoterically, Osiris and Nimrod are one and the same hunter of men and unifier of mankind under a pagan religious system, and Quetzalcoatl is the South American representation of this god. In the Mayan culture, Quetzalcoatl is known as Votan, Lord of the Winds:

"Behind Quetzalcoatl of Xochicalco there really was a Mayan galactic Master whose name was Pacal Votan... Any student of mythology recognizes Votan as one of the names of the Germanic or Teutonic 'god,' Odin, also known as Votan, Voten, Wuotan, Woden, and after whom the English day of the week 'Wednesday' derives its name. The name Votan is derived from the Vedic Lord of winds, Vata, and hence Votan is also known as lord of the winds or devoted of the wind. February 6 (Resonant 28, Spirit Tower of the Seventh Moon) is the night dedicated to Odin Lord of the Winds. According to the Telektonon and confirmed by the inscriptions of Palenque, the Great Pacal was unique in that he reasserted the matriarchal lineage derived from Bolon Ik, White Solar Wind Woman, the patroness and founder of the mythic dynasty of Palenque. Devoted of the wind, Pacal Votan claims devotion to the precious breath of Bolon Ik and the mystery of woman commemorated by the 28 day cycle of the Thirteen Moons...

"...Votan begat a reincarnation known as Balder, who is consigned to death and will not return to the world until the destruction of this world. This is the Doomsday Prophecy of Odin/Votan, which states that Balder (Valum) Votan would rise again and establish a new kingdom of more virtuous 'gods' in a new creation only following the apocalypse 'Ragnarok' of the old order." (Foundation for the Law of Time)

Of interest to our study is the fact that Votan, Lord of the Winds, will return at the end of the 'old order' to establish a new kingdom. In ancient times, the Mayans and Aztecs believed that Votan/Quetzalcoatl became the planet Venus following a global cataclysm:

"...in their myths and rites the Aztecs say the separated heart-soul of Quetzalcoatl, following a period of darkened sky and cosmic upheaval, rose as the planet Venus. If the story has roots in any celestial occurrence (as explicitly claimed in the myths), the 'death' of Quetzalcoatl must have involved a cosmic disaster of unprecedented scale, for no mythical-historical event left a deeper impression on Aztec thought and culture. Upon this traumatic episode, the Aztecs evolved their collective sense of cyclical time, including a calendar of world ages: the death of Quetzalcoatl, the onset of celestial confusion, and the transformation of his heart-soul into the planet Venus meant nothing less than the end of one world age and the beginning of another." (Catastrophics Newsletter)

The "cosmic disaster of unprecedented scale" was perhaps the Deluge, which is recorded in Genesis 9 which corresponds to Atlantis, the sunken continent and lost civilization recorded in Plato's dialogues and in whose reappearance New Agers have a consuming interest today. The planet Venus is known as the 'morning star' or, to occultists, Lucifer, when it appears in the east at sunrise. The following entry is found in H. P. Blavatsky's Theosophical Glossary: "Lucifer (Latin). Light-bringer, the planet Venus, as the bright 'Morning Star.'" Venus was also believed to have caused a mighty cataclysm on the earth before acceptance of the Copernican model of the solar system, which proved that Venus did not orbit the Earth but the Sun. This fact that Venus was identified with Quetzalcoatl underscores the identification of Quetzalcoatl/Votan and hurricanes with Lucifer:

"The fall of Quetzalcoatl caused a hurricane, which uprooted all growing things and destroyed man (again)... Quetzalcoatl became the god of the morning star. (Image of Quetzalcoatl, shown as the morning star.) The Aztec people believed that one day, Quetzalcoatl would return to destroy his enemies and reign once again."

“If Venus did indeed orbit planet Earth temporarily, its mass would have induced a major tidal wave in the earth’s crust, creating new mountain ranges and causing the oceans to surge over continents, expunging most life forms. During its temporary orbits around our planet, the close approach of the luminous comet Venus with its writhing tail, undoubtedly struck such terror among the global populace, that archetypal images of Venus in its role of Lucifer the light bringer, remain until the present era...

“Mexican myths suggest that the comet possessed a serpent-like tail and was adorned with appendages similar in appearance to feathers. Such appendages are referred to by astronomers as a comet’s ‘beard’; this cataclysmic event probably gave rise to the legend of the plumed serpent Quetzalcoatl. On its approach to earth, the comet’s luminous coma apparently created the illusion of possessing two appendages like the horns of a bull, to the terrified viewers on Earth. Sanchuniathon, a contemporary of the Assyrian Queen Semiramis, wrote that Astarte (another appellation of Venus) had the head of a bull, while the oral tradition of the Samoans held that: “The planet Venus became wild and horns grew out of her head.”

“In describing the resultant cataclysm, the Mayans claimed that oceans inundated continents, volcanoes erupted, mountains rose and fell and a ferocious wind roared across the face of the earth, sweeping away all forests and towns. The Mayans named this terrible wind Hurrakan, from which the word ‘hurricane’ is derived.” (Great Dreams)

“The word ‘Hurricane’ originally came from the natives of the West Indies or Central America. It is claimed by some to be a Carib Indian word signifying ‘Big Wind or Devil’. To the Indians of Guatemala the god of stormy weather was ‘Hurrakan’.”

“The first member of the Heart of the Sky triad was Lightning Bolt Juraqan, and he is referred to as the sage in the sky who provided the brains for Hunahpu’s replacement head... When the creator deities decided to destroy the wooden men, Juraqan flooded the world with a darkened rain, and this indicates that he was associated with storms of great magnitude. Juraqan means ‘one his leg’ in Quiché... One-legged beings are visually associated with both whirling winds and lighting bolts because these phenomena generally have the form of a single leg... The Spanish word huracan is believed to be a loan word from Taino, and in the cultures of the Caribbean and north coast of South America many of the words for hurricane are homonymous with this term. It has been suggested that people of the Caribbean likely had contact with the Maya and that huracan and Juraqan are cognates... Although some researchers doubt there is a semantic connection between these words, lame or one-legged gods are associated with hurricanes in Mesoamerica, and Juraqan has been identified as such... A hurricane identification for the most senior of the Popol Vuh lightning bolts is appropriate because hurricanes are the most powerful storms. The name Lightning Bolt Juraqan conjures up the image of a deity who could destroy the entire world, and that is exactly what Juraqan did.” (Maya Creator Gods)

Consider that a hurricane possesses the following attributes:

- Eye (cf. All-Seeing Eye / Third Eye)
- Spiral (cf. Kundalini / Serpent Power)
- Force (cf. "The Force" / Divinity)
- Destructiveness (Evil / Destroyer god)

One meteorologist called the eye of a hurricane its brain, which suggests that some in the scientific community may regard these storms as living entities with intelligence, in the same way ancient man considered them to be gods. The “Eye of Horus” or “Third Eye” is a symbol of occult illumination or enlightenment. Manifestations of the “Third Eye of Shiva,” the Hindu god known as the Destroyer, are terrifying to the Hindus of India.

“Shiva is one of the principal gods of the Hindu pantheon, and in the textbook view of Hinduism, he is one of the ‘trinity’ of Hindu gods, of which the other two are Brahma and Vishnu. Shiva is represented as the Destroyer, he was earlier known as Rudra, or the Fearful and Destructive One. Though the power of destruction, which in the most intensified form makes him a Bhairava (‘The Terrible Destroyer’).

In the occult, the forces of nature are believed to be angelic beings. The following entry for the familiar term "The Force" is found in the Theosophical Glossary:

“According to theosophy cosmic force is to be understood as a generalizing phrase for cosmic forces essentially intelligent, and therefore that these cosmic forces are essentially divinities — these divinities existing on different planes of the invisible worlds of the universe in hierarchical structure or degrees. We have therefore the picture of inner and invisible conscious and likewise self-conscious forces, which are really divinities of many kinds, which by their interconnections and interwoven activities, produce the differentiated and marvellously varied manifested world in which we live.”

The spiral is a symbol of the serpent, which rests in a coiled position, from which it is also poised to strike with greater force than in an outstretched position.

“The visual motif of the spiral is one of the oldest and most enigmatic sacred images known... As millennia passed, this curious image found its way into the spiritual iconography of nearly every society in the ancient world...

“There is another ancient symbol as old in the human imagination as the spiral: the serpent. And like the sacred images of the Goddess and the spiral, the serpent has found its way into every spiritual tradition in the world., one observation on the serpent: when snakes rest, they coil up into a spiral... “ (Symbolism of the Spiral)

The spiral is specifically associated with the hurricane; in fact, to the occultist, the hurricane is a primary symbol of the spiral:

“Americanist Fernando Ortiz has written a hefty tome on the spiral, in which he has identified it in various cultures—by way of comparative religions, in nature, and so on. For a number of reasons, this work of research and erudition is valuable. However, it links the symbol of the spiral exclusively with the hurricane (especially the tropical cyclones), and with the winds in general. But, quite the opposite of what Ortiz holds, it is not the spiral that symbolizes the hurricane, it is the hurricane that symbolizes the spiral. After all, the spiral symbolically manifests, besides the things that we have already indicated, an archetypal concept present in all creation: that of a centripetal energy and a centrifugal force coexisting in every organism, and exemplified as well by whirlwinds, cyclones, tornados (or beneficent/ malignant deities of the wind), among a multitude of other objects and phenomena.“ (Sacred Cosmology)

Notwithstanding the fact that Lightning Bolt Juraqan answers to Lucifer, occultists would blame God for the hurricanes. The reason for this may be that the occultist believes that Lucifer was a co-creator with God, who is the evil Demiurge who cast Lucifer, the good god, out of heaven. A classic example of this blame shifting was Gov. Jeb Bush's statement pursuant to Hurricane Charley:

“Governor Bush was asked why a mandatory evacuation order had been issued, but not for the area that was worst hit, he placed the blame on God, ‘There’s no science that can exactly say where a hurricane will go. This is God’s way of telling us that he’s almighty and we’re mortal,’ he said.“ (Whose Florida?)

