Dear Reader,

Are You Ready?

The proverbial man on the street, is generally totally unaware of what is really going on behind the scenes as he is kept memorised by the pantomimes presented by main stream media! He thinks things are slowly returning to normal after the plandemic.

This is far from reality, although the enemy's timescale is not running to schedule, as many patriots have thwarted their plans. Sources say another lockdown has been set for June 6, this year or a date in July, but of course this may be delayed as well. A subscriber to this magazine, said an official notice had been placed on a UK government website warning people to stock up on food sufficient for at least 3 days!

As reported earlier in this magazine the UK is already at war with Russia, as confirmed by Andrew Bridegen MP recently in a short video clip.

Rishi Sunak stated that he did not want to be a war time PM, hence the rushed UK General Election, unusually during the holiday season. Not only that, many MPs have already resigned as writs are being prepared against them in respect of the deaths and injuries caused by the cv vaccine. The rats are deserting the ship!

Hardly noticed, is the continued attack on our food supply, with farmers being squeezed on prices and land requisitioned for building, besides the difficulty in planting this year due to flooded fields, or crops already planted rotting in the ground.

The enemy has upped the levels of contamination of food, water and the air we breathe. According to Mark Steele, an electronic warfare expert, the pulsed radiation beams emitted from radar speeding and pollution cameras have a lethal potential. Now the street lampposts have been weaponised to relay 5G and other frequencies, including arrays of cameras, LIFI from the LED lights enabling interiors of buildings to be spied upon!

Yahweh is revealing the secrets of his enemies to us, who with his Power will be overcome. Praise Yahweh!!

Continuing With The Dead Sea Scrolls and Apostle Zimmerman (Abbreviated AZ)

THE ONE PROBLEM WITH THIS CHART IS THAT THE TRUE ROOT LANGUAGE IS PALEO-HEBREW.

All European languages were brought into Europe by the descendants of Ham, Shem and Japheth.

The world of secular scholarship will eventually agree with this, once they stop believing Jewish lies.

Furthermore, AZ's (own tribesmen disagree with him. Here is a review of a book entitled "Greek Is Hebrew," by Joseph E Yahuda. Take a look: {For about 30 years, the genius Jewish researcher Joseph Ezekiel Yahuda compared 3 languages: Jewish, Arabic and Ancient Greek Homeric.

Finally, in the year 1982, in London UK, he published a 680-page book titled "Hebrew is Greek Surprisingly, most of the copies of this book have mysteriously disappeared.

They disappeared from bookstores and most libraries, leaving only very few copies available.

This scarcity gives the book the prospect to have increasing value as the years pass. It should be noted that in 2009 the book's value was about 500 USD while today, two years later, the value of this book on the Amazon online bookstore is currently 1500 USD.

After becoming familiar with the Greek language, Yahuda learned the ancient Homeric Greek. He then decided to start research to compare the relationship between the Hebrew, Arabic and ancient Greek languages. His research took him about 30 years, as he compared the three languages from many aspects and in many ways. Source:

[So, a Real Jewish scholar's work is suppressed and we are left with the wild speculations of Mr. Zimmerman! – Eli] Back to the self-proclaimed Jewish Apostle:

Aramaic & Hebrew

Biblical Aramaic (above) is closely related to the Hebrew language of Strong's Concordance as both are in the Northwest Semitic language family. Some obvious similarities are listed below.

Same Aramaic square script (which was adopted to write Hebrew in place of the Paleo-Hebrew alphabet found in earlier inscriptions). The system of vocalization used is the same for the portions of the bible written in Hebrew & those written in Aramaic.

Verb systems are based on tri-consonantal roots.
- Similar functions of the verbal conjugations. -
Nouns have three states: the absolute, construct, & emphatic. This statement only proves my point: that Aramaic and Hebrew are the parent languages of all the others! Here is the first sentence of that Wiki item cited by AZ:

This article is about the Aramaic portions of the Hebrew Bible. For the use of Aramaic in the New Testament, see Aramaic of Jesus. "Chaldaic language (misnomer)" redirects here. For other uses, see Chaldean (disambiguation).

Here is what wiki says about the "Chaldaic misnomer":

For many centuries, from at least the time of Jerome of Stridon (d. 420), Biblical Aramaic was mis-named as "Chaldean" (Chaldaic, Chaldee). That label remained common in early Aramaic studies, and persisted up to the nineteenth century.

Biblical Aramaic - Wikipedia

So, Wikipedia agrees with me that Aramaic was never "Chaldean" and that it was a misnomer to refer to Aramaic as such!!

But AZ does not quote this passage from his reference site, because it contradicts his claim that Chaldean/Assyrian is the parent of Hebrew. - Eli

The fact is that the original sacred Old Testament scriptures were translated more than once. As generations went by & as language evolved & Israel was affected by the evolution of languages and the Babylonian and Assyrian captivity, the scriptures were translated into the language of each era.

For example, the scriptures were eventually translated into Greek during the Greek & Roman Empire and then eventually into Latin during the time that the Roman Catholic Church was at its height in world domination. Eventually it was translated into German by Martin Luther who greatly persecuted the Jewish people.

Martin Luther

[What? Martin Luther persecuted the Jewish people? More nonsense from AZ! The fact is that Martin Luther was able to read Hebrew and he read the Talmud. Having read the Talmud, Luther was aghast at its obvious supremacist, anti-Christ and anti-Christian nature.

I have stated repeatedly that Judaism is the religion of the devil. AZ thinks Judaism is the religion of the OT!!! I agree with Martin Luther. The Jews are the real Christ-killers and false accusers. Hail, Martin Luther.

AZ is exposing his cluelessness about the true nature of the Jews and Judaism – or he is covering it up! – Eli]

Then eventually the bible was translated into English, but it was old English due to the language of the time. Eventually into modern English with the New King James & other modern versions. Time & evolution of languages changed the language of the bible though different eras. The same was true during the earlier eras. See Here.

The scriptures were originally written in "Old-Paleo Hebrew" (true Hebrew) then eventually translated into a Jewish {Sic – Eli} dialect of the Babylonian language of Chaldean/Aramaic. Aramaic, which is actually Assyrian, the language of Assyria & Babylon, was adopted by the Hebrews when taken captive to Assyria & Babylon. [As stated above, this is categorically untrue and historically inaccurate. – Eli]

Aramaic replaced ancient Paleo-Hebrew. [This statement, amazingly, is actually correct. Will wonders never cease? - Eli] Examine very closely any hard copy of the Strong's Concordance. Notice the "Hebrew" dictionary in the back of the book.

Notice how it says "Hebrew and Chaldean Dictionary". Then pick any page of that Hebrew/Chaldean dictionary. Any page. Look at the words on the page. Notice how it says "(Chaldean Origin)" for not just one word but several words, on every page of the old testament words!

The common claim is that the Aramaic language is used only in the books of Daniel, Ezra and a few other places in the bible. However, if you really study & examine all the facts, all of the Strong's Concordance Dictionary of "Hebrew" words are actually of the Aramaic, Babylonian, Chaldean or Assyrian languages, not true Hebrew. Chaldean was the 11th dynasty of Babylon.

Comment: The Chaldean dynasty of Babylon did not rule until very late in biblical history: from 626 to 539 BC. Hence, Chaldean language could not have been much of an influence on Hebrew.

As stated above, the true chronology of these languages is to put proto-Hebrew earlier than these other languages. "True Hebrew" can only be a reference to the dialect spoken/written by Eber and his descendants.

In addition, as already cited, the Chaldeans were latecomers to the area of Sumeria / Akkadia / Babylon. Aramaic and Hebrew therefore predate Chaldean.

Abram was a "Chaldean" because he lived in a territory which was later conquered by the West Semitic Chaldeans. However, designating Abram a "Chaldean" is actually anachronistic, in the same sense that "Ruth was a Moabitess" is anachronistic.

Abraham would have spoken a form of proto-Hebrew. Hebrew and Aramaic are sister languages. Strong's Concordance simply reflects the similarities between Chaldean and Hebrew. It does not remotely suggest that the Chaldean is primary! "Apostle" Zimmerman is adding too much spice to a glass of Chaldean beer – or, perhaps, too much Manishevitz wine in Mason jars! – Eli] Chaldean was the empire of Babylon during the Babylonian captivity of the Hebrew people. It is at that time that the original scriptures were translated into Aramaic / Babylonian / Chaldean / Syrian.

The Aramaic translation of scripture was called the Targum. Major Proof Source 1. Source 2. Source 3. The language of the Hebrew People changed from Hebrew to the Chaldean language which is actually Assyrian.

[AZ has already admitted that the original language was paleo-Hebrew. There was only One significant language transition and that was from Hebrew to Aramaic.

The Assyrian / Chaldean language has no significance in this matter at all. AZ is simply making up false history to prop up the Chabad Lubavitcher fairy tales.– Eli]

Concerning when Ptolemy of Egypt was going to translate the bible into Greek, The respected Jewish [sic, Judahite – Eli] historian, Josephus, said in his book "The Antiquities of The Jews" Book 12, Chapter 2, (page 309 in my copy which is copyright 1987 Hendrickson Publishers)

"...will cause no small pain in getting them translated into the Greek tongue:) that the character in which they are written seems to be like to that which is the proper character of the Syrians, and that its sound, when pronounced, is like to theirs also..."

[Syrian is Aramaic. By this time in history, Greek had become radically different from its proto-Hebrew inception. This is why Josephus says that such translations would be difficult. Eli]

What does "Aramaic" mean? It means "Assyrian"! Aram is just another ancient name for Syria. Aram is Aramaic or Assyrian. [Correction! It does Not mean Assyrian!

As demonstrated above, Aramaic preceded Assyrian and was later adopted by the Assyrians. Aramaic became the language of Assyria after using the Akkadian (from Sumerian) language. Akkadian used cuneiform script. It was only partially phonetic, unlike Hebrew!

Repeating the work of Douglas Petrovich cited above, Hebrew was the Very First Phonetic language. It also appears that he does not know that Syrian is the direct descendant of Aramaic and that Assyrian is not the same as Aramaic. Whatever AZ's sources, which appear to be exclusively rabbinical and otherwise non-existent, AZ is constantly making blatantly false statements about linguistic chronology. -Eli] Back to the Jewish "Apostle:"

This [website has nothing relevant to say about AZ's case. – Eli]

[Quote from this site: Aramaic eventually replaced Akkadian as the lingua franca of the entire region and became the administrative and commercial language of several empires such as the Achaemenid Empire and the Neo-Babylonian Empire.

