Dear Reader,

As we go to press, the destruction of our Caucasian-Hebrew nations continues apace. Not many will know that the principle architect of these policies was the late Saul Alinsky (left).

It is interesting to note that since this man's dark deeds have been exposed by the alternative media, the UK main political parties have removed all mention of him from their websites. Below is a summary of his policy which is now being implemented.

How to create a social state by Saul Alinsky

There are 8 levels of control that must be obtained before you are able to create a social state. The first is the most important.

- 1) Healthcare – Control healthcare and you control the people
- 2) Poverty – Increase the Poverty level as high as possible, poor people are easier to control and will not fight back if you are providing everything for them to live.
- 3) Debt – Increase the debt to an unsustainable level. That way you are able to increase taxes, and this will produce more poverty.

4) Gun Control – Remove the ability to defend themselves from the Government. That way you are able to create a police state.

5) Welfare – Take control of every aspect of their lives (Food, Housing, and Income)

6) Education – Take control of what people read and listen to – take control of what children learn in school.

7) Religion – Remove the belief in the God from the Government and schools

8) Class Warfare – Divide the people into the wealthy and the poor. This will cause more discontent and it will be easier to take (Tax) the wealthy with the support of the poor.

We look forward to the day when Yahweh will remove the tares from the midst of us. That day cannot be long now!

Answers to Objections About Israel Being Exclusive (5) Arnold Kennedy

1. 22. THE LORD'S PRAYER

WHEN we pray as Jesus taught, OUR Father which art in heaven, hallowed be Thy Name, THY KINGDOM come, what are we saying?

- Is the pronoun our referring to all races or to Israel?
- Is God ever called the Father of races other than Israel?
- Is Thy Kingdom ever other than the Kingdom over which the King of Israel will reign?

A close examination will indicate that the particular “Father” referred to is Our Father, the One in The Heavens. It is not “their” father. Jesus said that the father of “The Jews” was the Devil-[John 8].

23. “THE ISRAEL OF GOD”- [Gal 6:16]

It is common to hear that The Israel of God means The Church. This statement is used as a basis for sermons about universal salvation. It is so easy to make a wrong statement and then use that statement as a foundation. But being based on a wrong foundation, this doctrine cannot stand. The “Israel of God” means the “Israel of the Supreme Divinity”. It says nothing about God being the God of all the races. This book of Galatians is written to them that were under the Law, that is to Israel. There will be those who say that there is now a spiritual Israel as well as a natural Israel, as a way of promoting universal salvation, but this is not valid.

24. “STRANGERS CAN BECOME AS ISRAELITES”.

It is claimed by many that the word strangers indicates other than Israelites. In the Book of Peter we find this Apostle to the circumcision writes to strangers scattered as also does James, in the first verse of his book. The Strangers scattered, contains the same word that is used in James, who addresses his book to the Twelve Tribes. Please look this up and make sure about this. So these strangers are still the Twelve Tribes!

If any want to consider this matter further they can find that looking at the word pilgrim as used by Peter will help. This is exactly the same word that is translated as stranger in 1 Peter 1:1. The words, pilgrims and strangers, also appear in Hebrews 11:13 which clearly isolates them as being Hebrews [that is, Israel]. A chapter of “The Exclusiveness of Israel” entitled Pilgrims, Strangers and Israel examines this in more detail. This again is the language of the Old Testament where David says:

Psalm 39:12 ... for I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner, as all my fathers were.

1 Peter 2:10 Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not obtained mercy, but now have obtained mercy.

My fathers gives immediate racial identity. But, further to this, the Hebrew words used for stranger and sojourner are: Ger meaning a stranger (an unknown person) of ones own blood, tribe, or race. Toshav meaning only a pilgrim or a temporary resident, and one who has no rights OR KINSHIP in any way at all with the people of the land in which they have taken temporary residence. In this Psalm, David is saying that he is a stranger away from his home with God and he has no kinship with any other race around him. Peter make this same distinction. 1 Peter 1:2 Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father.

In Hosea and Peter, the not a people refers to the same people and hence cannot be non-Israelite “Gentiles”. Peter would have had trouble in convincing the Judeans that they had become not a people at some past time.

25. JESUS IS NOW THE KING OVER EVERYONE.

Remember how God said that David would never want for a descendant upon his throne until Jesus came to take this throne?

Jer 33:17 For thus saith the Lord; David shall never want for a man to sit upon the throne of the house of Israel.

At the time of Jesus, the throne of the Kingdom of Judah and Solomon’s line had long gone from Judea. The throne must therefore be manifest somewhere else and within the ten tribes headed by Ephraim. The Epistles are in full accord with the Law, The Psalms and the Prophets. But they are not in accord with tradition!

In Chapter 2 of “The Exclusiveness of Israel” this word “elect” and the elect nation, are those whom God is saying that He “foreknew” in the Old Testament. Rom 11:2 God has not cast away his people which he foreknew. 1 Peter 2:10 goes on to quote from Hosea, (which is a book dealing primarily with the ten-tribed House of Israel).

The people to whom Peter was writing had a King [1 Peter 2:13 and 1 Peter 2:17]. This again confirms that these people were not the Judeans, although they were Israelites. The people addressed had a king they were to honour. Peter tells us who they were racially. The indicators are given in the expressions an Holy [that is, set-apart] nation and a peculiar people as pointed out in the earlier.

26. “IN THEE SHALL ALL NATIONS BE BLESSED” - [And all the “families of the Earth” being blessed in Abraham]

The major source of error in these blessing passages is what we mean by certain words. We have different words translated as earth and the ground, countries and the land, and also this occurs with the words translated nations, families and kindreds. Although an extensive technical Hebrew language exposition is beyond the scope of this paper, there are things that need to be pointed out. Originally Abraham was told to go from his father’s house unto an eretz that God would show him. If eretz here is the whole Earth, then Abraham must have gone to another planet! Abraham was told all The ‘Earth’ which thou seest, I will give thee. He was told to arise and walk through the earth.

Did he walk across the whole globe? So we have to ask if this ‘earth’ is the whole earth or the Promised Land. It is not all the ‘*eretz*s of all the races on earth. Abraham was told to get himself out of his present earth and to go to THE earth. There are many references that give confirmation of the meaning. THE earth does not mean the whole globe, but rather that portion belonging to the particular area or person under consideration.

Contrary to popular presentation, we must note that in Genesis 12:3, the

‘them’ in I will bless them is plural, whereas the ‘him’ in I will curse him is singular. The Hebrew allows for two possible translations of be blessed, namely: 1 may be blessed in, or by, association with thee, and 2 may bless themselves [as the RV footnote says].

Some awkward questions could be posed here if it was to be taken that all nations had the meaning of “every race on earth”:

1. If those who curse Abraham are cursed, how could those so cursed be part of all nations that were to be blessed?
2. Were the Egyptians blessed or cursed through Israel’s presence during their captivity and also in the Exodus?
3. When the Children of Israel went into the Promised Land, they were told to exterminate all the Canaanite nations. Was not that an unusual way of blessing the Canaanites? After all, they were supposed to be part of all nations. Likewise Amalek was to be exterminated.
4. In Deut 23:6, God commanded Israel that they should not seek the peace or the prosperity of the Ammonites and the Moabites right up to the end of the age. Ezra 9:12 indicates similar treatment of the non-Israelites in the land. This is hardly a blessing on those nations, is it?
5. When The House of Judah was in captivity in Babylon, is there any evidence of Israel being a blessing to Babylon?

6. When the House of Israel was in captivity in Assyria, did this make the Assyrians blossom?

7. In prophecy why are all the forecasts concerning non-Israel nations always detailing them as being servants to Israel and for them to perish if they refuse this destiny? This is so right up to the end of the age.

8. The promise to Abraham was to “ALL” nations without any exceptions. “All” cannot include those who are cursed and those God says that He hates. Hence “all” means all the nations of Israel.

Throughout Scripture, Israel was to dwell alone and shall not be reckoned among the nations [Num 23:9]. Prophecy sustains this to the end.

Daniel 7:27 And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve him. Isaiah 60:12 For the nation and kingdom that will not serve thee shall perish; yea, those nations shall be utterly wasted.

Zech 14:16,17 And it shall come to pass, that every one that is left of all the nations which came up against Jerusalem shall even go up from year to year to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, and to keep the feast of tabernacle. And it shall be that whoso will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem to worship the King, the Lord of hosts, even upon them shall be no rain.

Israel and Judah were scattered among all nations, but are these other nations to be blessed? Jeremiah does not agree.

Jer 30:11 ¼ though I make a full end of all nations whither I have scattered thee, yet I will not make a full end of thee Jeremiah repeats this in Jer 46:28, addressing this to Jacob.

In all these Scriptures we can see the unique place of Israel among the other nations. This continues after Jesus returns and Israel reigns with God over the other nations. Finally there will be no more death. What a blessing! The blessing is either given by this seed, or by the Act of God..

Lunar Reckoning Proven False

By
Eli James

Lunar Reckoning
Proven False
Eli James

LADIES and Gentlemen: Since I have made my living as a Bible scholar by doing word studies, showing that the original Hebrew and Greek often contradict the English translations, I have decided to use a similar technique in sorting out the validity of the lunar versus solar calendars.

According to a particular school of lunar reckoning, every month MUST begin with a NEW MOON and every 1st, 8th, 15th, 22nd and 29th day of EVERY MONTH is therefore a Sabbath. The Solar Advocates teach that this is true ONLY of the FIRST Month and the SEVENTH month, as the Bible specifically says this of these two months, but it nowhere says this about any of the other months. The lunar advocates simply ASSUME that what is true of the first and seventh months is true of all the other months.

Now, we all agree that our principles must be based on what the Bible teaches. If an issue cannot be resolved from Scripture, then we must go to other Israelite scriptures and to reason, science and history.

One lunar advocate recently issued a public challenge for anyone to disprove that this lunar reckoning is true for every month.

I now claim this prize, as I will now provide FOUR EXAMPLES, from Scripture, which disprove this lunar reckoning:

Exodus 16

1 And they took their journey from Elim, and all the congregation of the children of Israel came unto the wilderness of Sin, which is between Elim and Sinai, on the fifteenth day of the second month after their departing out of the land of Egypt.

2 And the whole congregation of the children of Israel murmured against Moses and Aaron in the wilderness:

3 And the children of Israel said unto them, Would to God we had died by the hand of the LORD in the land of Egypt, when we sat by the flesh pots, and when we did eat bread to the full; for ye have brought us forth into this wilderness, to kill this whole assembly with hunger.

This verse clearly shows that the children of Israel were TRAVELLING on this 15th day of the SECOND month. If it were a Sabbath, they would have been resting, not travelling, and should have stopped travelling on the previous day, to observe the supposed Sabbath rest on the next day, which was the 15th day of the second month. According to this particular type of lunar reckoning, the 15th day MUST BE A SABBATH IN EVERY MONTH. However, from this passage, the 15th day is NOT a Sabbath in the 2nd month.

Numbers 1:1

1 And the LORD spake unto Moses in the wilderness of Sinai, in the tabernacle of the congregation, on the first day of the second month, in the second year after they were come out of the land of Egypt, saying,

2 Take ye the sum of all the congregation of the children of Israel, after their families, by the house of their fathers, with the number of their names, every male by their polls;

3 From twenty years old and upward, all that are able to go forth to war in Israel: thou and Aaron shall number them by their armies.

Numbers 1:1 tells us that, on the First Day of the Second Month, the Israelites were taking a census. If it were a Sabbath, it should have been a day of rest.

Numbers 1:17-19

17 And Moses and Aaron took these men which are expressed by their names:

18 And they assembled all the congregation together on the first day of the second month, and they declared their pedigrees after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, from twenty years old and upward, by their polls.

19 As the LORD commanded Moses, so he numbered them in the wilderness of Sinai

This is the same day as the census. Instead of resting on this day, they were also declaring their pedigrees. They should have been at home resting or in the Temple reading Torah. Therefore, this first day of the second month was NOT a Sabbath.

Ezra 10:15-17

15 Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah were employed about this matter: and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite helped them.

16 And the children of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain chief of the fathers, after the house of their fathers, and all of them by their names, were separated, and sat down in the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

17 And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives by the first day of the first month.

Instead of resting on this “Lunar Sabbath Day,” they were examining the matter of mixed marriages. Therefore, the 1st day of the tenth month is not a Sabbath either. In contrast, Verse 17 tells us that they had completed their expulsions of the men with strange wives “by the first day of the first month,” which IS a Sabbath; and they were not performing this work on this Sabbath Day. So, the whole process took three months, resting from this task on the weekly Sabbath days, none of which were lunar months, and none of which had anything to do with observing new moons.

