Confessions From An Ex-Freemason To Stephen Knight

At 33rd Degree – LUCIFER (SATAN) IS GOD – WE WERE LIED TO At The Lower Levels

Confession made by a former Grand Inspector Inquisitor Commander of the Thirty-First Degree of the Ancient and Accepted Rite who had withdrawn from Masonry in 1968 for religious reasons. He was a judge, and a particularly quick-tempered one. We spent a long time talking about Masonry and religion, but after a while I began to ask him about the Ancient and Accepted Rite of the Thirty-Third Degree. About Masonry, he said quickly. 'No, I dare not go into that,' he said. 'We'd better stick with religion.' It seemed a perfectly normal answer . and sounded like the usual rebuff. But I thought immediately afterwards how strange it was that he had used the words 'dare not'. Most people said, 'I'd better not', or 'I'd rather not'. I remarked on his use of the word. He said, Anyone in public life has to be cautious.'

'Cautious,' I repeated. 'That's a Masonic word of recognition.'

'You've obviously delved into the ritual, so you know,' he said. 'But I mean cautious in the sense everybody understands it.'

'What must you be cautious about?'

'I don't like this line of questioning. I agreed to speak to you in general terms about why my commitment to Jesus is incompatible with the Masonic religion. I do not wish to be drawn into discussion of matters covered by whatever undertakings I have ... taken.'

'By undertakings, do you mean Masonic oaths?'

He paused. 'Yes, I do. I prefer the word obligation to oath. It's not the same.'

I remember thinking as I turned the conversation back on to the track I wanted it to follow that it would be interesting later on to return to this question of the distinction between an obligation and an oath. I never did.

'Why do you have to be cautious, careful', I said. 'You're not a Mason any more. I've got copies of all the rituals of the 4th to 33rd degree. There is no obligation which could possibly be interpreted to forbid you from telling me what you meant when you used the word "dare" in an ordinary conversation.'

This isn't about my religious convictions, is it?'

'Many of your former Masonic colleagues are very powerful people in this country. Do you think there would be some kind of reprisal if you gave away any secrets?'

'Not of the kind you'd write about in a book about Jack the Ripper.' He laughed. A bit hollowly. 'Well, not murder, no, I wouldn't have thought so.' I, too, laughed. I felt oddly embarrassed. 'But there is some kind of reprisal to be feared then? Something more ... subtle?'

He began to look angry. He had made a slip. 'That was a figure of sp– I was making a joke. A very bad joke.'

‘But you said-’

‘I know, I know!’

I could see the rattled ex-Mason automatically slipping back into the practice of a lifetime. Sometimes you shall divert a discourse, and manage it prudently for the honour of the worshipful fraternity. I would not be diverted into defending the evidence and arguments in my first book. I felt I was close to something. I pressed on.

‘Leaving murder aside, can I ask you . . .’ And then it hit me. ‘Can I ask you, as a Christian, have you ever seen at first hand any sort of reprisals carried out by Freemasons using Masonic influence against any non-Freemason or anti-Freemason?’

All at once, he seemed to relax, or to somehow collapse into a smaller man as he let all the anger go out of him. ‘As a Christian . . .’ He paused thoughtfully, and I noticed how very many times he blinked his eyes during this hiatus. I wondered at one point if he was praying for guidance. He drew a long, slow, deep breath. ‘As a Christian, I have to tell you that I have never in my whole life witnessed or heard about a single act of hostility by a Freemason or group of Freemasons that was sanctioned by Grand Lodge or Supreme Council’ He looked at me significantly as he laid stress on that qualifying clause. ‘There,’ he said. ‘I have said nothing which betrays my obligations.’

‘I have heard from quite a lot of contacts about organized action by groups of Freemasons that have resulted in the financial or social ruin of certain people,’ I said.

‘So have I,’ he said, still looking me straight in the eye as if telling me this was important. ‘So have I.’ ‘Have you any direct knowledge of such happenings?’

‘Not of such happenings which had the backing of official Freemasonry.’

‘But of action which was unofficial? In other words, Masons abusing the Craft for their own ends?’

‘You know the answer to that, from the way I have said what I have said.’

‘I have also heard about people who have “crossed” certain Masons and finished up in prison’

He stopped me in mid-sentence by placing a finger on his lips.

‘If I told you everything I know about Freemasonry being betrayed by its members, it would surprise you,’ he said. ‘It would make your hair stand on end. I can’t tell you any more.’ Then, as if it was an afterthought, but I don’t believe it was, he said, ‘Give me your phone number. You might hear from someone in a few days.’ I gave him the number. ‘Who?’ I said.

The finger went back to his lips and he went to fetch my coat.