Early on, the Christian Bible was translated into Aramaic, and by the 4th century the local Aramaic dialect of Edessa (Urhay) developed into a literary language, known as Edessan Aramaic (Urhaya). Again, there is no outside support for AZ's contention that "Assyrian" was the original language of the Hebrews. – Eli]

Site 1, Site 2. [Neither of these last two sites agree with AZ's contentions either. They are irrelevant at best, thus making his next comments even more irrelevant, if not confusing. Zimmerman is hoping that the reader will be impressed by these links, which give the impression that he is a true researcher. However, I have found that none of the links he adduces actually support his version of events. - Eli]

Therefore, Strong's concordance doesn't point to true Hebrew. It points to the Assyrian language. The Israelites adopted Chaldean (Babylonian / Aramaic / Assyrian) words & religious beliefs.

[Not true! This is a ridiculous generalization. We have repeatedly shown that AZ's Only Source for this false information about the Assyrian language is a Chabad Lubavitcher site. None of the other sites even remotely agree with his contentions. - Eli]

The word "Chaldean" means "moon" or "moon worshippers". Smith's Bible Dictionary 1878-1895 (which I personally own a copy of) on page 52 under the word "Chaldea", says that Chaldea means moon in Armenian. Armenian is another language that descended from Aramaic and is closely related to the language of the so called Hebrew of Strong's Concordance & the corrupted Babylonian translation of Holy scriptures.

[What AZ is saying here is pure nonsense. The Babylonian corruption of the original Hebrew is the Jewish Masoretic Text, which was not compiled until around 1000 AD. The Judahites who returned from Babylon used both Hebrew and Aramaic, as the priests were still able to read and write Hebrew, but the common people spoke Aramaic. This is the simple historical and biblical fact. - Eli]

If Chaldean means moon or moon worshippers, then the Chaldean language is the language of the moon worshippers. [This is probably why the rabbis of Judaism practice a Lunar Calendar! - Eli]

The word Chaldea also means Astrology or an astrologer. It is the language of wicca. Witches actually chant the letters. Something else very interesting to me is the meaning of the words following Chaldean in Strong's Concordance. The number of confirmations related to the word Chaldean is astounding!

[...but also irrelevant! - Eli] H3778 astrologer, 3779 magian, 3780 covering the flesh, 3781 axe, 3782 fall fail cast down stumble ruin, 3783 ruin fall, 3784 whisper a spell, to enchant (as to chant the 4 letters YHWH), sorcerer, witch 3785 witchcraft, 3786 witchcraft, 3787 prosper, 3788 success, 3789 to engrave to write to inscribe to record, 3790 write, 3791 something written scripture, 3792 writing, 3793 letter or other mark branded on skin, 3805 capital of a column chapter (as in the deadly head wound revelation), 3803 crown besiege restrain self, 3806 to butt or pound bray (as in the red bray horse of Revelation 6), 3807 strike, beat down to pieces break in pieces destroy stamp (as in the action of the end time Son of Perdition empire upon the whole earth).

[COMMENT: I would like to see proof of this claim that pagans use the name of Yahweh in their chants. I am not aware of any pagan group that chants the name of Yahweh. This is pure disinformation! Even if it were true, it has nothing to do with whether Yahweh is the true name or not!

Here is a post from the internet about the historical and archeological fact that Yahweh's Name was used exclusively by the Israelites and by No Other People:

Old Testament

“Word for Word” Exodus Chap. 35 - Part 30

Translation by Stephen Howard Anderson

Chapter 36

1. Then Betsaleel and Oholiyab, and every wise hearted man, in whom Yahweh had put wisdom and understanding to know how to work all manner of workmanship for the Sanctuary, did all that had commanded Yahweh.

2. And called Mosheh Betsaleel and Oholiyab, and every wise hearted man, in whose mind Yahweh had put wisdom, even every one whose heart stirred him up to come to the work to do it:

3. and they received from Mosheh all the offering, which the children of Yisrael had brought for the work of the service of the Sanctuary, to make it. And still they brought to him freewill offerings every morning.

4. And all the wise hearted men, that did all the work of the Sanctuary, all came from the work they had made;

5. And spoke they to Mosheh, saying, "The people bring much more than enough for the service of the work, which commanded Yahweh to make."

6. And commanded Mosheh, and caused they to be proclaimed throughout the camp, saying, "Let neither man nor woman make any more work for the offering of the Sanctuary." So the people were restrained from bringing.

7. For the stuff 4399 they had was sufficient for all the work to make it, and too much 3498 left over.

8. And every wise hearted man among them that did the work of the Tabernacle made ten curtains of fine linen, and blue, purple, and scarlet: with kerubiym of artistic work they all made.

9. The length of one curtain was twenty eight cubits, and the width of one curtain four cubits: the curtains were all of one size.

10. And he joined the five curtains one unto another: and the other five curtains he joined one to another.

11. And he made loops of blue on the edge of one curtain from the edge of the junction: likewise he made in the outermost side of another curtain, in the junction of the second.

12. He made fifty loops in one curtain, and he made fifty loops in the edge of the curtain which was in the junction of the second: the loops held one curtain to another.

13. And he made fifty hooks of gold, and joined the curtains to one another with the hooks: so that it became one Tabernacle.

14. And he made curtains of goat's hair for the tent over the Tabernacle: he made them eleven curtains.

15. The length of one curtain was thirty cubits, and four cubits was the width of one curtain: the eleven curtains were of one size.

16. And he joined five curtains by themselves, and six curtains by themselves.

17. And he made fifty loops on the outermost edge of the curtain in the junction, and fifty loops he made on the edge of the curtain which joins the second.

18. And he made fifty hooks of bronze to join the Tent together, that it might be one.

19. And he made a covering for the Tent of ram's skins dyed red, and a covering of [chashiym] skins from above that.

20. And he made boards for the Tabernacle of wood of Shittiyim, standing up.

21. The length of a board was ten cubits, and the width of a board one and a half cubits.

22. One board had two tenons, equally distant from one another: thus did he make all the boards for the Tabernacle.

23. And he made boards for the Tabernacle; twenty boards for the south side southward:

24. and forty bases of silver made he under the twenty boards; two bases under one board for its two tenons, and two bases under another board for its two tenons.

25. And for the other side of the Tabernacle, toward the north corner, made he twenty boards,

26. and their forty bases of silver; two bases under one board, and two bases under another board.

27. And for the seaward side of the Tabernacle made he six boards.

28. And made he two boards for the corners of the Tabernacle in the two sides.

29. And they were joined beneath, and were joined together at the top of it, to one ring: thus he did to both of them in both of the corners.

30. And there were eight boards; and their bases were sixteen bases of silver, under every board two bases.

31. And made he bars of the wood of Shittiyim; five for the boards of the one side of the Tabernacle,

32. and five bars for the boards on the other side of the Tabernacle for the seaward sides.

33. And made he the middle bar to shoot 1272 through 8432 the boards from the one end to the other.

34. And overlaid he the boards with gold, and made their rings of gold to be places for the bars, and overlaid the bars with gold.

35. And made he a veil of blue, purple, scarlet, and fine linen: made he it with kerubiyim of artistic work

36. And made he for it four pillars of wood of Shittiyim and overlaid them with gold: their hooks were of gold and cast he four bases of silver for them.

37. And made he a hanging for the door of the Tent of blue, purple, scarlet, and fine linen, of needlework;

38. and the five pillars with their hooks: and overlaid he their capitals and their fillets with gold: but their five bases were of bronze.

KING JAMES I
 (4th of Scotland)

THE KING JAMES BIBLE WAS COMMISSIONED BY THE KING IN 1603. It was completed rapidly, and published in 1611.

James’s purpose in commissioning it was to unite and extend his empire. Never was it stated that the purpose of the translation should be a dynamic and refreshing labour to recover the truths of the prophets and apostles that had been lost through the international church system.

Rushed through in just eight years, it underwent only four edits, a certain mark of inappropriate and admitted hastiness. King James demanded of it that it is “to be read in the whole Church, and no other” (Nicholson, p. 59).

Therefore, if you are not a member of what James called “the whole Church” the King James Bible is not for you. It has on its title page, in capital letters, “APPOINTED TO BE READ IN CHURCHES”.

In other words, not at home by the plough boy. And not in Puritan and other Separatist assemblies hated by the persecuting King. There exists a mural of him kneeling at the altar of initiation at the Masonic Lodge of Scoon and Perth No. 3 Lodge in Scotland. The event happened on 15 April 1601. Doubtless he would have employed ambitious fellow craft members for his translating work, rather than seeking out men with both the right ability and spirit. Just as the Edomite King Herod employed fellow Edomites in the Temple system in Jerusalem in the days of Jesus.

King James jailed Christians who rejected his Masonic Bible and his Masonic Church of England.
1601	James became a Freemason of the Lodge of Scoon.
	• James became king of England.
1603	• James persecuted Puritans and Separatists (Pilgrims) who refused to conform to the new Church of England.
	• Mason King James appointed Richard Bancroft, later George Abbot, as Archbishop of Canterbury.
1604	• King James authorized the translation of the Bible to honor himself through future generations.
1606	King James denied Puritans' request to start their own biblical church and forbade them from leaving England.
1607	King James' sheriff and bailiffs arrested and jailed the Separatists who boarded a ship for Holland, including the 17-year-old William Bradford.
1608	King James' armed officers arrested and jailed those on shore trying to leave England for Holland.
1608-1620	King James persecuted the Pilgrims in Holland. William Brewster had to go into hiding.

But more than that. King James was a beast. He blasphemed Christ in words that anger me to recall. He was a monarch of “louche sexuality”.

He was intrigued by the occult, and wrote about it. He could be foul-mouthed; was given to bouts of spectacular drunkenness; and he was extravagant and vain. He had twenty-four dishes daily brought to him for lunch (Nicholson, p. 120).

He was a persecutor of non-conformist Christians, saying he would “harry them out of the land or worse”. And he did.

He was against the life-saving acts by the midwives of Egypt who were protecting the Israelite children (Exodus Chapter 1). This was because that life-saving of God’s children was a political act of disobedience to the supreme authority of the land. King James would presumably have sided with Pharaoh. Nicholson writes: “James would have been on Herod’s side” (p. 58).

It Was Well Known King James Had a Lover Named George

George Buckingham (James lover and power behind the throne)

In the streets of London one was not unlikely to hear shouts of “Long live Queen James!” In fact, he was so open about his homosexual love affairs that an epigram was written about him:

“Rex fuit Elizabeth: nunc est regina Jacobus.” That Latin means, “Elizabeth was King: now James is Queen.”

Not only was the King a predator. He also had “a weakness for beautiful boys” (Nicholson, p. 61).

Every day a group of boys, with scrubbed faces and curled hair, perfumed and dressed in silks and lace, were brought in procession before him. When he eventually put a stop to this, he mellowed and slid into depression.

I will not repeat some of the things written by King James and about him. They are vulgar.

“Let not once been named among you ... filthiness, nor stupid talking, nor coarse jesting, which are not becoming, but, rather, a giving of thanks” (Ephesians 5:3-4). Only let it be said, he was popularly known as “Queen James”.