Jeb Bush is a descendant of the Merovingian bloodline and, specifically, of the De Vere branch which began with Godfroi de Vere de Bouillon, the founder of the Ordre de Sion which captured the Holy Land in 1099. {See Ancestry of George Bush and our report, Heeding Bible Prophecy: The Dragon Court. In the Bush ancestry, Wear(e) and Weir are English and German variants of the French surname de Vere.}

To give the reader an idea of the distinguished pedigree of the Bush family, the Antichrist will come from ancient Vere family of the Merovingian bloodline. And in order to protect the descendants of the DeVere bloodline, a Druidic Council of Elders called the Dragon Court has been in existence at least since the time of King Arthur, and probably before. The Dragon Court is comprised of 26 members of royalty from Eurasian countries who belong to the European Council of Princes, of which Prince Michael Stewart is the head. The Druidic head dragon king, traditionally called the Pendragon, will be the Antichrist.

“Hurakan is the ancient Mayan god of wind and storm. He visits the anger of the gods upon humanity by bringing about the Flood. He is a creator god who according to legend dwelt in the mists hanging over the primeval flood, in the form of the wind, ceaselessly repeating the word ‘earth’ until the solid world rose from the seas. When the gods became angry with the first human beings, Hurukan unleashed the deluge which destroyed them. From his name the word ‘hurricane’ is derived. Hurakan means ‘one-legged’.” (Encyclopedia Mythica)

“In Maya mythology, Huracan (‘one legged’) was a wind, storm and fire god and one of the creator deities who participated in all three attempts at creating humanity. He also caused the Great Flood after the first humans angered the gods. He supposedly lived in the windy mists above the floodwaters and repeated ‘earth’ until land came up from the seas.

“In appearance he has one leg the other being transformed into a serpent, a zoomorphic snout or long-nose and a smoking object such as a cigar, torch holder or axe head which pierces a mirror on his forehead. His name is the source of the word hurricane.” (Wikipedia)

First Lady Laura Bush is a descendant of the Sinclair/St. Clair bloodline, one of the two direct bloodlines in the Merovingian lineage. And President George Bush, in his first Inaugural Address, made strange reference to an “Angel” who “rides in the Whirlwind and directs this Storm,” meaning the Ma sonically-inspired and directed American Revolution, but also with current application to his own administration.

“After the Declaration of Independence was signed, Virginia statesman John Page wrote to Thomas Jefferson: ‘We know the Race is not to the swift nor the Battle to the Strong. Do you not think an Angel rides in the Whirlwind and directs this Storm?’

“Much time has passed since Jefferson arrived for his inauguration. The years and changes accumulate. But the themes of this day he would know: our nation's grand story of courage, and its simple dream of dignity.

“We are not this story’s Author, Who fills time and eternity with His purpose. Yet His purpose is achieved in our duty; and our duty is fulfilled in service to one another.

“Never tiring, never yielding, never finishing, we renew that purpose today: to make our country more just and generous; to affirm the dignity of our lives and every life.

“This work continues. The story goes on. And an angel still rides in the whirlwind and directs this storm.

“God bless you all, and God bless America.” (Bush Inaugural Speech)

Was the newly-sworn president unveiling the program of his administration which would be distinguished by the proliferation of controlled hurricanes? And that these hurricanes would set in motion the final phase of the American Revolution — the rise of New Atlantis, the demonic, pre-flood generation, on the ruins of the United States?

And who, Mr. President, is this Angel you say is riding the whirlwind and directing the Storm? The Angel to whom the President refers is Lucifer, who is directing the American Revolution until the Masonic Plan is complete. Ordo ab Chao — in other words, the New World Order will come to pass after chaotic spirits, emanating as evil winds, penetrate the human dimension, “wreak havoc, weaken, sicken and destroy the incarnate living.”

THE PROPHECIES OF CHUCK PIERCE OR “INSIDER KNOWLEDGE” ABOUT FUTURE DISASTERS IN THE U.S.
FLORIDA, NEW ORLEANS, BATON ROUGE, HOUSTON, GALVESTON, ST. LOUIS, DETROIT, LOS ANGELES, SAN FRANCISCO

By Barbara Aho
September 30, 2005

To learn what will happen next — the specific locations and nature of the impending disasters the occult societies have planned for the United States — there’s no better public source of information than the prophecies of Chuck Pierce. These prophecies should be taken seriously, NOT because Chuck Pierce and other self-anointed “apostles” in the U.S. Strategic Prayer Network are prophets of God, but because they have advance insider knowledge of these man-orchestrated events.

“Dr.” Charles Pierce is the President of Glory of Zion International Ministries and Vice President of C. Peter Wagner's Global Harvest Ministries, which is the umbrella organization over 70 International Prayer Networks. Chuck Pierce is also on the Executive Board of the International Coalition of Apostles, Peter Wagner's Apostolic Council of Prophetic Elders, the International Society of Deliverance Ministers and serves as “National Apostle” of the U.S. Strategic Prayer Network (USSPN).

Part II of THE MEROVINGIAN SIGNATURE OF THE HURRICANES cites Chuck Pierce's “Word over Florida” in February of 2004, in which he prophesied that “waters of breakthrough” would begin in Florida and that these floods would be across the United States by December of 2005. This so-called “prophecy” is coming to pass, so far with stunning accuracy.

As we monitored various newsletters of Peter Wagner's U.S. Strategic Prayer Network over the year, other “prophecies” by Chuck Pierce were noted to have curious references to specific U.S. cities and states. Turns out that, in 2001, Pierce coauthored a book of such prophecies with Dutch Sheets, titled RELEASING THE PROPHETIC DESTINY OF A NATION (2002). Apostles Pierce and Sheets then went on a 50-state tour to enlist pastors and their churches in a strategic warfare campaign to break the grip of “demonic strongholds” over the United States. Among many spiritual warfare techniques taught by Pierce and Sheets, Christians were directed by these modern apostles to call forth “angels” to bring down the mighty events that are now happening in the U.S.

Chuck Pierce has “prophesied” that the next cities to be struck with major disasters will be: ST. LOUIS, DETROIT, LOS ANGELES and SAN FRANCISCO. These prophecies are found in his books, newsletters and were recently relayed by Pierce on the Benny Hinn program of September 26-27, 2005. There a mesmerized audience of Christian pastors did not seem to question that Chuck Pierce receives these messages from the Lord — a fallacy which presumes that only God can create and direct these destructive forces — and that they are falling on the U.S. as divine judgment and/or spiritual purification.

It is unlikely that the pastors (and the vast majority of Christians) have ever heard that technology has been developed to control the weather, and that this technology, now possessed by the U.S. military, is so advanced that it is possible to create and steer hurricanes, to trigger earthquakes and volcanoes, and to create other seemingly natural catastrophes to further the agenda of the secret societies for an anti-Christian New World Order. For more information on this type of weather control, see THE MEROVINGIAN SIGNATURE OF THE HURRICANES, Part I.

We think it is no coincidence that the Global Harvest Ministries of Wagner and Pierce, Dutch Sheets' Springs Harvest Fellowship and the U.S. Northern Command (NORTHCOM), which oversees and coordinates all military operations in North America, are all located in Colorado Springs!!! In fact, Colorado Springs is now the home of more than 100 Christian ministries and organizations as well as five military bases: Fort Carson, Peterson Air Force Base, Schriever Air Force Base, The United States Air Force Academy, and NORAD. NORTHCOM is located at Fort Peterson AFB on Cheyenne Mountain which is also a centre of Homeland Security Operations. Sometimes called the "military-religious industrial complex of Colorado Springs," there are many signs that this area is the central command of the military religious Order of the Knights of the Temple, the Knights Templar.

The following is compilation of selected prophecies by Chuck Pierce interspersed with our own commentary on the agenda of the occult establishment from which Pierce clearly receives his information. Please note that Watch Unto Prayer comments are [bracketed and shaded in GREEN].

THE UNITED STATES / FLORIDA

Transformation of America Conference – Awaken the Nation February 19, 2004

Portion of Chuck Pierce's "word over Florida" at TRANSFORMATION AMERICA – Awaken the Nation, Thursday, February 19, 2004:

"I am mounting up the waters of breakthrough for this nation. I have brought you here to this state because part of the mounting up of the waters is coming this hour from this particular state. I have gathered you together here because from this state you will cause the waters to rise again. Many will try to put their finger in this water just as the boy who tried to hold back the water stuck his finger in the dike, but I would say this water that is mounting over this nation cannot be stopped.

"There is a mounting enemy that is rising up at this time. Therefore I have drawn you together for a day such as this. In this place and at this time I will release an anointing that will cause the enemy that is mounting to become confused. The voice of the enemy will taunt, and taunt, and taunt again. The voice of the enemy will become very strong beginning in September through October. But even now that which you release in the heavens will begin to neutralize that which will come forth at harvest time.