I do not see how any Lunar Sabbath reckoning can overcome the evidence of these verses.

In addition, here is scientific proof that the moon DOES NOT “divide the day from the night” (Gen. 1:14), as the Moonies also claim:

<http://www.enchantedlearning.com/subjects/astromony/moon/Phases.shtml>

Here is a direct quote from this article, which describes the moon’s skyward path in great detail:

“The moon rises and sets every day, appearing on the horizon just like the sun. The time depends on the phase of the moon. It rises about 30 to 70 minutes later each day than the previous day, so the moon is out during daytime as often as it's out at night.”

Since the moon spends half of its time in the daytime sky, it cannot be said to divide the day from the night. The sun rules the day and the stars rule the night. I know Psalm 136:8-9 says that the sun rules the day and the moon and stars rule the night; but the moon’s “rule” (Hebrew: memsheleth, meaning “dominion”) is dependent upon its being in the night sky, in addition to the stars. Nowhere does the Bible say that the moon, by itself rules the night. Gen. 1:16 does not mention the moon either. That is a false inference, which is based on words which were ADDED to the text by the translators, who were assuming the Babylonian Jewish lunar reckoning was accurate. That’s why they added the words, “He made” and “also,” which DO NOT OCCUR in the Hebrew text. Even if the lunar-reckoners were correct in their interpretation of Psalm 136:9, they would need a second witness which clearly says the same thing. There is no such second witness.

Let’s hear what the Moonies have to say about these proofs!!

Also, I could sure use the ten grand!!!

The Christmas Season - A Pagan Holiday Exposed (3)

Kenneth W. Lent

Decorating the Tree

"The Christmas Tree originated in Egypt because it was used in connection with the festival of the goddess Isis" (From the book: "1001 Christmas Facts and Fancies", A.C. Hottes, page 155)

"Though intimately associated with Christianity, the Christmas tree has a pagan origin. Many pagan cultures cut down evergreen trees in December and moved them into the home or temple to recognize the winter solstice, which occurs sometime between December 20 and 23."

From the Article: "Christmas Tree, O Christmas Tree, Your branches green delight us" The Canadian Encyclopedia, 2004 Historical Foundation of Canada

ALTHOUGH we could spend much time documenting endless sources testifying to the fact that the evergreen tree in religion predates the Christian era by thousands of years, the important fact to absorb is that its use is always non-Scriptural and always heathen. The truth seeker needs only to go to the local library or do a "web search" to be inundated with historical documentation of the pagan origins of the Christmas tree. The decorated evergreen tree has been everything from fertility phallic symbols, to appeasements of "spirits", to the embodiment of supposed deities. However, the worst of the unimaginable is connected with the memory of the ancient cult of green tree adornment. Untold numbers of innocent children were offered up by child sacrificial rites to these pagan idols under the trees. This angered our God so much that He ordered our faithful ancestors to destroy this form of worship because of its inherent evil:

"Ye shall utterly destroy all the places, wherein the nations which ye shall possess served their gods, upon the high mountains, and upon the hills, and under every green tree: And ye shall overthrow their altars, and break their pillars, and burn their groves with fire; and ye shall hew down the graven images of their gods, and destroy the names of them out of that place." (Deut.12:2,3)

"But draw near hither, ye sons of the sorceress, the seed of the adulterer and the whore. Against whom do ye sport yourselves? against whom make ye a wide mouth, and draw out the tongue? are ye not children of transgression, a seed of falsehood, enflaming yourselves with idols under every green tree, slaying the children in the valleys under the cliffs of the rocks?" (Isaiah 57:3-5)

Yahweh says "Enough of this", and because of the above He then warns those who trust in Him that we are never to learn (partake of) the heathen custom of tree cutting and decorating it with shiny bobbles with the Moloch star on top. The implications and graphic murderous history of this former child abuse perversion is too much for the Holy Spirit within a Christian believer's heart to entertain. Yahweh tells us "STOP":

"LEARN NOT THE WAY OF THE HEATHEN --- for one cutteth a tree out of the forest --- they deck it with silver, and with gold, they fasten it with nails and hammers, that it not move --- they are altogether brutish and foolish---" (Jeremiah 10:2-8 KJV. Note: Christmas supporters in the churches have tampered with this verse to change it from "tree decorating" to merely wooden idol use. Newer Bibles purposely obscure the text. In the original Hebrew language this verse is aimed at the tree cult.)

Yahweh says:

"I HATE, I DESPISE YOUR FEAST DAYS --- ye have borne the tabernacle of your Moloch and Chiun your images, THE STAR OF YOUR GOD, WHICH YE HAVE MADE TO YOURSELVES" (Amos 5:21-26)

Please note that Yahweh God Almighty does not say "Stop killing children, but it's ok to keep on using idols and decorating green trees." He says in effect, as we would read it today, "I totally HATE these memorials of these disgusting brutish people and what they have done --- DO

NOT from here on out even think of cutting a tree and decorating it if you are a follower of Me, God Almighty!"

We have a choice. Are we going to cave in to whining family, friends, and church goers who have no convictions, and in fact flee from the truth? Or are we going to thank Yahweh God that He has led a few, by His mercy, to knowledge that enlightens the heart to serve Him with gladness?

Who is Santa Claus?

Since we have now seen that Christmas never did have anything to do with the birth of Jesus in the Scriptures (who was born in the Fall of the year), we may want to discover precisely what god it is that is really being worshiped at Christmas. This brings us to the personality of the Yule Season itself embodied --- Santa Claus. Other than the obvious play on letters involved between S-A-N-T-A and S-A-T-A-N, is there any evidence of just who this magical gift bearing elf really is? Who does the Bible warn us about that seeks to be like the Most High Yahweh God, but yet is a deceiving counterfeit? Let's examine the wisdom of our Father's Word to solve this puzzle.

Yahweh says -- "That thou shalt take up this proverb against the king of Babylon, and say, How hath the oppressor ceased! the golden city ceased! --- For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will be like the most High." (Isaiah 14: verses 4 & 13-14)

This "king of Babylon" wants to be exalted like God and has said that he will ascend and be "in the North"? We are told the fable that Santa "lives at the North Pole" and can "ascend to the heavens" by taking to his sled and flying with "god-like" power. Of course this is all symbolic, but important nevertheless. To be "on top of the world" as we know means to be in charge. From it's perspective of a sphere, if one would be on "top" (to rule, be in charge) of the Earth, it would present a picture of being on "the North" of the world as if sitting on a throne. The Bible says this of Yahweh Almighty:

"It is He that sitteth upon the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants thereof are as grasshoppers; that stretcheth out the heavens as a curtain, and spreadeth them out as a tent to dwell in" (Isaiah 40:22) Other verses that connect Yahweh with the North are Ezk. 1:4; Ex.26:35; Psalm.48:2. Yet today Santa is the person famous for living at the "North Pole" and most people have never known that the Scriptures symbolically place God Almighty there. Santa also cries "Ho, Ho" as does Yahweh (Zech.2:6), and attempts to mimic God with the following verses that speak of Yahweh/Jesus: Has white hair (Rev.1:14); Has a twinkle in his eye (Rev. 1:14, 2:18); Calls all children to him (Matt. 19:14, Luke 18:16); The hour of his coming is a mystery (Luke 12:40; Mark 13:33; Matt.24:36); Tells us to be good for goodness sake (Phil.2:13,14); Gives gifts on the basis of a list (Matt.25:21; Rev. 21:27; 22:14); Asks children to obey parents (Eph. 6:1; Prov. 6:20; Col. 3:20); Can rapidly visit the world's nations in one day (2 Peter 3:8; Isa.47:9) Adding all this up we see that just like the king of Babylon in Isaiah 14:14, so has Santa declared "I will be like the Most High". Does Santa have a Babylonian connection?

The above right is a picture of an engraving of the Babylonian/Assyrian god "Nimrod" over 4000 years old (source book: "The Two Babylons" by Alexander Hislop, 1916, England, page 47). This is the original "Santa Claus" complete with long beard, fancy garb, deer, fir tree, and ability of flight (wings). Nimrod was the founder of Babel/Babylon (Gen.10:8-11) and his progeny built the city of Nineveh. As the original founder of Babylon, Nimrod was deified after his death and became the central figure of the Babylonian religion as its "spirit father". Therefore, Nimrod is the symbolic "deity King" of collective Babylonian rule. This civilization spawned the hierarchy of Babylonian priests and system of worship, which system was (and is) a religious government based on totalitarian statism, void of all relationship with Yahweh

God of the Bible and "God given rights". Under the system of Nimrod (the first Santa) all privileges (gifts) come from the state with only state sanctioned religion being permitted to amuse the people. Nimrod Babylonianism is the world's largest cult passed down through centuries of history by its adherents.

Today, our children are schooled from young to look to the Nimrod false religious system for their hope, instead of learning about the laws and blessings of Yahweh in His Only Begotten Son, Jesus Christ, the King of Kings. As soon as they are born, Babylon's system deems a child to be called a "BABY" (property of Babylon) and issues the infant a state society number (SS#). Santa (Nimrod) sits on his department store throne while children are told he is real and that he is the true hope of gifts.

The children are trained to climb up to Nimrod and beg for gifts, not knowing this is all a facade, and they are being lied to. Parents who themselves think they have matured to "outgrow a cute childhood phase" little understand that they themselves still beg from Nimrod's dead system --collective antiGod statism controlled by falsehoods on all levels. The religious Christmas Santa is a false hope encouraged by Babylon's society, while the liberty of the Gospel of Christ's Kingdom is suppressed and avoided.

Such is the story of Christmas and what its symbols represent. Christmas is not Christian, and never was!

Yes, Santa Claus' portrayal is actually that of Nimrod an ancient enemy of God Almighty and His people. Plus we need to realize that symbolism shows where the heart is. The many pagan origins of Christmas, as set forth in this study, are still being expressed today by the decorations we see on this holiday – all across America and even the world. Now more than ever it is time for true Christians to come out from the entrapments of the ways of the world which cause a separation between themselves and God Almighty. Yahweh God Almighty beckons us:

"Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith Yahweh, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith Yahweh Almighty." (2 Corinthians 6:17,18)

God has great love for His children. It is much better to be a son or daughter of the one true Living God than to be a slave to the world and its many falsehoods. Please pray concerning God's Word and the historical facts of what you have just read. If you are still celebrating the Roman State Christ-Mass ask God for strength to stop and to enter into His blessings. He will not let you down. Praise Jesus Christ our Savior and King.

Harold Stough Notes The Hill O Mary Stanes

RIGHT is a carefully detailed layout of the standing stones at Mid Clyth, as surveyed by Alexander Thom, the mull of kin-tyre's farmer's son who was "Widely considered to be the Father of archaeoastronomy". Mid Clyth sits on the Roseline. Mid is an abbreviation for Middle, and Clyth is an ancient Scots word for cloth or equally correct an article of dress-kilt. Which in turn overshadows the expressive German term

"Clotho" the Anglo Saxons belief the spin axis of time combined with the thread of life is found at Clotho that leads to our fate. Exploration on the rounded hill-dod at the secluded Mid Clyth out post, when examined closely hides a ancient scot's church secret, it renders to light the abstract nonsensical adaptation term "Man of the Cloth" whom as we understand is a member of the clergy or a spiritual leader of the Christian Church! Our journey search proceeds.....

The 22 rows of stones present a very distinctive pattern, their fascinating arrangement takes on the fashionable shape of a Kilt-skirt - the Scottish National Dress, worn by both men and women. The rows map out East and West longitude meridians and include North and South latitude time and distance measured lines, which we measure in degrees as we move forward in perceived linear time. The fan-kilt shape reflects the wider angle taken from the equator as the globe curves towards the North.

The kilt has a much deeper significance, with bible insights when we translate the word Rock which means skirt in German part of the Anglo Saxon dialect, it in turn came from hittite displacement pre 722 B.C. by Assyrian leader Tiglath Pi-leser III the Leser-Pi exiled the peoples of the Northern Kingdom, the hittites along with the lost tribes, fleeing from slaughter they made there way to new lands some with the guidance and Help of God. Some evidence exists of a continuing identification in later centuries of individual Hebrews to the Lost Tribes and Hittites. For example, in Luke 2:36 of the New Testament, Anna the grandmother of Jesus is identified with the tribe of Asher, Perthshire historian Barry Dunford in his book The holy land of Scotland traces Anna's family to Glen Lyon central Scotland area, intriguingly Lyon is the name given to Asher's second wife, is it logical 722 B.C. lost tribe collaboration or just misunderstood coincidence that this area of Scotland was the ancient Pi-ctland Kingdom headquarters?