2. The Translators and Their Allegiance

In 1603, King James hired around 50 men to make a Bible translation. Some of these, including the chairman, were inquisitors for the King against independent non-conformist Christians who would not bow to the State, seeing them interrogated and murdered. Catholics could be hounded and dragged through the streets and cut to pieces.

Puritans and Separatists, self-regulating Christians, men and women of the spirit, were fleeing from these persecutors. King James’s translators were not men desperate to discover the truth of the prophets and apostles of God and Christ.

Years ago I came across a website article that described King James’s translators as including some brilliant scholars, but also murderers, drunkards and adulterers. The source of the information was Power and Glory, by Adam Nicolson (2003).

From Nicolson’s most wonderful book, Power and Glory, I found a number of the King’s translators were ambitious churchmen, flesh natured men of the flesh natured religion.

They included inquisitors, torturers, a debauched drunken pornographer. They were cruel, brutal, Calvinists, thieves, nepotists, purchasers of titles, ambitious, self-seeking careerists, sickly crawlers to royalty, lovers of wealth, intolerant, entirely worldly, ornamental, religious and ritualistic, haters and hunters of those with different viewpoints, especially haters of Separatists and Catholics.

They were on the whole an un-likeable and unrighteous brood. George Abbott, one of the translators, had 140 Oxford undergraduates arrested for not taking their hats off to him.

Something further from the kind nature of Jesus could hardly be imagined.

Some were also employed as inquisitors for the King, persecutors. In fact, the Pilgrim Fathers left England in order to escape persecution from some of these very men.

They were inquisitors and persecutors of those who denied the authority of the churches bishops. Such men, known as Separatists, were imprisoned, hung on chains, tortured, interrogated by the bishops, including by the chairman of the King James Bible translators, Launcelot Andrewes below, and condemned to cruel deaths, watched on by the bishops.

Catholics had to hide themselves in safe houses, crouching in chimneys and wherever they could to conceal themselves from the King's search parties. (See the poem "Crows" on page 63.)

A successful interrogation of any nonconformist was considered to be a good career move. It pleased the king. Non-conformity was Richard

Bancroft below, ruthlessly pursued Puritans which, a contemporary historian noted, "hardened the hands of his soul" (Nicholson, p. 46).

Bancroft mocked and insulted the Puritans (Nicholson, pp. 46, 74). Such was Bancroft's anger and hatred against them he even hired spies, using bribes and threats to gain access to secret meetings (a concealed spy below).

Those who refused to sign up to ritualistic conformity of the Church of England he had expelled from their ministry.

These good men, these persecuted Christians, would in time become leaders of the Pilgrim Fathers (Nicholson, p. 86). Those who failed to flee were arrested and jailed in filthy rat-infested dungeons, without straw and bedding.

An 18-year-old boy, Roger Waters, was kept hanging on chains for over a year. He was interrogated by another inquisitor from the translating team, Thomas Sparkes, who tried to convince the boy Roger Waters of his supposed offence (Nicholson, pp. 86-87). He was locked in a stinking pit that was nicknamed “Limbo”. When Bancroft began hiring translators for the King, Launcelot Andrewes, by then Dean of Westminster Abbey, was made chairman. Dean Andrewes was “bewitched by ceremony” (Nicholson, p. 27), and his fingers glittered with episcopal rings (Nicholson, p. 190). He also was a persecuting inquisitor for the king.

A man named Henoah Clapham (above) criticized Dean Andrewes, accusing him of being self-serving.

So Henoah Clapham was imprisoned, refusing to agree to the retraction composed by the furious Andrewes. Clapham was kept in prison for that.

One righteous Christian whom the inquisitors William Hutchinson and Launcelot Andrewes interrogated was Henry Barrow (below), a leading Separatist arrested in 1587.

The righteous man Henry Barrow answered from the Scriptures, with Andrewes all the time trying to trip him up, as did the Pharisees against Jesus.

Nicholson, a master of narrative, reports it: “Barrow said his imprisonment had been horrible. He had been there for three years, and the loneliness of it, the sheer sensory deprivation, the nastiness of the conditions, had sunk him deeper into depression.” And:

“Andrewes then uttered one of the most despicable remarks he ever made— Andrewes’s reply, witty, supercilious, a pastiche of the sympathetic confessor, told Barrow: ‘

You are most happy. The solitary and contemplative life I hold the most blessed life. It is the life I would choose.’ Barrow on the left (foot of previous column).

Barrow replied, “You speak philosophically, but not Christianly.” Nicholson continues: “The poor man was lonely, longing for his friends and for a sight of the sky, from which the intolerance of the state had excluded him.

Andrewes’s breathtaking insouciance continued until the last.” And: “the rising self - congratulatory confidence of the young Master of Pembroke College, prebendary of St. Paul’s, vicar of St. Giles Cripplegate, a candidate for the bishopric of Salisbury, sweeping out of the prison parlour door, with his departing quip, his patronizing flourish: could you ask for a more chilling indictment of established religion than that?” (pp. 91-92).

The righteous Henry Barrow was executed in 1593, saying, “These holy hands of mine are much more glorious than any of theirs.”

Other persecutors among the translating team – persecutors employed by the King were Hadrian à Saravia and Thomas Sparkes (Nicholson, p. 88). Hadrian à Saravia was involved in interrogating a Separatist by the name of Daniel Studley.

A favourite passage of the Separatist Christians was the command “Come out from among them, and be separate, says the Lord, and do not touch the unclean thing, and I will receive you, and be a father to you, and you shall be my sons and daughters, says the Lord Almighty” (Nicholson, p. 90). Anathema to Andrewes, Bancroft and King James.

Another in the translating team was Richard Thompson, “a drunk pornographer” (Nicholson, p. 192), and known degenerate. He was described by William Prynne as “a debosh’d English Dutchman, who seldom went one night to bed sober” (Nicholson, pp. 99-100).

In 1608 the company of Separatists set out on the Mayflower for New Plymouth, tired of the struggle of living in England and of the King and his Bible-translating persecutors. They could tolerate those men no longer.

Three years later, in 1611, the King James Bible was published. (At Hampton Court)

How much of the character of Christ did the translators display? What spiritual discernment? How could they understand that which is spiritual? In the days of the Tower of Babel, these men would have been interpreters.

It was said of Launcelot Andrewes he would have been “chief interpreter at the Tower of Babel”, the irony of that perhaps lost on such flatterers. Men of Babylon. Men with Babylonian teachings.

Four-square with the pillars of Babylon. Men to escape from. Before God comes down and destroys their tower. If the spirit was not in them, how could it ever come out of them?

It is written that spiritual things are understood spiritually, that is, by those having the spirit of God and Christ (1 Corinthians 2\14): “the natural man does not receive the things of the spirit of God, for they are foolishness to him; nor can he know them, because they are discerned spiritually”.

Those not having the spirit of Christ, Paul says, are “not his” (Romans 8\9). Not Christ’s.

Constantine Who Ruled From York, England

After Constantine’s fake conversion vision, a political conversion to “Christianity”, he had his wife Fausta suffocated in a boiling bath, and he executed his son Crispus, his brother-in-law Licinius, and Licinius’s son.

King James’s translating team saw true Christians murdered – at their own hand – by the State. Constantine’s fake conversion was in order to extend his Empire. So was King James’s commissioning of a Bible translation made in order to extend his Empire.

“You speak philosophically, but not Christianly,” the righteous man Henry Barrow said to Dean Andrewes.

What wonderful answer to a devil of the flesh. To the man of the flesh, “Spare not the rod” means to thrash a child with weapons of punishment. To the man of the spirit, “Spare not the rod” means do not fail to guide with a gentle rod of the tender Shepherd who cares for his sheep.

Ed Notes: Christopher Sparkes has done an excellent job in cleansing the KJV of its many mistranslations with his new translation, and now with the recently published “Study Companion to The Keys of The Kingdom Bible” where in the part extract published here, the author ably highlights the evil forces behind KJV project.

However, one needs to stand back, in order to see the bigger picture and join the dots, when it will be seen that the KJV Bible was part of a far greater plot to enslave the people of these Sceptred Isles.

Much happened in the 1600’s, the first being the weaponising of the English Language. The upper echelons of society at the time spoke Norman French and Latin, while ordinary people never took to speaking French or Latin, old English was very close to the German, Dutch, Friesian and Flemish tongues.

It was decided that the English language had to be improved for their plan to succeed, by adding new words with more than one meaning.

The vehicle for this would be the Shakespeare plays, which added alone more than a thousand new words to the English vocabulary and in particular the word Jew, and would eventually be added to the KJV, but not until the early 1800’s. (There was no “j” in the English language) Up to then, Jews were shunned and know as Christ killers which indeed they were!

The nobility of the time would readily sit with the lowliest of their workers but never with a Jew!

It was Frances Bacon who wrote the plays for whom Shakespeare was given credit, who was paid well for the use of his name.

The Duke of Buckingham (suspected of murdering King James I)

One can have some sympathy for King James, as he was not in control of events, it was his lover George Villiers (later Lord Buckingham) who was the power behind the throne - part of the CABAL.

While in Scotland James was cruelly treated under the reigns of Henry VIII and Elizabeth I, being locked up in Edinburgh castle and made to witness the execution of his mother Queen Mary a bit like the modern day MK-Ultra, where they break a person’s will with cruelty to make them a controllable entity!

Still more momentous events were to take place before the end of the bewitched 1600’s, there was the major calendar change where 3 months were removed, which moved the feast day corresponding to Christ’s birthday to the darkest day of the year revelled in by the heathen, and New Years Day, to January 1st when the cold starts to increase, instead of the original spring equinox which was a Sabbath.

Yahweh's times are perfect. No better day than the Spring equinox for celebrating the start of another New Year, when the temperature is rising with nature springing into new growth!!

The 1600's saw also the Beheading of Charles I and the so-called "glorious revolution" and Oliver Cromwell becoming head of state under the title of Lord Protector, during which time, against huge opposition he allowed Jews back into England, although there were some still here, well disguised!

Next followed the great plague of black death in 1664 and 1665 a spectacular comet was seen over London, a precursor to the plague and great fire of London in 1666. Before the embers of that fire had cooled down, an infamous act was passed, known as The Cestui Que Vie Act, in Norman French, as its title suggests.

Interestingly, a commenter in a London paper on the appearance of a second comet in 1665 wrote, that it was an ill omen of the coming death of the English people. He wasn't too far out, for The Cestui Que Vie Act, declared all dead or lost at sea, although not physically dead, they became legally dead, with a corporate name tagged to their Christian name. A dead entity in the eyes of the State!

According to Michael Clark, if one takes into account the calendar changes the great fire of London was another 911, the enemy's favourite date for major planned events on their timeline.

The Two Seeds of Genesis 3:15 - (Part 2) By Charles Lee Magne

REMEMBER: JESUS CHRIST ACCORDING TO TWO EYE WITNESSES, ST. MATTHEW AND ST. JOHN, identified the Jewish Pharisees of His day, as having descended from Cain by way of Satan.