"Harvest time is upon you, and because harvest time is mounting I must have a people with a harvest mind. I have brought you here to bring forth the first fruit of that harvest anointing, and to cause your mind to shift into a mind of increase. Many have come and said, 'But the enemy has surrounded me and besieged me. I even feel like I am in a strait jacket.' During these days I will untie that strait jacket and your hands will go free. "Hear the sound as the waters mount up, for the waters are mounting and the wall that is being built against My righteousness is cracking. And within 22 months there will be floods across this land."

[MEANING THE U.S. . . by December 2005! It seems the U.S. will be become the New Atlantis, literally. Which gives new meaning to the "Oceania" theme in the opening ceremonies of the Olympic Games. Or "Oceania" in Orwell's "1984". In 1856, the American poet Walt Whitman wrote to his fellow occultist, Ralph Waldo Emerson, that the United States is a "work in progress" which would have to die for the Masonic Plan of world conquest to come to pass: "America, having duly conceived, bears out of herself offspring of her own to do the workmanship wanted. To freedom, to strength, to poems, to personal greatness, it is never permitted to rest, not a generation or part of a generation. To be ripe beyond further increase is to prepare to die. The architects of These States laid their foundations, and passed to further, spheres. What they laid is a work done; as much more remains. Now are needed other architects, whose duty is not less difficult, but perhaps more difficult. Each age forever needs architects. America is not finished, perhaps never will be; now America is a divine true sketch. There are Thirty-Two States sketched—the population thirty millions. In a few years there will be Fifty States. Again in a few years there will be A Hundred States, the population hundreds of millions, the freshest and freest of men. Of course such men stand to nothing less than the freshest and freest expression." (Leaves of Grass, 1856)]

BATON ROUGE / NEW ORLEANS / MISSOURI
ELIJAH LIST

Dear Leaders:

In late August I was in Louisiana for a series of meetings promoted by Roger and Charlotte Merschbrock (our USSPN State Apostolic Coordinators for Louisiana) along with Larry and Brenda Bizette. Several of the prophetic words I released might be of particular interest to you at this time with the approach of Hurricane Ivan.

Blessings,
Chuck D. Pierce

August 29, 2004

After Chuck discussed travelling from Wisconsin directly to Louisiana, he prophesied:

"From the North to the South I am ready to awaken two winds that will awake the nation. There are resisting forces in both states that will cause our nation to not move forward. Go up and down and decree the wind of God will awaken in both places. The states will shift in a new way [repeal Posse Comitatus] or the nation will not shift and will go backwards." [states' rights]

Later when addressing the Saul structure in Baton Rouge [Gov. Blanco on way out], Chuck prophesied:

"How the Saul structure collapses will bring Baton Rouge again to national attention. That alignment within it will collapse. A new demonstration with a new blueprint will be seen. This will be known as a meeting house. This will be known as a place where the Ark of the Covenant has dwelt. This will be known as a refuge place. The WIND and WATER will rise in the midst of New Orleans. Many from the south will come north for refuge. Prepare. Prepare now for winds and water that will surprise you. I will renew the pattern not fully seen before. Worship will be here, and birthed in a new way from here. Prepare! Prepare! Prepare! Shift! Saul will be no more. [Blanco out] David will arise from this day forward. [Jewish governor] The wind from the south will begin to blow. Watch for the effects. This will purify the land and bring great change." [Katrina means "purify"]

[New Orleans is now called "Baghdad on the Bayou," being under total militarization. Will Baton Rouge be the next federally militarised city? There do seem to be big plans in the works for Baton Rouge—a new demonstration . . . a new blueprint . . . will be known as a 'meeting house' . . . a place where the Ark of the Covenant has dwelt . . . as a refuge place . . . Saul will be no more. David will arise . . . worship will be there . . . birthed in a new way . . . This mixing of military and Biblical metaphors is confusing. What does Chuck Pierce really mean?? We know the Ark of the Covenant contained the LAW, so perhaps he is referring to the Noahide Laws. In a Biblical context, the term "meeting house" sounds like the "Tent of Meeting" as the NIV renders the Tabernacle in the book of Exodus. The KJV, however, correctly calls it the "tent of the congregation" (no caps). "Meeting" instead of "congregation" seems a little too much like what we saw on TV at NORTHCOM during Hurricane Rita. Strategy meetings, not worship, although CP says there will be worship, "birthed in a new way" however. So he could be using Biblical jargon to create a religious covering for the military takeover of a U.S. state capital. If so, Baton Rouge will have the dubious honour of becoming the first central command for that soon-to-be militarised region of the U.S. under NORTHCOM. One Watchman made a good case for how the Feds will justify declaring martial law in Baton Rouge:

9/29/05 - "Baton Rouge now has three times the population from all those who came from New Orleans. Things are very hectic and stressful there; food and gas shortages, etc. I wouldn't doubt that they would like to cause Blanco more stress. If there is an uprising, it may begin in Baton Rouge. There may be more significance to Baton Rouge than we can see right now. It is the capital of the state, and also has it's own very large population of poor blacks even before the evacuees arrived by the tens of thousands. It is about 70-80 miles from New Orleans...and it's Crawling with Military right now. They already say that Blanco and the LA government are incompetent, so this [an uprising] would give them the perfect excuse to take over their entire state government."]

Then in Alexandria that night Chuck shared from Song of Solomon 4:16 (Awake the north wind; come, o south wind. Blow upon the garden of this nation). [Operation Garden Plot?] He led the people to pray for the south wind to come. This south wind would be a purifying wind, cause corruption to be blown on and cause corruption to shake and initiate a righteous move starting with the children, then moving to the youth. We were to watch the government [Blanco] and the Catholic Church shake [Mystery Babylon/Rev.17:9], and watch New Orleans change. [poor blacks, Catholics out / wealthy oil cabal & upscale casinos in / Gov. Blanco is Roman Catholic]

Then Chuck prophesied, "I will put a mantle on African Americans in this land. That which was brought in through parts of this state and held people captive will let go. I will send the wind up the Mississippi River and this wind will shake Missouri. You will see the land shake in Missouri because of the wind from Louisiana. [earthquake on the New Madrid Fault] Get ready. Don't brace yourself. Throw yourself up. Get ready for the new is coming. Every place I blow on will shake. The wind is coming on Louisiana and it will shake the entire state. I will fill churches. The south purifying wind of My holiness will sweep across Louisiana. People will be on their faces in malls and shopping centres. Boldness will come upon My people in Louisiana. There is a worship call. Get ready - the wind is about to blow. The river is changing courses. You will be one of the first that changes."

Blessings, [?]

[California and Alaska are reputed to be the locations where most U.S. earthquakes occur, however, the most powerful earthquakes ever recorded in North America have been along the New Madrid Fault in the Central U.S. In 1811-12 there were 4 catastrophic quakes within a 3 month period, which were estimated to have been about 8.0 and higher if measured on the modern Richter Scale. Estimates of approximately 6.0-6.2 earthquakes along this fault occurred in 1843 and 1895 respectively, as well as 7 quakes over 5.0. At the time of the 1811-12 earthquakes, St. Louis, MO and other major cities along the fault line were sparsely populated, but an 8.0 quake in 2005 or later would result in enormous loss of life and billions of dollars of property damage. The New Madrid Fault straddles the Mississippi River from northeast Arkansas, through southeast Missouri, western Tennessee, western Kentucky to southern Illinois. A major earthquake along this fault line would therefore divide the U.S. laterally and disable ground transportation between the Eastern and Western states. Since the Eastern states are heavily dependent on agricultural commodities produced in the West, Mexico and South America, their lifeline would be severed when the bridges crossing the Mississippi River collapse. In fact, all of the so-called natural disasters that are now occurring in the U.S. are strategically located to paralyse the transportation systems of the nation.]

HOUSTON / GALVESTON

Chuck Pierce / Letter to Intercessors September 21, 2005

“On February 20, 2005, I spoke in Houston. Here is a portion of the word that came forth: ‘Houston is a target for the enemy because you are a great city, a great port, a great city for revival, a great city for commerce. You are like Tyre in the Bible. [see: Masonic Legend of Hiram Abiff] There is a crisis coming toward Houston that will move the city into a different dimension of God's presence.’

“And the Lord said to me, ‘Houston is going to be a place where My angels [evil spirits] are flooding in this year. They are going to flood in, and come in through every gate this year. [Judges 5:8] My angels are coming in through the port areas of Houston. Go to every port point this year and invite the angelic forces in. [Christians inviting chaotic spirits into Houston] If you will do that over the next ten months you will see change by the end of the year all across the city. [huge energy crisis] I am ready for the angels to come in.

[Chuck Pierce is teaching ritual magic, summoning chaotic spirits to wreak massive destruction on the United States. See "Strategic Level Sorcery." Cf. George Bush Inaugural Address: “Do you not think an Angel rides in the Whirlwind and directs this Storm?... This work continues. {the American Revolution} The story goes on. And an angel still rides in the whirlwind and directs this storm.”]