Lyon is also the name of the Chief Herald of Scotland whom presides over the Lyon Court it has the jurisdiction powers to lay claim to Scot's peoples ancestry shared mainly through the medium of the coat of arms, inventive camouflage that yarns a resourcefulness in hidden truths, another Pi example is fanatic grail hunter Hitler, whom also derives his name from the Pi-leser eradiction of the 722 B.C. Hittites. Ger is a abbreviation of ranger, to roam, or member of the senior branch of guides, German is also declared the first degree which goes back in time to be very geras (old), there for if we take pi- as 12 o clock the Germans equate this with there name "Zwolf" which corresponds to 12, wolf being the principal Canine-Dog, Z is our limit, the end of line time when we get judgment Day as told in revelations, the light comes on in the mind, as to why we see the white dog collars on the men and woman of the Cloth-Clotho with in the land of the Pi-cts.

22/7 Pi mirrors the 722 B.C. traumatic period of time that represents a major cross-point in the history of mankind this Pi date shapes the timeline into events and people which bring about the birth of Christ towards the End found in revelations, addressing the tartan-"Man of Cloth" question will be a prominent hallmark towards the closing. Bible expert Ferrell Jenkins writes..... in the Bible the prophet Isaiah says,

"In the year that the commander came to Ashdod,(722) when Sargon the king of Assyria sent him and he fought against Ashdod and captured it" (Isa. 20:1).

In the earlier English versions, the Hebrew term for commander was transliterated as a personal name, Tartan. Since the time of those versions scholars have learned more about the Assyrian language. The New King James continues to use the term Tartan but adds a note, "Or the Commander in Chief." The NASB simply uses the term commander. The RSV and the NRSV use the phrase commander in chief. The NIV uses the phrase supreme commander. Grogan, in The Expositor's Bible Commentary, says the term tharetan (tartan) "really means 'second' and is indirect testimony to the great value the Assyrians attached to military prowess. Their supreme commander was second in status only to the King himself." Thus if we interpret Anna's Grandson as the zero time Pi King himself, the nationalism institution pride of wearing of Tartan was the next best thing to field and flaunt the authentic presence of the "real thing" checkered propaganda that hides the adorable second in command.

Complementary evidence of 722 B.C. Pi recognition comes from the Kushite king Piye, whose name, once transliterated as Pi(ankh)y. (d.721 BC), Pi-ye was the founder of the Twenty-fifth dynasty of Egypt who ruled Egypt from the city of Napata, located deep in Nubia.

Nubia is a region along the Nile river, In ancient times, much of what is now Sudan was known as Nubia, or the Kingdom of Kush (also spelled Cush). During his reign Pi-ye conquered Upper Egypt. Homer (c. 800 BC) mentions the "Aethiopians" which is modern day Ethiopia, the greek word Aithiops means the dark burned faced people, with pi being the circle, the waters of life marks the zenith Pi line of the sun, the polar opposite of 12 o clock Nile was located in ancient Ethiopia, Homer mentions that the Aethiopians are to be found at the southern extremities of the world, divided by the sea of water into "eastern" sunrise and "western" the sunset.

Ha-pi, is pictured as the Unisex Egyptian God of the Nile, Fertility, North and South, Ha-pi is the god that is in charge of the Tau-water key, the line of balance, in English we associate Ha-pi with the word Happy and of course Birthday!

The Nile Ea waters are the essence of fertility, the river's copious flush reflected the abounding bloom from seed to harvest, a nations wealth was determined by the overflowing abundance of water, the economy and King's future reign was interdependent on the Royal Flush, to the ancient Egyptians the annual flow of waters was a complete mystery controlled by the mood of Ha-pi-Happy.

Drought or excess floods meant a brutal frigid existence, the consequences of failed harvest meant money flow would dry up, as we enter the new pi period again predicted by many bible scholars, Jesus tells us when time is 99% up Luke 15: we climb aboard the Shepherd's shoulder's, he carry's our sins of life via time, when found the lost stray sheep repents as it is time to come home to the safety and salvation of the enclosure fold.

Kingdom Values Luke 16:14-16

The Pharisees, who were lovers of money, were listening to all these things and scoffed at him. And He told them: "You are the ones who justify yourselves in the sight of others, but God knows your hearts. For what is highly admired by people is revolting in God's sight". "The Law and the Prophets were until John; since then, the good news of the Kingdom of God has been proclaimed, and everyone is strongly urged to enter it".

Israel In The Book Of Revelation (2)

By Dr. Oren Fenton Potito

BUT God never abandoned His people, for Rev. 12:14 tells us, "And to the woman were given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place."—Again, this is familiar Israel symbolism, for in Exodus 19:4, God tells His people, "Ye have seen ... how I bore you on eagles' wings, and brought you unto Myself."

But the serpent's people, having failed to kill off Israel, tried another weapon against them, for Rev. 12:15-16 says "And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away by the flood. And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth and swallowed up the flood which the dragon cast out of his mouth." Rev. 17:15 tells us "The waters which thou sawest ... are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues."—So the serpent's new attack was an attempt to destroy God's race by mongrelization. The great Asiatic invasions under Atilla and Genghis Khan were sent to overrun and intermix with the Israelites on their march into Europe, but they succeeded only in hurrying the migration of Israel, and were not able to overrun them.

Finally, the identification of Israel is completed in Chapter 12:17: "And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God and have the testimony of Jesus Christ." We know that all the real Israelite nations today do "have the testimony of Jesus Christ"—not Judaism, but Christianity. Call the roll of the great Christian nations of the world today, those who have demonstrated what true Christianity can do for the nation which will wholeheartedly follow it, and you have the list of the Anglo-Saxon nations: the United States, Germany, Britain, Canada, Australia, South Africa, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and heroic little Finland. There are pockets of Israel peoples existing in many other nations.

The original City of Babylon had perished by the time John wrote this book; yet, he speaks of "Great Babylon" in prophecies extending to the end of this age. Therefore, he is speaking of the Babylonian System, which did not end with the fall of the city, but is with us even today. It completely dominates our present Jewish economic and financial system, it forms a powerful portion of our present Jewish-controlled religious system, and it dominates the political systems of the world today. But even Babylon must be subject to the laws of God when the Final Judgment comes.

Chapter 17 deals with religious Babylon in its present form. while Chapter 18 covers the Babylonian economic system of today. From the description given, it is easy to identify those of whom it is speaking. An angel announces the fall of this system, and the despair of those who have used it to gain world power. He tells them, "thy merchants were the great men of the earth: for by thy sorceries were all the nations deceived" (18:23), and describes which merchants these are, who handle "the merchandise of gold, and silver, and precious stones, and pearls, and fine linen and purple and silk and scarlet; and all aromatic wood, and all manner vessels of ivory, and all manner vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and iron, and marble; and cinnamon, and odours. and ointments and frankincense; and wine; and oil, and fine flour, and wheat; and cattle and sheep; and horses and chariots; and slaves and souls of men" (18:12-13).

There you have it: gold and jewelry; the clothing industry; luxury items; the drug industry; the liquor industry; wholesale foods and meat-packing industry: when you find the people who have largely monopolized these trades—the Jews—you have thereby identified the economic side of "Great Babylon."

But the Babylonian System in all its phases is evil, and has brought misery and grief to the great majority of the people of the world for these many centuries: therefore, God prophesies its overthrow and judgment in this chapter. We are warned to drive them out, for God tells us, "Come out of her, My people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities." (18:4-5)—The judgment which we—yes, WE—are commanded to execute upon Great Babylon is pure Israel law.

"Reward her even as she rewarded you, and DOUBLE unto her DOUBLE according to her works: in the cup which she hath filled, fill to her double" (18:6). Under Israel law, a thief must always restore to his victim at least double what he stole: for example, Exodus 22:9 commands "For all manner of trespass, whether it be for ox, for ass, for sheep, for raiment, or for any manner of lost thing, which another challengeth to be his, the cause of both parties shall come before the judges; and whom the judges shall condemn, he shall pay DOUBLE unto his neighbor." This being justice to require of God's people, surely it is the minimum justice to require of Satan's children.

Again, we are told, in Rev. 18:24 that the evil activities of this Great Babylon have been basically responsible for all the murders of the innocent, for it says. "And in her was found the blood of prophets, and of saints, and of all that were slain upon the earth".

This book is prophetic of all time, even to the end of this age, so this covers their guilt of the millions of Christians who have been murdered behind the Iron Curtain in our own day, as well as the other millions slain in the wars which their plots have brought on and are bringing on. Jesus Christ Himself identified them for us. In Matthew 23:29-35. He clearly referred to the same thing, saying: "Woe unto you. Scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! Because ye build the tombs of the prophets, and garnish the sepulchres of the righteous, and say, 'If we had been in the days of our fathers, we would not have been partakers with them in the blood of the prophets. Wherefore ye be witnesses unto yourselves that ye are the children of them which killed the prophets.

Fill ye up, then, the measure of your fathers. Ye serpents, ye offspring of vipers, how can ye escape the damnation of hell? Wherefore, behold, I send unto you prophets, and wise men, and scribes: and some of them ye shall kill and crucify; and some of them shall ye scourge in your synagogues, and persecute them from city to city. That upon you may come all the righteous blood shed upon the earth, from the blood of righteous Abel unto the blood of Zacharias, the son of Barachias, whom ye slew between the temple and the altar."—In carrying on to its conclusion the conspiracy originated by their ancestors, the wicked also take the responsibility from the beginning to the end. In Matthew 27:25, they acknowledge it, for we read "Then answered all the people and said, 'His blood be upon us and on our children.'"

In Rev. 20:4 we again find Israel in the picture. "And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them."—This is the very thing of which Jesus spoke to His disciples in Matthew 19:28, "Verily I say unto you, that ye which have followed Me, in the regeneration when the Son of man shall sit in the throne of His glory, ye also shall sit upon 12 thrones judging the 12 Tribes of Israel."

During this age, Jesus Christ rules the gentile nations with a rod of iron, compelling them to live by the Laws of God. In Micah 4:4-5, it says "And He shall judge among many people, and rebuke strong nations afar off; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks: nation shall not lift up a sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it."

Even men who think of themselves as religious have thought that they can bring this to pass by their own wisdom and power, through alliances with Satan in the United Nations, which bars all mention of the name of Jesus Christ. But no good can ever come from a godless source. Disarmament and peace can come only when "the mouth of the Lord of hosts hath spoken it"—not when it is spoken by Jews and other parasites.

The gentile races have lived under their own rule, according to their own ideals, for 6,000 years of continuous tyranny and cruelty, poverty and disease, misery and filth. They have rejected the Laws of God, so they must receive the consequences of their own choice. Proverbs 1:29-31 tells it: "They hated knowledge, and did not choose the fear of the Lord: they would none of My counsel: they despised all My reproof. Therefore shall they eat of the fruit of their own way, and be filled with their own devices."—Jesus Christ explained all this in the fourteenth through the seventeenth chapters of John, when he said "And I will pray the Father, and He shall give you another Comforter, that He may abide with you forever: even the Spirit of Truth, whom the world cannot receive because it seeth Him not, neither knoweth Him: ... I have manifested Thy name unto the men which Thou gavest Me out of the world: Thine they were, and Thou gavest them Me: ... I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which Thou hast given Me."

Finally, the twenty-first chapter of Revelation describes the Lamb's wife, the New Jerusalem, the city of God's people. Here, again, many churches have taught false doctrine because they would not take the trouble to study the Bible, but only their doctrines. Before it is too late, they should remember that Jesus Christ quoted those terrible words from Isaiah, "In vain do they worship Me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men." They distort the whole Bible, trying to apply all of God's promises to their church. Some of them teach that Christ's bride is the church. They never got that out of the Bible, which teaches plainly that the church is Christ's body. As Paul says, in Ephesians 1:22-23, "And hath put all things under His feet, and gave Him to be the head over all things to THE CHURCH, WHICH IS HIS BODY, the fullness of Him that filleth all in all."