Perhaps another point which might enhance your understanding of Genesis 3:15 is a more detailed Study of Satan, who was that old serpent called the devil in scripture. Please keep in mind that Satan, standing in the Garden as an angel of light, was the only other creature on earth who knew the difference between the knowledge of good and evil. Also keep in mind that this satanic angel of darkness was not classified in the realm of ordinary angels. As a part of the order of arch-Angels, Satan had powers and attributes that other angels did not have. He did not have the power of Creation but he did have the power of Procreation.

Please keep this in mind when reading your Bible. Genesis three, and in conjunction with this study please read the Book of Enoch (quoted by Jude in the New Testament) edited as I Enoch by R. H. The Ante-Nicene Fathers, Volume I, Wm. B. Erdmans Publishing Company, Grand Rapids, Michigan, containing the writings of the Fathers down to A.D. 325.

"Flee, therefore, those evil offshoots (of Satan) which produce death-bearing fruit. These men are not the planting of the Father, but are an accused brood. And says the Lord, 'Let every plant which my heavenly Father has not planted be rooted up. For if they had been branches of the Father, they would not have been 'enemies of the cross of glory.' But now, by denying the cross, and being ashamed of the passion, they cover the transgression of the Jews, those fighters against God, those murderers of the Lord; for it were too little to style them merely murderers of the prophets. Keep yourselves, then, from those evil plants which Jesus Christ does not tend, but that wild beast, the destroyer of men, because they are not the planting of the father, but the seed of the wicked one."

Harold Stough Notes A Questionnaire Produced By His Father For an American Magazine

Your Answer Please!
By Dr. Henry W. Slough

THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS WERE FIRST PROPOUNDED TO A FUTURIST PRE-MILLENARIAN RADIO PREACHER in the U.S.A. and were prompted by his threat to attack the teaching that the Ten Tribes of Israel, the present Anglo-Saxon-Celtic nations, not Jews, are the nations through whom the prophecies of national restoration are to be fulfilled. Although these questions were asked several years ago, no reply as yet has been received.

1. Do you teach that Abraham was a Jew?

If so, how do you distinguish between him and the descendants of Ishmael, the modern Arabs? Also those sons of Keturah and his concubines mentioned in Genesis 2,5:1-5?

2. Do you teach that Isaac was a Jew? If so, how do you distinguish between him and the descendants of Esau, the modern Turks? Are they, also Jews?

3. Do you teach that Jacob was a Jew? If so, how do you account for the fact that Jacob had twelve sons born of four different mothers, thus making them in many cases half brothers? What would you say of Joseph's sons who became tribes and who were born of an Egyptian mother? Was not Judah, the father of the Jews, but one son of the number? How, tribally, could all have been merged into him by, any law of consanguinity or hereditary absorption?

4. In your teaching do you distinguish between the "birthright" Jacob bought from Esau and the "blessing" he stole from Esau by deceiving his father? Just, what do you understand to have been meant by, each?

5. How do you explain the statement in 1 Chronicles 5:1-2, Of him (Judah) came the chief ruler; but the birthright was Joseph's . . . and the genealogy is not to be reckoned after the birthright?

6. When Jacob blessed the twelve sons, each of whom received his portion, did he mean that ultimately these blessings of every character were to go to Judah? If so, why did he give a particular blessing to Judah as if he were to have but his own? Genesis 49.

7. just what did Jacob mean when he adopted the two half-breed sons, Ephraim and Manasseh, into his family by crossing his hands and giving the younger this blessing --- His seed shall become a multitude of nations, and to the elder --- He also shall become a people and he shall be great? (Genesis 48:19) Did all these blessings go to Judah? If so, how could the Jews ever become a "great nation" and a "multitude" also?

8. Just what "blessing" was Jacob struggling for at Jabbok's ford? What is the Hebrew meaning of "Israel"? Define from the Hebrew usage the word Goy (goy) and Goyim. The original Hebrew words for Gentiles.

9. If no distinction is to be made between the two-tribed Kingdom of Israel, how does it come in Ezekiel's vision of the "two sticks" (Chapter 37), the prophet definitely states that the stick was to be inscribed "Judah, and for the children of Israel his companions" and the other "Joseph, the stick of Ephraim, and for all the house of Israel his companions"?

10. Do you distinguish between the prophets who wrote to Judah and those who wrote to Israel? If so, do you teach that these particular prophecies are to be fulfilled in each?

11. Do you teach that all the tribes returned under Ezra and Nehemiah from Babylon? If so, when did they get together, since they went into captivity more than one hundred years apart, Israel going to Assyria about 721 B.C., Judah going to Babylon about 604 B.C., and in widely separated territories?

12. If so, how does it come that Zechariah 10:6-9), who wrote eighteen years after the Jews had returned, said, I will strengthen the house of Judah, and I will save the house of Joseph, and I will bring them again to place them:—and they shall remember me in far countries?

13. How does it happen that Josephus in four places in his "Antiquities," written in A.D. 70, limits the return to Judah and Benjamin with a number of Levites?

14. How does it come that II Esdras (written by Ezra) states that a large number escaped from Assyria into Europe arriving after a year and a half at Arsareth near the Black Sea (11 Esdras 13:40--16)?

15. How does it come that 11 Kings 17:23, written by Ezra, after the Babylonian return says, So was Israel carried out of their own land to Assyria unto this day, that is, up to the time the book was written?

16. How does it come that in the genealogical lists of Ezra you have only those of Judah and Benjamin? Would you not expect that those of the other tribes would be included if they returned with Judah?

17. When was the word "Jew" first used in the Bible? (11 Kings 16:5-7) By whom? Does the word "Jew" occur as such in the original Hebrew and Greek? Do you distinguish between the national and tribal use of the word in your teaching?

18. If the Bible is careful to distinguish the history of the two kingdoms in the historical books, do you not think it would be equally careful in distinguishing between the two in the prophetic books?

19. If the prophecy of Daniel 2:44 is to be fulfilled in the church——, as you teach, is a "mystery hidden," how could it state it was a "kingdom" which "God of heaven set up—in the days of these kings," i.e., during the progress of these four kingdoms another kingdom was set up? Would you not say that the use of the word must have been identical in each case?

20. How then, if it were set up at the same period of the Gentile times, could it be the church or anything else than another government which would crush the image?

21. What did Jesus mean when He said in Matthew 21:43, The Kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof? Has the church ever been a nation? Did the Roman Empire bring forth the fruits thereof?

22. just what did Jesus mean when He said, I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel (Matthew 15:24)? Who were those mentioned by the Jews in John 7:35? Who had Peter and James in mind when they addressed their letters to the 'Diaspora'?"

THE 12 TRIBES OF ISRAEL

- Reuben   ■ Judah   ■ Naphtali   ■ Issachar   ■ Zebulun
- Simeon   ■ Dan   ■ Gad   ■ Asher   ■ Benjamin
- Ephraim   ■ Manasseh

23. If the settlement of Palestine is finally to be made by the Jews, how does it come that Ezekiel allots a portion to each tribe?

24. How does it come that the sealed of Revelation have an equal number for each of the twelve tribes? Are they not distinguished in each of these cases?

25. How, then, can Judah include all when again Judah is distinguished in the Millennial Age as simply one of the tribes?

26. Just what do you understand to be the restitution of all things as mentioned by Peter in Acts 3:21 and what connection does this statement have to do with verse 2.5 in his reference to the "covenant"?"

27. What did the disciples have in mind when they asked Jesus, Wilt thou at this time restore the kingdom to Israel? When they had heard Him say some time before to the Jews, The kingdom shall be taken from you and given to (another) nation? Could they have meant Jews when He had clearly stated that their house was left unto them desolate.

28. Did anybody commit the unpardonable sin when Jesus first disclosed the meaning of this terrible sin? If so, who was it?

These are some of the questions which I have been compelled to ask and answer. Since you and I are public teachers, it is of vital importance that we really do what we so often tell the people we are doing —“rightly dividing the word of truth.”

I try to remind myself of the famous Dr. Paley's statement --- "There is a principle which is a bar against all information, which is proof against all argument, and which cannot fail to keep a man in everlasting ignorance. That principle is, contempt prior to examination."

May I prayerfully ask you to go over each and every one of these questions with the bible and an open mind?

Great Tartaria (Part 6)

Its History and Recent Destruction of the Most Advanced Civilisation Ever

By James W Lee

North America Moors Elimination and Rewriting of American His-Story (Credit to Marcia Romalho at The Blue on Face Book)

Mexico were known as India Superior and were populated by the same people that was wiped out across the ocean during the Russian Revolution (1917), and German Revolution of 1918-1919. The Russian Revolution alone may have exterminated a 5 decade long bloodbath that slaugh-

The territories of Canada, United States and tered 100 million Russian Tartarians. As the Old World Order Tartarians were eliminated the New World Order Romanov's then divided the Imperial territory as Canadian, American and Mexican lands, seized the world power and rewrote the history of Americas.

After take possession of Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, the NWO agents reached New Amsterdam (actual New York), Washington and the Great Lakes of North America, settling in Milwaukee, Chicago and Detroit.

From there, they organized the massacre of tens of millions of buffaloes, cows and wild horses and transformed the assembly lines of the electric car factories into oil cars. Because it was necessary swept away all the fertile lands from its original inhabitants. It was then that the massacre of men and animals began.

The NWO ordered the 'native Indians', (remember, Christopher Columbus was such a great navigator that he thought he landed in India, hence "American Indians" were named!), to leave their lands and march without water or food for days we know as the Trail of Tears.

The aim was to exterminate them, without spending ammunition. Others were killed on their own land through blankets impregnated with smallpox. Perhaps many of them went to feed Chicago's meat industries, mixed with those of their herds. According to the Игорь Шкурин essay in Tartaria-Info, "approximately 50,000 people worked in the slaughterhouses and about 1,200 animals were slaughtered per hour".

By this time, all factories, industries and properties had already changed hands and would slowly be brought together into future corporations. Sugar, beer, cotton, alcohol, corn, weapons, banks, paper money, oil companies, casinos, financial services, vehicles, railways, corporate facilities, health system, airplanes, grocery stores, education and research, cement, copper, steel, tourism, information technology, energy, gold, diamonds, bomber planes.

In the South, where there had never been segregation, slaves or "Black subordination" before, the carnage was equally total. What the Official History reports as a "reconciliation between the North and the South after the Civil War" never existed.

The massacre was necessary so that the NWO could take over all the lands and retell the history, concealing the destruction and remitting it to a remote past.

Legends like Mark Twain (above) then would emerge, signing novels that would describe a racism (non-existent) through the eyes of Tom Sawyer and beautiful (real) balloon rides in the adventures of Huckleberry Finn.

The Original American Moors Were Likely Islamic

Islam was in America and had a big influence on America, because you have a total of 565 names, 484 in America and 81 in Canada, of villages, towns, cities, mountains, lakes, rivers and etcetera, are etymologically Arabic; which were designated by locals long before the arrival of Columbus.