“I have chosen Houston as the port city where I will rest My presence in the midst of a strange happening in this nation. I will cause My presence to be established in this city. [another militarised city] I will cause enemies of My Spirit who have resisted My presence in the past to welcome My presence this year.’ [Republic of Texas is part of the controlled-opposition militia movement]

“The Lord then said, ‘There's a shift that's gone on here. You've shifted. You are (now) moving from a heavenly realm. You have moved out of a vacuum of unbelief. It wasn't darkness - it was a void - something that has been confused, that had no form, that looked like it would remain formless from now until a future time. You've moved that out of the atmosphere here. Now you have brought into the atmosphere a faith dimension that has restored My covenant back to My people in this city.’ [Noahide Laws?] (The Lord then said that Houston would shift in July.) ‘Prepare yourself, for you will influence the nation in a time of crisis. You've endured the testing of covenant with each other. You've watched each other make horrible mistakes and yet you covenant with Me, and My blood has overcome those mistakes. You have watched some let go of things. You watched some go in wrong directions. But I've brought it back full circle. You have watched certain things end. Don't judge how they ended; I was ending certain things so I can begin again. You have endured a covenant-breaking structure that has resisted My move in this city. You have endured and prevailed against a covenant-breaking spirit that overcame past generations. Now you have overcome that spirit. Just as Moses made a mistake and I restored his call, I've now come back full circle and said, 'Now it's My Time!' Follow Me in a new way, confront your enemies in a new way, (and) move forward in a new way. For I am going to rest in the city ... and you will know My Presence has come to rest in this city.' [Houston learned from New Orleans/LA officials to cooperate with the Feds]

"The Lord also said, 'And you will know I'm going to shake Galveston in a way that it has not been shaken since the beginning of the last century. But this is a time for Me to come full circle. And this time, Galveston will begin to run forward into My presence in Houston. And that which is resisting My presence in Galveston will be overtaken. I am raising up the Body in Houston to receive an outpouring of My presence. As I flood the people of Galveston to Houston, I will return them with a flood of My presence.

"Faith is now your guide. For faith will explode in the very hearts of this city and ten surrounding smaller cities of this area. This will be a faith explosion that will begin to occur because victory has entered Houston and you have gathered to receive a new anointing of grace. Walk forth with Me from this place, for I am dressing you in victory. You are turning upward. And although you do not know where this updraft will take you, ride the wind with Me and the waves will not overtake you."

NEW ORLEANS / ST. LOUIS

September 26, 2005

Benny Hinn Ministries' Pastor's Conference

Releasing the Prophetic Destiny of a Nation by Chuck Pierce & Dutch Sheetz
Future War of the Church by Chuck Pierce

Chuck Pierce prophecy to Benny Hinn: "...I say now your call is to change entire city structures, I say the sword of mine is now resting in your hand get ready for you will divide this land [New Madrid fault along the Mississippi River] that I might enter in again, saith the Lord. Just shout, he's coming in again..." [end of United States / NORTHCOM divides US into 10 districts]

On August 12, 2005, God told Chuck Pierce: "Call forth the refuge cities throughout this nation. [sustainable communities or death camps] Call them forth on the East Coast... the West Coast and the Gulf Coast NOW... God is calling forth refuge cities throughout our nation... because we are in for a season..."

"This is a book that can be passed on from generation to generation...because the Lord told me that you war with your prophetic word... The Lord told me... 'I want you to go to the north and I want you to agree with me that there is a North wind that is coming upon this land. We went there to Minnesota and stood at the head of the Mississippi and we decreed that the North wind of the Lord would begin to come to bring change to our nation. Then he said, I want you to go south and I want you to go to Baton Rouge and I want you to make a decree that the South wind that would come would be a purifying wind. And during the time of our gathering and during the time of our decreeing there, all of a sudden this purifying wind will begin to bring water that will cover New Orleans and purify this land. It wasn't a wind that could be stopped, it wasn't water that could be stopped. It was very, very clear, it was a very precise word. Matter of fact, after that Hurricane Ivan began to turn toward New Orleans, but it was something about this that was different. That's why, when the Hurricane Katrina was just a tropical storm, that was coming across Florida, all of a sudden Steve Schultz [founder/director of Elijah List] found this word and he recognized that Katrina's name meant "purify." And he said this word is this now, in other words, water was coming, water would cover New Orleans.

It could not be stopped... Yet we must know there is a purification taking place. ...It's not something we want to watch, but we know that loss and trauma can also purify. Loss can produce resurrection.

[Congressman Richard Baker, R-LA: "We finally cleaned up public housing in New Orleans. We couldn't do it, but God did."]

"But here was a very interesting thing that happened on August 12... The spirit of God fell on us and he said 'Call forth the refuge cities now...' Well a year ago on August 29, when we were in Baton Rouge, and he was showing us the wind and the water that would come, he told us that Baton Rouge would become the model refuge city. He said the people would come north... He said Baton Rouge would become a refuge city. Now when he fell on us on August 12...he said 'Call out the refuge cities of this nation.'... Call them forth on the East Coast, call them forth on the West Coast, call them forth on the Gulf Coast. They must arise and God emphatically said NOW.... Because we are in for a season of not only the North wind... because he said, Once the North wind, you call it forth, and the South wind begins to come and New Orleans starts being purified, you are going to see St. Louis begin to shake [on New Madrid fault]... God will draw forth out of the very centre of this nation a breaking forth of His glory. We will see the glory of God rising out of St. Louis in a way that will shake us all because the spirit of God's going to invade that city. Now I want to tell you that if you are from there to get ready, there is an invasion [of refugees?] that is working up towards you [from Detroit? see below], there is an invasion that is working down towards you [from Louisiana?], and across the middle of this nation there is going to be a shaking.

[The Gateway Arch in St. Louis is a Masonic monument representing the Royal Arch Degree of Freemasonry. This stainless steel Arch was constructed in 1965 by Eero Saarinen and is the second largest monument in the world, rising 630 ft. high from a 60-ft. foundation and spanning 630 ft. at ground level. Its classic weighted centenary curve sways 1/2" to 1" in 20 mph winds. Rooted in the bedrock next to the Mississippi River, the Arch would function as a tuning fork in the event of a large flying object impacting it, such as a plane, and the vibrations would trigger a great earthquake. Presciently it seems, a 1960's comic book featured Captain Marvel defeating a monster by using the Gateway Arch as a tuning fork! In a real event, however, not only would the Mighty Mississippi overflow its banks, but the Missouri River and the Ohio River which flow into the Mississippi north and south of St. Louis, would back up, causing massive flooding. With all of these occurring simultaneously, the surge over the central U.S. could resemble a tsunami.]

Call forth the refuge cities. And do you know who administers those cities? [NORTHCOM/FEMA/DHS] You, I, that's why God's called you here... It's now time for the Church to shift back to the blood and the cross [the Rose Croix?] and it's time for the harvest to come in. The healing evangelist mantle that's been there is now being extended to the Body of Christ."

DETROIT / LOS ANGELES / SAN FRANCISCO

September 27, 2005

Benny Hinn Ministries' Pastor's Conference

Benny Hinn: "Chuck Pierce is a prophet of God...."

Chuck Pierce: "Now hear the word the Lord has given to me. And its found in Luke, chapter 14. And it was the word where he said to his disciples to leave all and follow me... [mentions refugees from New Orleans]. On August 12...this word went out across our nation, tell my people to get ready for they must have the same heart as my people had a Passover. When I say move, they must move and move quickly! Not only am I giving them the ability to plunder the enemy's camp, but I'm giving them the ability to move quickly and hide themselves from disaster so I can draw them out again so they be used to bring forth my promises into the earth realm. So if you are in the trauma of losing and having to let go and leave what you had along the Gulf Coast...God says you will be used mightily in days ahead if you will submit to me during this time to allow me to reform your spirit. [New Apostolic Reformation / Gnostic occultism] Hear my words, I am ready to reform your spirit, saith the Lord. For many things have crowded in upon you but I am reforming the spirit of my people to be able to hold my spirit [demon possession] and to stand in the face of darkness and decree that darkness will have to flee... Now the Lord says here how can you come after me unless you are willing to leave everything, mother, wife, sister, brother [compliance will facilitate transporting Christians to death camps], a very, very hard word from our Lord. He said you can't be my disciple if you won't pick up your cross... your cross, the one I'm giving you... If you're going to war, you need to count the cost...

"When the Lord showed me this passage he showed me the next three years ahead [first half of Tribulation period]. He said to me, I am sending, I am teaching my people again, they will learn again the power of my cross. They will learn again the power of the cross they're carrying. Not only are we entering into three years of learning, but we are entering into three years of going and building, new and fresh, the model for the next three generations. We are entering a time of acceleration; we are entering a time of building...you are going into a building season, even if you've lost everything in the past, God says, this now becomes your building season... and these next three years, war escalates, internally war escalates [civil disorder in cities], and in the escalation of this war season...we are building the model for the Church for the future [Esoteric Church]... but if we're building the model the next three years, the gates of hell cannot withstand us. Tell your neighbour God is preparing you to stand against hell.