No one marries his own body. Christ's wife is His people Israel, as the Bible shows in many places, for example, Jeremiah 3:12-14. "Go and proclaim these words toward the north, and say: Return, thou backsliding Israel, saith the Lord: and I will not cause Mine anger to fall upon you: for I am merciful, saith the Lord, and I will not keep anger forever. Turn, O backsliding children, saith the Lord: for I AM MARRIED UNTO YOU."—Again, in the fifty-fourth chapter of Isaiah, God says to Israel, "Fear not: for thou shalt not be ashamed: neither be thou confounded; for thou shalt not be put to shame: for thou shalt forget the shame of thy youth, and shalt not remember the reproach of thy widowhood any more. For THY MAKER IS THINE HUSBAND: The Lord of Hosts is His name; and thy Redeemer the, Holy One of Israel; the God of the whole earth shall He be called."

The description of the Holy City, the New Jerusalem, given in the twenty-first chapter of Revelation, again shows that it is God's people Israel. It describes the foundations of its walls, naming the stones of which it is made. These are the stones which were set in the breast-plate of the High Priest of Israel. Also, it describes the city as surrounded by a high wall, saying, "And had a wall great and high, and twelve gates, and at the gates twelve angels; and names written thereon, WHICH ARE THE NAMES OF THE TWELVE TRIBES OF THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL. On the east, three gates: on the north, three gates: on the south, three gates: and on the west, three gates."—As we have seen, this is the familiar hollow square of the camp of Israel, with three tribes on each of the four sides. But in this final City of God, set up for all eternity, note that it is surrounded by a high wall, so that nobody can get in except through one of the gates, and these gates are the Twelve Tribes of Israel. In Revelation 22:14, it says, "Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in THROUGH

THE GATES into the city."

So never let anyone tell you that the Jews are Israel, for we have often proved that they are not; nor that God has cast off His people Israel, for He has not. The whole Bible is an Israel book, commencing with its first book, Genesis; and we have now seen that even the last book, that of Revelation, is also an Israel book, not only through all of this age, but even into Eternity.

Praying For The Nation

John Trotter (Australia)

Exodus 32:7-14; 33:5 ; Deuteronomy 9:8, 14,25 ;
Proverbs 28:9; Jeremiah 7:8-16 ; Matthew 3:9

During recent weeks, we in Australia have experienced the sham and hypocrisy of politicians parading themselves before the electorate, in the hope that the bemused masses will elect a new parliament. We finally voted in a new government in the name of Democracy. This new Liberal Government has promised confidence, investment and honest government. Does this all sound familiar?

After the dust has settled and in about 2 years, we will look back and ask the question: "Have things really changed for the better?" Will the prayers for the Nation that have been sincerely expressed with great expectation, be answered? Or have we arrived at an historical junction for the Western Nations, when our prayers are an abomination because we have turned away from hearing the law? (Proverbs 28:9). Has the writing been on the wall for some time but few have deciphered its message? I believe so.

Some weeks ago I attended a number of lectures on last day events. The speaker expressed the view, that once a nation legislates laws that are contrary to the Laws given by God to Israel, the nation is in a very serious situation. The matter that he was referring to related to the issue of approving same sex marriages and other related issues. There were a number of other issues raised that showed how the Western Nations had transgressed the Law.

I know many will disagree with me but I feel the time has come, or is in the very near future, when our prayers will have to be more in line with separating us from the world, asking for guidance in our study of the Scriptures, protecting the elect and finally praying for the return of Christ to establish upon this earth His Righteous Kingdom. The return of Christ to this earth is the only solution. Whatever is suggested by man, no matter how good it sounds will not be the answer. Of course there would be personal issues that need to be prayed for, but I believe the above thoughts will provide you with sufficient time for reflection. The above thoughts, I am sure, are already mentioned in your prayers.

I have come to the conclusion that there are still too many people in the churches who believe that the system under which we struggle is still worth saving. Because the churches have not been informed of God's system of Government as explained to Moses, they believe there is no alternative other than some ethereal afterlife of eternal bliss. With Christ reigning on this earth in the near future there has to be some economic and financial Laws that will bring about a righteous society. In passing it is worth noting that Christ Himself endorsed these Laws on a number of occasions.

Have we arrived at a time in history where the thoughts of God as expressed in Jeremiah 7:16 reflect our present sinful state? This verse says: "Therefore pray not thou for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them, neither make intercession to me; for I will not hear thee". Please read the whole chapter for the context of this verse. This is not suggesting that there are some left who have not bowed the knee to Baal, for Elijah had to be shown that 7000 had not become apostatised (1 Kings 19:18). Being in the world but not of it, still means that we all have to abide by the normal day to day functions of life. What I am referring to here are those people who have succumbed to the temporal matters of this world order. They see their salvation in the future manmade management of world affairs and all the sciences. The few who have not bowed the knee realise that there is no future in a political and economic system that falsely believes in giving power to the people at the time of an election, then the leaders soon after fulfil their own desires for a world order based on the false god of human reason and a "Christ" of the New Age teaching.

If you read through the book of Jeremiah the sins of the people are exactly the same today. Nothing has changed, accept the fact that the world has become a global village. The world is smaller due to communication and technology. I came to the conclusion many years ago, that the authorities only plan to manage the decay of society. They do want to eradicate the causes. The symptoms have to be maintained.. All this adds more power and control to the social engineers of society. Words like sin and disobedience are not mentioned like they use to be in the churches. Hymns like, “Onward Christian soldiers, marching as to war”, have been eliminated from the Hymn Book. We appear to be in some type of passive resistance where compromise and tolerance have become the motto of most sermons.

The Old Testament is a very sad history of a people who continually showed a very stiff necked attitude towards a God who only wanted to shower them with blessings (Exodus 33:5). Why did god persist in chastening His people? (Deuteronomy 8:5). In Hebrews 12 : 6 we read: “For whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom He receiveth”. This relationship between the Husband (the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob) and His Wife,(Israel) has continued down through history.

Only the other day, one of our senior public servants, who was previously a politician, proudly announced that the wording that relates to the “unknown fallen soldier” at the Canberra War Memorial would be changed. The words at the moment read as follows: “only known unto God”. In the near future the mention of God is to be removed and the “unknown fallen soldier” will be seen as a citizen of the world (the exact wording is forgotten). This is just another example where we are seeing the name of God being slowly removed from the memory of the people.

Many times I have had it said to me that God is in control and that they are on His side. If the prophets had taken that attitude we would not have had an Old Testament or even a New Testament. The Bible is very clear that God cannot go back on His Word for He changes not (Malachi 3:6, James 1:17). It is my view that the souls of men can be eternally lost and therefore it is necessary that we plant the seed of hope in the mind of those who we converse with.

The word “Tekel” (Daniel 5:27) has been ringing out for some decades, but who can read the signs: “we have been weighed in the balances, and art found wanting”. It is not my intention to advise you in your manner of prayer, but this I am sure of , our leaders both political and spiritual will mostly be found speaking on behalf of Satan’s power in high places ( Ephesians 6:12 ) . In the meantime be a student of the Scriptures. Believe that God chooses the foolishness of this world to confound the wise (1 Corinthians 1:27). Confide in each other with the understanding that narrow is the way and few there be that find it (Matthew 7:14), and finally pray that the “chosen remnant” will remain faithful to the High Calling of God.

Letters And Views

The Monstrous State Cover Up Of Ms Seven Versus Gossage And Nine Others

My name is Tony Farrell, I am a former Principal Intelligence Analyst within the police service and this website will provide an opportunity for viewers to download utterly damning information exposing what must be one of the most monstrous cover ups in the history of the British Judicial system. The case material freely on offer here concerns corruption and racketeering within the media and the entertainment industry extending into circles of the judiciary and the police service.

Beneficiaries of this decade of racketeering include the BBC, ITV, Channel 4, Virgin Media. Scottish TV and large international law firm such as Bindmans with its associated linkages to Terrorism and the Leveson Inquiry into phone hacking and the police media relationship. This case contains an extraordinary illustrative example of prolonged gang-stalking and a reign of domestic terror at its most blatant. Some of the down-loadable material has clear relevance to the London Bombings of 7th July 2005 and the assassination of Jean Charles De Menezes two weeks later.

This material will shock, scare and infuriate, but it will also enlighten and encourage. This is a truly outrageous case. It involves MS SEVEN, MS CHARLES SEVEN – a Rosa Parks of our generation. The available material tells of her battle against some of the giants of the entertainment industry and against high profile individuals, corporations and controlling systems. It is a case that will strike at the treasonous corruption within our midst.

An understanding of the scale of organised criminality operating within the establishment is predicated not so much on facts which have been told to us but on secrets which have been hidden away and buried from our sight. Some of those filthy secrets are about to come to light within this available material. In the public interest and for the sake of our freedoms, it is imperative that this information triggers a response from good members of the public. Ignore it at your peril.

You are urged to use this material. It is time to wake people up to the massive scale of corruption within our midst. Do not assist the perpetuation of the cover up by your complicit silence. When our freedoms are at stake, silence is not golden, it is yellow.

Finally have nothing to do with the fruitless deeds of darkness, but rather come out and expose. Yours truly, Tony Farrell, The Principled Intelligence Analyst, Standing Apart from the Police.

Historic Private Criminal Prosecution of Police

You may wish to read the coverage of the progress on the Private Criminal Prosecution I have started in connection with the Metropolitan Police. Previously I was taking the CPS to Judicial review of their decision to try and stop the prosecution.

<http://www.independent.co.uk/news/uk/crime/private-citizen-wins-right-to-prosecute-met-police-worker-8890313.html>

The CPS now accept there is grounds for bringing the prosecution, 5 years after events in 2008.

NOTE: There has never been a criminal investigation into the facts of this case, indeed the IPCC (Police Watchdog) took one year to write a report exonerating all involved. This is the 'HEAR NO EVIL, SPEAK NO EVIL, SAY NO EVIL' policy of Police professional standards and the IPCC.

There is no real accountability in the UK at present and as I say in the article, the best place for these things to be decided, when there is a proven case to answer on the evidence is before an impartial jury of 12.

The failure of accountability compounds the trauma of those affected by police corruption. It is sad to say, as we witness more and more scandals on a daily basis, failures to investigate serious paedophilia, Hillsborough, Daniel Morgan murder, Sean Rigg, Lynette White, Plebgate, Ian Tomlinson, Habib Paps, just some of the most recent scandals we've seen.

Surely enough is enough, for both decent members of society and decent members of the police. Yours truly, Michael Doherty.

No Check or Balance on Unsupervised Politicians Addendum

Sir __, I would be grateful if you would publish an addendum to my previous letter, which is as follows:

It is remarkable that the Crown still operates under the written Constitution. The Lancastrian charters are the very documents by which the Queen sits on the throne.

As Parliament is not operating under the constitution they are in a state of rebellion, against the people and the Crown. Although my Latin lessons at school have evaporated I examined Magna Charta some years ago and read somewhere about clause 65 that “the widow shall receive her estate entire.” It appears that death duties are unlawful.

In "Parkinson's law" the professor tells us that taxing capital and spending it as income is a sure way to national poverty. It was enacted in 1908 when we were the most powerful nation in the world. Now much of our industry is owned by foreigners not British people.

Both major political parties appear to have secret agendas which are very similar. British coal mines, when once the pit head price of British coal was the cheapest in the world but alas no more. The politicians have made us dependent on expensive foreign fuel in the form of gas and oil. Yours truly, An Ancient Mariner.

Editorial Bias and Infiltration

This letter and introduction by former Canadian diplomat Ian Macdonald brings up a point we should all keep in mind which is that the Jewish side very often infiltrates their Jewish agents into opposition groups at the local level or eliminates that opposition directly and at the local level. That subject was brought up in a republished article by Lasha Darkmoon in her June, 2013 newsletter and originally written by Eustice Mullins and entitled "My Struggle Against the Jews" following Ian's letter.TL

HP - I visited the Garden Tomb just a few months prior to Dr Mattar's murder and we had a nice chat. The Israelis expelled him from his ancestral home but he had accepted the loss complacently, it seemed to me. Both his son and daughter married Canadians and were living near Toronto at the time, enhancing the newsworthiness of the Martyrdom, but the only coverage was by the United Church Observer, and then only because the Editor, Al Forrest, was a dedicated supporter of the dispossessed Palestinians and active critic of their diabolical Jewish oppressors.