‘God bless,’ he said as I left, and I ran pell-mell to a sandwich bar in nearby Chancery Lane to scribble down the notes on which this account of our meeting has been based.

Four days later I received a phone call from a man who told me he would very much like to meet me. I tried to get him to say something concrete on the phone, but he would not even tell me whether or not he was a Mason.

Despite his unwillingness to talk – perhaps, in a way, because of it – I arranged to meet him the following Saturday in the vestibule of the Cafe Royal. From there we would go to his club. He said his name was Christopher. Whether this was his Christian name or his surname I didn't know.

When I arrived, he was sitting in the armchair to the right of the fireplace, just inside the entrance, smoking a small cigar in a holder and reading that day's Times. He was tall, more than six feet, slim and aged about fifty. Everything about him spoke of affluence, except his plain National Health Service glasses. We went to his club, which he pledged me not to name as it could be used to identify him. It turned out that Christopher was one of his three Christian names and that he was a very senior Civil Servant in Whitehall. He had contacted me, he said, not as a result of seeing the New Statesman advertisement – although he had seen it when it appeared – but at the request of my cautious Christian Judge. He asked me what I wanted to know. I said I took it that he was a Freemason. He nodded and took some papers out of his slim line briefcase. He wanted me to be in no doubt as to his bona fides.

After examining the papers I told him I was interested to know what a person might have to fear from a group of influential Freemasons if circumstances made him, for instance, a threat to them in the business world; or if he discovered they were using Masonry for corrupt purposes; or had fallen a victim of their misuse of Freemasonry and would not heed warnings not to oppose them. 'It is not difficult to ruin a man,' he said. 'And I will tell you how it is done time and again. There are more than half a million brethren under the jurisdiction of Grand Lodge.

Standards have been falling for twenty or thirty years. It is too easy to enter the Craft, so many men of dubious morals have joined. The secrecy and power attract such people, and when they come the decent leave. The numbers of people who would never have been considered for membership in the fifties are getting larger all the time. If only five per cent of Freemasons use – abuse – the Craft for selfish or corrupt ends it means there are 25,000 of them. The figure is much closer to twelve or thirteen per cent now.'

It transpired that Christopher was one of a small and unpopular group within Masonry who some time in the early seventies had decided that either they had to get out of the Brotherhood or they had to do something 'to stop the rot' which the blinkered officers of Great Queen Street refused to admit was there. His reason for talking to me was to assure me that the Brotherhood was an essentially good body of men devoted to all that was best in the British social system and which promoted brotherly love and contributed to the well being of the country and to the relief of suffering. He wanted this put firmly across to the public, and his group wanted pressure brought to bear on those in positions of responsibility within the Brotherhood to put Freemasonry's house in order – to institute proper policing, to close down Lodges used for shady dealings and to root out corrupt brethren and expel them. The group – it had no name – also wanted the whole business of Masonic secrecy looked into by Grand Lodge, most of them believing that secrecy was more harmful than helpful to Masonry.

Christopher explained that Masonry's nationwide organization of men from most walks of life provided one of the most efficient private intelligence networks imaginable. Private information on anybody in the country could normally be accessed very rapidly through endless permutations of Masonic contacts – police, magistrates, solicitors, bank managers, Post Office staff ('very useful in supplying copies of a man's mail'), doctors, government employee bosses of firms and nationalized industries etc., etc. dossier of personal data could be built up on anybody very quickly. When the major facts of an individual's life were known, areas of vulnerability would become apparent. Perhaps he is in financial difficulties; perhaps he has some social vice – if married he might 'retain a mistress' or have proclivity for visiting prostitutes; perhaps there is something in his past he wishes keep buried, some guilty secret, a criminal offence (easily obtainable through Freemason police of doubtful virtue), or other blemish on his character: all these and more could be discovered via the wide-ranging masons network of 600,000 contacts, a great many of whom were disposed to do favours for one another because that had been their prime motive for joining. Even decent Masons could often be 'conned' into providing information on the basis that 'Brother Smith needs this to help the person involved'. The adversary would even sometimes be described as a fellow Mason to the Brother from whom information was sought perhaps someone with access to his bank manager or employer. The 'good' Mason would not go to the lengths of checking with Freemasons Hall whether or not this was so. The 'target' was presented as a Brother in distress by a fellow Mason, especially a fellow Lodge member, that would be enough for any upright member of the Craft.

[I discovered from other sources that this system has been long established within Masonry for the 'legitimate' purpose of bringing succour to a distressed Brother Mason or to the family of a departed Mason. It is common for details of a Freemason's debts, for instance, to be passed to his Lodge by his masonic bank manager. This 'invasion of privacy' is for no more sinister reason than for his brethren to club together and pay off his debts. This occurs most often after the death of a Mason, but by no means always. And this, apparently, is just one example of the many methods by which Freemasons obtain information about each other for genuine purposes.]