"Now I want to say to you...tonight...times are escalating, we are in seasons of escalation... There is a cost, I'm asking you to count... you don't know enough to make it in the next three years...you can't make it. Don't let any religious spirit [KJV-Only/Bible doctrine] convince you that you have what it takes [Jesus Christ] and you can't learn something [Gnosticism] about what it takes to walk in victory in these next three years. We are in shifting times [paradigm shift], get ready. God is very, very specific when he speaks. Prophets are getting, God is doing a refining work in his prophetic voice so he will be very specific when it's time for Detroit to come ablaze. For Los Angeles, to begin to seethe in violence to warn. [urban race riots after earthquake, more below]

[This is not the first time Pierce has prophesied that Detroit would be set ablaze. Starting in November of 2004, his prophecies have been issuing forth to the Michigan USSPN and on Nov. 24, 2004, prophet Pierce predicted: "God is going to have revival here in the Detroit metropolitan area and it will be filled with flames of revival that will create an international and national stir; the power of God moving in this region." Judging by his other prophecies, "flames of revival" is a religious euphemism for a major fiery catastrophe in Detroit. In 2005, numerous conferences were conducted in Detroit by Pierce and other prophetic "apostles" to "break open" the heavens so the angels can invade Detroit and bring this fire to the city.

Detroit, Michigan is the automotive capital of the world, where cars, trucks, military and agricultural vehicles are manufactured as well as steel for raw materials. The headquarters of American Motors, GM, Ford, Chrysler are all located in Detroit. Dozens of steamship lines operate out of the city, shipping materials worldwide via the St. Lawrence Seaway. Numerous railroads, airlines, and truck lines also combine to make the city a transportation centre. Should Detroit be destroyed, transportation production in the U.S. would be crippled. Also located in Detroit is the largest Muslim community in the U.S. When Chuck Pierce stated that Detroit was going to "come ablaze," the impression given was that this would be a nuclear holocaust. It seems plausible that a suitcase bomb or a few could be detonated and blamed on the Muslim community there. This would accomplish more than one agenda --- it would provide a convenient scapegoat for the crime, exterminate the nucleus of Islam in the U.S., and further vilify the Muslims to justify more military incursions in the Middle East.

Another thought. . . More hurricanes in the Gulf of Mexico would send additional tens of thousands of refugees streaming northward into the central U.S. states. And a nuclear holocaust in Detroit would send survivors fleeing south into the central states. Should these two events occur before the New Madrid earthquake, the swelling population of the central American states would mean even greater loss of life.]

“These are times God is saying to the Church, wait a minute, come with me, come away to see, because the wind he asked me to unlock wasn’t the wind to destroy New Orleans, wasn’t the wind to sweep down the Mississippi from the north, and shake St. Louis. He said, you go north and you go south and you decree I blow upon this garden [Garden Plot] for its next history. He said you decree that the wind that needs to be released to open up the fragrance of my people in America will now be released... And the Lord would say to begin to watch even beginning mid-September to October 15 as economic systems begin to shift and begin to be rearranged. [high gas prices, never to come down again] For I say to you by November there will be a rearrangement of the economic system of this land saith the Lord. And I say to you get ready for I say also governments will begin to shake by February in days ahead in the year coming for I say I am extending my covering over people and over lands [NORTHCOM will annexe Canada and Mexico]. I say this is a year to put your tent peg down, I say I’m shifting away that which could be shifted away so you begin to plant yourself in solid ground, saith the Lord. I say to you, get ready to connect and unify as my body for you have tried to bring forth a false unity, you have tried to communicate, but now I will create unity in my people by my spirit, saith the Lord... Gird up your loins for victory...and in the third year ahead I say the fruit of harvest will be brought into the storehouse.” [Mid-Tribulation/Mark of the Beast]

[So Chuck Pierce's “Word over the United States” seems to be economic collapse. But will his and other “anointed apostolic ministries” survive the coming depression and be able to minister to the poor and starving people after they have left their possessions and family in obedience to Jesus? Will Chuck Pierce, Dutch Sheets and Peter Wagner also leave everything behind in Colorado Springs??? Well, maybe they have other plans...

Colorado's Lost Treasures

"Treasures - Chuck Pierce gave the word in 2004 that Colorado is a treasure in this nation. Chuck went on in his word to say, 'Let the treasure of this state be mined properly and brought forth this season. Pray for what has been blocking the mining of the treasure in this state, both old and new, to come forth and the treasure of this state will be seen throughout this land.' We took this word seriously and prayed all of last year regarding the treasures and resources of Colorado. We will continue that prayer for these treasures to be unlocked and come into the hands of the righteous.

"Colorado's Lost Treasures - February 2005 edition of Colorado Country Life (magazine) I quote Tom Noel, a Colorado historian, 'The deeper you dig into Colorado's history, the more treasures you'll find.' And he is not just speaking metaphorically, either. A sidebar or the article reads, 'More lost gold and silver mines, buried caches of outlaw loot, and long hidden hordes of Spanish and French treasures exist in Colorado than in any of the remaining United States...'

"In Chad Taylor's prophetic word for this year he stated, ‘MOTHER LODE IN THE ROCKIES. I will unlock the secret treasures in the Rockies. I will anoint the science of excavation and palaeontology, revealing an end time surplus of oil. I will give eyes to the blind and they will see My hidden treasures. The Rocky Mountains will cascade with My provisions says the Lord.'

"An article in the Rocky Mountain newspaper, February 1, 2005 confirming this prophetic word read, Colorado's mines and wells produce mother lode in '04. The $8.74 billion estimate in Colorado's natural gas, coal, oil and mineral production in 2004 was up about 44 percent from the previous year. More than two-thirds of the total value in 2004, or $6 billion, came from natural gas. Colorado is estimated to have produced a record 1.1 trillion cubic feet of gas in 2004. Coal production hit record high in 2004 and there was an increase in gold and molybdenum in 2004 over recent years."

Do you suppose the "Christian ministries" and Military complex in Colorado Springs will share this treasure of gold, silver, natural gas, oil, and coal with the homeless and suffering masses of America? We have no doubt. Returning to Chuck and Benny...]

Benny Hinn [wearing $1,000 suit]: "Did you hear what this man of God said?... Brother Chuck...I want to ask you something...you know prophets often speak in parables. This man of God gave us something I've never heard. Did the Lord show you that before the fragrance there's got to be judgment?

Chuck Pierce: "He showed me purification. See, God only judges to restore. [New Age/New World Order] He's a restorative God and he said, if you'll call forth the wind north, and call forth the wind south, and then I actually saw by the spirit New Orleans being covered with water because the purifying wind that...would come, New Orleans would be the first fruits of purification. Now you have to look at that, in that city, it is the first fruit of purification."

Benny Hinn: "What's next?"

Chuck Pierce: "There were two other cities God showed me. One was Houston, which I believe is beginning to turn, I want to say that. Then he showed me Los Angeles. I'm very concerned, I had a dream on November 11 [occult numerology, 11/11] at the beginning of November of last year about California. I went out, I shared very specifically, California has rallied in prayer but we're seeing a resisting force come to California right now. [same-sex marriage vetoed] I'm not here to announce earthquake, and there's been so many prophecies there, but I am concerned about Los Angeles because one of the chapters that I wrote in 2001 was lawlessness would arise. [urban riots] Now I think we need to see in New Orleans what lawlessness looks like, so we get a vision of it. Lawlessness has a root of fatherlessness. I believe Los Angeles is in a very precarious way. [unstable/San Andreas Fault] I believe San Francisco is in a precarious way and I want to announce to the West Coast, get your refuge cities ready, because God has a heart to unlock his garden, his covenant blessings. [death and destruction] Now I want to say it very positive because God is perfect in what he does. God wants to unlock the fragrance of his people. Get ready for the change to come upon this land." [Transformation]

Benny Hinn: "Chuck, I want to ask you something. When we read the prophets we find that God sent his people, Israel, to Babylon to cleanse the land from idol worship. [destruction of RCC/Rev. 17] Is that what you see?"

[Benny is insinuating that the United States is Babylon the Great so that when the U.S. falls, Christians will think it's the fulfilment of Revelation 18 at mid-Tribulation. This is a key counterfeit that will set the stage for other counterfeits during the Tribulation Period. [See: "Heeding Bible Prophecy: Understanding Satan's Plan to Counterfeit the Second Coming of Jesus Christ & The Restoration of All Things"]

Chuck Pierce: "That's absolutely right. You see, God won't allow thrones of iniquity to continue to be built... Every throne that is not ascending into my throne room I'm going to topple. (applause) There's nothing we can do about that. God is a loving God and he made you to worship him and he doesn't want you worshipping things that are going to harm you and send you into an eternity of destruction.... I hear the Lord saying, I'm bringing a midnight anointing upon this land so that my people will begin to arise at midnight [midnight raids by FEMA?] and no longer fear the darkness that has held them...and they will say, let the light shine [Lucifer = Light Bearer] and disperse the darkness."

ANOTHER ANOINTED "PROPHETIC EVANGELIST" IN BATON ROUGE. . .

JOHN MARK POOL is giving out similar "prophecies" of global and national disaster. The following information about John Mark Pool came from another Watchmen:

When reading about the "prophecy" these folks had made that you described in your Hurricane article, I wondered if you had heard the one from some "prophet" named John Mark Pool? I had seen him on Sid Roth late night Saturday 8/13/2005 - before there ever was a Katrina. Because he mentioned more disasters coming to the coasts, on the show, I looked up his website the next day. He gave a specific New Orleans prophecy at his website evidently at the end of the year 2004/early 2005. I didn't believe it when I read it because, I thought, "c'mon, how often does a hurricane hit New Orleans?" I didn't see the news much the next week until like two nights before Katrina hit, and I was really flabbergasted when I heard the news, and remembered this "prophecy" which I had just read less than two weeks prior. -- Later I looked into who William Branham is, evidently he had an "angel" who gave him his info... and this John Mark Pool's mother was a student/associate of Branham and she had been a "prophetess" and before she died she "passed on her office of prophecy" to her son, John Mark Pool. He relayed the story about his mother on the Sid Roth show that night. Mark is a tall lanky guy, seems very humble, but if his prophecies come from the same source as Branham.???