Al Forrest died following a visit to his office by three Jewish "businessmen" (as he described them) who threatened him with very unpleasant consequences if he did not cease his public criticism of Israel. He ignored the threat and not long afterwards died of a "heart attack". He was replaced by an ardent Zionist in thrall to a committee of Toronto rabbis whose instructions you may be sure would never be in the best interests of genuine Christians or the Church. Another friend, Bill Podgson, a British engineer with Middle East experience who frequently took the Palestinian side in media interviews, was found dead in the parking garage at Pearson Airport, also supposedly from a heart attack. Below, my letter to the National Post (Toronto)

Twisting the News

Your heading under "World Report", October 10, 2013 (since it follows a series of attacks on Christians in the Middle East by Muslim fanatics) leads the reader to believe that Arabs were responsible for the recent anti-Christian incident in Jerusalem by the words "In the latest attack on Christians, vandals desecrate graves in Jerusalem". In fact, as only a determined subscriber would learn from reading the article to the end, the perpetrators were "Israeli settlers from the West Bank", making yet another attempt to erase any trace of the legacy of Jesus and history of the Christian Holy Land, which precedes the illegal Khazar-Jew invasion and occupation by almost 2 millennia.

The latest desecration follows many thousands of equally outrageous anti-Christian atrocities since 1948, including the Lidice-style razing of Emmaeus of Biblical fame and hundreds of other ancient Christian villages (one of which lies beneath what is now known as "Canada Park"), occasionally bringing the stone houses down on elderly occupants who refused to vacate. Those dispossessed from their centuries-old homes and farms were not compensated - hypocritically in the extreme since the new owners had demanded and received hundreds of billions of dollars in compensation to satisfy their (grossly-inflated) claims for alleged WWII losses.

Perhaps the most provocative anti-Christian sacrilege of all, fastidiously concealed by the mainline media, was the execution of the Rev. Dr. Solomon J. Mattar, Keeper of the Garden Tomb, which took place shortly after the occupation of East Jerusalem. The Tomb was well known to hundreds of thousands of pilgrims as one of the three most important Christian Holy Places. On June 6, 1967 a group of Israeli soldiers visited the Tomb and were graciously received by the elderly Keeper, although they declined to enter the Tomb itself. There ensued a conversation with the soldiers, culminating in a burst of machine-gun fire in Dr Mattar's face, killing him instantly.

When I learned of the tragedy and media cover-up, I placed an "In Memoriam" announcement in The Times of London noting that Dr Mattar had been executed by Israeli soldiers and had died as a "Christian Martyr - In His footsteps". The announcement sparked a complaint from the Israeli lobby and a furore in the office of the Editor who was forced to print an Israeli Government version of the incident, claiming falsely that the Keeper had been "killed in the crossfire" and that the killer showed remorse since he had mistaken him for the gardener. Since then, The Times has refused to accept the original wording.

Many Palestinian Christians and Muslims have died in similar summary executions, including thousands of children killed by IDF snipers for "sport" during the Intifadas, but few, if any, of the killers have been brought to justice. In one especially sordid case, a 12 year old schoolgirl, when passing a check-point, was gratuitously shot and wounded by an Israeli soldier. As she lay wounded, the officer in charge rushed out and emptied his Uzi into the poor child's body. He was later promoted for his courage in the face of the enemy. If any such incident, as with other forms of Israeli wrong-doing, were even mentioned in the media, the media interpretation would be always that the Israeli perpetrators were provoked into acting by the traumatic memory of the "Holocaust" and were in fact the true victims!

Still, many "good Christians" ardently support and fawn over the diabolical enemy of their religion and arch-blasphemers of its Founder, not least of all the current Prime Minister and his dual-loyalist Ministers whose sinister submission to the Rabbis and subservience to Zionist paymasters would be tolerated in no other supposedly democratic country. As ever, Ian V. ## A Beast With A Hand? (Part 2)

By Jason Blaha

A lot of modern "theologians" and ministers attempt to convince us that it says "perfect in his generation" [singular], and that generation simply means the generation born at that time. They tell us that Noah was the holiest man of that generation, and that this is the meaning of "perfect in his generations". Our people, being the sheep that Yahweh said we are, just follow along, never bothering to wonder if the word "generations" used in this verse both mean the same thing. Well, they are both translated from the word "towledah", and both clearly mean lineage. The Scriptures are saying that Noah was perfect in his lineage. If you were born in the United States in the last 50 years, this may be rather difficult for you to comprehend, with what they teach in these Federal Indoctrination Centers called schools, and in the churches of Ba'al that have cropped up across this great nation. Noah was perfect in his lineage because he was not mixed. Mixed with what, you might ask? Noah was not mixed with the blood of the beast, nor with the fallen angels spoken of in this chapter, nor was he mixed with the seed of the serpent, who existed through Cain's descendents. Simply put, he drew ALL of his ancestry from the Adamic race. If Noah was selected, in part, because he was pure in his lineage, then one must conclude that the majority of the people were not.

Genesis 6: 10: "And Noah begat three sons, Shem, Ham, and Japheth."

It is very important that we pause and think here. If being pure in ones generations was a good thing, and Noah walked with God, then we must conclude that Noah followed the commandments of God [such as multiply kind after kind], and dwelt in righteousness.

Open your spiritual eyes, brothers and sisters, let the Holy Spirit [not an unholy spirit from Satan] lead you to the truth of this matter, and the significance of it. Noah would only have taken a wife who was pure in her generations as well.

There are a number of churches springing up in America, which are teaching that Noah had three wives of different races, and that his sons were of different races. If Noah and his wife were pure in their generations, then Shem, Ham, and Japheth were as well.

We know from studying the Hebrew that Adam was a Caucasioid, and that Eve, being formed of one of his ribs, was as well. Noah was pure in his lineage, thus was a member of our people along with his wife and three sons. If you have been taught in these "Judeo-Christian" temples of Ba'al most of your life, this will elude you, so you must draw upon the Holy Spirit if you are to comprehend these things.

On the other hand, if you are a babe in Christ, or a small child, you can easily grasp these simple concepts. Failure to understand the lineage of Adam through Noah, and then onto Noah's three sons, will leave you grasping at straws as you study the rest of the Scriptures. If your understanding of Scripture is not rooted in a good foundation, it will never grow, and if your house of faith is not built upon solid ground, it will crumble as we progress into the Latter Days of Jacob's Trouble.

The foundation of the Scriptures is in the book of Genesis. That is why this beautiful book is the first one in your Holy Bible. If you fail to understand two concepts from the first several chapters, your study will be in vain, for these two things saturate every book of the Bible, from Genesis to Revelation. The first being the identity and history of the seed of the serpent from Genesis 3:15 [which is not included in this Bible study], and the comprehension and identification of the lineage of Adam. The establishment churches fail in both of these regards [Catholic, Baptist, Methodist, Pentecostal, etc, etc], and that is why someone who knows the Scriptures can discuss them with one of these Ba'al ministers, and literally rip their entire collection of doctrines apart with nothing but a King James Bible.

As we read the following Scriptures, let us bear in mind that there is no evidence that the Adamic race has spread across the entire globe. They dwelt in a single nation, or land. This will be addressed a little later in this study. This verse of Scripture, and others like it are the one's used as primary evidence of a global flood.

Genesis 6; 17: "And behold, I, even I, do bring a flood of waters upon the 'erets [earth as in dirt or ground, most likely meaning a land, as we will see later], to destroy all basar [flesh of people], wherein is the breath of life, from under the heaven; and every thing that is in the 'erets shall die."

In this Adamic flesh is "the breath of life." Let us find the Biblical reference to who has the breath of life. Is it all creatures that draw air into their lungs? This is everything that the Scriptures have to say on what has the breath of life:

Genesis 2: 7: "And YHVH God formed man [adam...blushing man] of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and 'adam became a living soul."

There is no wiggle room here, brothers and sisters. Adam was given the breath of life. Neither the beast of the field, the fowl of the air, nor the fish of the sea were given the breath of life, nor were they made living souls. All Adamic flesh, which alone contains the breath of life, was destroyed. All of it under the heavens, because Yahweh had kept it contained in the 'erets. Yahweh kept it contained in that land. "...AND every thing that is the 'erets shall die." That is right. Every thing that was in this land where 'adam dwelt would perish in the deluge, along with the people that dwelt there. However, it does not say every thing under the heavens.

Genesis 7: 4: "For yet seven days, and I will cause it to rain upon the 'erets forty days and forty nights; and every living substance that I have made will I destroy from of the face of the 'adamah."

That is correct, Yahweh destroyed every living thing that dwelt in that land. There are many verses saying this same thing, and they are all true, for there is no untruth in the Word...only misinterpretations. Allow the Holy Spirit that our Father instilled in each of us, to speak to you on this matter as we delve deeper into this subject.

Genesis 6: 4 "There were giants [Strong's #5303 nephiyl], meaning a bully, tyrant, or a giant] in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God [angels, who sinned against YHVH by this act] came in unto the daughters of 'adam, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty [Strong's #1368, gibbor; powerful, warrior, tyrant, champion, chief, excel, GIANT...] men which were of old, men of renown.

These are antediluvian giants, but did they survive this great flood? To answer this we need only look in the Bible.

Numbers 13: 33: "And there we saw the giants [nephiyl], the sons of Anak, which come of the giants [gibbor, the same word used for the giant, angel-adamite crossbreeds of Genesis]: and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight."

These men were not six or seven feet tall. The Scriptures clearly imply that they were huge. Yahweh does not exaggerate. These monsters were more likely than not fifteen or twenty feet tall. The Hebrew wording makes it very clear that they descended from the giants of Genesis chapter six. These giants and other tribes of giants are spoken of in Deuteronomy, Joshua, II Samuel, and I Chronicles. What of Goliath? How did these giants survive the flood? Would Noah have brought these unnatural creatures onboard the ark? If you have eyes with which to see, then I will ask you this: did Yahweh allow the serpent seed onboard the ark as well? Is this the reason why Noah had to have such a large ark? To contain these giants and the animals they would need to consume? There was hardly enough meat with only seven of every clean animal for Noah and his family, eight people, along with the predatory animals to eat. Bearing in mind the evil tyrants that these monstrosities were, and the desire they always seemed to have, throughout the Bible, to destroy the Israelites, they would have been difficult to contain. Perhaps they were tall enough that they stood on the peaks of the mountains and managed to keep their heads above water until the flood subsided. The flood subsided? Interesting notion. Where did it go, and why didn't it leave any archeological or geological evidence? Well, how deep was this flood? The Bible says fifty cubits, which is about seventy-five feet, or twenty-five yards. Let us see how the waters were drained.

Genesis 8:1: "And God remembered Noah, and every living thing, and all the cattle that was with him in the ark: and God made a wind to pass over the 'erets, and the waters assuaged."

Most interesting ... Yahweh caused a great wind to pass over the waters, and this blew them from off of the land. Use the common sense that the Father gave you. If you had an entire planet covered with water, and a great wind blew across it, certainly the water would move, but it would go somewhere else, and water from the other direction would quickly fill the void. This happens constantly in the oceans. This is where we get waves.

On the other hand, if you took a shallow bowl and filled it with water and set it on your table, and blew it with a straw, what would happen?

You could blow water out, and onto the table. If the flood were set in a recess, at a higher altitude than the lands around it, a continual strong wind could blow the water out, over a period of time, and it would not return, but be dispersed into the surrounding lands. Let us take a closer look at this word earth, or 'erets. I'll start by giving you other Bible verses using the word 'erets. Due to the fact that there are thousands of them, I can only include a few. Try to fit the words "earth or entire earth" in place of 'erets in any of these.

Genesis 2: 11: "The name of the first is Pison: that is it which compasseth the whole land ['erets] of Havilan, where there is gold."

Genesis 2: 12: "And the gold of that land ['erets] is good: there is bdellium and the onyx stone."

Genesis 2: 13: "And the name of the second river is Gihon: the same is it that compasseth the whole land ['erets] of Ethiolpia."

Genesis 10: 10-11: "And the beginning of his kingdom was Bable, and Erech, and Accad, and Calneh, in the land ['erets] of Shinar. Out of that land ['erets] went forth Asshur..."

Genesis 12: 10: "And there was a famine in the land ['erets]: and Abram went down into Egypt to sojourn there; for the famine was grievous in the land ['erets]."

Genesis 15: 18: "... Unto thy seed have I given this land ['erets], from the river of Egypt unto the great river ..."

As one will clearly be able to see with some research, any use of the word 'erets can be translated to land [as in a specific land], including the one's involving the flood, which were translated "earth" or "whole earth", but very few translations of the word can be made to appear as "whole earth". Read the verses concerning the flood again, but bear in mind that the word "earth" means a piece of earth. It is also possible to read the word "earth" in those verses as "land", because "land" can always be used as a translation of 'erets.