Medina Court House USA

Many of these names are in fact the same as names of Islamic places; Mecca in Indiana, Medina in Idaho, Medina in New York, Medina and Hazen in North Dakota, Medina in Ohio, Medina in Tennessee, Medina in Texas, Medina and Arva in Ontario, Mahomet in Illinois and Mona in Utah, are just a few noticeable names at the outset.

A closer analysis of the names of native tribes will immediately reveal their Arabic etymological ancestry; Anasazi, Apache, Arawak, Arikana, Chavin, Cherokee, Cree, Hohokam, Hupa, Hopi, Makkah, Mohician, Mohawk, Nazca, Zulu, and Zuni are only a few. Islam was everywhere in the Americas.

One just has to look for it, because you can see the evidence from Queen Califia (California), to Allah-Bumya (Alabama), to Tallah Hasse (Tallahassee), to Medina Ohio, to Moorestown New Jersey, to Islamorada Florida, and to Al-hambra California; so yes, Moslems have left a big impact on America.

What happen to the Berbers/Saracens (Moslems) of the Americas? Well, have you ever heard of the Spanish Inquisition, via, the Dum Diversas of 1452, issued by the Pope, authorizing Christians to enslave Saracens and non-believers and to take their lands, because no one disappeared? It's just that everyone has become ignorant.

There are over 500 cities and towns in UNITED STATES named after Muslims and a huge part of Europe as well. The textbooks, History (His-Story), and education of today are all manipulated; therefore, Western Academics will not get us out of our deep sleep, because Western Academics is the Institution that has put We the People (Lenape Muurs/Washitaw) to sleep to begin with.

We need our own Institutions and scholars that are not compromised by Oaths and by Western Academics.

The Moor comes from the Orient (the far East): What's also interesting is that "Oriental means Western Scholar who Studies Islam," according to the book, "Orientalism," by Edward Said. Islam came from the Orient. Additionally, if you read subsection 4 of this Delaware Law it will tell you that the Lenape Indians were formerly known as Moors: The Lenape were Delaware Muurs/Moors, originally. However, the word Lenape means "We the People" (the Preamble of the US Constitution), or "True People."

Lenape also means Serpent / dragon (Naga / Nigga). Likewise, Indian names like Sioux and Dakota also mean serpent or Dragon, because the Muurs/Indians named themselves after the Serpent wisdom that they worshipped when Muurs ruled the world: But where does Islam come from?

Did it come from Mecca California, Media Indiana, Mecca Indiana, or Morocco Indiana? Did it come from Sufism (Sophia), which was a science that comes from India? Do all religions come from India Superior in the Americas?

The Habsburgs

Now, in the eyes of the Hijack Hebrews (Templars), aka, the Holy Roman Empire, the Habsburg Dynasty, the Holy Land was in possession of infidels, aka, Moslems (Muurs); therefore, they were authorized, via, the Dum diversas of 1452 to take Moslem Jerusalem (the Americas / Granda) away from the Muurs, whom were Saracens.

cause the pomegranate appears throughout the streets of Granada in Spain, as you wander around the city.

Dum Diversas - Issued by Pope Nicholas V

Also, read the Dum Diversas, which authorized the Templars (knights of Christ) to conquer Saracens and pagans, take their possessions, and to subject them to perpetual servitude (slavery).

This papal Bull and none of them were ever rescinded, which is the current problem that Muurs in the Americas face, as Saracens, whom are the Red Ones, aka, the lost Tribe of Israel. This papal Bull was issued against the Muurs, as Saracens, in order to take our Moslem-Jerusalem away from us, which was Granada.

Notice on the 1597 map of Granada Nova, you will see the famed seven cities of cibola, aka, the seven cities of gold, surrounding a lake on the said map. Granada has the same name as the Pomegranate in Spanish.

The Pomegranate is also associated with the promise land of Israel, because a pomegranate is a metaphor for the richness of the promised land of Israel (Deut. 8:8); in the Song of Solomon, Sulamith's cheeks are compared to halves of a pomegranate (Cant. 4: 3).

Why were all of the Corn Places destroyed, except for the First Corn palace in South Dakota (dragon/serpent), which still exists?

Well, because the buildings did not fit in with the current narrative of the Americas being a uncivilized, New World, so most of the old world, pre-mud flood, buildings were either destroyed or converted into federal buildings, courthouses, Governor's mansion, Capital buildings, post offices, state buildings, Universities, and etc.

Freemasonry also means, "the masonry that was free," because all Europeans had to do was dig out these Moorish/ Tartarian structures from the mud after the great comet of 1811-1812, had completely destroyed the Old World Order, via, massive earthquakes, massive tidal waves, massive Volcano eruptions, a great mud flood, and etc.

The Spanish word for the fruit is Granada and therefore the symbol of the promise land, be-

The Invisible Rainbow (Part 3) Suspended Animation By Arthur Firstenberg

EGON LORENZ, AT THE NATIONAL CANCER INSTITUTE, exposed mice to gamma rays—one-tenth of a roentgen per eight-hour day—beginning at one month of age and for the rest of their lives.

The irradiated females lived just as long, and the irradiated males one hundred days longer, than the un-irradiated animals. But the irradiated mice developed many more lymphomas, leukemias, and lung, breast, ovarian, and other types of cancers.

Even extremely low doses of radiation will both injure and extend life span. Mice exposed to only 7 centig rays per year of gamma radiation—only 20 times higher than background radiation—had their lives extended by an average of 125 days. 20 Human fibroblasts, exposed in cell culture once for only six hours to the same level of gamma rays that is received by astronauts in space, or during certain medical exams, lived longer than unexposed cells.

Human embryo cells exposed to very low dose X-rays for ten hours a day had their life spans increased by 14 to 35 percent, although most of the cells also suffered several kinds of damage to their chromosomes.

Modern medicine can take some but not all of the credit for the modern increase in the average human life span. For that increase began a century before the discovery of antibiotics, in a time when doctors still bled their patients and dosed them with medicines containing lead, mercury, and arsenic.

But medicine can take none of the credit for the modern extension of the maximum human life span. For medicine still does not pretend to understand the aging process, and only a tiny minority of doctors are even beginning to try to do anything to reverse aging. Yet the maximum age at death, worldwide, has been steadily rising.

Sweden has the most accurate and longest continuous records on the extreme limits of human age of any country, dating back to 1861.

They reveal that the recorded maximum age at death was 100.5 years in 1861, that it rose gradually but steadily until 1969, when it was 105.5 years, and that it has risen more than twice as fast since then, reaching 109 years by the turn of the twenty-first century.

In 1969, the trends in both Swedish longevity and Swedish cancer accelerated. It was the year colour TV and UHF-TV were introduced into the country (see chapter 13).

In 1994, Väinö Kannisto, former United Nations advisor on demographic and social statistics, showed that the number of people living more than one hundred years was increasing spectacularly in the twenty-eight countries for which good data existed.

The number of centenarians in Sweden had risen from 46 in 1950 to 579 in 1990. During the same period, the number of centenarians had risen from 17 to 325 in Denmark; from 4 to 141 in Finland; from 265 to 4,042 in England and Wales; from 198 to 3,853 in France; from 53 to 2,528 in West Germany; from 104 to 2,047 in Italy; from 126 to 3,126 in Japan; from 14 to 196 in New Zealand.

The number of centenarians in all these countries, roughly doubling every ten years, had far outraced the increase in population.

Even in Okinawa, long known for its longevity, there lived only a single person over one hundred years old as late as 1960. In Japan as a whole, noted Kagawa in 1978, the number of male centenarians had quadrupled in only 25 years, while the number of female centenarians had sextupled.

And yet he observed, in middle-aged Japanese, almost a doubling in the rates of breast cancer and colon cancer, a tripling of lung cancer, a 40 percent rise in heart disease, and an 80 percent rise in diabetes: “extended life expectancy but increased diseases.”

The explanation for both phenomena is electricity—electricity that travels through wires as well as earth, that radiates through air as well as bones. We are all, to an extent that has been intensifying for one hundred and sixty years, in a mild state of suspended animation. We live longer, but are less alive, than our ancestors.

King Arthur & Conspiracy Against True British History How Alan Wilson and Baram Blackett's Endeavours to Uncover The True British History Have Been Thwarted By A USA Correspondent

Chapter 1 The Identity of the Khumry Misnamed "Welsh"

THERE ARE NO CELTIC PEOPLE IN BRITAIN, AND THERE NEVER EVER WERE ANY CELTIC PEOPLE IN BRITAIN.

If the ancient British were "Celtic" then All ancient British History is wrong, and as the British Histories can be very substantially proven to be correct then the "Celtic" myth that was invented in AD 1714 is yet another vast deception and fraud. There are no other words for this.

The false idea that the Khumry, the Scots, and the Irish are Celts, is an Anglo-Saxon politically and religiously motivated invention, designed to destroy the ancient Histories and to conceal truthful Historical Facts that are unpleasant for the propaganda of Rome and London.

The ancient Khumry people were known to the Assyrian Great Kings and Emperors as the Khumry – Ten Tribes of Israel. This is the fact, and the one million strong Khumry never got lost as they always knew who they were and where they were.

In Britain the Khumry always claimed to be the Ten Tribes, that is before London began to dominate and seized control of 'education' or should one say mis-education.

The invaluable Ancient British Alphabet assists in the accurate tracing of our British ancestors by following the Alphabet inscriptions trail along the migration trail.

These Khumry people were subjected to mass deportations from Israel by successive the Assyrian Emperors Tiglathpileser III, Shalmaneser IV, Sargon II, and Sennacherib between 740 -702 BC. Their Alphabet is found on baked clay tablet texts excavated at the Assyrian imperial city of Nineveh.

When Sennacherib (above) was murdered in a temple by two of his sons a civil war erupted in Assyria as the heir Esarhaddon fought the murderers who were two of his half brothers. The Khumry Ten Tribe people seized the opportunity and took off from western Armenia going west across both branches of the Upper Euphrates river and through the Taurus mountain range.

This is well described in Esdras Book II, Chapter

14. The Assyrians persuaded their northern allies the Scythians to pursue the Khumric Ten Tribes and battles ensued as the Khumry moved westwards.

In Asia Minor the Khumry were known to the Greeks as the Kimmeroi and the Kimmerians, and by 650 BC their unstoppable hordes had reached the Dardanelles and besieged the capital city of Sardis. Half the people then migrated to Etruria–Italy, and the other half remained in known named places until in c 504 BC when after continuous Greek pressure they allied with the Trojan remnants under Brutus to gain an opportunity.

The Khumry then assembled with the Trojans on the Isle of Lemnos to sail for Britain, and this British History is proved by the existence of a large inscribed stone written in the Ancient British Coelbren Alphabet that was found in Lemnos in AD 1876 that is now in the Athens Museum.