Sometimes this information gathering process – often involving a long chain of Masonic contacts all over the country and possibly abroad – would be unnecessary. Enough would be known in advance about the adversary to initiate any desired action against him.

I asked how this 'action' might be taken.

'Solicitors are very good at it,' said Christopher. 'Get your man involved in something legal – it need not be serious – and you have him.' Solicitors, I was told, are 'past masters' at causing endless delays, generating useless paperwork, ignoring instructions, running up immense bills, misleading clients into taking decisions damaging to themselves.

Masonic police can harass, arrest on false charges, and plant evidence. 'A businessman in a small community or person in public office arrested for dealing in child pornography, for indecent exposure, or for trafficking in drugs is at the end of the line,' said Christopher. 'He will never work again. Some people have committed suicide after experiences of that kind.'

Masons can bring about the situation where credit companies and banks withdraw credit facilities from individual clients and tradesmen, said my informant. Bank can foreclose. People who rely on the telephone for their work can be cut off for long periods. Masonic employees of local authorities can arrange for a person's drains to be inspected and extensive damage to be reported, thus burdening the person with huge repair bills; workmen carrying out the job can 'find' – In reality cause – further damage. Again with regard to legal matters, a fair hearing is hard to get when a man in ordinary circumstances is in financial difficulties. If he is trying to fight a group of unprincipled Freemasons skilled in using the 'network' it will be impossible because Masonic Department of Health and Social Security and Law Society officials (see pp 189-90) can delay applications for Legal Aid endlessly.

'Employers, if they are Freemasons or not, can be given private information about a man who has made himself an enemy of Masonry. At worst he will be dismissed (if the information is true) or consistently passed over for promotion.'

Christopher added, 'Masonic doctors can also be used. But for some reason doctors seem to be the least corruptible men. There are only two occurrences of false medical certificates issued by company doctors to ruin the chances of an individual getting a particular job which I know about. It's not a problem that need greatly worry us like the rest.'

He continued for about half an hour to list examples of the ways in which corrupt members of the Brotherhood could defeat opposition, repeating every few minutes that these kinds of circumstances involved a minority of the brethren and that most would be utterly appalled at even the suggestion that such things were happening, let alone countenance them. 'That they were happening at all reflected the deterioration of the Craft inasmuch as its entry requirements were no longer stringent enough. Those in power in Freemasons Hall knew something of what went on, but they felt defeated by it and preferred to look the other way rather than take steps to eradicate it. If Christopher and his group failed to force the issue into the open, he said, the organization would become so morally polluted that it would simply cease to exist. But he was not solely concerned with the Brotherhood. It was the victims of those who used Masonry as a source of personal power who had to be helped as well.

‘Only the fighters have any hope of beating the system once it’s at work against them,’ he told me. ‘Most people, fighters or not, are beaten in the end, though. It’s . . . you see, I . . . you finish up not knowing who you can trust. You can get no help because your story sounds so paranoid that you are thought a crank, one of those nuts who think the whole world is a conspiracy against them. It is a strange phenomenon. By setting up a situation that most people will think of as fantasy, these people can poison every part of a person’s life. If they give in they go under. If they don’t give in It’s only putting off the day because if they fight, so much unhappiness will be brought to the people around them that there will likely come a time when even their families turn against them out of desperation. When that happens and they are without friends wherever they look, they become easy meat. The newspapers will not touch them’.

‘There is no defence against an evil which only the victims and the perpetrators know exists.’

The highest ritual holiday is the member's birthday. It usually involves the member or a victim of the member's choice and someone in authority, usually the coven's leader.

The first and third of every month. Put 1 and 3 together and it makes 13, though ritual/worship can occur at anytime, frequently coinciding with times of stress.

All Friday the 13th's are high satanic days.

All full-moon nights provide reason for major occult activity (easiest to move around without difficulty and without being detected).

Holy week (Palm Sunday to Easter Sunday). Some groups are thought to sacrifice, cook and eat a human baby on Easter Sunday.

Fact Sheet: The Church of Satan

Founder: Aleister Crowley (1875-1947) Tenure ( 1920-1930)

Mailing address: (none available)

Current Leader: Anton S. La Vey: Founder of U.S. Church of Satan

Members: 50,000 (1994)

The Church membership are teachers, movie stars, government officials, lawyers, judges, police, high ranking military, and doctors.

Not everyone who applies for membership is accepted.

A through background check is performed prior to acceptance.

All members must sign a contract and pay yearly fees.

New members are watched closely for the first year.

The Church of Satan has different levels that a member can work into.

Number Churches: 600 in U.S. and another 100 abroad.