Having determined that the flood took place in a land, it would be unfair to those studying this to make claims about the geographical nature of this area, without revealing the location of this basin or valley in question. If one takes a look at a map of central Asia, they will find a large basin trapped between the Tian Shan Mountains to the north, and the Kuen Lun Mountains to the south. The Pamir Plateau blocks the west. To the northwest of the Tarim Basin, also called the flood basin, lies the Gobi desert. With some research, ancient maps of the region may be located, showing the four rivers named in Genesis flowing out of the basin, called by those same names.

In recent years archeologist have discovered mummies which are unquestionably Caucasian, in the Tarim Basin, and the basin is now believed to be the cradle of the peoples collectively known as the White race. Around the time of the flood, Chinese history, which we know to predate both the Great Flood and the coming of Adam, documents the flood. The filling of the Tarim Basin is documented, along with the drain off of the waters. Part of the water was drained into the Yellow River, in China, which caused it to overflow its banks and flood many villages there.

Woe unto the pastors and Ba'al ministers who teach that we all come from 'adam! Man ('adam or blushing man) and beast neither come from the same source, nor are they equal in the eyes of Yahweh thy 'Elohiym. Those who cannot accept this can take it up with Yahweh. This may be so, but the world tells us that we are all equal. Oh? Use the common sense that Yahweh gave you, brothers and sisters. Let us observe the races, which we are to believe to be our equals. Take a long, hard look at the Negroids in Africa first. Without the help of the White man in South Africa, and a few other countries, they have built absolutely nothing.

They have built no great cities on their own. Name one technological invention that has come out of these beasts in Africa. Prior to the coming of the White man, their most complex tools were stone spears and bits of rock. They have had over thirty thousand years more time than us to develop their technology and civilizations. The Africans cannot even feed themselves! Without aid from the United States, England, France, Germany, and other Caucasian nations well over half of the Negroids in Africa would starve to death.

What of blacks in modern day America? As we all well know, they originally came over on slave ships. Did those slavers just grab any Negro they saw and ship them to America? Of course not. History tells us that the slavers selected only the strongest and healthiest of the tribesmen they found. These were the top ten percent. The finest men and women that Africa had to offer. Once they got them on the slave ship, the living conditions were so horrible, that only half of them survived the voyages across the Atlantic. Care to guess which half? The strongest half. Only the elite of the elite made it to the shores of this continent. Once the slaves made it to this land, they were selectively bred for strength, endurance, and intelligence. Our ancestors bred an elite race of Negroids, who should then, at the very least, be our equals. Look at the black inventors and scientist in this nation. There are a great many of them, but how about in proportion to our people. Look at the crime rate. Blacks, being only thirteen percent of the population, commit roughly sixty percent of the violent crimes.

With the integration of our schools, look at the practices and filth that our children have learned and passed on to other generations of Caucasians in this nation. Look at the gang violence/ tribal warfare. What of those few black inventors and engineers that contribute to our society. Where did they learn these skills? Some may have learned them from a black teacher, but somewhere down the line, it all came from our people. We created the technology and the society that has allowed them to achieve this, and we are the ones who put their ancestors in this society. We have given these black beasts everything!

Yet they curse us, rape us, rob us and kill us, then demand more. The Negro blames us because they cannot achieve what we have done. They blame it on racism, and accuse "whitey" of "keeping them down". Do you really think affirmative action will solve the problem? In over forty thousand years, the Negroid Race has failed to accomplish even a fraction of what our people have in the six thousand years that we have existed. No amount of affirmative action will ever make us equal, because it is Yahweh who created the inherent differences between man and beast.

What of the "Native Americans" or "American Indians"? A little archeological study will reveal that the majority of them were of Mongoloid decent, though a few of them were not. The "C" tribe (Cherokee, Choctaw, etc) were originally Celtic and Scandinavian explorers who sailed over to this continent a couple hundred years before Christ, but only a remnant of them had kept their lineage pure by the time the English colonist arrived. You should be able to find thousands of pages on this subject at your local library or a Mormon Church. These Mongoloid peoples had been here for thousands of years before us. What had they accomplished in those thousands of years? When we arrived, they were using tools of stone and bone. These primitive peoples worshipped pagan gods, and failed to build civilizations beyond that of small tribal units. Equal? Some say they were equal because they respected the earth and worshiped gods of nature and earth.

Paganism and Satanism have nothing to do with Jesus Christ. False religions based upon Satanism do not make one equal to a White Christian. Why did Yahweh allow His Christian Israel people to destroy them? Simply because we are His children and they were inconvenient beasts, just as the Canaanites in Canaan were an inconvenience to our ancestors when they captured Canaan land in the Scriptures. America is the Promised Land of Israel (the Caucasian peoples of the Earth).

The other branch of the Mongoloid races has faired much better in Asia, and so claim that they are superior to us. If one is a Satan worshipping Buddhist they might conclude that the religions of Asia are so peaceful and in touch with nature, but that counts for very little. Today we hear much talk of Asia becoming so powerful. This is primarily because our schools have been mongrelized and our once-Christian society has been mixed with false religions and anti-Christ Jewish teachings.

This has certainly negatively affected our productivity as a people, but has Asia surpassed us? My friend, take a long, hard look at Asia. These chay kiy 'adamah have not caught us. The nation of China has existed for eight thousand years! With the aid of Russia's technology, due to their alliance, it is now only thirty years behind this two-hundred-year-old nation technologically. Culturally, China has bred a society of slaves. This is where their competitive advantage is.

They can produce cheap slave labor to mass-produce goods. They have really caught up with the White Race... or have they? The other Mongoloid nations are much the same, if not somewhat behind China, with the exception of Japan. Japan, the emerald of eastern Asia has really done well in the last hundred years. After all of these thousands of years, she has finally become a major economic power. Where did Japan acquire her talent for technology? You guessed it; from the White man. Our people first invented everything that the Japanese produce. Much like China Japan has created a culture of slaves to do their bidding.

The point of this is that our people have given everything to the world. The blessings that Yahweh has bestowed upon the Caucasian race have allowed us to create the technology that the world uses. They have allowed us to feed the chay kiy 'adamah who cannot produce enough food to feed themselves, and have allowed us the created Western Christian Civilization. What proof is there that we are all equal? The pure descendants of Adam are thousands of years ahead of the beasts technologically, culturally and spiritually. There is no room for comparison. With that point made, it is time to go into an in-depth study of the difference between the Adamic Race and the pre-Adamic races in the Scriptures. This will take some time, as we will study both the Old and New Testament.

The Treason Of Britain's Metrication By Rex Poulton

TREASON is treachery, a betraying or a breach of faith and in law denotes the grave crime of treachery toward the Sovereign as head of the State and any betraying of the State itself. (Moriarty's Police Law. 17th edition, page 202.) Treason is to betray or violate one's duty of allegiance to one's own people and thus to one's country in support of any other state, power or authority. It is disloyalty, duplicity and to undermine your own country.

Imperial weights and measures for all purposes, have been expressly authorised by the Imperial Parliament in Westminster. No amending Act has ever been introduced. There is no law, ruling or edict that requires Britain's metrication. No White or Green Paper, mention in any political party manifesto, Queen's speech, Parliamentary legislative programme or popular mandate has ever suggested that Britain should or would adopt the metric system.

The parliament inspired mantra "The UK took the decision to adopt the metric system in 1965" is a lie. Contrived purely for political purpose, it is better known as the “Myth of 1965”. The UK has never “decided” to adopt metrication. The public have never been consulted, their consent or agreement has never been sought let alone given and metrication has never been debated in Parliament. The myth arises from the personal desire of two 1960’s civil servants and Harold Wilson’s failed sop to the French who refused UK admission to the EEC anyway. These are no argument for Britain's metrication.

Britain is not and has never been part of the European Union.

When he signed the European Communities Act in 1972, then Prime Minister Edward Heath knowingly and wilfully deceived and betrayed the British people into foreign rule by the EEC/EU. THAT was the most calculating and grievous treason in British history. Upon signing, his treason instantly removed him from lawful office and his treasonous act failed to become legally binding because treason has no legitimacy and cannot do that. His then treasonous government immediately became an unlawful assembly since a treasonous government is not lawful. It too, has no legitimacy.

Yes, the full weight of the law will be in metric

No parliament can bind a successor. But no following parliament has ever reversed Heath’s treachery. Instead, every following prime minister and parliament has consciously and deliberately lied to continue Heath’s outrageous and criminal pretence that Britain had knowingly and willingly signed up to foreign rule. As public servants, neither he nor they ever had authority to make such an undertaking over the people’s heads. Their actions are therefore, contrary to law in several respects.

Every parliament since Heath’s has therefore been and is an unlawful assembly committing the most atrocious act of treason against their own people by inviting and imposing foreign rule over their own country. Not one has ever acted within the law. Having solemnly sworn lifetime oaths of allegiance, each has conspired in this treason and they continue to deceitfully conceal the truth of their illicit activities from the public as it has always been known that the British people would object most violently were they ever to find out. But they are finding out. Considerable documentary evidence of this criminality exists in the public domain. (<http://www.acasefortreason.org.uk/index.php/the-evidence-files> and Hansard).

No law or other binding obligation can result from treason or any intent by an unlawful assembly. British law and our imperial system of measurement therefore, remain as they were prior to signing of the 1972 Act. That means that the metric system has no place whatsoever in Britain, just as before 1972. In consequence of the above, Britain is not and has never been part of the European Union as every Act, EU Treaty and every statute since 1972 whether or not given the Royal Assent, is treasonous, illegal, null and void. So also, is any attempted standard use of the metric scales. This naturally includes such documents as the Weights and Measures Act 1985, the Metric Regulations 1994 and all EEC/EU Regulations and Directives which have no lawful relevance here. The European Union has no legitimate influence in Britain whatsoever.

Neither does its Napoleonic European Law. In any case, the superiority of British law in this country automatically strikes down any attempt to subvert or replace it. The pretence of European influence is none other than parliamentary make-believe and pure theatre by Westminster, designed at the highest levels to deceive and subjugate the people to foreign rule against their will for others’ political purpose contrary to law. It is wilful TREASON.

A succession of unlawful British parliaments therefore, having no legitimacy, illegally and without mandate, wilfully import and impose upon their own people, foreign rule and influence that has no legality in Britain. It is based solely upon the deliberate lie that “The UK took the decision to adopt the metric system in 1965” when in fact the people knew nothing about it and have been purposely betrayed.

Metrication for Britain has no basis in law. It has no popular demand or even beneficial practicality whatsoever. While each and every parliament since 1972 has committed the most unimaginable treason against their own people, their actions have been contrary to the Treason Act 1351, the Act of Supremacy 1559, the Declaration and Bill of Rights 1688 and the Treason Felony Act 1848. All of these laws are inviolable and are in perpetuity. Under the Act of Settlement 1700 S4, the laws of England are the birthright of the people and cannot be taken away. That means that use of the imperial system of measurement in Britain is protected by law (as it is law) and such law is the birthright of the people. It cannot be removed.

Since 1897 the people of Britain have consistently rejected the metric system as “inferior, restricting, inflexible, long-winded and of limited utility”. They have also considered it prone to considerable error (overlooked decimal point), having too few units which are of impractical size and being entirely unsuited to measurement’s needs. These views extend also to the current sale of certain commodities in metric sizes, all of which are contrary to law. Surveys repeatedly show that more than 90% of people in this country refuse to accept or adopt the metric system.

I m p e r i a l

around the world. Other than in the USSR, all world wide distances are calculated in nautical miles, yards (sea depths are also in fathoms), feet and inches. Quantities are in pounds weight, tons and gallons. This is because imperial units are chosen universally for their practicality and applicability in all air and sea measurement uses over the metric accounting system that is workable only in multiples of 10. In Britain, imperial measurement remains always to be the legally required standard in transportation and road use. Unlike the mistaken perception of some (sometimes induced out of fear to be seen using the “right” units), the centimetre, metre, kilometre, kilo and litre are not the lawful standard British units of measurement. Those are the inch, foot, yard, mile, pound (weight) and gallon as required by law. They have never been replaced.

Had the metric system been as advantageous as claimed, it will have been readily adopted around the world, most particularly by the United States and British peoples. But almost 400 million people in the U.S. and Britain choose imperial measurements exclusively. In Canada, metrication proved so unpopular that the government backed-down and restored freedom to use imperial. Despite rigidly enforced metrication in other countries, many people around the world still choose imperial units for their flexibility, ease of use and ready application.