Anyway, here's his prophecy re: the 3rd Quarter of 2005, which included New Orleans, and my notes about it which I finally typed on 8/22/05. . .

"Prophet" Mark Pool was on Sid Roth late Saturday, 8/13/05 (@ midnight, so I guess that is actually 8/14/05). ...During the last few minutes of the show, this is what Mark had to say for the USA for the upcoming 3rd quarter of 2005:

Sid: What's going to happen in the United States THIS YEAR that God is showing you?

Mark: I see in my spirit... hear from God, I see for the 3rd quarter of the year, you're going to see a major expansion, financial marketplace, those who have made investments, things that are happening, they are going to come to pass, full circles are coming to completion. There's a major shaking going on in the world right now, and anything that can be shaken will be shaken and anything that's remaining is going to be God's. He has a way of getting our attention, and I can assure you that is about to happen for our country.

Sid: Any natural disasters do you see? Quickly...

Mark: Yes. I saw fire coming from heaven on to the earth, and I saw a tsunami flood through hurricanes and floods coming actually to the coast of the Southern part of United States and the Eastern part, somewhere along the coastline. I've been praying over the West Coast because the coast lines are set-up for disaster right now is what I see.

Mark Pool's own website. They are located in Baker, Louisiana [a suburb of Baton Rouge]. At his site he has a long page of his Annual Prophetic & Rhema Word for the entire year of 2005, which he wrote in January of 2005. Below are snippets from it regarding the "natural disasters" for 2005 in the USA:

"On the other hand, I saw other circles that will cause much devastation. I saw many large hurricanes coming to the south central, and the extreme Eastern USA, especially the mid and upper Atlantic seaboard. The recent earthquakes, floods and hurricanes are only to increase upon the earth as this year will experience even more catastrophes both in the USA and countries that purposefully denounce and persecute citizens who believe that Jesus Christ is the Lord by whom all humans must believe in order to have access to the only one true Jehovah God. [...]

"This morning I heard the abundance of a mighty earthquake having just occurred in the heavenlies. A major shift is taking place in God's realm of the spiritual and the supernatural. Yet again, I was overwhelmed that I felt He impressed during this time that our country will experience soon what I saw in the spiritual - major earthquakes and extreme flooding. Flooding was seen in the central and the Southern United States. I saw New Orleans literally 20 feet underwater across the main downtown area. At this time of flooding in New Orleans, I saw it as a sewer full of debris and every form of garbage floating around and swirling in the flood. The French Quarter will be wiped out in the flood. Bourbon Street will be abandoned. Alligators will be swimming where dens of iniquity once abounded.

"Sin's investors will let go of the territory. They reside in other areas and will be seeing this as a place of unstable investment for future plans of sin. God's Kingdom investors will step in and be allowed to bid on properties abandoned by the sin investors. Then the superdome will be available to purchase for 1/10th of a cent on the dollar! This will one day be called the "Glory Dome" as a move of God will be based out of it and make it a "Healing and Restoration Centre" grabbing worldwide attention. This Glory Dome will go on continually on a 24/7 basis. [...]

"There is a season on its way, however that is a season that comes from destruction in our land. This is a setup for our country, America, to again become aware that God is Jehovah, and He alone is able to bring shaking, earthquakes, and thick clouds of smoke, lightening and leveling winds with accompanying torrential floods. Yet He is Jehovah God, and He can in the same instant, if the people repent, calm the raging sea, stay the wind and rain, stop the lightening in mid-strike and bring peace for His creation. They will again behold Him in all His glory as we become still and know that He is God!"

ADDENDUM NEW MADRID FAULT

An Empire Wilderness: Travels into America's Future by Robert D. Kaplan

"With the same prescience and eye for telling detail that distinguished his best selling Balkan Ghosts, Robert Kaplan now explores his native country, the United States of America. His starting point: the conviction that America is a country not in decline but in transition, slowly but inexorably shedding its identity as a monolithic nation-state and assuming a radically new one.

"An America whose wealthy communities become wealthier and more fortress-like as they become more closely linked to the world's business capitals than to the desolate ghettos next door. An America where the political boundaries between the states—and between the U.S. and Canada and Mexico—are becoming increasingly blurred, betokening a vast open zone for trade, commerce, and cultural interaction, the nexus of tomorrow's transnational world. Never nostalgic or falsely optimistic, bracingly unafraid of change and its consequences, Kaplan paints a startling portrait of post-Cold War America—a great nation entering the final, most uncertain phase of its history. Here is travel writing with the force of prophecy.

"President Clinton cannot stop talking about Robert D. Kaplan's cover story in The Atlantic Monthly, White House aides say... Clinton was so impressed he ordered an interagency study of the issues. Clinton also devoured Kaplan's recent book Balkan Ghosts."—U.S. News & World Report

"Another exercise I looked in on involved a humanitarian emergency in Memphis and St. Louis after a major earthquake along the Mississippi Valley's 'New Madrid' fault line, where a series of big quakes did in fact occur in 1811 and 1812. More earthquakes are expected, and buildings in Memphis and St. Louis have not generally been constructed to withstand major tremors. This exercise tested the army's ability to work with NGOs (nongovernmental organizations, or private relief agencies), as it has had to do in the Third World.

“It was assumed that there would be civil disorder after the quake. ‘Martial law has rarely been declared in the United States,’ noted Lieutenant Colonel Marvin Chandler. ‘That’s another thing we look at.’ Many times in the course of my visit to Leavenworth I heard discussion of the Posse Comitatus Act, which forbids the National Guard to act as a local police force once it has been federalized by the army in a civil emergency. The implication was that turbulence within the United States might one day require the act to be repealed. ‘The future is icky,’ said Lieutenant Colonel Chandler, showing me a cartoon of a cow, representing an awkward, slow-moving army, trying to negotiate a series of mud puddles that represent natural catastrophes, political breakdowns, riots, and nuclear blackmail, both foreign and domestic.”

POSSE COMITATUS ACT

R.I.P. Posse Comitatus Kurt Nimmo, Another Day in the Empire September 19, 2005

"It was Representative Ron Paul of Texas who read into the Congressional Record on June 25, 1997—well before the malfeasance of George Bush, the Constitution-bashing Patriot Act, and the reckless so-called war on terror—the following:

“In a police state the police are national, powerful, authoritarian. Inevitably, national governments yield to the temptation to use the military to do the heavy lifting.... [O]nce the military is used, however minor initially, the march toward martial law...becomes irresistible.”

"Fast-forward to the present. In the wake of Hurricane Katrina, General Peter Grace, soon to become Vice Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has called “for Posse Comitatus to be reconsidered in response to suggestions that it slowed down deployment of troops,” according to Jurist, a legal research website.

"Virginia Republican John Warner, chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, “has questioned restrictions under the law since the September 11th attacks, and has promised to do so again.”

"In February, 2002, soon after the nine eleven attacks, Colonel John R.Brinkerhoff, US Army Retired, and acting associate director for national preparedness of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), wrote:

“President Bush and Congress should initiate action to enact a new law that would set forth in clear terms a statement of the rules for using military forces for homeland security and for enforcing the laws of the United States. Things have changed a lot since 1878, and the Posse Comitatus Act is not only irrelevant but also downright dangerous to the proper and effective use of military forces for domestic duties.”

“Article II, Section 2 of the Constitution grants the power to Congress to make the rules governing the armed forces,” writes Diane Alden. “In recent years Congress has acted less like the source of legitimacy for the use of the military force and more like a rubber stamp for military adventurism by the executive branch, regardless of who is president.... both Republicans and Democrats can share the blame for blurring lines between the military and police.... Both can share blame in the unconstitutional laws passed and the open check book they offer federal police agencies that don’t seem to be concerned with the niceties of the Bill of Rights.” Alden wrote this in the 1990’s, during the Clinton administration and after the outrage of Waco. Her words are even more urgent today as Bush and Congress have eroded the Constitution and the Bill of Rights even further.

"Our corporate media has blamed FEMA's response to Katrina on bureaucratic inertia and ineptitude. However, a cursory examination of events reveal something else: FEMA (and the Department of Homeland Security) deliberately exacerbated the situation in New Orleans and up and down the Gulf Coast by withholding crucial assistance, thus creating a chaotic situation and "anarchy" in the streets as desperate people "looted" stores in search of water and food. FEMA turned away experienced firefighters; turned away Wal-Mart supply trucks; prevented the Coast Guard from delivering diesel fuel; prevented the Red Cross from delivering food; blocked morticians from entering New Orleans; blocked a 500-boat citizen flotilla from delivering aid; turned away generators; told first responders not to respond. As Jefferson Parish President Aaron Broussard revealed during an emotional plea on NBC's Meet the Press, FEMA basically declared war on local authorities and sabotaged local communications. FEMA went out of its way to make the situation worse, thus sending the message: without military occupation and a watering down of the Posse Comitatus Act, FEMA and the feds cannot do their job, a message dutifully echoed by the corporate media.