Greek Histories match the British history and so the long journey of the Khumry-Ten Tribes ended. Some remnants of the Khumry remained in western Asia Minor, and the sum of their migrations is:-

- 1 Leaving Egypt under Moses around 1360 BC

- 2 Settling in old Canaan and being uprooted and deported north to Armenia by the Assyrians around 740-702 BC

- 3 Migrating westwards through the Taurus Mountain range in 687 BC and all across Asia Minor to reach the Dardanelles by 650 BC

- 4 Half the people migrate to Italy

- 5 In 504 BC the remainder gather on Lemnos Island with the Trojans and sail their fleets to Britain. On the way they pick up three other groups of migrants who would include the Cornish under Corineus, and probably the Hwiccae of Worcestershire

The Khumry (miscalled “Welsh”) retained their same ancient Language and their same Ancient Alphabet, and all the anti-British propoganda that has endlessly streamed out of Rome and London for centuries will not obliterate that fact. The huge scatter of ancient texts inscribed in this Khumric Alphabet and Language proves ancient British History to be absolutely correct.

NATURE IN HER INFINITE WISDOM HAS PUT THE HIGHEST PREMIUM ON SURVIVAL OF THE SPECIES. In her profuse variety Nature has brought forth creatures of all kinds, fish and fowl, animal and vegetable, insect and meadows. Others like the coyote, the wolf and the tiger are predatory.

Other creatures like cockroaches, mosquitoes and maggots are parasitic. Each creature has its means of existence and survival and its means of perpetuating its species. In all, the will to live and perpetuate its own kind is intensely strong. If it were not, the species would soon have died out.

Some creatures like the cardinal and bluebird are beautiful to behold. Others like the scorpion fish and the lizard are not. Some creatures are flesh eating. Others are herbivorous. Some animals, like cows, forage on the grass of the

In the human species there is one race that stands out above all others in the intensity and fierceness in its will to survive— that is the jewish race. How this one race has survived and stayed intact through all the convulsions and upheavals of history for 5,000 years is something remarkable to behold. Whereas some of the ancient races of recorded history such as the Babylonians, the Romans, the Phoenicians, the Egyptians, as a race, have all gone down the sinkhole of history—the Jew has survived. Not only has he survived, but he has become the slave-master of all the other races of the world, although he only numbers a small percentage of the world’s population.

Whereas the glorious White Race has been a builder, explorer and creator of civilizations, of governments and nations, the Jew has been none of these. On the contrary, he has been the very antithesis of the noble White Man.

Throughout his history, which goes back more than 5,000 years, during which he has remained united as a race, the Jew has been the parasite and predator on the backs of those nations who have been his unwilling hosts.

The Jew has never been a creator, nor a builder, nor a producer, like the members of the White Race. On the contrary, he has been a destroyer of civilizations, a plunderer of nations, and a killer who invented the very idea of genocide in the earliest stages of his own history.

All we have to do is read their own Old Testament to find that in page after page after page they slew, killed and plundered one tribe after another. One nation after another was put to the sword, man, woman and child.

Yes, indeed, the Jews are a blood-thirsty race. They have survived over a long period of time, although they have been scattered throughout the other nations of the world. They have been a plague on the body of mankind from the earliest dawn of recorded history.

Nor has that plague abated in modern times. In fact, today it is more deadly than ever, and since we, the White Race, are the chief target and the chief victims marked for destruction, it behoves us to take a close look, and study our destroyer. It is a fascinating and horror-filled history.

It is an ugly story. But study it we must, and understand it we must, if we are to extricate ourselves from our plight and fulfill the obligation that Nature has placed upon us: namely, the survival of our very own species, the noblest creation on the face of the earth: the White Race.

The history of mankind is filled with wars and conflict, but of all the conflicts that have ensued between the different nations and the different races, there is only one race that has aroused the most violent antagonisms no matter where they settled—that race is the Jewish race.

Throughout all the turmoil of history and all the wars, conflicts and massacres, sooner or later the two conflicting parties settled down and either reconciled their differences, and lived peacefully together, or they went elsewhere to live. Not so with the Jews, however.

The Jew has never been reconciled with the host nation upon whose back he feeds. Nor have the jews peacefully migrated to other countries. The history of the jews demonstrates two things: first, that there has never been a reconciliation between them and their hosts, and second, that no nation has ever succeeded in barring them permanently.

Furthermore, as the jews bored into their host nations and became more and more reprehensible and intolerable, the host nation generally has turned on them and tried to expel them from their national body.

However, in no case has a victimized nation been successful in expelling them permanently. In fact, it is surprising that in every case where jews were expelled from a nation, often under conditions of humiliation and suffering, within a few years the jews have returned.

Not only have they usually returned, but they then set about with increased viciousness to destroy the host nation upon whom they had previously fed like a parasite. The jews have since time immemorial been culture destroyers and civilization destroyers. The jewish problem has been on the back of all nations for at least the past 5,000 years.

Roman Civilisation

Whereas the White Race, with its creativity and restless energy, has moved to the various areas of the world and created civilizations, the jew invariably followed, bored into their very vitals and sooner or later destroyed those civilizations. They helped to destroy the Egyptian civilization, the Greek civilization, and were the prime cause in the destruction of the great Roman civilization.

When Europe slowly again picked up the threads of civilization from Rome, the jew was already there and has lain like a cancer upon the body of Europe from the time of the Romans.

However, the main centre of power of the jewish world-wide conspiracy now resides in the New World. In fact, in New York is the largest centre of jewish population in the world, and New York is the central financial powerhouse, not only of the United States, but also the rest of the world.

New York

Since the United States is now also the last great stronghold of the White Race, it is the untiring and current goal of the jew to not only destroy the United States as a country, but to destroy White America, mongrelise it, and pump the black blood of Africa into the veins of White America.

Why is it that the jewish race has survived through all the upheavals of over 5,000 years of history, whereas more powerful races like the Romans have perished? Is it because the jew is tough? We find that the jew is tough, but other races, such as the Romans, have been even tougher and they have not survived.

Is it because he is a good fighter? No, he is, in fact, a physical coward and in open combat he is certainly one of the lesser and more cowardly warriors. Is it because he is more treacherous and deceitful? Perhaps, since in this characteristic he undoubtedly excels all other peoples. But this is not the sole reason why he has survived either. The reason for his survival lies in his unique religion.

Early in their history the jews realized the tremendous potency of religion as a weapon—a weapon to either unite their own race, or a weapon to disintegrate and destroy their enemies.

For thousands of years they have capitalized upon this knowledge to the hilt. In a masterful fashion, they have manipulated religion to their advantage with a devilish cunning that no other people seems to have even suspected— least of all the White Race.

If we could briefly look at the wars between Rome and Carthage, and the brief siege and destruction of Jerusalem during the rise and expansion of the Roman Empire (above), I think we can find the answer to the Jews' survival.

As Roman power increased and expanded, it was inevitable that it should soon come into conflict with the increasing power of Carthage. For over 100 years these two great rival powers fought battles of attrition and annihilation.

Finally Rome emerged the victor, and when they had Carthage at its mercy, they levelled the city, killed all the male population and sold the women and children into slavery. Carthage was no more. It was gone forever.

Now let us contrast this with what happened to Jerusalem in the year 70 A.D.

During the rule of Emperor Vespasian, the jews in Judea became rebellious. Emperor Vespasian sent General Titus down there and after a 139-day siege of Jerusalem, the city was sacked, levelled to the ground, and the jews were either killed or dispersed. It would seem that in a fate similar to that of Carthage (above), this would be the end of the jews, But not so.

The jews had one extraordinary thing going for them: and that was the unique religion that bound their race together. Far from being destroyed, the jews in their cunning and resourcefulness, with their religion uniting and binding them together, planned revenge on the Romans. And revenge they did get. They inflicted on the Romans a religion that undermined the will of the Romans to survive as a race and as a nation.

With tremendous zeal the jews propagated among the Romans a new religion with such suicidal ideas as “turn the other cheek, love your enemies, resist not evil” and other self-destructive philosophies that sapped the strength of the Romans and left them naked and defenceless before their enemies.

In a few centuries the great Roman civilization completely disintegrated and was defenceless against the marauding vandals (above) who finally sacked Rome in the year 476 A.D. and Rome was no more.

However, with his tenacity and zeal for preserving the Jewish race as embodied in his fanatic religion, the Jew did not go down with Rome.

No, on the contrary, he fed on the corpse and went from the Roman corpse to scatter and infect the incipient and growing new cultures that were emerging in Western Europe, cultures and civilizations that were blighted from the very beginning with the handicap of the new religion with which the Jew had destroyed Rome.

It is true that the Jew is tough. He is cunning and he is treacherous. He is also tenacious and he is persistent. All these qualities fit him well to be the foremost predator and parasite on the body of mankind. But even with all these qualities he would not have survived had it not been for his Mosaic religion.

It is the basic ingredients of his religion that bind him together in a holy brotherhood hostile to all mankind, striving, pushing, clawing, always and forever for the good of his race, for the survival of his race, and exhibiting in its raw form one of the strongest laws of Nature: the propagation and survival of its own species.

The Jews learned one other significant fact early in their history: There is nothing as powerful in uniting a group (any group) as having a common enemy. Based on this premise, they have seen to it that they have always been at war with other races.

In fact, all other peoples are their enemies at all times. It is only a matter of strategy as to who is the prime enemy at any given time.

This theory has worked wonders. It has kept the Jews united and fighting. Their solidarity has destroyed all enemies before them. It is destroying the White Race today.

The central theme of the Jewish religion is hatred, hatred for the Gentiles, that is all other races. The other overwhelmingly powerful facet of the Jewish religion is racial loyalty, loyalty to its own kind.

Whereas to the average White Gentile, sadly enough, it matters very little with whom he does business, whether it is another White Man or not.

Nor is the average White Gentile too interested in whether the person next door or the person he meets is one of his own kind. But to a Jew, whether he is doing business with a Jew, living next door to a Jew, or meets a Jew, this means everything. Let us keep this in mind, this factor of racial loyalty, as we go about searching for a better religion for the White Race.

That the Judaic religion has been the rock of strength around which the Jewish race has rallied for the last 5,000 years is without question. The Jews do not believe in God nor are they foolish enough to put their efforts or beliefs centred in a hereafter.

Golda Meir (Below), the present Prime Minister of Israel, stated succinctly when she said in her speech from the Knesset, the Israel Parliament in Yiddish, "I am a non-believer, yet no one will be able to root from the heart and mind the conviction that without the Jewish religion we would have been like all other nations, who once existed and disappeared."

From the earliest glimmerings of childhood the Jewish parents inculcate into their offspring the idea of racial loyalty, the idea that the survival of the Jewish race is everything, the idea that all other peoples are their enemies to be either exploited or destroyed. But interwoven through all this fantasy the idea of racial survival is driven into their brains, advice on how to survive. It and the Talmud are full of advice and wisdom binding the Jewish race together in an indestructible unit of purpose.