The treason of Britain’s metrication is being reported by a growing number of angered people across the country to the nation’s police forces for prosecution. Under Common Law, to be aware as you now are, that treason has been and is being committed but to do nothing to prevent, it is to commit the equally serious offences of ‘Misprision of Treason at common law’ (knowing of treason committed but doing nothing to report or prevent it) and ‘Compounding (the) Treason at common law’ (any act or inaction which effectively condones, supports or allows the treason to continue). These offences are tried in court as the original treason and the legal obligation to report known treason extends to every person in the country.

To use or represent the metric system in Britain as the accepted legal standard British units of measurement is knowingly or otherwise to mislead the British public mind. Most commonly found in British TV broadcasting and government services, it influences the people into believing that Britain has accepted such foreign pressure and control as its own when it has done nothing of the sort. It is a gravely serious offence to undermine the British people. It is TREASON. William Joyce was convicted for treason and was hanged for just such misleading influence. Since that time, treason continues to be regarded as so serious an undermining attack upon the British nation that the treason laws have not changed despite certain politicians’ personal desire to do that.

The Genesis Flood

Why the Bible Says It Must be Local

by Rich Deem

Introduction

The Bible says the flood was global?

"The Bible says it. I believe it. That settles it!"

THE phrase is a common argument used for those who call for the "literal reading" of the Bible. I have no complaints against reading the Bible literally. However, many who claim to be literalists apparently do not believe everything the Bible says. Creation passages clearly say that God caused the original global seas to be restricted - never to cover the entire earth again. The Genesis flood passage itself says that the water covered "the entire earth" even though Noah could see the distant mountains, indicating that the "earth" was just the entire land of Mesopotamia.

Many Christians maintain that the Bible says that the flood account of Genesis requires an interpretation that states that the waters of the flood covered the entire earth. If you read our English Bibles, you will probably come to this conclusion if you don't read the text too closely and if you fail to consider the rest of your Bible. Like most other Genesis stories, the flood account is found in more places than just Genesis. If you read the sidebar, you will discover that Psalm 104 directly eliminates any possibility of the flood being global (see Psalm 104-9 - Does it refer to the Original Creation or the Flood?). In order to accept a global flood, you must reject Psalm 104 and the inerrancy of the Bible. If you like to solve mysteries on your own, you might want to read the flood account first and find the biblical basis for a local flood.

The Bible's other creation passages eliminate the possibility of a global flood

The concept of a global Genesis flood can be easily eliminated from a plain reading of Psalm 104,<sup>1</sup> which is known as the "creation psalm." Psalm 104 describes the creation of the earth in the same order as that seen in Genesis 1 (with a few more details added). It begins with an expanding universe model (reminiscent of the Big Bang) (verse 2, parallel to Genesis 1:1). It next describes the formation of a stable water cycle (verses 3-5, parallel to Genesis 1:6-8). The earth is then described as a planet completely covered with water (verse 6, parallel to Genesis 1:9). God then causes the dry land to appear (verses 7-8,<sup>1</sup> parallel to Genesis 1:9-10). The verse that eliminates a global flood follows: "You set a boundary they [the waters] cannot cross; never again will they cover the earth." (Psalm 104:9) Obviously, if the waters never again covered the earth, then the flood must have been local. Psalm 104 is just one of several creation passages that indicate that God prevented the seas from covering the entire earth. An integration of all flood and creation passages clearly indicates that the Genesis flood was local in geographic extent.

The Bible says water covered the whole earth... Really?

When you read an English translation of the biblical account of the flood, you will undoubtedly notice many words and verses that seem to suggest that the waters covered all of planet earth. However, one should note that today we look at everything from a global perspective, whereas the Bible nearly always refers to local geography. You may not be able to determine this fact from our English translations, so we will look at the original Hebrew, which is the word of God. The Hebrew words which are translated as "whole earth" or "all the earth" are kol (Strong's number H3605), which means "all," and erets (Strong's number H776), which means "earth," "land," "country," or "ground."<sup>4</sup> We don't need to look very far in Genesis (Genesis 2) before we find the Hebrew words kol erets.

1. The name of the first is Pishon; it flows around the whole [kol] land [erets] of Havilah, where there is gold. (Genesis 2:11)

2. And the name of the second river is Gihon; it flows around the whole [kol] land [erets] of Cush. (Genesis 2:13)

Obviously, the description of kol erets is modified by the name of the land, indicating a local area from the context. In fact, the term kol erets is nearly always used in the Old Testament to describe a local area of land, instead of our entire planet.

The "whole earth" often refers to the people not geography

However, there are many more examples of where kol erets is used without reference to any specific land, although the context clearly indicates a local area. For example, in Genesis 11 (the Tower of Babel) the text says, "the whole [kol] earth [erets] used the same language." We know that this reference is not really to the earth at all (and certainly not to the "whole earth"), but to the people of the earth, who all lived in one geographic location. It wasn't until later that God scattered the people over the face of the earth. There are many other examples of where kol erets actually refers to people rather than the geography of the "whole earth":

1. Shall not the Judge of all [kol] the earth [erets] deal justly?" (Genesis 18:25) (God judges the people of the earth, not the earth itself)

2. Now behold, today I am going the way of all [kol] the earth [erets], and you know in all your hearts and in all your souls that not one word of all the good words which the LORD your God spoke concerning you has failed; all have been fulfilled for you, not one of them has failed. (Joshua 23:14) (Joshua was going the way of all people in the earth, whose ultimate destiny is death.)

3. And all [kol] the people of the land [erets] entered the forest, and there was honey on the ground. (1 Samuel 14:25) (The words "the people of" are added to the English, since they are not found in the Hebrew. The actual translation would be "all the land entered the forest," obviously referring to the people and not to the land itself moving into the forest.)

4. While all [kol] the country [erets] was weeping with a loud voice, all the people passed over. (2 Samuel 15:23) (Obviously, the earth cannot weep with a loud voice.)

5. "I am going the way of all [kol] the earth [erets]. Be strong, therefore, and show yourself a man. (1 Kings 2:2) (David was going the way of all people in the earth, whose ultimate destiny is death.)

6. He is the LORD our God; His judgments are in all [kol] the earth [erets]. (1 Chronicles 16:14) (Judgments are done against people, not the planet)

7. Sing to the LORD, all [kol] the earth [erets]; Proclaim good tidings of His salvation from day to day. (1 Chronicles 16:23) (The people sing, not the planet)

8. Tremble before Him, all [kol] the earth [erets]; Indeed, the world is firmly established, it will not be moved. (1 Chronicles 16:30) (This does not refer to earthquakes!)

9. Let all [kol] the earth [erets] fear the LORD; Let all the inhabitants of the world stand in awe of Him. (Psalm 33:8) (People, not planets, fear the Lord)

10. For the choir director. A Song. A Psalm.) Shout joyfully to God, all the earth; (Psalm 66:1) (People shout, not the earth)

11 "All the earth will worship Thee, And will sing praises to Thee; They will sing praises to Thy name." Selah. (Psalm 66:4) (People worship, not the earth)

12. Sing to the LORD a new song; Sing to the LORD, all [kol] the earth [erets]. (Psalm 96:1) (People sing, not the earth)

13. Worship the LORD in holy attire; Tremble before Him, all [kol] the earth [erets]. (Psalm 96:9) (People worship, not the earth)

14 Shout joyfully to the LORD, all [kol] the earth [erets]; Break forth and sing for joy and sing praises. (Psalm 98:4) (People shout, not the earth)

15. (A Psalm for Thanksgiving.) Shout joyfully to the LORD, all [kol] the earth [erets]. (Psalm 100:1) (People shout, not the earth)

16. He is the LORD our God; His judgments are in all [kol] the earth [erets]. (Psalm 105:7) (Judgments are done against people, not the planet)

17. "The whole [kol] earth [erets] is at rest and is quiet; They break forth into shouts of joy. (Isaiah 14:7) (People shout, not the earth)

The "whole earth" usually refers to local geography.

Examples of where kol erets refers to a local area include the following verses:

1. "Is not the whole [kol] land [erets] before you? Please separate from me: if to the left, then I will go to the right; or if to the right, then I will go to the left." (Genesis 13:9) (The "whole land" was only the land of Canaan)

2. And the people of all [kol] the earth [erets] came to Egypt to buy grain from Joseph, because the famine was severe in all the earth. (Genesis 41:57) (The people from the Americas did not go to Egypt)

3. Then God said, "Behold, I am going to make a covenant. Before all your people I will perform miracles which have not been produced in all [kol] the earth [erets], nor among any of the nations; and all the people among whom you live will see the working of the LORD, for it is a fearful thing that I am going to perform with you. (Exodus 34:10) (There would be no need to add "nor among any of the nations" if "all the earth" referred to the entire planet.)

4. You shall then sound a ram's horn abroad on the tenth day of the seventh month; on the day of atonement you shall sound a horn all [kol] through your land [erets]. (Leviticus 25:9) (The Hebrews were not required to sound a horn throughout the entire earth)

5. Thus for every [kol] piece [erets] of your property, you are to provide for the redemption of the land. (Leviticus 25:24) (The law does not apply only to those who own the entire earth)

6. Behold, I will put a fleece of wool on the threshing floor. If there is dew on the fleece only, and it is dry on all [kol] the ground [erets], then I will know that Thou wilt deliver Israel through me, as Thou hast spoken." (Judges 6:37, see also 6:39-40) (kol erets could not refer to the entire earth, since it would not be possible for Gideon to check the entire earth)

7. And Jonathan smote the garrison of the Philistines that was in Geba, and the Philistines heard of it. Then Saul blew the trumpet throughout [kol] the land [erets], saying, "Let the Hebrews hear." (1 Samuel 13:3) (Obviously, Saul could not have blown a trumpet loud enough to be heard throughout the entire earth)

8. For the battle there was spread over the whole [kol] countryside [erets], and the forest devoured more people that day than the sword devoured. (2 Samuel 18:8) (No, the battle did not take place over the entire earth.)

9. So when they had gone about through the whole [kol] land [erets], they came to Jerusalem at the end of nine months and twenty days. (2 Samuel 24:8) (No they didn't go through the entire earth, just the lands of Palestine.)

19. And all [kol] the earth [erets] was seeking the presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart. (1 Kings 10:24) (It is unlikely that the Native Americans went to see Solomon.)

20. Then the fame of David went out into all [kol] the lands [erets]; and the LORD brought the fear of him on all the nations. (1 Chronicles 14:17) (It is unlikely that the Native Americans knew about David.)

21. And David said, "My son Solomon is young and inexperienced, and the house that is to be built for the LORD shall be exceedingly magnificent, famous and glorious throughout all [kol] lands [erets]. (1 Chronicles 22:5) (The temple was famous to all the lands in the Middle East, but was destroyed before the advent of globalism.)

22. And they were bringing horses for Solomon from Egypt and from all [kol] countries [erets]. (2 Chronicles 9:28) (It is unlikely that the Chinese brought horses to Solomon)

23. Many more examples

As can be seen above, in the majority of instances kol erets does not refer to the entire planet earth. In fact, of the 205 instance of kol erets in the Old Testament, it might refer to the entire planet just 40 times, and even some of those are questionable. About half of those instance occur in the books of Psalms and Isaiah. The Genesis flood narrative also uses the phrase "the face of the earth." This is the exact phrase used by Cain when he was banished by God (Genesis 4:14). Are we to think that Cain was banished to outer space? In addition, the flood narrative says that "the water increased and lifted up the ark, so that it rose above the earth" (Genesis 7:17). If "earth" really refers to the planet, this text would imply that the ark somehow levitated above the planet. Obviously, "earth" refers to the local land on which the ark was sitting, and not to planet earth.

How could the text have more clearly indicated a global flood?

I am glad you asked! There is a Hebrew word that always refers to the entire earth or the entire inhabited earth. The word is tebel (Strong's H8398), which is found 37 times in the Old Testament. Curiously, this word is never used to describe the flood, although it is used extensively to describe the creation of the earth and the judgment of the peoples of the earth.

The Local Flood - from the Genesis text Erets revisited

Let's look at the actual Genesis flood passage to determine if it can be interpreted from a local viewpoint. As we determined above, the word erets, often translated "earth" can also refer to the people of the earth. Is it used this way in the actual Genesis flood passage?

did not actually refer to all flesh, since there was at least one exception.