"The Posse Comitatus Act reflects the political sensitivities of a period in American history when Union troops enforced laws on the former Confederate states," opines the San Antonio Express-News.

It also reflects the American concept of federalism and a traditional distrust of powerful government.

"Hurricane Katrina sheds new light on these subjects. Emergency-management planning is now inextricably linked with national security. The military is, in effect, a first responder for both humanitarian relief and law enforcement. The federal government may be the only source of available help in some disaster situations.

"Congress and the American people will examine what went wrong in the homeland security bureaucracy and why the federal government was slow to respond to Katrina's destructive force.

"They also need to examine the Posse Comitatus Act to make sure it—or at least government lawyers' understanding of it—does not remain an obstacle to common-sense response to national disasters.

"If the Posse Comitatus Act is an obstacle to anything, it is the federal government's desire send in the Marines—who are trained to fight wars, not provide disaster relief and augment (or supplant) local law enforcement.

"One of the United States' greatest strengths is that the military is responsive to civilian authority and that we do not allow the Army, Navy, Marines or the Air Force to be a police force," Marine Corps General Stephen Olmstead testified before Congress. "History is replete with countries that allowed that to happen. Disaster is the result." Or, as Maryland delegate Luther Martin argued during the Constitutional Convention in 1787, "When a government wishes to deprive its citizens of freedom, and reduce them to slavery, it generally makes use of a standing army."

"If this were a dictatorship, it'd be a heck of a lot easier, just so long as I'm the dictator," Bush joked on December 18, 2000. However, as we have witnessed since, Bush was not joking and the result of his desire to be a dictator has resulted in a serious erosion of the Bill of Rights, most notably the First, Second, Fourth, and Six Amendments. Indeed, if the barriers to military rule are removed by Bush's rubberstamp Congress, and the American people are not vigilant, 'slavery,' as Luther Martin noted, will be the ultimate result."

IS AMERICA PREPARING FOR MARTIAL LAW?

By Michel Chossudovsky

April 10, 2005

—Excerpt— The Role of the Military

What would be the involvement of the Military in a code red emergency situation?

In theory, the Posse Comitatus Act of 1878 adopted in the wake of the US civil war, prevents the military from intervening in civilian police and judicial functions. This law is central to the functioning of constitutional government.

While the Posse Comitatus Act is still on the books, in practice the legislation is no longer effective in preventing the militarization of civilian institutions.(See Frank Morales at <http://globalresearch.ca/articles/MOR309A.html> ).

Legislation inherited from the Clinton administration, not to mention the post 9/11 Patriot Acts I and II, "blurs the line between military and civilian roles". It allows the military to intervene in judicial and law enforcement activities even in the absence of an emergency situation.

In 1996, legislation was passed which allowed the military to intervene in the case of a national emergency (e.g.. a terrorist attack). In 1999, Clinton's Defense Authorization Act (DAA) extended those powers (under the 1996 legislation) by creating an "exception" to the Posse Comitatus Act, which permits the military to be involved in civilian affairs "regardless of whether there is an emergency".

"The new proposed exception to the Posse Comitatus Act would further expand a controversial measure adopted by Congress in 1996 that permitted military involvement in "emergencies" involving chemical and biological weapons crimes.

Under that new measure, which was proposed by the Defence Department, the military would be authorized to deal with crimes involving any chemical or biological weapons -- or any other weapon of mass destruction -- regardless of whether there is an "emergency." In addition, the new proposal would lift requirements that the military be reimbursed for the cost of its intervention, thus likely increasing the number of requests for military assistance.

"Under this new provision," Nojeim said, "the mere threat of an act of terrorism would justify calling in military units. That represents a loophole large enough to drive a battalion of army tanks through."

The defense authorization bill would also require the Pentagon to develop a plan to assign military personnel to assist Customs and the Immigration and Naturalization Service to "respond to threats to national security posed by entry into the U.S. of terrorists or drug traffickers."

"the mere threat of an act of terrorism would justify calling in military units. That represents a loophole large enough to drive a battalion of army tanks through." (ibid)

In other words, the Clinton era legislation had already laid the legal and ideological foundations of the "war on terrorism".

Despite this 1999 "exception" to the Posse Comitatus Act", which effectively invalidates it, both the Pentagon and Homeland Security, have been actively lobbying Congress for the outright repeal of the 1878 legislation:

"new rules are needed to clearly set forth the boundaries for the use of federal military forces for homeland security. The Posse Comitatus Act is inappropriate for modern times and needs to be replaced by a completely new law ...

It is time to rescind the existing Posse Comitatus Act and replace it with a new law. The Posse Comitatus Act is an artefact of a different conflict-between freedom and slavery or between North and South, if you prefer. Today's conflict is also in a sense between freedom and slavery, but this time it is between civilization and terrorism. New problems often need new solutions, and a new set of rules is needed for this issue.

President Bush and Congress should initiate action to enact a new law that would set forth in clear terms a statement of the rules for using military forces for homeland security and for enforcing the laws of the United States.

(John R. Brinkerhoff, former associate director for national preparedness of the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA),

The Posse Comitatus Act, is viewed by military analysts as a "Legal Impediment to Transformation":

"[The Posse Comitatus Act constitutes] a formidable obstacle to our nation's flexibility and adaptability at a time when we face an unpredictable enemy with the proven capability of causing unforeseen catastrophic events. The difficulty in correctly interpreting and applying the Act causes widespread confusion at the tactical, operational, and strategic levels of our military. Given that future events may call for the use of the military to assist civil authorities, a review of the efficacy of the PCA is in order. ( Donald J. Currier, The Posse Comitatus Act: A Harmless Relic from the Post-Reconstruction Era or a Legal Impediment to Transformation? Authors; Army War College Strategic Studies Institute, Carlisle Barracks, Pa, September 2003)

The ongoing militarization of civilian justice and law enforcement is a bi-partisan project. Senator Joseph Biden (a Democrat), former Chairman of the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee, has been waging, since the mid-1990's, in consultation with his Republican counterparts, a battle for the outright repeal of the Posse Comitatus Act.

The Patriot Legislation

In turn, the Bush administration PATRIOT Acts have set the groundwork of the evolving Homeland Security State. In minute detail, they go much further in setting the stage for the militarization of civilian institutions.

The various provisions are very detailed and precise. The USA PATRIOT ACT of 2001 entitled "Providing Appropriate Tools Required to Intercept and Obstruct Terrorism Act of 2001" as well as the "Domestic Security Enhancement Act of 2003," ("PATRIOT Act II") create the conditions for the militarization of justice and police functions:

The "PATRIOT Act" is a repressive "coordination" of the entities of force and deception, the police, intelligence and the military. It broadens, centralizes and combines the surveillance, arrest and harassment capabilities of the police and intelligence apparatus. Homeland defence is, in essence, a form of state terrorism directed against the American people and democracy itself. It is the Pentagon Inc. declaring war on America.

The "domestic war on terrorism" hinges upon the Pentagon's doctrine of homeland defence. Mountains of repressive legislation are being enacted in the name of internal security. So called "homeland security", originally set within the Pentagon's "operations other than war", is actually a case in which the Pentagon has declared war on America. Shaping up as the new battleground, this proliferating military "doctrine" seeks to justify new roles and missions for the Pentagon within America. Vast "legal" authority and funds to spy on the dissenting public, reconfigured as terrorist threats, is being lavished upon the defence, intelligence and law enforcement "community."

All this is taking place amidst an increasingly perfected "fusion" of the police and military functions both within the US and abroad, where the phenomena is referred to as "peacekeeping", or the "policization of the military". Here in America, all distinction between the military and police functions is about to be forever expunged with the looming repeal of the Posse Comitatus Act.

In other words, the "New World Law and Order" based on the repeal of the Posse Comitatus Act, requires a system of domestic and global counterinsurgency led by the Pentagon.

(Frank Morales, Homeland Defence: The Pentagon Declares War on America, <http://globalresearch.ca/articles/MOR312A.html> In 2003, Frank Morales was granted A Project Censored Award of Sonoma University, Cal.

Even under a functioning civilian government, the PATRIOT Acts have already instated several features of martial law. The extent to which they may be applied is at the discretion of the military authorities.

The 2003 Patriot Act II goes much further in extending and enlarging the "Big Brother functions" of control and surveillance of people. It vastly expands the surveillance and counterinsurgency powers, providing government access to personal bank accounts, information on home computers, telephone wire tapping, credit card accounts, etc. (for further details, see Ratical.org at <http://www.ratical.org/ratville/CAH/USAPA2.html#DSEAnalysis>

The Role of Northern Command (Northcom)

Northern Command (Northcom) (based at Peterson Air Force Base, Colorado) was set up in April 2002 specifically in the context of "the pre-emptive war on terrorism".

The creation of Northcom is consistent with the de facto repeal of the Posse Comitatus Act. In fact, the position of a "Homeland Defense Command" leader "in the event of a terrorist attack on U.S. soil", had already been envisaged in early 1999 by Clinton's Defense Secretary William Cohen. ( http://www.thirdworldtraveler.com/Civil\_Liberties/Posse\_Comitatus\_Law.html ).