Church Government: The Mother Church (International Headquarters) is in East Berlin, Germany, and in Amsterdam.

International churches are also located in Belgium, London, Holland, Germany, Austria, Norway, Russia and Romania. Each church has groups which are called covens. Each coven consists of 13 people.

There are as many as 26 to 66 coven in a church.

The Church is governed by the Council of 13 which is made up of 100 Knights Templar Bankers who control between 1-3 Trillion Dollars each in behalf of the Gray Men's Empire. These 100 Templar Bankers have raped and robbed the Countries of the world.

Through what is known as Frauds are Us

These 100 Knights Templar Bankers revolve yearly on the Council of 13. They are selected by the Councils leader who resides in Israel.

The 100 Knights Templar Bankers, all desire to be the "ONE"

"THE ANTICHRIST IN HUMAN FORM", they all want to be posed by the Devil-Baphomet-to become the Antichrist here on Earth.

I might add there is one other who plays an important part in the coming of the Antichrist which is the BLACK POPE, the Pope behind the current Popemon. He is the Head of the secretive Jesuit priests. I think the black popemon is the false prophet in the Bible.

The Council of 13 the 100 Templar Bankers, 12 of them are in the USA and control the White House.

Their identification is kept concealed. Each one is a member of the Golden Dawn, Order of Templi, and the Order of the Trapezoid.

Each year they meet in East Berlin in the Mother Church. These 13 men control what happens in the churches, our governments, marketing, media (and the disposal of individuals who stand in their way.)

Note: Anthony and his father meet with them all as they thought that Anthony was to be the next leader of the Church of Satan.

They are the most dangerous men in the world. They are the hidden party who make decisions for the New World Order plan which we will be faced with soon. They are also involved with organized crime underground.

History: Anton S. La Vey started the first Church of Satan in San Francisco, California on April 30, 1966. This was the first one ever started in the U.S.. La Vey is a generational Satanist. He is of German and Romanian descent. He was raised for the purpose of leadership. He is also teaching Wicca and mind control.

La Vey has authored four books: THE SATANIC BIBLE, THE SATANIC RITUALS, THE COMPLETE WITCHCRAFT and the DEVIL'S NOTE BOOK ( which was released in May 1993).

Three Types of Satanism: There are the self styled, organized and dabblers. Anton La Vey is the religious organized type and the most dangerous, although many in the world would like for us to believe differently. (Note: Satan wants the world to believe that Anton La Vey and Satanists are harmless).

Methods: They work underground and are difficult to catch. They use children to do the recruiting in schools and colleges. In 1993 it was announced in the media that the Church of Satan would begin accepting enrolment from elementary and high schools.

There are women in the Church who are called breeders who are used for the purpose of producing children for leadership.

Rituals: Rituals are on Halloween and walpurgissnacht. They distribute children for these rituals by the thousands each year.

These two rituals are the most deadly. Rituals are held at night in dark black rooms with pentagrams about the altar and on the floor.

Their rituals consist of chanting, drinking blood from victims to enhance more power for themselves. They practice baptism by immersing in blood or vinegar.

Teachings: They believe in self indulgence, spiritualism, magic, astrology, satanic doctrine, mind control, vampirism, warlocks, werewolfism, and the extermination of the lower class people.

God: There is only one God: The Prince of Darkness.

Jesus Christ: They deny the reality of Jesus Christ.

Humanity: They believe in self power through the Prince of Darkness. They believe they can enter into the realm of creation to work their will upon the universe through the prince of darkness.

STRONGHOLDS IN THIS CULT

1. People are attracted to this kind of occult because they have a hunger for satisfaction, power, and wealth. Let's pray that their hunger will be for Jesus Christ.
2. The oddness of the rituals and activities are an attraction. They have a need for God under all of these activities. Let's believe that God will draw many into His Kingdom.
3. They often believe that it is too hard to follow Christ because they feel that they have to be perfect. Many cultists share this false assumption. Pray that God will bring an evangelist armed with the "good news" of the loving kindness and tenderness mercies of Jesus.
4. Power in Satan seems to be a big stronghold that keeps them in Satan's grip. They have been told that the Seal of Satan which is on them can not be removed. They fear that if they try and leave that they will die an awful death. These are controlling methods used to manipulate church members. Many cultists share this fear. Let's pray a protective covering over these people as they return to the God of their fathers and lay aside this false god which in the Devil.

Satanic Calendar

This Satanic ritual calendar is to be used to help you know when these rituals take place so you can pray against the Satanist on those days. It is to be noted that in southern California the sensational kidnapping of 5 children were grouped in the several days immediately preceding the dates when children of such age groups were required for the specific rituals each Satanic Holiday.