1. Now the earth was corrupt in the sight of God, and the earth was filled with violence. (Genesis 6:11)

2. And God looked on the earth, and behold, it was corrupt; for all flesh had corrupted their way upon the earth. (Genesis 6:12)

3. I set My bow in the cloud, and it shall be for a sign of a covenant between Me and the earth. (Genesis 9:13)

4. Genesis 6, verses 11 and 12 both tell us that the earth was corrupt, although we understand this verse to refer to the people of the earth. Likewise, in Genesis 9:13, the verse tells us that God made a covenant between Himself and the earth. However, later verses clarify that the covenant is between God and the creatures of the earth. The Genesis text clearly establishes (along with the New Testament) that God's judgment of humans was universal (with the exception of Noah and his family).

Outside Genesis one (through Genesis 2:5), the entire Genesis account through the Tower of Babel (Genesis 11) specifically refers to local geography. All the place names mentioned are in the Mesopotamian flood plain. Therefore, all the instances of the word erets can and should be translated "land," instead of "earth," since it all refers to local geography. There is no reason to think that the flood account is any different from the rest of the Genesis account through chapter 11.

When "all" does not mean "all"

The flood passage uses many universal descriptions, which suggest global proportions. However, the universal text contradicts itself, if it is to be interpreted globally. For example, the Genesis text tells us that all flesh had become corrupted. However, the same passage tells us that Noah was a "righteous man, blameless in his time." It is clear from the text that "all flesh"

Local perspective of the flood

Does the Genesis text indicate that the flood was local? If you read it carefully, you can determine that the perspective is local. Most English translations are actually interpretations that are intentionally skewed to favour a global flood interpretation. For example, Genesis 7:20 is usually translated as:

The water prevailed fifteen cubits higher, and the mountains were covered. (Genesis 7:20)

In reality, the Hebrew word ma'al, translated "higher" really means "upward." So, in essence, the text is saying that the flood was 15 cubits (20 feet) deep, in total, not 15 cubits above the mountains. In addition, the Hebrew word har really refers most often to hills rather than mountains. See below.

The translators of most English Bibles use the word "earth," which to us means "planet earth." However, their mistranslation can clearly be seen in the following passage:

1. Gen 8:5 And the water decreased steadily until the tenth month; in the tenth month, on the first day of the month, the tops of the mountains became visible.

2. Gen 8:6 Then it came about at the end of forty days, that Noah opened the window of the ark which he had made;

3. Gen 8:7 and he sent out a raven, and it flew here and there until the water was dried up from the earth.

4. Gen 8:8 Then he sent out a dove from him, to see if the water was abated from the face of the land;

5. Gen 8:9 but the dove found no resting place for the sole of her foot, so she returned to him into the ark; for the water was on the surface of all the earth. Then he put out his hand and took her, and brought her into the ark to himself.

We see that in the tenth month, the mountains became visible to Noah (Genesis 8:5). Some 40+ days later (Genesis 8:6), Noah sent a dove out of the ark (Genesis 8:8). However, the dove was unable to land because of all the water (Genesis 8:9). Then, the text tells us that water was "on the surface of all the earth." This is obviously a bad translation of kol erets, since we know that the water had not covered the mountains for at least 40 days. The context makes it clear that kol erets must refer to local geography and should be translated as the "all the land" or "all the ground." In fact, all our major English translations (NASB, NIV, KJV, etc.) make this same error. It is no wonder that people who read the English translation of the Bible "literally" come to the conclusion that the flood must have been global. However, it is apparent that our English "translations" of the Genesis flood text are more than just "translations," but actually interpretations (and probably incorrect ones at that). To be continued.

How Obvious Is It That Athena's Great Temple, The Parthenon, Is A Temple To The Eve Of Genesis?

TO begin, here are seven reasons why it is very obvious that Athena is Eve:

1. The Judeo-Christian tradition traces the current state of humanity back to a woman, a serpent, and a tree. Athena's idol-image shows us the woman and the serpent, but where is the tree? The very core of the statue is wood—a tree. In both the Greek and Judeo-Christian traditions, a tree is at the core of what happened between a woman and a serpent.

2. Athena's very name speaks of Eve. In Genesis 3:4, the serpent promised Eve that when she ate the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil "you shall not surely die." In the most ancient Greek writing, the name of the goddess first appears as ATHANA. The word THANATOS in ancient Greek means death. A-THANATOS signifies deathlessness. A-thana is the shortened form of A-thanatos meaning the deathless one, or more specifically, the embodiment of the serpent's promise to Eve that she would never die, but would be as the gods, knowing good and evil. Through Athana(tos), later called Athena, the serpent has made good his promise to Eve (Athena and Eden, Chapter 3).

3. Note that the serpent rises up next to Athena as a friend. In Genesis, Yahweh had condemned the serpent to crawl on its belly as a deceiver of humanity, yet all who entered the Parthenon to worship or admire the great statue were forced to look up to both Athena and the serpent. That is because the Greek religious system, the very opposite of the Judeo-Christian, was based on the notion that the serpent had enlightened humanity in paradise.

4. Athena holds Nike in her right hand, the hand of power. Nike symbolizes Victory—Eve's victory for humanity when she ate the fruit offered by the serpent. Athena is the only goddess in Greek art who is ever pictured holding Nike.

5. On the front of her aegis, or goatskin, which covered her chest and the top of her back, Athena wore the head of the Gorgon Medusa—the head of serpents. The aegis is a symbol of authority. The source of Athena's authority is the head of serpents.

6. Meeting the ancient Greeks at eye level as they entered the Parthenon was the statue base of the great idol-image of Athena. In the centre of it, surrounded by the gods giving her gifts, stood a sculpted Pandora—the woman who according to Greek myth was responsible for letting evil out into the world. Could not a schoolchild grasp that Athena's gold and ivory grandeur above Pandora was literally based on this obvious picture of Eve?

7. To view the great idol-image of Athena, the Greeks had to pass under the centre of the east pediment. Depicted there was the birth of Athena. Myth described her, and vases depicted her, as being born full-grown out of Zeus, a picture of Eve being born full-grown out of Adam.

Eve by Albrecht Dürer

Based on the above seven explanations, Athena may as well have worn a sign around her neck saying, "Hello, I'm the Eve of Genesis." For four additional, less obvious, more detailed, and very compelling reasons why Athena's temple is a temple to the Eve of Genesis

8. The sculpture on Athena's huge shield depicted the Greeks defeating the Amazons. The Greeks hated the Amazons and had to conquer them because they were children of the despised Ares, a deification of Adam and Eve's youngest son, Seth (Athena and Kain, Chapter 5). The Greeks were part of the line of Kain; the Amazons, part of the line of Seth. The idea that the Amazons cut off their right breast so that it might not interfere with the use of the bow, and that the name thus means "breastless" is a fable. Amazons are never pictured in sculpture or painting without a breast which they surely would be if that's what their name meant. Maza means barley cake. Kain was a server of the ground (Genesis 4:2) out of which the barley grows. An "a" in front of a Greek word often is the equivalent of our "non" or "un." The Amazons were known as nomadic and not servers of the ground; that is, not those who raise barley and make cakes. A-mazon would thus identify them as not part of the line of Kain; that is, not believers in the wisdom of the ancient serpent (Athena and Kain, pages 152-53). The shield is a symbol of defence. Athena defends the Greek religious system from the inroads of the daughters of Ares (Seth).

9. On the inside of Athena's great shield, Greek artists painted the Greek gods defeating the Giants. The same theme decorated the 14 east metopes on the outside of Athena's temple. The defeat of the Giants, who represented the Yahweh-believing sons of Noah, is the culminating event, the great celebration, of ancient Greek religion. The rebellion of Hermes in Babylon, the rebirth of the serpent's Eve, the replacement of Nereus/Noah with Poseidon as god of the sea, the rebirth of the line of Kain in Athens, and the labours and conquests of Herakles, all pertain to it or lead up to it. This is the fundamental assertion made by the ancient poets, vase-artists, and sculptors: the Greek gods have defeated the Giants: the Greek religious system has overcome the Yahweh-believing sons of Noah, and Athena, the serpent's Eve, rules the Greek world (Athena and Kain, Chapter 15).

10. As we know from the story of Oedipus, Hera originally controlled the sphinx, a riddle-uttering winged monster with the head of a woman and the body of a lion. By the fifth century BC when Phidias constructed the great statue of Athena Parthenos, the sphinx and her enigmatic power belonged to Athena, as we know from its image atop her war helmet. Athena's possession of the sphinx shows that her authority supercedes that of Hera, the original primal Eve from before the Flood (Athena and Eden, Chapter 5). The wings of the sphinx symbolize power in the heavens; the body of the lion, power on earth; and the woman's head represents the mysterious Eve, mother of all living.

11. Sculpted on Athena's sandals were the Lapiths (Flint-chippers) losing a battle to the Kentaurs. This lost battle was also depicted on 24 of the 32 metopes on the south side of the Parthenon. These Kentaurs, half-men/half-horses, represented the line of Seth before the Flood, and for a short time after it. Greek artists often depicted Kentaurs as carrying branches. To the Greeks, who did not believe in a Creator-God, they represented a "strange branch" of humanity. The Greeks blamed the Kentaurs for the destruction of the line of Kain during the Flood. In Athena's Parthenon, it's after the Flood now.

The line of Kain has been reestablished in Athens and Greece. The Kentaurs, and that embarrassing defeat, are now, literally, under Athena's feet. The line of Kain is vindicated, and the enemies of the serpent's system are underfoot (Athena and Kain, Chapters 6 and 7).

Mysterious Double Coffin Found At King Richard III Car Park Site (From Our Midland Correspondent)

Archaeologists have discovered a mysterious coffin-within-a-coffin from the same Leicester car park where England's King Richard III was famously buried for 500 years.

"None of us in the team have ever seen a lead coffin within a stone coffin before. We will now need to work out how to open it safely, as we don't want to damage the contents when we are opening the lid."

It took eight people to lift the stone lid from the outer coffin, which is more than 2 metres long, 60 cm wide at one end and 30 cm wide at the other, the university said.

Laboratory tests will be carried out on the lead coffin, which was found inside the stone casket, before it can be opened but archaeologists suspect it may be one of the friary's founders or a medieval monk.

Experts returned to the site of the former Grey Friars Church at the beginning of July to learn more about the area, only to find a full intact stone casket with a lead coffin inside.

The same team of university archaeologists had previously discovered English King Richard III's skeleton in the remains of the friary church, now located under Leicester City Council's social services department.

The grave could belong to one of three prestigious figures known to be buried at the friary, Peter Swynsfeld, who died in 1272; William of Nottingham, who died in 1330 - who both headed of the Grey Friars order in England - or Sir William de Moton of Peckleton, who died between 1356 and 1362. The End

The Stone of Destiny – A Scottish Icon

Editor: this item was passed on by a Scottish reader for passing on this item which was recently published in Edinburgh. It is interesting that mention is made to it being the stone on which Jacob laid his head. Hopefully this will prod some of our brethren in Scotland to dig into history and discover from whence they are hewn.

This week August 21, 2013 we are focusing on a Scottish Icon – The Stone of Destiny.

Sitting alongside the Honours of Scotland, (the oldest crown jewels in the British Isles) it may not be the most eye-catching object in the room in which it resides however, what it lacks in impact, it more than makes up for in history and myth. According to legend, Jacob, father of Joseph in the Old Testament, used the ancient stone as a pillow when he dreamt of a ladder to heaven. Others believe the Stone to have been created in various parts of Ireland and Scotland.

This block of sandstone has had a tempestuous history, having spent most of the last 700 years being hidden, captured and fought over. For centuries, it served as the seat on which Scottish kings were inaugurated at Scone near Perth. Today, a replica of the Stone sits in the grounds of Scone Palace.

In 1296, the ‘Hammer of the Scots’, Edward I of England had the stone forcibly removed and sent to London’s Westminster Abbey where it was enclosed within a new throne, the Coronation Chair, as pictured below. Since then the Stone has been used in the coronation of English monarchs and from 1714 all the sovereigns of Great Britain (apart from Edward VIII, who was never crowned).

It remained at Westminster until, on Christmas Day 1950, four Scottish students removed the stone from the Abbey, accidentally breaking it in to two in their haste. A nationwide hunt followed with the Scottish/English Border closed for the first time in 400 years. It resurfaced some four months later following a huge public outcry, discovered in Arbroath Abbey draped in a Saltire. It was soon returned to Westminster Abbey where, two years later, in 1953, it was used at the coronation of HM The Queen.

On St Andrews Day 1996, the Stone of Destiny finally returned to Scotland and its permanent home of Edinburgh Castle following John Major’s announcement to the House of Commons on 3 July that year. It will only ever leave Scotland again when there is a royal coronation at Westminster Abbey. Keir Booth, Marketing Executive, Edinburgh Castle