When the Jews poured into the Roman civilization and finally destroyed it with the new suicidal religion they foisted upon the Romans, they then pictured the Romans as being cruel, degenerate and immoral. Even to this day, the Jewish movies coming out of Hollywood depict the Romans as a debauched and degenerate people.

Even lying Jewish propagandists like Billy Graham perpetually denounce the Romans as cruel, debauched and tyrannical. Another terrible Jewish lie.

Having chosen to play the role of a parasite far back in their history, the die is now long cast and they can do no other than to roam the civilized world seeking any spot where they can settle down in the midst of an established community, where they can remain and prosper at the expense of others.

As a parasitic people the Jews can only survive by living on that which others produce. When they come into a community they bring nothing with them but their cunning and their treachery. The Jew knows when he enters the Gentile community that sooner or later he will be discovered and there will be violence and retribution. The thing the Jew fears more than anything else is open detection and the ensuing physical violence.

One of his phrases throughout the centuries has been “Oy, gewalt!” This old Yiddish phrase translates “Oh, violence.”

Knowing that his parasitic activities of fleecing, robbing and plundering the Gentile community will eventually result in violence against his person, he prepares for it in advance..

In this respect the Jew is very similar to other parasitic creatures of Nature. When a wood tick crawls up the leg of an individual he does so very stealthily and usually completely unnoticed. The wood tick is searching for an appropriate place on the body of the host he can dig into and suck its blood for its own nourishment.

The wood tick knows that when he digs in, normally it would be painful to the host, therefore attract its attention and result in its being picked off and destroyed. But the wood tick has a remedy for this. Before digging in he carefully anaesthetizes the skin surface of the victim’s host.

Having done this, it then carefully begins to chew and suck, all this time anaesthetizing the area so that the host will feel no pain. Meanwhile, the head bores in deeper and deeper and the parasite begins to bloat itself on the blood of its victim without the host having felt any pain whatsoever, or even being aware of its presence.

By the time the victim finally discovers the tick, it is thoroughly rooted into its flesh. The host is no longer in a position to remove it without causing pain and infection to himself and the death and destruction of the parasitic tick. Even though the victim now tries to remove the parasite, he cannot do so.

He can pull off the bloated body and destroy part of the tick but the head will remain embedded and cause infection and perhaps blood poisoning. At this stage it becomes a major operation to remove the infectious tick, which he could have easily flicked off with a finger at the beginning, had he realized that the parasite had designs upon his blood. The parasitic operation of the jew upon the body of his unfortunate host is very similar.

Being a non-productive parasite, the jew has less than nothing to offer to the host community or nation which he enters and into which forthwith he begins to sink deep his tentacles. Remember the title of this chapter that the jews are masters of deceit.

His main commodity is deceit and lies on a massive scale. Having chosen to be a professional parasite, this characteristic is now so deeply and instinctively ingrained in his very nature that he knows by instinct what he must do to protect himself and what the weaknesses of his Gentile host are.

He therefore chooses to concentrate on all the nerve centres of power in his productive and creative host. In short order, he has control of the main functions that determine the destiny and welfare of a people and a nation.

The jew does not farm, he does not labour in the fields, he does not work in the factories. He concentrates on placing himself in control of the money of a nation, of the news media of that country, of its educational facilities, and of its government.

He labours diligently and skillfully to manipulate, confuse and confound the minds of his victims. Like the wood tick, he anaesthetizes the brain of the Gentile nation in whose midst he has settled. He sinks his tentacles deep and prepares to counter any efforts to dislodge him.

Since the jews have had such a deadly impact upon the White civilizations over the last several thousand years, it behoves us to study intensely the nature of our Nemesis. It is also fundamental to our survival to develop a cure for this plague.

Russia Paints New Military Insignia on Invading Force – Same Symbol Used in Past Wars against . . . Khazaria

Sir ____, Caveat: As it says in the book, The Art of War, ‘all war is deception’, so take any and all reports with a grain of salt.

Russia has launched a new offensive into northeastern Ukraine, aimed at Kharkiv and Sumy regions. But the HUGE news about this isn't the invasion itself, it's the SYMBOL Russia is painting on this new force: ‘Rune of Gungnir’ -- the spear of Odin.

The Holy Rood

Sir__ This beautiful working wheel cross, known in Scotland as the Holy Rood was crafted for me by a dear friend and craftsman, named Norman Anderson, who has since passed over since completing the commission.

Faithfully and skillfully created from my Patent design and instructions that I had learned from researching the practical use and the mythology that surrounds this archaic and sacred model of our solar system, it was the closest I could get to the amazing skills of our ancient ancestors.

It would appear that more modern theodolites and sextants used for construction, cartography and navigation were later designed to overcome the conflict between theology and science that commenced around the 14th Century AD during the Enlightenment.

This model is made in silver and bronze, metals that represent the light of the moon and corruptible earth and decorated with ancient symbology.

At the head is the all seeing eye and In the centre is the Sun and at the foot is the Serpent sign from which our ancestors learned the nature of time, of order and chaos and applied that tree of knowledge to produce the fruits of their labour. On it are the signs of the cycles of eternity , while the Fleur de lys marks the cardinal points of the compass on the sacred feminine planet on which we live.

You will see that the weighted spinning calibrated wheel of the cross matches the four seasons, twelve months and the days of the year, each accurately calibrated to the degrees of the zodiac signs. This zodiac wheel and calendar is designed for the 21st Century and it works.

The wheel cross is art and science in one. You can see its image all over the ancient Celtic lands and beyond carved in stone and wood.

Ancient observers of the heavens measured the angles with spherical geometry that led to the mathematics of trigonometry and in the Bible we have proof that they knew this and even described how it was done.

Since the time of Christ, the zodiac has shifted 28.05 degrees so that the signs at the spring equinox have all moved by nearly one sign. This roughly means that Virgo is now Leo and Aries is Pisces in the 21st Century,

Those that don't know about this natural cycle of the earth in its wobble known as precession that the Greeks called the Great Year will completely misconstrue the written accounts, methodology and skills of the ancients.

Modern thinking fails to respect that science was used by our ancestors to understand time, design Temples and navigate the oceans using Natures geometry, visitors can witness this in any Temple, Church and cathedral when they see the symbology left by the architects and the craftsmen for us.

The Science behind this ancient instrument is proven with the granting of my Patent GB22344654. Yours Truly, Crichton E M Miller,

Was the Large Crystal Found in an Elizabethan Warship - "The Alderney" Which Sank Near The Channel Islands a Navigation Instrument?

Sir The crystal was found amongst the wreckage of the Alderney, an Elizabethan warship that sank near the Channel Islands in 1592.

The stone was discovered less than 3 feet from a pair of navigation dividers, suggesting it may have been kept with the ship's other navigational tools, according to the research team headed by scientists at the University of Rennes in France.

Ancient lore has suggested that the Vikings used special crystals to find their way under less-than-sunny skies. Though none of these so-called "sun stones" have ever been found at Viking archaeological sites, a crystal uncovered in a British shipwreck could help prove they did indeed exist.

Because of the rhombohedral shape of calcite crystals, "they refract or polarize light in such a way to create a double image," Mike Harrison, coordinator of the Alderney Maritime Trust, told LiveScience. This means that if you were to look at someone's face through a clear chunk of Icelandic spar, you would see two faces. But if the crystal is held in just the right position, the double image becomes a single image and you know the crystal is pointing east-west, Harrison said.

These refractive powers remain even in low light when it's foggy or cloudy or when twilight has come. In a previous study, the researchers proved they could use Icelandic spar to orient themselves within a few degrees of the sun, even after the sun had dipped below the horizon. Siya Johansen, UK.

The Saxon Heptarchy — The Lost Tribes Editor of The Times

Sir__, The most important event that occurred in the world in AD 800 was the birth of the English Heptarchy, when the seven tribes united and placed the Saxon crown upon Egbert's head. Just as the most important world-wide fact that took place in 1776 was the union of the Thirteen Colonies (Manassas number) that ushered in the United States among the sisterhood of nations.

To escape the political intrigues and suspicions of Brithric, king of Wessex, Egbert had fled from England to the court of Charlemagne. "It was in the year 800. A. D., that Egbert was summoned from France to the throne of England.” He soon “made all the Anglo-Saxon kingdoms subordinate to his own” — Sharon Turner’s History, Anglo-Saxon, Vol 1, page 425. "Kent, Wessex, Essex, Sussex, East Anglia, Northumbria and Morcica" — Pages 435-36.

These seven petty tribal governments formed the Saxon Heptarchy, from which sprang the British Empire, whose “morning drumbeat, following the sun, is heard around the world.”

We trace the history of the Saxon Kings from Hengist (149 AD) to Egbert (800-836. AD) and from Egbert the Saxon "Riddle" (Ezek.: XVII-2) moves right on to the battle of Hastings. Egbert died in 836, AD, when after various political upheavals the Saxon crown finally passed to William the Conqueror. “When Providence had ordained that a new dynasty." (But the same race—relatives”) should give new fortunes to the English nation.

When it was ordained by the Supreme Director of events that England should no longer remain insulated from the rest of Europe, but should be connected with the affairs of the continent for improvement of mankind?—Sharon Turner, Hist. Anglo-Sax.

“On the 27th of September, 1066, at the mouth of the Somme, there was a great sight to be seen— four hundred large sailing vessels, a thousand transports and sixty thousand men were on the point of embarking." — Professor Tame. This was the Norman Conquest. But they were the “relatives of those they conquered.

At the end of three hundred years the conquerors themselves were conquered. Their speech became English, their blood, by frequent marriages gained the predominance over the Norman blood in their veins. The race finally remains Saxon." -Tame; Eng. Lit. p. 56.

The British "isles of the sea" seems to have been the divinely appointed rendezvous of the tribes.— II Sam., vii.. 10.) "He that scattereth Israel will gather him as a shepherd doth his flock (Jer. XXXL, 10). When Benjamin (the Normans) crossed the Straits of Dover with the

"wolf" upon the prow of his ships (Gen. XLIX.. 27). he was but sailing under his tribal sign, and under this sign he entered England and was "gathered" to his "brethren." his “relatives" to the Saxon Heptarchy, making the eighth tribe.

“On the map of Britain facing St. George’s Channel (above), is a group of counties called Wales, inhabited by a people distinct from, and very little understood by those who surround them. Their neighbours call them Welshmen. Walsh or Welch is not a proper name, but a Teutonic term, signifying strangers, and was applied to all persons who are not of that family; but the proper name of these people is Kymri.

They are the last remnant of the Kimmeroi of Homer. From the Cambric Chersonesus (Jubland) a portion of these landed on the shores or Northumberland and gave their name to the county of Cumberland, and in process or time followed the seaside to their present resting-place, where they still call themselves Kymri and give their country a similar name.