Following the Bush Administration's decision to create Northcom, the White House instructed Justice Department lawyers "to review the Posse Comitatus law in light of new security requirements in the war on terrorism." The 1878 Act was said to "greatly restrict the military's ability to participate in domestic law enforcement". (National Journal, Government Record, 22 July 2002)

The role of Northern Command defined in the Pentagon's "Joint Doctrine for Homeland Security (JP-26)", constitutes a blueprint on how to defend the Homeland.

Martial law could be triggered even in the case of a bogus terror alert based on fabricated intelligence. Even in the case where it is known and documented to senior military officials that the "outside enemy" is fabricated, a martial law situation, characterized by detailed command military/ security provisions, would become operational almost immediately.

Northcom has a mandate to "defend the homeland" against this illusive "outside enemy", (Al Qaeda) which is said to be threatening the security of America. According to Frank Morales, "the scenario of a military take-over of America is unfolding." And Northern Command is the core military entity in this takeover and militarization of civilian institutions.

Northcom's "Command Mission" encompasses a number of "non-military functions" including "crisis management" and "domestic civil support". Under Northcom jurisdiction, the latter would imply a process of "military support to federal, state and local authorities in the event of a terror attack". The latter would include:—

—the preparation for, prevention of, deterrence of, preemption of, defence against, and response to threats and aggression directed towards U.S. territory, sovereignty, domestic population, and infrastructure; as well as crisis management, consequence management, and other domestic civil support." (See <http://www.globalsecurity.org/military/agency/dod/northcom.htm> )

Northcom is described as having "a Creeping Civilian Mission". (David Isenberg, Asian Times, 5 December 2003). Since its inception, it has been building capabilities in domestic intelligence and law enforcement. It is in permanent liaison with the DHS and the Justice Department. It has several hundred FBI and CIA officers stationed at its headquarters in Colorado. (National Journal, 1 May 2004). It is in permanent liaison, through an advanced communications system, with municipalities and domestic civilian law enforcement agencies around the country. (Ibid). It also has links to Canadian military and government authorities through the so-called "binational planning group". (See Is the Annexation of Canada part of Bush's Military Agenda? November 2004 <http://globalresearch.ca/articles/CHO411C.html> )

Meanwhile the CIA, which has a unit operating out of Northcom, has extended its mandate to issues of "domestic intelligence".

In the case of a Code Red Alert, a national emergency would be declared. Northern Command would deploy its forces on air, land and sea. Several functions of civilian government would be transferred to Northcom headquarters, which already has several structures, which enables it to oversee and supervise civilian institutions.

In other words, Northcom's "command structure" would be activated in the case of a code red terror alert. But Northcom does not require, in accordance with the provisions of the 1999 Defense Authorization Act (DAA), a terror alert, a terror attack or a war-like situation to intervene in the country's civilian affairs.

The jurisdiction of the Northern Command now extends from Mexico to Alaska. Under ("binational") agreements signed with Canada and Mexico, Northern Command can intervene and deploy its forces and military arsenal on land, air and sea in Canada (extending into its Northern territories), throughout Mexico and in parts of the Caribbean.

Taken together, the existing legislation grants the military extensive rights to intervene in an "emergency situation", without the prior formal approval of the Commander in Chief.

America's Big Brother Data Banks

To prepare for new "law enforcement" missions for the military within America, overseen by the Northern Command, the Centre for Law and Military Operations, based in Charlottesville, Virginia has published a "useful" Handbook entitled "Domestic Operational Law for Judge Advocates." According to Frank Morales, the Handbook:

"attempts to solidify, from a legal standpoint, Pentagon penetration of America and it's operations other than war,' essentially providing the U.S. corporate elite with lawful justification for its class war against the American people, specifically those that resist the "new world law and order" agenda." (Frank Morales, Homeland Defense and the Militarization of America, Global Outlook, No. 6, Winter 2004, <http://globalresearch.ca/articles/MOR309A.html> )

According to Morales: "the 'war on terrorism' is the cover for the war on dissent." which requires setting up comprehensive procedures and data banks for the surveillance of individual citizens.

In this context, In the wake of September 11, the Bush Administration established its proposed Big Brother data bank: "the Total Information Awareness Program (TIAP).

TIAP was operated by the Information Awareness Office (IAO), which had a mandate "to gather as much information as possible about everyone, in a centralized location, for easy perusal by the United States government." This would include medical records, credit card and banking information, educational and employment data, records concerning travel and the use of Internet, email, telephone and fax.

TIAP was operated in the offices of the Defence Advanced Research Projects Agency (DARPA), a division of the Pentagon in Northern Virginia. (See Washington Post, 11 Nov 2002 at <http://www.washingtonpost.com/ac2/wp-dyn/A40942-2002Nov11> )

Ironically, when it was first set up, it was headed by a man with criminal record, former National Security Adviser ret. Admiral John Poindexter.

Poindexter, who had been indicted on criminal charges for his role in the Iran Contra scandal during the Reagan Administration, subsequently resigned as TIAP Director and the program was "officially" discontinued.

While the IAO no longer exists in name, the initiative of creating a giant data bank was by no means abandoned. Several US government bodies including Homeland Security, the CIA and the FBI, respectively oversee giant "Big Brother" data banks, which are fully operational. They also collaborate in the controversial Multi state Anti-Terrorism Information Exchange ( MATRIX). The latter is defined as "a crime-fighting database" used by law enforcement agencies, the US Justice Department and Homeland Security.

The National Intelligence Reform Act of 2004, sets the framework for establishing a centralized "Information Sharing Network" which will coordinate data from "all available sources". The proposed network would bring together the data banks of various government agencies under a single governmental umbrella. (Deseret Morning News, 29, 2004). Needless to say, this integration of Big Brother data banks also includes tax records, immigration data as well as confidential information on travellers.

Similar procedures have been implemented in Canada. The federal government in Ottawa is collaborating with the US, leading to the eventual merger of tax and immigration data banks between the two countries.

America at a Critical Crossroads

Unquestionably America is at the crossroads of the most serious crisis in its history. The coded terror alerts and "terror events", which have been announced by DHS are part of a disinformation campaign carried out by the CIA, the Pentagon, the State Department and Homeland Security. US intelligence is not only involved in creating phony terror warnings, it is indirectly also behind the terror groups, providing them with covert support. Meanwhile, the militarization of civilian institutions is not only contemplated, it has become a talking point on network TV; it is openly debated as a "solution" to "protecting American democracy" which is said to be threatened by Islamic terrorists.

The implications of a code red alert are rarely the object of serious debate.

The terror exercises under TOPOFF serve to condition public officials and key decision makers. In turn through media disinformation, citizens are being prepared and gradually conditioned for the unthinkable.

'Operation Ophelia' Begins In United States as Plan for 'Major Cataclysmic Event' Put Into Effect,

NORTHCOM Assumes Control over Entire Country
By
Sorcha Faal, and as reported to her Russian Subscribers
September 6, 2005

“Russian Intelligence Analysts are reporting today that the Military Leaders of the United States have begun the implementation of what the Americans are calling 'Operation Ophelia', and which calls for the dividing of the United States into separate Military Districts under the command of their newly established North American Defense Division of NORTHCOM.

“According to these reports 'Operation Ophelia' was originated as a strategic plan for the total changing of American society based upon '2 or more' cataclysmic events occurring in their country over a period of 6 months, and as these reports further show these American Military Leaders are now 'convinced' are about to occur.

“As these Americans are often fond of doing, the name of this Operation seemingly fits the intended consequences as Ophelia is one of Shakespeare's most tragic characters, and whose attributes would mirror that of the entire peoples of the United States should they be struck with another disaster, 'Ophelia's personality and emotions are very much like a teenage girls - emotional, thoughtful, sensitive and finally, she goes mad.'

“But of greatest concern are not these massive Super Storms, and the catastrophic destruction they leave behind, but of the massive earthquakes that could soon follow are what Russian Scientists are warning about, and as we had previously reported in our August 29th report titled 'Unprecedented' Super Storm Threatens American Economy as American President Declares Martial Law, Pressure on New Madrid Fault Zone Reaches 'Unseen' Levels' and wherein we had stated:

“But perhaps most ominous of all of these events has been the American Scientists recent confirming Russian research that details the effects of weather upon fault zones like New Madrid, and as we can read as reported by the New Scientist News Service in their report titled 'Earth trembles as big winds move in' and which says;

“"HURRICANES can trigger swarms of weak earthquakes and even set the Earth vibrating, according to the first study of such effects. When Hurricane Charley slammed into Florida in August 2004, physicist Randall Peters of Mercer University in Macon, Georgia, had a seismometer ready to monitor any vibrations in the Earth's crust. He did so for over 36 hours as Charley travelled briefly over Florida, then slid back out into the Atlantic.

“As the hurricane reached land, the seismometer recorded a series of 'micro-tremors' from the Earth's crust. This happened again as the storm moved back out to sea. Then, as Charley grazed the continental shelf on its way out, it caused a sharp seismic spike. 'I suspect the storm triggered a subterranean landslide,' says Peters.

“More surprisingly, the storm also caused the Earth to vibrate. The planet's surface in the vicinity of the hurricane started moving up and down at several frequencies ranging from 0.9 to 3 millihertz. Such low-frequency vibrations have been detected following large earthquakes, but this is the first time a storm has been found to be the cause.'

“To the beginning of these effects already occurring to the North American Plate we can read as reported by the Californian Desert Sun News Service in their report titled ‘Quake swarm rattles experts: Activity is near faults capable of unleashing massive temblors...’”