Sharon Turner

Their history, clear, concise and authentic, ascends to a higher antiquity. Their language was embodied in verse" (see samples of the Welsh Triads, in Sharon Turner. Vol. III.) “long before the languages now spoken rose to notice, and their literature, cultivated and abundant, lays claim to being the most ancient in modern Europe.”—Thomas Stephens’ "Literature of the Kymri." "The identity of the Cymri or Wales" (says Professor Rawlinson) "with the Cimbri of the Romans, seems worthy of being accepted as an historical fact upon the grounds stated by Nieburh and Arnold.

They were known to their neighbors as Cimmerici, Gimmerii or Gommerici (see Gen. x.), and attained considerable power in Western Asia and Eastern Europe about 800 BC." (see Bible date of the captivity of Ten Tribes. 721 BC) "is a fact that can scarcely admit of doubt. Herodotus calls these people Cimmerician (Kumri)— a people whose antiquity is above twenty-five hundred years, and has spread from the Steppes of the U. Kraini to the mountains of Wales."—Professor Rawlinson's "Ancient Monarchies."

'Gomer" (see Gen., x,) was the progenitor of the Cimmericians. Cimbri and ether branches of the Celtic family, as well as of the modern Chael and Cymri. Cymri is the original name, with slight variations."—Young's Concord, under Gomer. See the original Cimmerician in Zeph. I. 4., occurs here only in the Bible.

The Hebrews suffixed the name of God, El (ail), to their personal names. See Hebrew nouns ending in El, as Emanuel, Gabriel. Samuel, Israel, &c.--- and compare the etymology of An-Gael-ish— English.

But to return to Sharon Turner, who witnesses for us, never against us. "The Kimmericians may be regarded as our first ancestors. The Kimmerician tongue is in the farthest part of the West, in the British Islands. That the Kimmericoi of the Greeks were the Cimbri of the Latin writers was the opinion of the Greeks themselves.

At some early period, after they reached the shores of the German Ocean (in their overland route from Asia), they crossed it in their rude vessels to Great Britain. It is agreed by the British antiquaries that the most ancient inhabitants of our land were called Cymbri (Kimri); they are so named in all that remains of ancient British literature.

The Welsh, who are their descendants, have always called themselves Cymbri. and have given the same name to the earliest colonies of our island. That a district in the north of England was inhabited by a part of the ancient British nation, and called Cumbria, whence the present Cumberland, is favorable to this presumption. It is a safe inference that the Cimry of Eiltain originated from the continental Kimmericians. The Welsh historians state that the Cymri were the first inhabitants of Britain.

Cumberland

They first obtained it, and that before their advent nothing else but bears, wolves and oxen roamed its trackless forests." Sharon Turner's Anglo-Saxon History. Not only have we the testimony of these historians and others, but chiseled upon the imperishable stone— the hoary monuments of Babylon and of Nineveh, we read the same truth.

On an obelisk found by Layard, now in the British Museum, the name "Khumrie" and "Beth Khumrie" is found, referring to Omri, father of Ahab. Omri was the renowned king of the Ten Tribes (I Kings, xvi). The Assyrians called him and the house of Omri. Khumri and Beth (house). Khumrie (of Khumri). "Upon the Babylonian monuments the term Gimmerie, Gimeri, mean the tribes, and is the Semitic equivalent of the Aryan Saccae."— Rawlinson's Ancient Monarchies.

The House of Rhumri (Beth Khumri was. therefore, but the Assyrian designation of the House of Omri (I Kings, xvi).

Thus, these disinterested witnesses trace the Welsh of Britain to their ancestors, the Cymri; the Cymri to the Roman Cimbri; the Cimbri to the Greek Kimmericoi: the Kimmericoi to the Gimeri (Gome. Gen. x), who are identified by Prof.

Rawlinson with the Assyrian Khumri, which was the Assyrian name for the Israelites (Ten Lost Tribes). In other words, the Welsh called themselves Cymri; in the mouth of the Romans they became Cimbri; in the mouth of the Greeks Kimmeroi; in the mouth of the Assyrians Khumri, and in the mouth of the Hebrews Omri (I Kings, xvi).

Simeon

Now the Simonii (tribe of Simeon) was but a branch of the Cymri who settled in Wales, and joining the Saxon Confederacy, made the ninth tribe—the Tribe of Simeon. Dan had already settled in Ireland, and made the tenth.

Here then, the gathering” of the Ten Tribes was consummated at the Norman Conquest. The “scattering” had been “accomplished” (Dan. xii, 7). From that time the “wanderers among the nations,” the sojourners of the Dispersion.” became a unit in the English nation and the United States, and thus fulfilled the prophecy in Gen. XLIX.

The seven tribes that united under Egbert, in 800 A. D., and formed the English (Saxon) Heptarchy, had grown into ten when Benjamin. Simeon and Dan united with them, at the epoch of the Norman Conquest.

“Hear the word of the Lord, O ye nations, and declare it in the (British) isles afar off and say, that He scattered Israel will gather them, and keep them, as a shepherd doth his flock” (Jer. xxi-10, L). Grouping the nations of the earth into an ethnological pyramid, it is evident that the Anglo-Saxon crown the summit of, grades the nations of the world into a political ladder and those on the topmost rung stands the Anglo-Saxon—I Saxon, son of Isaac)— England and America, Ephriam and Manassa.

In Moses farewell address to the Tribes he foretold that: “In the latter days, the Lord thy God shall make thee (Israel) the head and not the tail and thou shalt be set above only and shall not be beneath.

The Lord thy God shall set thee on high above all nations. The Lord hath acknowledged thee this day, that thou art to him a peculiar people, so that he may set thee highest above all nations—“in the latter days. (Deut. XXVI 18-19).

Does Spain. China or Japan occupy this political. social and religious pre-eminence over the nations of the earth, to-day? Nay! verily, this is lofty summit to which divine Providence has lifted the Saxons and standing there in unapproachable grandeur they are opening their eyes, hitherto blind (Cor. XI 25) to the fact that they are “Israelites to whom pertaineth the adoption and the glory and thine covenants and the giving of the law and the service of God, and the promises”—Paul. Rom. IX4.

“Over that sea in calm majesty lies the proud island, whose existence consoles me for a thousand continental crimes and vindicates for me the good- ness of Providence.

Yes, yes. proud England thou art justly proud or thy colossal strength—more justly of thy God-like repose Stretched upon the rock but not like Prometheus, and with no evil bird to rend thy side, rests the genius of England. He waits his hour, but counts not the hours between.

He knows that it is rolling up through the mystic gloom or ages, and that its chariot is guided by the iron hand of destiny. Dare. I murmur that the mists will not clear for me that I shall not hear the rumbling wheels, the chariot of the hour of England. It will come—it is coming—it has come. i.e. whole world aroused as by some mighty galvanism, suddenly raises a wild cry or love and admiration and throws itself into the bounteous bosom of England.

The lamp of her faith, kindled at apostolic altars, burns as a beacon to mankind. Her example has regenerated the erring, her mildness has rebuked the rebellious, and her greatness has enchanted the good.”—Victor Hugo. J. W. Williams, Richmond. Va., Sept. 5. 1902. Thanks to Dan Johns of the USA, for submitting this unusual

Christians Are Taught To Fear

By Willie Martin

SEEK FIRST THE KINGDOM OF GOD AND HIS RIGHTEOUSNESS: Millions of people are playing church on Sunday, they are alkaselser Christians, they fizz for a few minutes on Sunday and then revert back to something that no one would even suspect they are Christians, and are filled with fear on Monday.

They may be faithful to the traditions that distinguish their particular sect, traditions which have little relevance to their relationship to God, while retaining a loyalty to the world of Caesar.

Christ challenged the kingdom of the Jews, offering a kingdom so radical to the world view that they killed Him out of fear that His Kingdom would turn man's allegiance away from their worldly kingdom.

The same fears are entertained by world rulers today. That's one reason it is "politically correct" to deny that Jesus is the only way to God, to remove Christian symbols wherever possible, to remove any mention of Christ in public addresses, and make his kingdom something only for the future. The world fears the victory of King Jesus, and does all in its power to keep Christians from claiming that victory. Jesus said,

"Fear not little flock; for it is the Father's good pleasure to give you the kingdom." In His Kingdom there is peace and protection and no cause for fear.

3). Consider any suffering or hardship as progress along the walk to God's image. Where there is no suffering there can be no great living, or victorious living.

To live in fear of pain and suffering is to live in fear of life. One who has never experienced a broken heart has never known the touch of the Master's healing hand. Didn't Jesus call us to suffer? What else could He mean by:

"let him take up his cross and follow me?" Scripture says that we will be glorified with Him if we suffer with Him.

Jesus promises us no short cuts or exemptions from the rivers of trouble. Rather He simply said, "Lo, I am with you."

Pain and sickness can be used by God as instruments for shaping us into more noble and useful servants. Rather than being terrified at the prospect of suffering, we are to see it as God's opportunity to develop our faith and patience, and to mould us into His own image.

Following Christ is not the mere confessing of our faith, reading the Bible, and praying. It is living according to His words, suffering after His example and glorifying the Father through it all. When one surrenders his will to God, desiring only His will, as did Jesus, fear finds no foothold.

4). Hold nothing as a permanent possession: The danger of the loss of financial security keeps many in a constant state of fear and frustration.

Many hoard their wealth, refusing to share it or even to enjoy it themselves, for fear that they will lose it. But what if one loses material possession?

Things we may call our own are pitifully small compared to the immensity of the Creator's store of riches. God can provide all that one needs.

The promise is, "Seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things (He's talking about food, clothing and shelter) will be added unto you."

What Christ was saying is that we are not to live for that which is only temporal, but for God's Kingdom and His righteousness, which are eternal. We must give up the prized temporal possession in order to obtain that which my Master prizes, and He has promised that I will not be in need of the essential things.

As we said in the beginning, it is a matter of faith. Do we really believe He meant it when He said that the things we need will be provided when we seek God first? Here is where we have the choice: faith or fear.

5). Take your mind off of yourself: "God, help me!" we pray. "Give me peace, relieve my pain, heal me, etc." Of course, we are to ask in order to receive, but then we are to leave it with God with faith that He will answer according to His will. Then we can pray for others who have greater needs.

"If then you were raised together with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God. Set Your Mind on the Things That Are above, not on the things that are upon the earth."

Turn your mind from self to God, His majesty, His mercy, His grace, His goodness, His compassion, His holiness, His power, His truth and His love. The very thought of God draws one out of the feverish tumult of the world to the obtaining of "joy and peace in believing." [\[10\]](#)

6). Remember that you are never alone: God does not exempt us from suffering, but He is with us in it. "Fear not, for I have redeemed thee—When thou passeth through the waters, I will be with thee, and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee—Fear not for I am with thee."

In the pain of sickness and under burdens that seem too heavy to bear. God is there, bearing you up, supplying strength, and even joy; to the world's amazement and surprise. And when the dark river of death must be crossed. he will be there with the bright hope of the resurrection and the assurance of life and immortality in His glorious image.
